CAL STATE FULLERTON BASEBALL

TITANS #TUSKSUP

MEDIA INFORMATION

DIRECTIONS: Goodwin Field, Cal State Fullerton's on-campus baseball facility, is located within 40 miles of three major Southern California airports (LAX, Ontario, Orange County/John Wayne), and is located adjacent to the Orange (57) Freeway. From the 57, exit Yorba Linda Blvd. and head west towards State College Blvd. By turning left at Associated Rd. (before State College), you can enter LOT G just beyond the left field wall. If you continue towards State College Blvd., you can then head south on State College (left) and access LOT A.

PARKING: Goodwin Field is accessible from both Lots A and G. Parking Monday-Thursday and Friday before 5 p.m. will require an $8 parking permit. Fridays after 5 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays are free. If you are part of the media, you may request a parking permit from the media relations office at (657) 278-7547, and it will either be sent to you, or left for you at will call if available.

FULLERTONTITANS.COM: Cal State Fullerton relaunched its official athletic web site fullertontitans.com in the summer of 2022, providing fans and media the official word of Titan Athletics with an updated look and new features. Fullertontitans.com provides up-to-date results, news, schedules, player biographical information, statistics, in-game scoring and links to audio and video webcasts. Fans can even purchase tickets for upcoming home sporting events as well as shop for Titan merchandise at the university's online store. For the latest information in Titan athletic programs, visit fullertontitans.com.

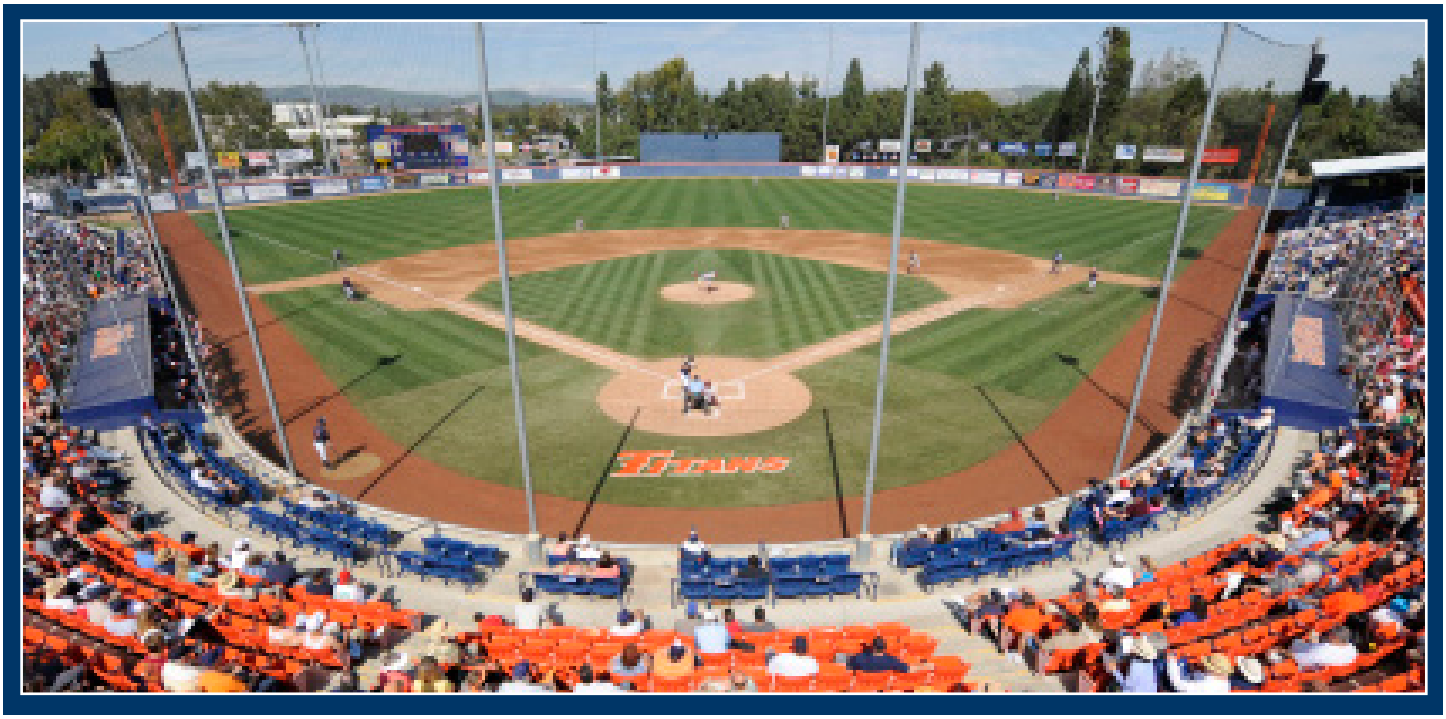

MEDIA CREDENTIALS: Requests should be made preferably via email to bfreese@fullerton.edu, or by phone (657-278-7083) as far in advance as possible and no later than 24 hours before game time. When time permits or is requested, credentials can be mailed. Otherwise, credentials can be picked up at the press will call on the walkway leading up to Goodwin Field's main gate on the third base side. Photo credentials will be issued on a per-game basis and must be worn in plain sight at all times. All photographers must remain in the camera wells located to the outfield side of each dugout. NCAA regulations regarding photography must be adhered to at all times.

PRESS BOX: The press box is located on the walkway behind the home plate seating area. Limited seating is available with beat writers receiving priority. Radio positions and additional media seating will be allocated in the press box or in the rows immediately in front of the press box, if necessary.

HIGH-SPEED INTERNET: The press box is equipped with several high-speed data jacks for on-line browsing and transmission as well as a wireless option that requires your email address to access. If wireless is not an option, media members should bring their own network cables. In the event of overcrowding, there are additional lines in the softball press box adjacent to the baseball field and classrooms in the kinesiology building. There are no reserved internet lines, and they will be distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis.

INTERVIEWS: Coaches and student-athletes will be available for postgame interviews on the field after a brief cooling down session and team meeting. Midweek interviews can be conducted before or after practices, which generally start after 1:00 p.m. or can be set up by special arrangement. Any special requests should be made through Bryant Freese at the athletic media relations office (bfreese@fullerton.edu / 657-278-7083) in advance. Interviews with visiting coaches or players should be arranged through the visiting team's SID.

GOODWIN FIELD

On April 18, 1992, Goodwin Field (then Titan Field) became the new home of Cal State Fullerton baseball. The occasion was marked with the Titans sweeping a doubleheader against Loyola Marymount, 8-2 and 11-3, setting the tone for the next 20-plus seasons. The 2012 season marked the 20-year anniversary of the home of the Titans.

Goodwin Field is the third on-campus diamond to serve as the Titans' home field. The team's first field was laid out to the west of Titan House, located to the southeast of the current stadium. Home plate was in the southeast corner of the field plowed out of the citrus groves. A new field was built around 1970 on today's site, but with home plate located where the current left field foul pole rises. The largest crowd to see a game at that field, with small portable bleachers and plenty of standing room, was estimated at 5,000 in 1979, when Fullerton hosted the University of Hawai'i and heralded pitcher Derek Tatsuno.

In the past, the Titans have also had to play "home" games at local parks, such as Fullerton's Amerige Park and Anaheim's Boysen Park, as well as borrowed junior college fields at Fullerton, Santa Ana, and Orange Coast Colleges during the installation of lights at Titan Field in 1983.

Since its inauguration, Goodwin Field has been an undeniable home field advantage for the Titans, as they have amassed a stunning 549-176 overall record and a .757 winning percentage. In fact, the Titans tallied their best home season ever in 2003 at Goodwin Field when they won their first 22 games at home before finishing with a 32-3 (.914) mark.

Thanks in part to the extensive renovations and a commitment by the university to transform the field into a state-of-the-art facility, the NCAA named Goodwin Field as a site for the Regionals for the first time in 2000, and again in 11 of the past 14 seasons. The field has also played host to the Super Regionals in nine of the last 14 seasons. For the Titans' first 21 Regionals appearances, the team was on the road, qualifying for more College World Series appearances (10) by winning on the road than any other school in NCAA history. But that record got put on hold when Fullerton hosted Mississippi State in its first home Super Regionals in June of 2001 where Goodwin Field was the site of consecutive sellout (then) crowds of 3,412. They saw the Titans sweep the Bulldogs, clinching a College World Series berth in front of a home crowd for the very first time.

The home field has definitely been an advantage in the postseason as the Titans have gone 50-15 (.769) overall, having won 16 of the 21 postseason tournaments (Regional and Super Regionals) at Goodwin Field.

In 2005, Goodwin Field's attendance records toppled the previous record attendance (3,581 set on June 7, 2003) on five separate occasions, setting a new benchmark of 3,654. During the last few weeks of the 2005 Titan Baseball season, fans flocked to Goodwin Field, selling out (3,654) four times total, three of which were consecutive games, from June 6 to June 11. In fact, in 2005, Cal State Fullerton saw a record number of fans show up for a series at Goodwin Field. In three games with cross-town rival Long Beach State, Goodwin Field held 10,355, shattering the old record of 8,728 set back in 2003 between the same two teams.

Over the years, the Titans' home field has seen many changes in name, appearance and location. In an effort to always provide the best facilities for its players, Goodwin Field remains a work in progress.

As recently as the winter of 2011-12, the Doubek V.I.P Room received the facility's most significant update. The room has had its garage-like doors replaced with windows that will overlook both the baseball and softball fields and a standing bar circles the entire room. New drywall and paint has also created more space to show off the program's storied history. The back deck that overlooks the softball facility has a new synthetic patio cover for a more pleasurable outdoor experience and cosmetically, the structures all received an exterior brick facade. The 18-year-old "temporary" press box also got some love with a fresh-coat of paint, a new floor as well as a sheetrocked back wall and brick facade.

In December of 2010, Goodwin Field's weathered wooden fence – installed prior to the 1999 season – was removed and replaced with a new padded chain-linked fence. The fence stands 10-feet tall all the way around except where it is notched below the scoreboard in left field. In the spring of 2011, a $200,000 digital message board replaced the ancient (in terms of technology) board that was installed in 1994. In 2009, the actual scoreboard was replaced with a new digital LED board that allows for brightness controls as well as the ability to customize team names which comes in handy during postseason tournaments.

In 2008, a slightly larger makeover included a new laser-graded infield, state-of-the-art synthetic turf around the home plate area, a new anti-dust Hilltopper warning track much like the one used down the freeway at Angel Stadium, and upgraded gates and fencing in and around the bullpen areas.

Over the holiday break in 2005-06, Goodwin Field received its first covered batting cage and bullpen facility. The lit structure, located adjacent to right field, between the coaches' offices and the Arboretum, covers batting tunnels equipped with pitching machines and pitching mounds for use at night and in inclement weather.

A larger-scale, $3 million project was completed just before opening day in 2001, when the stadium's seating capacity was expanded from 1,750 to nearly 3,500. Also, for the first time, the stadium included an on-site clubhouse-style building connecting to the adjoining softball stadium. The clubhouse includes locker rooms, coaches' offices, umpire quarters and an enclosed VIP viewing and entertainment area.

On April 14, 2000, the stadium's name was officially changed from Titan Field to Goodwin Field, in honor of benefactors Jerry and Merilyn Goodwin. The occasion was marked by a ceremony prior to the Titans' game against Long Beach State.

GROUND RULES

• When all gates to the bullpens, camera wells and exits are closed, the Goodwin Field playing surface is completely enclosed.

• Pads along the backstop are in play and reveal no threat for a ball to become lodged. The netting above the padding is also in play. If a ball does become lodged in any way, the ball is dead. If a ball hits or lands on top of the padding, the ball will remain in play.

• Both Goodwin Field dugouts are similar. The front edge of the concrete and dugout fencing are the beginning of the dugout. In general, the trash can (first and third base dugouts) and hose bib (third base dugout) are considered out of play resulting in a dead ball. However, if the ball strikes the side of the trashcan or hose bib on the side flush with the playing surface, the ball will remain in play.

• Camera wells on both the first and third base sides are dead ball areas once the ball passes the chain linked access gates.

• The poles behind home plate above the retaining walls on both sides are live if the ball does not leave the playing field.

• The orange stripe on the outfield fence is the top of the fence. A ball must go over the orange line and leave the ballpark to be considered a home run. Any ball striking anything (scoreboard, trees, batters eye) above the orange line will be ruled a home run.

THE STORY

THE HISTORY OF TITAN BASEBALL

Bill Fulton, head coach from 1965-1972

Titan Baseball. Arguably, those are the two most common words associated nationally with California State University, Fullerton.

Because of its measurable and long-lasting success, CSF's intercollegiate baseball program has attracted more notoriety than any other facet of what is now a 38,000-student university with multiple campuses in Orange County.

And the next words often pieced together are, "How has that program been so successful for so long?"

As in real estate, location is a major factor. Timing played a big part, too, but coaching probably has been most critical. Early successes were parlayed into a tradition of excellence. Youngsters have grown up wanting to be Titans and several batboys have returned as scholarship players. Dedication to fundamentals and the team concept have carried the Titans over the inevitable peaks and valleys and allowed Fullerton to consistently compete with and, in most cases, dominate their big-budget brethren with bluer-chip recruits.

Southern California and its mild climate provide a year-round incubator for young ballplayers. The huge population includes outstanding coaches and top-notch competition at all age levels. Major league rosters prove the point: SoCal is the hotbed of baseball, a sport that was only an after-thought to football and basketball at the college level when the Titans began their dynasty in the mid-1970s, just as that of USC was in decline.

Ultimately it comes down to people. Who would have guessed in 1972 when Augie Garrido was hired away from Cal Poly SLO as the second full-time CSF baseball coach that he would eventually become the sport's all-time winningest coach, eventually succeeding at Illinois and Texas as well? Or that an opposite personality in Larry Cochell would keep the winning tradition going until Garrido saw fit to return and then turn over the keys to his hand-picked successor in George Horton.

And then there are the players -- typically mentally and physically tough, if not the most talented. Willing to sacrifice individual goals for team success. Relatively unspoiled, they have played the game rather than against the opponent. For a quarter of a century they constantly went on the road in post-season play and won with remarkable consistency. As important as Tim Wallach and Mark Kotsay and Phil Nevin have been, the Steve Chathams and Jon Smiths and David Bacanis have also made major contributions. A total of 53 of them (including two in 2009) have found their way into a major league box score.

Several overlapping "eras" comprise Titan Baseball. The foundation was laid before Div. I days, before Goodwin Field, before ESPN coverage and well before the Super Regional format. Bill Fulton preceded Garrido, whose touch endures to this day. He built the framework for Cochell, Horton and Dave Serrano to enhance. And now the reins are left to Rick Vanderhook, who has worn the Titan uniform longer than any other man.

IN THE BEGINNING 1964-74

Titan baseball began in the most modest fashion as a club team in 1964. The founding father was University physical plant employee Beryl Kempton, who bulldozed a playing field out of an orange grove. Home plate of the first diamond was located near an old orchard residence, the John Hetebrink House built in 1886, which has served a variety of functions for the campus. The first baseline ran north and the third baseline went to the west, paralleling what is now called Gymnasium Drive.

The first coach was Warren Beck, a history professor, who gave way to Bill Fulton when the team assumed intercollegiate status in 1965. The Titans played at the College Division level as members of the California Collegiate Athletic Association along with Cal Poly SLO, UC Riverside, Cal State Northridge and Cal Poly Pomona. The Titans had limited resources and were not always competitive. Enter Garrido for the 1973 season.

A new backstop and batter's eye and such "luxuries" as electricity for the pitching machines provided him the most basic of tools. His first season's record was 19-33-1. It would be the Titans' last losing season. The Titans won the CCAA championship with a 39-11-1 season in 1974 and the stage was set for Division I play.

A NEW BULLY IN TOWN 1975-84

Garrido's Titans made an instant splash in 1975 as a little fish in the biggest pond. They captured the Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship and then served notice to the collegiate world by snapping USC's string of five consecutive national titles, winning their first NCAA regional tournament at Dedeaux Field. They earned their first trip to the College World Series where they were quickly eliminated. Pitcher Dan Boone, catcher Andy Pasillas and first baseman George Horton were key players that year and initiated a pipeline into the fertile California junior college ranks.

The Titans were dominant in the regular season for nine more years, running their string of conference championships to 11 in a row. They won the PCAA in 1976 and won or shared every Southern California Baseball Association pennant through its 1977 to 1984 run. And in the postseason they proved their mettle against regional and national competition despite always playing on the road.

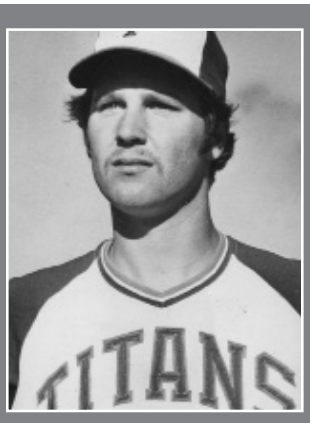

In 1976 they took Washington State to a final game in Pullman and in 1977 they lost to the Cougars again in Tempe. USC and Arizona were their nemesis in 1978 in Los Angeles but the Titans struck paydirt in 1979 in Fresno. After an opening loss to UCLA, they came back to beat Portland and Fresno State before sweeping a Sunday doubleheader with the Bruins to earn a second trip to Omaha. There they repeated the regional championship formula, falling immediately into the losers' bracket with a loss to Mississippi State before rolling through Connecticut, Arizona, Arkansas, Pepperdine and Arkansas again to win the first NCAA Div. I men's championship in school history. First baseman Tim Wallach was the College Player of the Year, pitcher Tony Hudson was the MVP of the CWS and Dave Weatherman hurled a complete-game 2-1 victory in the championship game on no day's rest.

The Titans would return to Omaha twice more in the next five years. Behind the play of Mike Rubel, Mark Pirruccello and freshman John Fishel, they went through powerful Arizona State in Packard Stadium in 1982 to get back to the CWS, which was now being televised nationwide on the new ESPN network. Unfortunately, the Titans left their game in Tempe and became the first CWS team to go scoreless in losses to Wichita State and Maine.

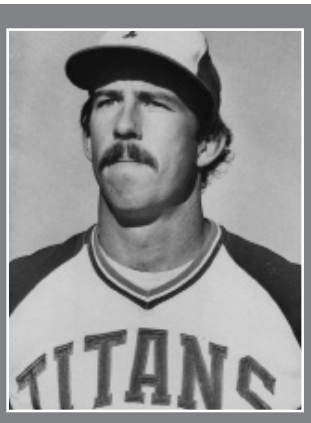

In 1983 the Titans were sent to Tempe for the third consecutive year and they were eliminated by Fresno State. But the Bulldogs had to sit and watch the next year as Fullerton won the 1984 regional over Mark McGwire's USC team and Chris Gwynn's San Diego State squad in well over 100-degree weather in Fresno. John Bryant's single in the 11th inning of the finale scored Bob Caffrey and the 8-7 win over the Aztecs sent Fullerton to Omaha for the fourth time in its 10 years of Div. I competition.

TITAN TIMELINE

1964: Physical plant employee Beryl Kempton lays out a baseball diamond in an orange grove next to the 1886 Hetebrink House (now named Titan House) on the present-day campus.

1965: Titans compete for the first time in the California Collegiate Athletic Association, along with UC Riverside, Cal Poly Pomona, Cal Poly San Luis Obispo and Cal State Northridge

1973: A new backstop is built and electricity for the pitching machines is turned on. Play moves to Titan Field on the north part of the campus

1975: The Titans stun five-time defending national champ USC in a regional and earn a berth in the College World Series in their first year at the Division I level.

1976: Curt Lewis becomes the first Titan to earn All-American honors. The right-handed pitcher is a second-team selection of the American Baseball Coaches Association.

1978: The Titans win a school-record 19 consecutive games, but lose in the regionals.

1979: In just its fifth year at the Division I level, Cal State Fullerton wins its first College World Series, defeating Arkansas, 2-1, in the championship game.

THE STORY

Bryant was a hero again in Omaha. After beating Michigan, Miami, Arizona State and Oklahoma State around a loss to Texas, the Titans used Bryant's triple for a two-run rally that was the difference in a memorable 3-1 victory over the Longhorns and gave the Titans their second NCAA championship. The Titans won 37 of their last 42 games. Fishel was the series MVP but 5-foot-7, 133-pound left-hander Eddie Delzer captured the headlines in Sports Illustrated with his courageous seven-inning mound effort to get the title win that was preserved by Scott Wright with his then NCAA record 22nd save. Caffrey would go on to become the first Titan Olympian and join Wallach as a first-round draft choice, also by Montreal.

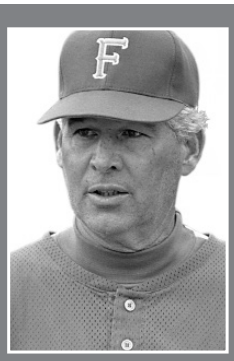

Eddie Delzer and Bob Caffrey in 1984

SOME BLIPS ON THE RADAR 1985-87

The Titans returned a solid nucleus for 1985 and ended up with a roster that featured seven players who would eventually play in the Major Leagues. But they failed to win the conference championship and the string of consecutive NCAA Div. I playoff appearances was snapped at 10 when they lost a PCAA playoff series at Fresno State.

The 1986 team wasn't much better, posting a 36-21 record that again left Fullerton out of the top spot in the standings and out of the NCAA tourney. The 1987 team restored order with a 42-15 regular season record and an 18-3 PCAA championship mark. But the Titans stumbled in the postseason were sent out of the West for the first time. In New Orleans, they lost an improbable opening game to Southern and converted reliever Allan Ratliff, 1-0. Mike Harkey and Larry Casian tossed shutouts to give Longo Garcia another start, vs. LSU. But the unlucky Garcia lost again, this time victimized by his fielder's mitt coming apart on what should have been a routine come-backer.

When Garrido left to accept a lucrative offer from University of Illinois Athletic Director Neale Stoner, who had hired him at Fullerton 15 years earlier, it appeared the Titans' national prominence might be waning.

Larry Cochell

COCHELL DOES EVEN BETTER 1988-90

Well-traveled Larry Cochell offered a different style and approach but still produced success similar to what Garrido had manufactured. The Titans won a pair of regional tournaments in unlikely spots - Mississippi State and Texas - to earn Fullerton its fifth and sixth trips to Omaha in Cochell's three-year term.

The 1988 team looked like it might be a team of destiny. Despite a late-season slump after a 30-5 run, they ventured to Starkville for the NCAA playoffs. With reliever Paul Johnson turning in a clutch performance, the Titans twice beat the host Bulldogs and then posted a five-run ninth inning capped by a two-out, three-run home run by Mike Ross to beat top-seeded Texas A&M. In Omaha, they took control of the revamped format with wins over Miami and Stanford behind Garcia and Mark Beck. But the Cardinal came back to beat both Titan aces on their way to the NCAA title.

TITAN TIMELINE

1984: The Titans strike gold in Omaha again, beating Texas, 3-1, to win their second national championship.

1985: The Titans suited up seven future Major Leaguers, but couldn't manage a conference title and had their string of NCAA postseason appearances snapped at 10.

1987: The Titans stumble against LSU in the regionals as pitcher Longo Garcia's mitt comes apart on what should have been a routine come-backer.

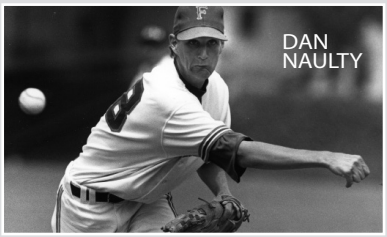

1989: The Titans compete for the first season in the newly-renamed Big West Conference, though they post their worst won-loss record at 30-27.

1990: A freshman named Phil Nevin hits 14 home runs as the Titans again reach Omaha, where they quickly bow out with losses to Oklahoma State and The Citadel.

The 1984 Titans (below) are honored during a campus victory celebration after playing out of the losers' bracket to win the national title.

TITAN TIMELINE

1992: Kevin Costner throws out the ceremonial first pitch at the Titans' new campus stadium on May 4. A month later, the Titans lost to Pepperdine, 3-2, in the championship game of the College World Series.

1994: Yep, more happy times as the Titans pack their bags for Omaha for the eighth time. Fullerton is knocked out of the CWS by Nomar Garciaparra's Georgia Tech squad.

1995: Fullerton posts perhaps the most dominant college season ever, winning its final 18 games, including an 11-5 triumph over USC in the national title game.

1996: Mark Kotsay caps his brilliant three-year career for the Titans and is eventually named College Player of the Decade by Baseball America.

Despite the presence of a pair of All-Americans in Brent Mayne and David Staton, the 1989 Titans struggled all year and finished at 30-27 for their worst Division I record ever. They finished in the second division of the league standings at 10-11.

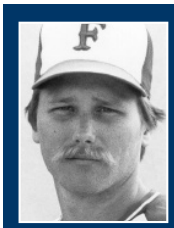

The 1990 team was picked to finish fifth in the renamed Big West Conference. When they began the year 9-9 there were stories printed that the Titan dynasty was finished. But a 14-5 stretch drive contributed to a 13-5 record to win the Big West and an NCAA berth. Behind two solid starts by right-hander James Popoff, the Titans went 4-0 at the Austin regional, beating Texas twice. In Omaha, the Titans were stunned twice. They lost to Oklahoma State in a game that saw outfielder Rich Gonzales carried off the field after crashing into the steel wall in left field. And they lost in extra innings to The Citadel when a catcher took the mound and shut down a Titan rally.

IF YOU BUILD IT, HE WILL COME BACK

Cochell accepted a lucrative financial offer to go to Oklahoma and, with construction of a long-promised stadium underway, Garrido returned from Illinois to launch the Titans' most successful decade yet. Baseball America would rank the program No. 3 for the decade behind only LSU and Miami.

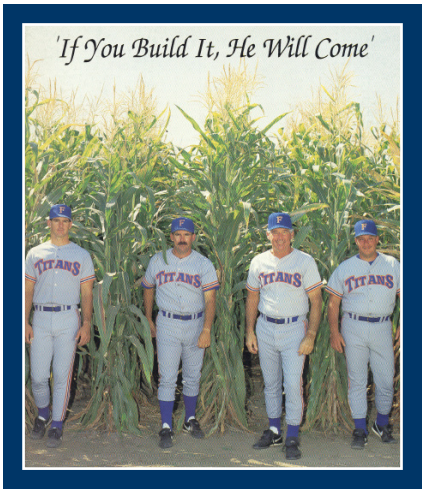

The 1991 team won 10 of its last 12 games to post a 34-22 record that the Titans thought was sufficient to earn an at-large NCAA berth considering the circumstances of Garrido's late return, the strength of schedule, playing at Amerige Park downtown due to on-campus construction and the strong finish. The bid never came but the snub was remembered.

The Titans and alum Kevin Costner christened their long-awaited stadium late in 1992 and juniors Phil Nevin and Jason Moler led them back to the national championship game. An overpowering regional performance at Baton Rouge – they outscored the opposition, 35-3 – earned the Titans their seventh trip to Omaha. They beat Florida State twice and Miami two out of three games, the last time in a heavy rain, to get a shot at unbeaten and well-rested Pepperdine. Two schools located about 50 miles apart put on a classic show almost 2,000 miles away from home for a national CBS television audience with the Waves winning, 3-2. In defeat, Nevin earned MVP honors after being selected Baseball America's college Player of the Year. His also was the first name selected in the pro draft a week earlier. Both he and Moler were selected to the U.S. Olympic team and Nevin joined Wallach as a Golden Spikes Award winner.

The 1993 team couldn't overcome the losses to graduation and the pro draft. The Titans placed second in the Big West and twice lost to USC, whom they had beaten twice in the regular season, to be eliminated from the NCAA Regional in Austin. It would turn out to be the only year Fullerton High School product D. C. Olsen would miss a trip to Omaha in four years in a Titan uniform.

In 1994, Fullerton staged an early season tournament and it became a preview of that season's College World Series. The Titans beat San Diego, Oklahoma and Georgia Tech in February and all but USD would be reunited in Omaha. Fullerton earned its eighth trip with a dramatic regional victory at Oklahoma State. The Titans had to beat Memphis in oppressive afternoon heat and humidity and then come back at night and beat a rested Cowboy team on its home field. A ninth-inning, two-out pinch-hit single by Brian King tied the game and Robert Matos was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded to win it in the tenth.

Georgia Tech, with a quartet of future major leaguers – Brad Rigby, Nomar Garciaparra, Jason Varitek and Jay Payton – beat the weary Titans and Mike Parisi in the CWS opener, 2-0. Fullerton then pounded LSU for 11 runs in the first inning of a 20-6 victory and freshman Mark Kotsay drove in seven runs in a 10-3 win that eliminated Florida State and set up a rematch with the Yellowjackets. This one went extra innings with Garciaparra's 12th-inning home run the difference

A year later, the Titans were not denied as they compiled perhaps the best college season of all time. With Olympians Kotsay and Brian Loyd and future major leaguer Jeremy Giambi pacing the offense and Ted Silva (18-1) and Kotsay anchoring the pitching staff, Fullerton went virtually wire to wire as the No. 1 team in the nation. They won everything in their reach - the Hilton Classic with Olsen the MVP; the Big West regular season; the Big West Tournament with Loyd the MVP; the regional at LSU with Jack Jones the MVP and the CWS behind MVP Kotsay. They won their final 18 games to finish 57-9 and become the first No. 1 seed at Omaha to win the title. Kotsay won Fullerton's third Golden Spikes Award after batting a then school-record .422 with 21 homers and 90 RBI. To this day, Kotsay holds College World Series career records for batting average and slugging percentage.

The momentum continued into 1996. The Titans opened with a 38-4 record before hitting an inexplicable slump where they lost 12 of their final 19 games. Fullerton tumbled to fourth place in the Big West but still got an NCAA berth at Wichita. The Shockers got a great pitching performance from tourney MVP Brandon Baird and Rice ended the Titans' season with a come-from-behind 13-10 decision. As part of its millenium edition, Baseball America selected Kotsay the college player of the decade.

THE HORTON ERA 1997-2007

Garrido left again for greener pastures, this time to the historical program at Texas. His former first baseman and associate head coach for six years, George Horton, took over. It took until 1999 for the Titans to return to Omaha and Horton didn't get a national championship until 2004. But it could be argued his accomplishments trumped Garrido's.

Big-time football schools began pumping money into baseball and new stadiums, in part because of the growing national exposure on network TV and the ever-growing crowds in Omaha. A Super Regional round was added in 1999, creating one more obstacle on the Road to Omaha. In the nine years of this format, Horton advanced Fullerton to the CWS six times. Miami, Rice, Stanford and Texas each made it to Omaha five times but no one else did it more than three times. Of course, Horton had home-field advantage in six of Fullerton's seven Super Regional appearances and seven of the nine Regionals. Garrido never was home in 16 Regional appearances for CSF.

Outfielder Aaron Rowand was the first Titan superstar to emerge in the George Horton Era.

Ryan Owens Justin Turner Adam Johnson

Horton's first three Regionals were on the road. Good pitching and an aborted ninth-inning rally knocked the Titans out at Stanford in 1997. The 1998 squad got sent to Baton Rouge for the third time in the decade and won two games before taking a big lead over the host Tigers behind pitching ace Benito Flores. But LSU flexed its muscles and came back to beat Fullerton twice.

The most productive Titan offense ever - .338 batting average and 9.2 runs per game - carried Fullerton back to Omaha in 1999. The Titans won a Regional at Notre Dame and captured the Super Regional at Ohio State. But the bats went quiet in Fullerton's 10th trip to Omaha, where the team shared in the 50th Anniversary celebration. The Titans sandwiched a win over Texas A&M between losses to Stanford and Florida State en route to a fifth-place finish.

An expansion of the home stadium began after CSF was denied an expected host's role for the 1999 Super Regional. Re-christened Goodwin Field in honor of major donors Jerry and Merilyn Goodwin, the 3,500-seat park earned the Titans their first Regional hosting role in 2000, only for USC to spoil the party. Right-hander Adam Johnson was named BWC Pitcher of the Year after leading the nation in strikeouts and he was selected second overall in the MLB Draft.

After a sluggish start, the 2001 Titans traveled to Miami and became the first team ever to sweep the eventual national champion Hurricanes on their home turf at Mark Light Stadium. It was the highlight in a stretch that saw the Titans go 24-1 and claim the No. 1 spot in the nation in one poll. Fullerton, seeded first in the nation for postseason play, won a Regional and Super Regional at Goodwin Field to clinch a CWS berth in front of a home crowd for the first time. After beating sentimental favorite Nebraska in the CWS opener, Fullerton ran into Stanford, which beat the Titans twice.

The 2002 Titans thrived on pitching, but Fullerton's offense was anemic more often than not. No Titan hit more than five home runs and the team total of 40 was the fewest since 1976. In a geographically condensed post-season due to the events of Sept. 11, the Titans lost to host Stanford and All-American Jeremy Guthrie – who earned a 13-inning complete-game win – in the Regional opener, came back to beat San Jose State, but were ousted by Long Beach State, whom they met for the first time in NCAA postseason play.

Perhaps the deepest pitching staff in the country led the Titans to a stellar showing in 2003. Fullerton won 15 of its first 16 games and went on to win-

TITAN TIMELINE

1997: George Horton takes over the reins of the program from Augie Garrido

1999: A school-record .338 batting average and 9.2 runs per game propel the Titans to Omaha for the 10th time and the first under Coach Horton

2000: Thanks to a $3 million renovation to the Titans' stadium, the NCAA names Cal State Fullerton as a regional host for the first time.

2001: The Titans are seeded No. 1 in the NCAA Tournament and for the first time, they clinch a College World Series berth in front of a home crowd.

2003: The Titans win their first 22 games at home and finish the year with a 31-3 record at Goodwin Field.

2004: After starting the season at 15-16, the 2004 Titans make an improbable turn for the better that sees them win 32 of their last 38 to bring home the school's fourth national title and first for George Horton.

2005: A string of seven consecutive home postseason NCAA Regional and Super Regional championships was snapped with a one-run loss to ASU, who took the Fullerton Super Regional two games to one.

2006: Titans travel to middle America for the College World Series for the 14th time in school history on the back of Co-National Player of the Year Wes Roemer. 12-plus game winners Roemer, Lauren Gagnier and Dustin Miller led a staff that had the nation's best ERA at 2.73.

2007: Despite a 10-11, fifth-place conference finish, the Titans squeak into the postseason and play their first road Regional since 2002. Nationally-seeded host San Diego was eliminated, clearing a path for the Titans to sweep through the Regional and Super Regional and on to Omaha for a 15th time.

In Omaha, Fullerton plays the longest game in College World Series History, a 13-inning, five hour, forty minute marathon with UC Irvine in the first Big West meeting at Rosenblatt Stadium.

George Horton takes an offer he can't refuse from the University of Oregon and leaves his alma mater after 11 seasons. Insert former assistant coach Dave Serrano.

THE STORY

George Horton (right) receives congratulations from college baseball coaching legend Rod Dedeaux after the Titans' 2004 national championship win over Texas. Dedeaux won 10 national titles with USC from 1942-1986.

HISTORICAL TIDBITS

• Cal State Fullerton has won national championships in 1979, 1984, 1995 and again in 2004. The 2004 Titans started off a mediocre 15-16 before rolling off 32 wins in their last 38 contests including a two-game sweep of Texas in the CWS Championship Series.

• Cal State Fullerton has never returned to Omaha following a National Championship season.

• Cal State Fullerton is among the top five collegiate suppliers to Team USA. Matt Chapman became the 21st Titan to play for the Collegiate National Team in the summer of 2013.

• Fifty-three Titans have gone on to play Major League Baseball with David Cooper (Toronto), Blake Davis (Baltimore) and Brett Pill (San Francisco) all making their big-leauge debuts in 2011. Khris Davis (Milwaukee) made his debut on April 1, 2013.

• No school has made more trips to Omaha and the College World Series by winning on the road. Cal State Fullerton has won 10 Regional titles and one Super Regional title on the road. The Titans' last six CWS berths, however, have been clinched at Goodwin Field.

• In 47 years at the Division I level, the Titans have made it to the NCAA Tournament 40 times. The Titans had a streak of making to the NCAA Tournament for 27 consecutive years before that streak was broken in 2019.

• For the first time in the history of the program, the Titans produced two first-round draft picks in the same season when shortstop Christian Colon (Kansas City) and centerfielder Gary Brown (San Francisco) were top picks in the 2010 First-Year Players Draft. Matt Chapman was taken with the 25th overall selection in 2014 to become the 13th Titan to be chosen in the first round. Other Titans selected in the first round: Tim Wallach (Montreal, 1979), Bob Caffrey (Montreal, 1984), Mike Harkey (Chicago Cubs, 1987), Brent Mayne (Kansas City, 1988), Phil Nevin (Houston, 1992), Dante Powell (San Francisco, 1994), Mark Kotsay (Florida, 1996), Adam Johnson (Minnesota, 2000) and Chad Cordero (Montreal, 2003), Ricky Romero (2005).

• Cal State Fullerton has had 101 All-Americans and 172 first-team all-conference selections in its 40-year Division I history. CSF first joined the Pacific Coast Athletic Association in 1975 when it made the jump to Division I. The baseball conference was not in existence from 1977 to 1984 (CSF played in the SCBA), but returned in 1985. On July 1, 1988, the PCAA officially changed its name to the current Big West Conference.

• The Titans have had just two losing seasons in the 47-year history of the program at the Division I level and have never gone winless in 36 NCAA postseason tournament appearances.

50 games for the second time under Coach Horton. The Titans reached Omaha for the 12th time with a Super Regional win over Arizona State. They shot out to a 2-0 record at the CWS before nemesis Stanford came out of the losers' bracket to beat the Titans twice and keep them out of the inaugural championship series. Shane Costa was named Big West Player of the Year and was selected in the second round of the draft. Reliever Chad Cordero was again an All-American and was pitching for the Montreal Expos in September.

Completing one of the greatest turnarounds in the history of the program, the 2004 Titans closed out the season with a bang to capture Fullerton's fourth NCAA baseball championship. Sitting at 15-16 on April 3, the Titans ran off 32 victories in their final 38 games, including a 2-0 Championship Series sweep of Texas and former skipper Garrido. The Titans played catch-up in the Regionals, battling out of the losers' bracket to win the tournament, and then punched their ticket to Omaha for the 13th time after a two-game sweep of Tulane in the Super Regionals. After jumping out to a 2-0 start in Omaha, including a win over top-ranked Miami, the Titans were on the brink of elimination again after a loss to South Carolina. But a brilliant pitching performance by Scott Sarver sent the Gamecocks packing and Cal State Fullerton against the heavily-favored and unbeaten Longhorns. But Ricky Romero and Jason Windsor tossed gems to give the Titans the title. Windsor was named the CWS' Most Outstanding Player and Romero and Felipe Garcia also made the All-CWS team. Romero spent the summer traveling with Team USA while Coach Horton was named Collegiate Baseball's National Coach of the Year. Kurt Suzuki (2nd Round) and Windsor (3rd Round) were both selections of the Oakland A's in the draft, joining teammates Mike Martinez (8th Round - Yankees), P.J. Pilittere (13th Round - Yankees), Ronnie Prettyman (28th Round - Brewers), and Felipe Garcia (48th Round - Red Sox).

For a fourth time in its illustrious history, the baseball program was unable to return to Omaha following a championship season. The Titans came up a run short in 2005, dropping a 9-8 contest to Arizona State in the final game of the Fullerton Super Regional. The Sun Devils battled back from a 7-2 deficit, then held off a ninth-inning rally to advance to the CWS. A Titan record of 14 players, including first-round pick Romero, beat out the 1984 draft class whose 13 players had been the standard for 20 years.

Justin Turner and Danny Dorn along with three other Titans drafted in 2005 decided to return for another chance at getting back to Omaha in 2006. Coach Horton and second-year pitching coach Ted Silva would start the season with an unproven rotation of Wes Roemer, Jared Clark and Lauren Gagnier and would finish with the winningest rotation and best ERA in the country. Roemer finished 13-2 with a 2.38 ERA and earned Collegiate Baseball's Co-National Player of the Year award, partly due to his strikeout-to-walk ratio (145:7) and his streak of 65 2/3 innings without issuing a base on balls. Gagnier led the country with 14 wins and Dustin Miller made a triumphant return after two seasons on the sidelines with injuries to go 12-1.

The Titans hosted both the Regional and Super Regional and swept through them with five straight victories to earn their 14th trip to Omaha. They opened championship play with the second-longest game in the 60-year history of the College World Series, in a 13-inning, 4:53 affair, but lost the opener to North Carolina, 7-5. They bounced back to beat Georgia Tech and Clemson, 7-5, and 7-6, respectively, before losing again to the Tar Heels. Freshman David Cooper made a splash, becoming just the third person (joining Terry Francona and Barry Bonds) to ever get seven hits in a row at the CWS.

Jason Windsor was a workhorse for George Horton's 2003 and 2004 Titans. He compiled a 24-6 career record with a 1.81 ERA. He threw a complete game and fanned 10 in the national championship game in 2004.

THE STORY

The 2007 season was lackluster until late May. The Titans went 10-11 and finished in fifth place in the Big West. But thanks in large part to a late-season series win at Wichita State, Fullerton got an NCAA bid and took full advantage of upsets. The Titans finished 3-0 at the San Diego Regional where the host Toreros went 0-2. CSF got to host a Super Regional when UCLA upset higher-seeded Long Beach State. Two wins over UCLA sent Fullerton to Omaha for a 15th time but the Titans' luck ran out. They lost a pair of one-run games to eventual champion Oregon State, 3-2, and local rival UC Irvine, 5-4, in 13 innings and a CWS record time of 5:40.

In a whirlwind week in September, Horton was lured away to re-launch a program at the University of Oregon and former Titan pitcher and Assistant Coach Dave Serrano, who had just won Baseball America's National Coach of the Year honors at UCI, returned to his roots to coach the 2008 Titans.

Dave Serrano's 2009 Titans became the 16th Titan squad to reach the "Elite Eight" in Omaha, Neb.

THE SONG REMAINS THE SAME 2008-11

THE SONG…

The same publication that named Serrano its top coach in 2007 lacked confidence that he and his staff could step in to lead a group recruited by the previous regime and left the Titans off its preseason Top 25 ranking for the first time in 10 years. But behind strong season-long pitching performances by Jeff Kaplan and Cory Arbiso and outstanding seasons by Josh Fellhauer, Erik Komatsu and freshman Christian Colon, the Titans won a share of their 23rd conference title and knocked off Baseball America's preseason No. 1 in UCLA to win another Regional championship at Goodwin Field.

The Titans opened the season a respectable 13-8 but hit stride after one of the nation's most anticipated series when Serrano took his new team to UC Irvine in early April for a pivotal Big West series with the No. 5 Anteaters. A large throng of fans and national media saw the Titans win the series, losing game two only on a botched tag play at the plate in extra innings. The Titans battled their way into the national Top 10 despite an inexplicable case of Saturday blahs (4-11). Losses in the final two games at Long Beach left the 49ers and Titans tied for the title.

Fullerton again fought its way out of the losers' bracket in the Regional, beating UCLA twice to advance to their sixth consecutive Super Regional at home. But the opponent was nemesis Stanford, which had swept an early-season three-game series. The Cardinal swept again with 4-3 and 8-5 victories to advance to Omaha.

In 2009, Serrano became the 11th head coach to take at least two different schools (UCI in 2007 and CSF in 2009) to Omaha. He joined Dave Van Horn (Nebraska in 2002 and Arkansas in 2004) and Larry Cochell (CSF in 1990 and Oklahoma in 1992) as the only three to bring different teams in a span of only three seasons. The Titans had set lofty goals from the outset, beginning with their first ever midnight practice along side a rally cry of "first to practice, last to play." The motto stuck for 61 games despite an April slump (10-8) that cost them a Big West title. They finished on an 18-2 run including dominant play in the Regionals and Super Regionals, sweeping five games by scoring an average of more than 12 runs per game. A sophomore (Daniel Renken) and two freshmen (Tyler Pill and Noe Ramirez) starters would garner All-American honors. But the Titans' 16th stay in Omaha was a short one. They left town just five days after arriving following losses to Arkansas and Virginia.

The 2010 season saw the Titans overcome considerable adversity only to fall one out shy of another trip to Omaha. A two-out, two-run home run by UCLA's Tyler Rahmatulla off Raymond Hernandez in the top of the ninth inning of Game No. 2 of the Super Regional handed the Titans the kind of medicine they had dished out many times over the years. The Titans scored in the bottom half to forge a tie but then lost in the 10th and again the next day. The injuries had taken a toll. Big West Player of the Year Gary Brown broke a bone in his left hand on May 16 and never made another plate appearance. Pill was limited to outfield play the second half of the year by a sore arm, closer Nick Ramirez was unavailable in the above mentioned game because of an elbow issue and second baseman Corey Jones was out after getting injured sliding into second after his go-ahead hit in the eighth.

The adversity had begun early. During the summer, Colon suffered a broken leg. Ranked No. 4 nationally, the Titans fell out of the polls altogether after a 4-7 start. The team righted the ship and then took off from a 10-10 record and some "remedial" exercising after a less than inspired 4-2 loss at LMU on March 23. The Titans jumped into the early lead in the Big West standings and never looked back after winning a series at UC Irvine, even with Noe Ramirez sidelined after a freak fall. They finished a dominant 21-3 and climbed back to No. 7 in Baseball America's poll after winning 23 of 25 games. Fullerton finally got some revenge against Stanford, beating the Cardinal in the first elimination game at the Fullerton Regional. The Titans had lost their opener to Minnesota but came back once again to beat New Mexico and the Golden Gophers twice to earn the Super Regional berth at UCLA. Colon and Brown became the Titans' first pair of first-round draft picks.

Christian Colon headlined the Titan lineup for three season from 2008 to 2011 and eventually became the highest pick in the MLB draft for Fullerton since Adam Johnson in 2000.

TITAN TIMELINE

2008: Dave Serrano returns to the pinstripes as head coach after three seasons at UC Irvine. His first year at Fullerton produces a co-Big West Conference and Regional championship after going unranked by Baseball America in its preseason poll for the first time in 10 years.

2009: The Titans find out on their way to Cal State Northridge on Apr. 9, that it is indeed former Titan catcher Jon Wilhite, who was involved in a fatal car accident that killed Angels pitcher Nick Adenhardt and two of his friends, Hank Pearson and Courtney Stewart. The Titans wrote "JW" on their hats in support of the former catcher who would return to Goodwin Field in June to help inspire the Titans to victory over Louisville in the Super Regional.

Dave Serrano becomes the fourth Titan head coach to take a team to The College World Series, and just the third in NCAA history to take two different schools to Omaha within three years.

The Titans tie a school record with seven All-American performances. The freshman trio of Noe Ramirez (9-2, 3.33 ERA), Tyler Pill (11-3, 4.06 ERA) and Nick Ramirez (.287, 10 HR, 31 RBI / 3-1, 2.61 ERA, 7 SV) set the tone for the next two seasons.

2010: Gary Brown, who missed the last three weeks of the season with a broken hand, set a new single-season batting average record (.438) and missed breaking the school triples record by one. He went on to become a first-round draft pick with teammate Christian Colon in June.

2011: Fullerton makes its 20th consecutive postseason appearance but its string of eight consecutive Super Regional appearances ends when fourth-seeded Illinois beats it, 7-5, on Sunday following a 1-0 loss to Stanford the night before.

Former Fullerton shortstop Blake Davis became the Titans' 50th player to reach the major leagues when he was called up by Baltimore. He was the second of three Titans (David Cooper with Toronto and Brett Pill with San Francisco) to get the call during the season.

Dave Serrano takes an offer from the University of Tennessee to head its program and turn it around in a stacked Southeastern Conference. He leaves his alma mater after three Big West championships, four postseasons, three Super Regionals and one trip to Omaha.

Rick Vanderhook returns to Cal State Fullerton to become its fifth Div. I head coach. He spent the three previous season at UCLA as an assistant on John Savage's staff.

Cal State Fullerton's first superstar Tim Wallach is inducted into the National College Baseball Hall of Fame. He is the first Titan to receive the highest honor presented by the College Baseball

The walking miracle Jon Wilhite (pictured left) returned to Godwin Field on June 6, 2009, just two months after surviving a car accident that killed friends Hank Pearson, Courtney Stewart and Nick Adenhardt (Angels pitcher). A drunk driver hit the foursome's car in the early morning hours in Anaheim. Wilhite, walks with former teammate and friend Jared Clark (No. 5) after the Titans Super Regional game against Louisville at Goodwin Field. Wilhite, a player from 2004-2008 at Fullerton, suffered an "internal decapitation" in the accident and was saved by the first responders and medical staff at the UCI Medical Center. He threw out the first pitch in the Titans' first night game of the 2010 season against former Coach George Horton and his Oregon Ducks.

An uncharacteristic air of inconsistency hovered over the 2011 Titans. The offense lacked power to coincide with new BBCOR bat regulations. The defense was very shaky (59 unearned allowed vs. 56 by the opposition). Baserunning and bunting were very "un-Fullerton-ish." By season's end, freshmen were starting "up the middle" with Greg Velazquez at second, Keegan Dale at short, Michael Lorenzen in center and Jared Deacon behind the plate. But the pitching was excellent. The staff ERA of 2.88 was 12th in the nation. Noe Ramirez (8-4) was a Friday night All-American. Tyler Pill (7-1) and Colin O'Connell (7-3) were almost as good. Nick Ramirez had 16 saves in 16 opportunities to tie Chad Cordero for the career record of 34.

Fullerton was able to share or occupy alone first place in the Big West all season on its way to conference title No. 25 at 19-5 with a three-game bulge over UC Irvine. The team won 40 games for the 26th time and qualified for the 20th successive NCAA postseason, No. 33 overall. The Titans maintained their tradition of never going winless in an NCAA Regional but they cut it close. They struggled to beat a pesky Illinois team before Noe Ramirez lost a 1-0 pitching duel to Stanford's Jordan Pries. Velazquez appeared to have lined a game-tying hit into left field but the "trap" that showed up on TV replays was ruled a "catch" and the Titans were sent to the losers' bracket, where fourth-seeded Illinois scored six runs in the final three innings to rally for a 7-5 victory that left Fullerton without a home regional title for the first time since it first hosted in 2000.

Shortly after the season, Serrano accepted a lucrative financial offer to take the head job at Tennessee, where he had been an assistant before returning to Fullerton in 1997 to join Horton's staff. So on June 24, 2011, Rick Vanderhook became just the fifth Titan head coach in 38 years at the Div. I level and the third to be a former Titan player. He was an assistant to both Augie Garrido and George Horton before spending three productive years (2009-11) as an assistant at UCLA. "Hook" has been in a Titan uniform as a coach for a school-record 22 seasons plus two as a player.

TITAN TIMELINE

2012: Fullerton made its 21st consecutive postseason appearance, but the season ended with a 3-0 loss to Austin Peay at the Eugene Regional on June 3. The Titans' 36 wins were its fewest since 1993. Fullerton was denied a trip to the College World Series for the third consecutive year, matching the longest drought in the program's 38-year Div. I history.

Right-hander Dylan Floro was a 13th round pick-up for the Tampa Bay Rays in the 2012 Major League Baseball First-Year Players Draft.
Floro was the lone draft selection from the Titan program in 2012. It is the first time in the 38-year Div. I history of the Fullerton program that just one player was taken.

Sophomore Michael Lorenzen and junior Dylan Floro earned All-American status and five other Titans earned freshman All-American accolades, increasing an impressive streak for Fullerton that began in 1998.

Fullerton increased its total number of former players in the big leagues to 52 when Erik Komatsu made the opening day roster for the St. Louis Cardinals. He made is debut on Apr. 6 and legged out in infield single in his first big league at bat.

2013: The Titans made their 22nd straight trip to the postseason and swept through the opening round with a 4-1 victory over Columbia and then a pair of wins against Arizona State. But the Titans missed out on a trip to Omaha for the fourth consecutive year when they were swept in the Super Regionals by UCLA, who would go on to win the National Championship.

Thomas Eshelman, Justin Garza and Michael Lorenzen each received All-American nods while Eshelman and Garza also netted freshmen All-American accolades.

Senior Carlos Lopez became the first Titan ever to be named the Senior CLASS Award winner, which is given annually to the most outstanding student-athlete in Division I baseball. Lopez also became the second Titan to be named to the Capital One Academic All-American team, receiving a spot on the third team.

Michael Lorenzen was chosen 38th overall in the supplemental portion of the first round in the 2013 MLB Draft. He was one of four Titans selected in the draft with the others being Chad Wallach (5th round), Carlos Lopez (10th), and Richy Pedroza (17th).

Former Titan Khris Davis became the 53rd Fullerton alum to make his MLB debut when he made an appearance as a pinch hitter for the Milwaukee Brewers on April 1.

THE 'HOOK' ERA
2012-21

Fullerton wrapped up its 26 Div. I conference championship with a series win over Long Beach State at Blair Field during the final weekend of the year. The Titans made their 34th postseason appearance in 38 years at the Div. I level when they were selected as the No. 2 seed at the Eugene Regional.

Fullerton's 21st consecutive postseason appearance - third-longest active streak behind Miami (40 years) and Florida State (35 years) - ended with a 3-0 loss to Austin Peay on the third day of the Regional.

The Titan pitching staff led the nation allowing just 1.87 walks per 9.0 innings, while rating fifth in the country with a 3.2 strikeout-to-walk ratio. Sophomore Michael Lorenzen's 16 saves tied him with Nick Ramirez's 2011 performance for the second-best single season effort in terms of saves in the history of the Titan baseball program, while the number also ranked sixth in the country.

Junior Dylan Floro gave up fewer than two earned runs in 11 of his last 13 starts. Floro was drafted in the 13th round of the 2012 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft, after finishing ninth in the country, allowing just 1.02 walks per game and tying for 22nd in the nation with 10 victories.

Offensively, the Titans set a record for the fewest home runs in a season in 2012. In 2011, with the change to the new BBCOR bats, the Titans' home run totals dropped from 65 in 2010 to just 17 in 2011. In 2012, the Titans totaled just 10 through 57 games. Fullerton ranked third in the Big West in batting average (.276) and stolen bases (50).

In 2013, the Titans scored their 27th conference title and fourth straight Big West Championship after soaring to a 51-10 overall record. They made their 22nd straight postseason appearance and hosted the Regionals for the first time since 2011. Fullerton opened the round with 4-1 victory over Columbia and then scored a pair of victories over Arizona State to advance to the Super Regionals for the first time since 2010. The Titans hosted UCLA, their same foe from 2010. Unfortunately, the result was the same as UCLA shut down the Titans offense keep Fullerton out of Omaha for the fourth consecutive season, the longest drought in school history.

Fullerton finished the season 51-10 (.836), the second-best winning percentage in program history, trailing only 1995 Titans squad that went 57-9 (864) and went on to win the College World Series. In 2013, the Titans put together four 10-game winning streaks and lost back-to-back games on just two occasions.

Cal State Fullerton's pitching staff set several new records for the program including ERA (2.47), fewest runs per nine innings pitched (2.97), fewest walks per nine innings pitched (1.41), shutouts (11) and fewest walks (86).

Freshman pitcher Thomas Eshelman led the nation in walks allowed per nine innings (0.23), a new Titans record as well as a new NCAA record. His strikeout-to-walk ratio (27.67), also set a new single-season Titans record

Junior Michael Lorenzen had 19 saves in 2013, giving him 35 for his career which set a new Titans record.

Offensively, the Titans saw their power return as they blasted 35 home runs, topping their total from the previous two seasons combined. Lorenzen led the way with seven homers and would also drive in 54 RBI.

Fullerton, playing its first game under its new head coach Rick Vanderhook, on Feb. 17, 2012, fell at No. 1 Florida, 7-3. Vanderhook did not shy away from a difficult schedule during the 2012 campaign, playing five different top-25 opponents, and clinching series win over No. 15 TCU as well as on the road at No. 6 Texas A&M.

TITAN TIMELINE

2014: Fullerton kept their postseason streak alive, appearing in their 23rd consecutive NCAA Tournament, but it was not easy. The Titans had to sweep a ranked UC Irvine squad on the road and run off seven consecutive victories to end the season, punching a ticket to the Stillwater Regional hosted by Oklahoma State, but the Titans would be eliminated after going 2-2 at the Regional, missing out on a trip to the College World Series for the fifth consecutive season, the longest drought in school history.

On May 23, sophomore pitcher Justin Garza became the fourth Cal State Fullerton pitcher to toss a no-hitter, shutting down Cal State Northridge 3-0 at Goodwin Field. Garza walked three and struck out 12 as he tossed the first no-no since 2001 when Kirk Saarloos no-hit Pacific in a 28-0 victory.

Phil Bickford, Matt Chapman and Thomas Eshelman each earned All-American honors, marking the 17th consecutive seasons Cal State Fullerton has had at least one All-American, with at least one pitcher being selected in each of those years.

Matt Chapman was selected by the Oakland Athletics with the 25th overall pick in the 2014 MLB Draft, becoming the 13th Titan to be taken in the first round. He was one of seven Titans taken in the draft including: J.D. Davis (3rd round), Grahamm Wiest (14th), Clay Williamson (19th), Koby Gauna (20th), Austin Diemer (28th), and Jared Deacon (33rd).

On July 3, former Titan Mark Kotsay was inducted into the Omaha College Baseball Hall of Fame as part of the second class in the establishment's history.

2015: Fullerton made its 24th straight NCAA Tournament appearance and advacned to the NCAA College World Series for the 17th time in progarm history, ending a five-year drought.

Danny Dorn, Michael Lorenzen, Dustin Garneau and Noe Ramirez all make their MLB Debuts in 2015, putting the number of former Titans to play in MLB at 59 overall.

On April 4, David Olmedo-Barrera tied the school record for most RBI in a single game as he drove in eight runs in a 13-2 win over Cal Poly at Goodwin Field. He tied Danny Dorn's old record set on April 8, 2003 against LMU, also at Goodwin Field. Olmedo-Barrera went 2-for-2 with a grand slam, a two-run single, sacrifice fly and a bases loaded walk.

Thomas Eshelman, Justin Garza, Tyler Peitzmeier, David Olmedo-Barrera, A.J. Kennedy and Jake Jefferies were selected in the 2015 MLB Draft.

The Titans represented the USA in the World University Games in Gwangju, Korea, finishing in fourth place.

The Titans came into the 2014 season with tons of expectations, earning a preseason No. 1 ranking from three of the four major college baseball polls. Early on, those accolades were well warranted as they won eight of their first 11 games, including a three-game road sweep over No. 9 Oregon and former Titans skipper George Horton. They would win 18 of their first 29 but then hit a rough patch, suffering just the third six-game losing streak in the progam's history. The team would struggle for weeks, unable to get more than four games over the .500 mark by the last two weeks of the season.

Those same polls that gave Fullerton high praise in the preseason left the Titans out of their NCAA postseason projections and the Titans responded, sweeping a ranked UC Irvine Team on the road to ignite a seven-game winning streak to end the season and would get into the NCAA Tournament for the 23rd consecutive seasons and 36th time in school history.

During the seven-game win streak, sophomore Justin Garza made history as he tossed the fourth no-hitter in Cal State Fullerton history. Garza shut down Cal State Northridge on May 23, issuing three walks and tallying 12 strikeouts. It was also his first career complete-game. The no-hitter was the first by a Titans pitcher since 2001 when Kirk Saarloos no-hit Pacific in a 28-0 victory. Ted Silva. Along with Saarloos, Garza joined Ted Silva (1995) and Longo Garcia (1987) as the only Fullerton hurlers to throw no-hitters.

The Titans would travel to Stillwater, Oklahoma for the Regionals, and hoped for similar results from the last time they traveled there for the first round in 1994 when they won the Regional Title. On this occassion, J.D. Davis hit an eighth-inning grand slam in the opener to beat Nebraska but fell to Oklahoma State on the following night. After eliminating Nebraska in an elimination game, the Titans were sent home as Oklahoma State scored a comeback victory and made if five straight years without a trip to Omaha, the longest streak in Titans history.

It was Vanderhook's third consecutive postseason appearance as head coach of the Titans, although "Hook" has been part of 14 conference championships, 23 postseason appearances, nine Super Regional appearances and 11 trips to the College World Series over nearly a quarter century as a college baseball coach.

The Titans pitching staff was outstanding in 2014, setting a new record in team ERA (2.24), which they had set a year prior. They also allowed a school record 2.92 runs per game and were second in Titans history in runs allowed (177), shutouts (9), and walks allowed (92). Unfortunately, the offense could not follow the pitching's lead as they set a new franchise mark for lowest team batting average, hitting .260 as a team.

In 2015, the Titans put out a squad that was not expected to make much noise in the national college baseball picture, receiving just a pair of top-25 rankings in the preseason. But the Titans still had their two-headed monster of Eshleman and Garza in the rotation and freshmen John Gavin and Connor Seabold would make their presence known througout the season.

Facing a grueling road schedule that saw Fullerton travel more than 15,000 miles in the air with treks to College Park, Md., Honolulu, HI, Bloomington Ind., and Clearwater, Fla., the Titans put together a solid 15-12 record on the road during the regular season.

On May 23, 2014, Justin Garza walked three and tied a career-high with 12 strikeouts as he became the fourth Cal State Fullerton pitcher to throw a no-hitter, defeating Cal State Northridge 3-0 at Goodwin Field. Garza became the first Titan since Kirk Saarloos in 2001 to throw a no-hitter. He joined Saarloos, Ted Silva (1995) and Longo Garcia (1987) in the Titans no-hit club.

Once conference play rolled around, the Titans began to dominate, winning 19 of 24 Big West contests en route to the 20th Big West title in Fullerton history and 28th conference championship overall. The Titans won every series in conference, scoring sweeps over UC Riverside and Long Beach State at home and a road sweep against Hawai'i.

The Titans made their 24th straight appearance in the NCAA Tournament and 37th overall in 41 seasons at the Division I level. Fullerton swept through the Fullerton Regional and then won a Super Regional on the road for just the second time since 1999, defeating No. 9 Louisville in three games to score a trip to the NCAA College World Series. for the first time since 2009, breaking a five-year drought that was the longest in program history.

Making their first trip to TD Ameritrade Park after 16 previous appearances at the old Rosenblatt Stadium, the Titans had defending champs Vanderbilt on the ropes in the opening game of the CWS. With Eshelman cruising and holding a 3-0 lead in the sixth, Mother Nature intervened as lightning in the area followed by a torrential downpour forced the suspension of the game to the next day. The Commodores would score four times during the resumpiton to defeat the Titans and Fullerton would fall to No. 1 LSU in the elimination game to bring their season to an end.

During the summer of 2015, the Titans represented the USA at the World University Games in Gwangju, South Korea. Team USA would finish fourth in the tournament, falling to host South Korea in the Bronze Medal game.

THE STORY

TITAN TIMELINE

2016: The Titans posted a strong 2016 campaign, finishing 36–23 overall and 17–7 in the Big West to claim another conference championship. Fullerton once again leaned on elite pitching and timely offense to secure its 25th straight NCAA Tournament appearance, advancing to the Starkville Regional. Behind Rick Vanderhook, the Titans showed consistency throughout conference play and closed the year with a .610 winning percentage, reaffirming their position atop the Big West.

Chris Devenski and Dylan Floro made their MLB debut in 2016, putting the number of former Titans to play in the MLB at 61.

2017: Fullerton returned to national prominence in 2017, going 39–24 and making a memorable postseason run. After finishing 15–9 in conference play, the Titans surged in the postseason, winning the Stanford Regional and defeating rival Long Beach State in the Super Regional to advance to the College World Series for the 18th time in program history. Though Fullerton went 0–2 in Omaha, the run marked a major highlight of the decade and showcased a balanced roster.

Connor Seabold, Scott Hurst, John Gavin, Chris Hudgins, Dillon Persinger, Timmy Richards and Taylor Bryant were all selected in 2017 MLB Draft.

Four Titans made their MLB debut during the 2017 season in Tyler Pill, Matt Chapman, JD Davis and Chad Wallach to up the Titans count to 65 players to compete in the major leagues.

2018: The 2018 Titans followed up their Omaha trip with another strong season, finishing 36–25 and capturing the Big West crown with an 18–6 conference record. Fullerton once again excelled in the postseason, winning the Stanford Regional before falling in the Super Regional to Washington at Goodwin Field. The year marked the program's 30th conference title and extended its reputation as one of college baseball's most consistent postseason threats.

Following the 2018 season, Colton Eastman, Andrew Quezada, Brett Conine, Ruben Cardenas, Erik Cha, Tommy Wilson and Blake Workman were selcted in the MLB Draft.

The Titans entered the 2016 season determined to extend their postseason legacy, and they did just that, piecing together another trademark Fullerton campaign built on dominant pitching and timely execution.

Despite early inconsistencies, the Titans steadied themselves once conference play arrived, winning key series and ultimately claiming the conference title for the 29th time in program history.

Behind a disciplined pitching staff and a defense that repeatedly delivered under pressure, Fullerton closed the regular season strong and earned its 25th consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament, this time traveling to Starkville for the Regional. Although the Titans were unable to advance, the season reaffirmed the program's remarkable consistency.

The Titans put together another strong postseason run in 2017, returning to Omaha for the 18th time in program history. Fullerton battled through a challenging Big West slate to finish third in the conference, but the Titans hit their stride at the perfect time, winning the Stanford Regional behind dominant pitching and timely hitting. Fullerton then traveled to rival Long Beach State for the Super Regionals and delivered a memorable three-game performance, taking the final two contests to secure the program's first College World Series berth since 2015. In Omaha, the Titans struck early against No. 1 national seed Oregon State, jumping out to a 5-1 lead before the Beavers rallied late to take the opener. Fullerton again started strong in its elimination game against Florida State but could not hold the advantage, ending the season with an 0-2 mark at TD Ameritrade Park after a remarkable postseason surge.

2017 cemented Cal State Fullerton vs. Long Beach State as one of the best rivalries in college baseball. The two historic programs faced off in the Super Regionals at Blair Field where the Titans pulled out a 2-1 victory in game three to punch their ticket to Omaha. The Titans came back after losing game one of the series, 3-0, to win the final two games and earn a spot in the College World Series for the 18th time in program history.

The Titans' 2017 run came with a wave of national attention surrounding the program's pitching development and defensive consistency. Fullerton entered the postseason with one of the most battle-tested rotations in the country, featuring standout performances from Connor Seabold, Colton Eastman, and John Gavin throughout the spring. Head coach Rick Vanderhook guided a young but resilient roster that had competed against one of the nation's toughest nonconference schedules, helping prepare the Titans for the intensity of postseason play. The Super Regional series at Long Beach became one of the most-watched matchups of the entire tournament, drawing national media coverage and showcasing the rivalry on a national stage.

Fullerton opened the postseason with a dominant showing at the Stanford Regional, defeating BYU, host Stanford, and again Stanford to advance unbeaten. The Titans outscored opponents 21-5 over the three games, backed by Eastman, Gavin and Seabold's strong outings and a hot offensive stretch led by Scott Hurst and Timmy Richards. In the Long Beach Super Regional, Fullerton dropped a narrow Game 1 but answered decisively with a 12-0 shutout in Game 2 behind Gavin's dominant complete game shutout. Chris Hudgins led the Titans offensively in game two, going 3-for-5 with two runs and four RBI. The Titans completed the comeback in Game 3, using aggressive baserunning, timely hits, and late-inning execution to secure a 2-1 series victory and return to Omaha. The postseason run — capped by resilience on the road and a pitching staff that delivered in every elimination moment — pushed Fullerton back onto college baseball's biggest stage for the first time in two seasons.

The Titans entered 2018 with heightened expectations and delivered another memorable campaign, highlighted by a dominant 18–6 Big West showing that secured yet another conference crown, the program's 30th in its storied history.

After starting the season 4-10, the Titans bounced back to finish the season with a 32-12 record. Additionally, Fullerton lost its first Big West series of the season before rattling off seven Big West series wins to cap off the season and secure a spot in the NCAA Postseason.

Fullerton battled through early challenges before rounding into form, relying on a battle-tested core that embraced the program's tradition of late-season surges. Once in the postseason, the Titans returned to Stanford and once again made themselves at home, winning the Regional behind a rotation that thrived in pressure moments. Their run came to an end in the Fullerton Super Regional against Washington, but the season further cemented the programs legacy and extended Fullerton's reputation as one of the nation's most consistent June contenders.

The 2018 Titans were largely led by their pitching who finished the season with a 3.45 ERA. The weekend rotation of Colton Eastman, Tommy Wilson and Andrew Quezada were key factors in the Titans run to another Big West title. Eastman led the staff with a 10-4 record, 2.37 ERA and .99 WHIP in 117.2 innings pitched while striking out 124 batters. Eastman earned ABCA/Rawlings and D1 Baseball All-American honors after the season.

TITAN TIMELINE

2019: The 2019 season marked a downturn after two consecutive deep postseason runs. Fullerton struggled to generate the consistency that defined earlier Vanderhook teams, ultimately finishing below .500 and missing the NCAA Tournament. The year highlighted growing challenges on both sides of the ball, signaling the start of a rebuilding period for the storied program.

Daniel Cope and Sahid Valenzuela were selected in the 13th round of the 2019 MLB Draft to extend the Titans streak of at least one player taken in the draft to 45 consecutive years.

2020: The 2020 season was canceled after just 16 games due to COVID-19. Cal State Fullerton was 4-12 prior to the season being canceled.

2021: The Titans had another down year in 2021, finishing the season with a 20-35 record with a 13-23 record in conference play.

Tanner Bibee was a bright spot for the Titans during the 2021 season, finishing with a 3.61 ERA and 67 strikeouts. Bibee went on to be drafted in the fifth round of the MLB Draft that year by the Cleveland Guardians.

Three former Titans made their MLB debut during the 2021 season in Scott Hurst, Justin Garza and Connor Seabold.

2022: Jason Dietrich took over the reins as head coach for the 2022 season. Dietrich, former Titans pitching coach from 2013 to 2016, was officially hired as the sixth head coach in program history on June 30, 2021.

The team saw improvements in Dietrich's first year, going 22-33 overall with a 14-16 record in Big West Conference play.

2023: Under second-year head coach Jason Dietrich, the Titans delivered a major rebound in 2023, finishing 31–22 overall and 20–10 in the Big West. Fullerton returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2018, competing in the Stanford Regional and finishing 1–2. The season marked a significant turning point, signaling that the program was climbing back toward national relevance after a few down years.

The 2019 season marked unfamiliar territory for the program, as the Titans struggled to find their footing throughout the spring. Despite moments of promise, Fullerton was unable to produce the sustained consistency that defined previous seasons, battling injuries, inexperience, and offensive challenges that hindered momentum. The Titans ultimately missed the postseason for the first time since 1991, ending one of the longest and most respected NCAA Tournament streaks in college baseball history.

Mitchell Berryhill was one of the bright spots during the 2019 campaign, finishing the year with a .415 batting average to win The Big West batting title while ranking fifth in the nation.

The 2020 campaign lasted just 16 games before the season was cancelled due to COVID-19.

DIETRICH AT THE HELM
2022-Current

After missing the postseason four consecutive seasons, a revitalized Fullerton team took the field in 2023 under second-year head coach Jason Dietrich, and the Titans were back in the postseason where they belonged.

The Titans rediscovered their identity through a pitching-first approach and a lineup that thrived in situational moments, powering to a 20–10 Big West record and a 32-24 overall record, reestablishing themselves as one of the league's top contenders. Fullerton reached 30 wins for the first time since 2018, while its 20 wins in conference play was the most since 2013.

The strong regular season earned Fullerton a long-awaited return to the NCAA Tournament, where they competed at the Stanford Regional and took another step forward in the program's rebuilding arc. The campaign marked a significant milestone—the clearest sign yet that the Titans were regaining their footing on the national stage.

Fullerton entered 2025 determined to put the previous year behind them, and the response was immediate. The Titans showed significant improvement across the board, particularly in conference play, where they reestablished themselves as a competitive force with a 19–11 Big West record.

Under Dietrich's leadership, the team regained its defensive sharpness and showcased more consistency on the mound, setting the foundation for a return to the upper tier of the conference. While postseason hopes remained just out of reach, the Titans finished the regular season as the No. 3 seed in The Big West Tournament.

Dietrich become the sixth head coach in the program's history and led the Titans to NCAA postseason appearance in just his second season at the helm in 2023.

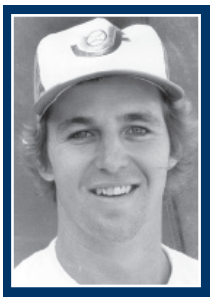

CAL STATE FULLERTON FIRST-ROUND DRAFT PICKS

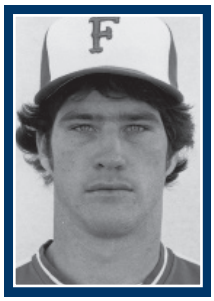

In June of 2003, Chad Cordero pitched for the Titans in the College World Series and became a first-round draft pick of the Montreal Expos. Just three months later, the right-hander was pitching in the big leagues at Montreal's Olympic Stadium.

THE CREAM OF THE CROP

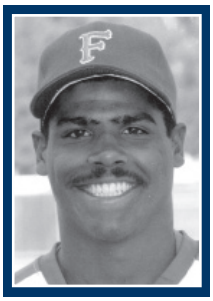

Cal State Fullerton has seen its share of No. 1 draft picks, collecting 13 since its first, Tim Wallach in 1979. Since then, the Titans are averaging one top pick a little more than every two and a half years, including the newest member of the club, Matt Chapman, who was selected with the 25th overall pick by the Oakland Athletics in the 2014 MLB Draft.

Damon Allen, the younger brother of NFL Hall of Famer Marcus Allen, was a seventh round pick by the Detroit Tigers in 1984 but chose to play football out of school. He played in the Canadian Football League from 1985-2007 and was professional football's all-time leading passer from 2006-11. He also ranks third all-time in the CFL in rushing. He retired from the CFL in 2008, at the age of 44 with four Grey Cups (with three different teams) to his credit. Allen attempted a professional baseball career with Pittsburgh, but pitched just 3 and 2/3 minor league innings in 1994.

MISCELLANEOUS

FORMER TITANS & MLB NOTES

• Both Mark Kotsay (Oakland) and Phil Nevin (Minnesota) played in their first postseason in 2006 after more than 1,200 games apiece in the big leagues. Kotsay's total of 1,284 games without postseason play was the seventh-longest among active players in 2006. Nevin, in the final year of his playing career, had been part of seven different organizations over 12 seasons. Kotsay, at the time, had been with three teams and was in his 10th season. He would play seven more seasons with four more teams before retiring prior to the 2014 season.

• 1996 Titan teammates Aaron Rowand and Mike Lamb faced off in the 2005 World Series, marking the first time two former Titans have met in the big series. They were the second and third Titans to play in the Fall Classic.

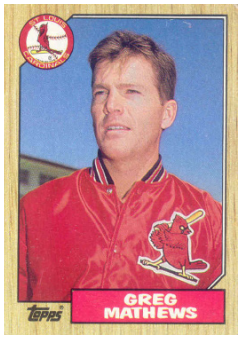

• Six Titans have earned Major League World Series rings with Mark Kotsay grabbing the first in 1997 with the Marlins. Pitcher Dan Naulty earned another in 1999 with the Yankees. Aaron Rowand was the first Titan to earn his hardware by being on the World Series roster as the White Sox defeated the Astros in the 2005 series. He then became the first Titan to ever score a second ring when he won with the 2010 Giants. Christian Colon earned a ring in 2015 with the Kansas City Royals.

• Andy and Jose Mota are sons of former Major League outfielder and Los Angeles Dodgers Coach Manny Mota.

• Mike Harkey, Mike Schooler, Shane Turner, John Fishel, Kevin Reimer, Larry Casian and Jose Mota were all on the 1985 Titan team which failed to win the PCAA championship and snapped Fullerton's string of 10 consecutive trips to the NCAA playoffs.

• Brent Billingsley, Jeremy Giambi, Mark Kotsay, Mike Lamb, Aaron Rowand, Matt Wise and a then-redshirt Reed Johnson were all products of the 1996 Titan team that saw the Titans start the season 31-2 following the 57-9 finish in 1995, only to struggle down the stretch, going 14-14, and sneaking into the Wichita State Regional.

• Kurt Suzuki was the 2009 Roberto Clemente nominee for the Oakland A's. Kurt and his wife, former Titan volleyball player Renee (Vignery), helped raise over $60,000 for former Titan catcher Jon Wilhite following a very devastating drunk driving accident that killed three others and left Wilhite severely injured. Ricky Romero was nominated by the Blue Jays for the award in 2011 and 2012 and Mark Kotsay was nominated by the San Diego Padres in 2013.

Greg Mathews (above) was the first Titan to play in a World Series game in 1987. He started Game 4. To this day, he is the only former Titan pitcher to reach the Fall Classic. Former Titan and Chicago White Sox outfielder

CAL STATE FULLERTON BASEBALL: HOW DO THEY DO IT?

The Titans of Cal State Fullerton have made eight trips to the College World Series in the Super Regional Era (since 1999), matched only by Texas in that time span who made their eighth appearance in 2014; and Fullerton's 17 overall appearances in the CWS ties them with LSU for seventh place all-time. They've done it all since moving up to Div. I status in 1975 and four times – once a decade – they have gone home with the NCAA championship.

"How do they do it?" is a common question. The answer won't fit in a sound bite.

It starts with location – baseball rich, usually sunny Southern California. Then, in no particular order, come coaching, tradition and attitude.

Overwhelming resources are not in the picture. Fullerton is the only non-football school with more than one appearance in Omaha since 1999, and it operates its entire athletics department on a budget of about $9 million. Goodwin Field is a modest home facility built in 1992, expanded to 3,500 seats in 2000 and cast in the shadow of Angel Stadium, six miles down the street.

Start with coaching, both on site and in the developmental youth leagues, high schools and community colleges in Southern California. Weather allows year-round play and the competition is keen.

Augie Garrido, the winningest coach in Div. I history now at Texas, was the architect at Fullerton. He arrived in 1973 and endured the last losing season the school has known. In 1974 he won a conference championship and in the program's first Div. I season in 1975, he took the Titans to Omaha via a Regional Tournament victory at USC, dethroning the reigning kings of college baseball. That weekend brought the Titans credibility and better players and a dynasty was in its infancy.

Garrido left for the greener pastures and climate challenges of Illinois from 1988 to 1990 and the Titans hired veteran Larry Cochell, who took them to Omaha twice in three seasons before leaving for a bigger paycheck at Oklahoma. That move opened the door for Garrido's return with a new stadium in the works. Garrido brought in former Titan first baseman George Horton to be his associate head coach and Horton didn't miss a beat when he took over in 1997 after Garrido's move to the riches of Austin.

Horton promptly hired former Titan right-hander Dave Serrano as his pitching coach and the pair teamed up to take four Titan teams to Omaha before the 2004 title helped Serrano get the head job at UC Irvine. And when Horton was lured to Eugene in 2008 to rekindle the Oregon program, Serrano moved back to north Orange County and won 175 games over four seasons, leading the team to four postseasons, three Super Regionals and a College World Series appearance in 2009. At the conclusion of the 2011 season, he, too, was snatched up by a big-time football school, the University of Tennessee, opening the door for long-time Titan assistant coach Rick Vanderhook to take over the reins after nearly three decades as an assistant coach at Fullerton, Cal State Northridge and UCLA.

"Hook" played for and assisted Garrido, assisted Horton alongside Serrano and has worn a Titan uniform longer than any one person in the baseball program (25 years as a player and coach). He has been a key evaluator and developer of talent since 1985 and owns three of the Titans' four national championship rings to prove it. He's a coaching veteran of 24 postseasons and 12 trips to Omaha, becoming the fifth coach to take Fullerton to the CWS in program history in 2015.

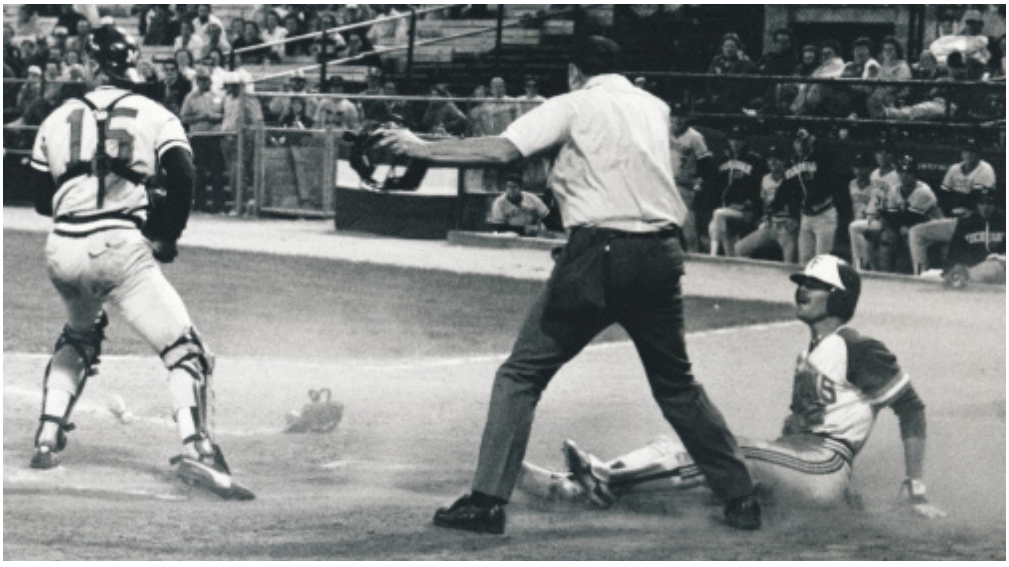

Tradition has grown with each season. The wins, the championships, the 59 former players in the major leagues and the growing frequency of trips to Omaha have snowballed. "Baseball excellence" is the most common first response to surveys about the image of the 38,000-student "commuter" institution. Several former bat boys have returned to wear the Titan blue and orange. Summer youth camps have developed future Titan stars. Youngsters grow up wanting to be Titans.

Attitude starts with putting team over personal achievement. Fullerton has not attracted a lot of "blue chip" prospects with high draft prospects. Everyone learns to bunt, to hit to the opposite field and to take a "dos" (a term, pronounced "dose" meaning hit by pitch). "Baseball player" rates higher in recruiting criteria than the speed of a fastball or the power in a swing. And over the years, the Titans have developed a swagger of confidence.

The Titans have usually enjoyed a home field advantage during their Super Regional Era run. Of their 12 regional titles in that span, 10 have come at home. Six of their eight Super Regional titles also have been claimed at Goodwin Field. But they earned the advantage. From 1975 to 1998, the Titans NEVER played at home in the postseason. Yet they won nine Regionals – at USC, at Fresno State twice, at Arizona State, at Mississippi State, at Texas, at LSU twice and at Oklahoma State – for more road titles than anyone.

Yep, they'll be back in Omaha... it's the Titans' second home.

COLLEGE WORLD SERIES YEAR-BY-YEAR CAPSULES

1975

Fullerton's first trip to Omaha is short. So short, that in the old double-elimination format, the Titans are eliminated before two teams even played their first games. They lost to Arizona State, 5-3, and, the next day, Oklahoma State, 11-4.

OFF THE FIELD: An Omaha resident hands his car keys to a group of unknown Titan players looking for transportation and says, "Here, bring it back when you're done with it."

HOW THEY GOT THERE: It was the regional tournament that broke USC's hold on the CWS. Fullerton beat the Trojans in the first round at Dedeaux Field and, after Pepperdine eliminated the Trojans, the Titans knocked off the Waves in a winner-take-all final.

The Titans' second trip is far more successful. After losing the opener to Mississippi State, the Titans fight their way back through the losers' bracket. Right-hander Dave Weatherman, who gets knocked out early in an eventual 8-5 win over Pepperdine, comes back to pitch the championship game and beats Arkansas, 2-1, with a complete game four-hitter. Starter Tony Hudson is converted to a reliever and wins the Most Valuable Player Award, not national player of the year Tim Wallach.

OFF THE FIELD: Coach Garrido heads off second-guessing by allowing sportswriters to help make out the lineup cards each day. For the Pepperdine game, Mickey Palmer starts in rightfield because of his defensive prowess over better hitter Matt Vejar. Palmer responds with five unexpected hits in the win over Pepperdine. In the hotel lounge that night, Los Angeles Times writer Tom Hamilton edits the marquee that read: "Now Appearing, Frankie and the Four Hits" by adding the words, "Palmer had Five."

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Testing the formula before they used it successfully in Omaha, the Titans lost their opener to UCLA before coming back through the losers' bracket at Fresno. They had to beat UCLA twice including a win over future major leaguer Tim Leary.

Anticlimactic is not a word frequently used with the College World Series, but that's the best way to describe the Titans' third appearance. After partying hard after an emotional regional win at Arizona State, the Titans accomplished a feat still unmatched -- going "two and 'que" without even scoring a run. Wichita State's Bryan Oelkers (7-0) and Maine's Joe Johnson (6-0) blanked the Titans, who averaged more than 8 runs in the regional.

OFF THE FIELD: After losing twice, the Titans had to scramble to get home. A United Airlines strike was in effect, further disrupting limited air service out of Omaha. Friendly travel agents finally routed the team home via Minneapolis.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Two dramatic CSF wins in Tempe handed the Sun Devils their first home regional loss ever. On Saturday, Mike Vanderburg hit a two-run homer to tie the game in the bottom of the ninth and freshman John Fishel won it, 10-9, with a two-out single. Then on Sunday, Bob Bathe and Mark Pirruccello hit eighth-inning homers for an 8-7 lead, and regional MVP Scott Wright won it in relief.

The 1984 Titans won a school record 66 games en route to the school's second national championship.

In the most offensive World Series to date, the Titans showed that pitching and defense could still prevail. After a second game loss to Texas, the Titans prevailed through the losers' bracket with wins over Miami (13-5), Oddibe McDowell and Arizona State (6-1) and Pete Incaviglia and Oklahoma State (10-2) to earn a rematch with Texas. Reliever Eddie Delzer got the starting call about one hour before game time and responded with seven courageous innings, leaving due to leg cramps with a 3-1 lead thanks to a key triple by John Bryant. Scott Wright logged save No. 22 to secure the trophy.

OFF THE FIELD: The post-championship party back at the hotel far exceeded the budget of the sponsoring local organization and the excess had to be taken out of the 1985 baseball budget.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Fullerton finally prevailed on a scorching weekend in Fresno. After beating Mark McGwire's USC team and San Diego State, the Titans missed a chance to close it out on Sunday when SDSU took a 9-5 decision. On Memorial Day, in 109-degree heat, the Titans blew a 7-0 lead, but John Bryant singled home Bob Caffrey from second base with two out in the bottom of the eleventh inning.

Adapting quickly to the new double-bracket formula in Omaha, the Titans jumped out to a 2-0 record behind starters Longo Garcia and Mark Beck, who beat Miami, 9-3, and Stanford and Mike Mussina, 5-3, respectively. But the second time around neither could beat Stanford on three days rest, losing by the scores of 4-1 and 9-5 for first-year Coach Larry Cochell.

OFF THE FIELD: Cochell had a dramatically different style than predecessor Augie Garrido, who had departed for what turned into a three-year stay at Illinois. The players called him "Chuck" because of his physical resemblance to famed test pilot Chuck Yeager.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: In one of the most dramatic moments in Titan history, Mike Ross hit a three-run home run with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning for a 6-3 win over Texas A&M and the championship of a six-team regional in Starkville, Miss. Fullerton earlier beat the host Bulldogs twice with reliever Paul Johnson working 7 and 1/3 innings for the second win over MSU and 5 innings to beat the Aggies.

For the third time, the Titans went "0-2 and barbecue" in Omaha, but it could have been worse. In the opening game against Oklahoma State, left fielder Rich Gonzales crashed head-first into the solid wall of Rosenblatt Stadium chasing a fly ball. He had the ball in his glove but because he was lying unconscious and "not in control" of the ball, the Cowboy hitter was credited with an inside-the-park three-run homer to cap a seven-run second inning. Gonzales was taken off the field on a stretcher and was not permanently injured. His stunned teammates lost that game, 14-4, for CSF's worst Omaha defeat, and then lost to The Citadel, 8-7, in 12 innings. The Citadel catcher, Gettys Glaze, moved to the mound for 3 and 1/3 innings of relief before returning behind the plate.

OFF THE FIELD: Cochell got an offer he couldn't refuse later in the summer to take the head job at Oklahoma. With construction on a new stadium about to begin, Garrido was lured back to Fullerton after a controversial tenure at Illinois.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Right-hander James Popoff was the star as Fullerton went 4-0 in a six-team regional at Austin, Texas. Popoff easily beat Old Dominion, 16-3, and then came back to hand Texas its second loss with a four-hit shutout after Sam Colaruso had beaten the Longhorns, 5-2.

Long debated strategy and key plays by the Pepperdine double-play combination denied Fullerton its third national title. Fullerton fought back from a second-game loss to Miami to gain the championship contest with a win over Florida State and two over Miami, the last one in pouring rain. Playing about 12 hours after that conclusion at noon for CBS TV, the Titans lost to the Waves, 3-2. Shortstop Erik Ekdahl's first home run of the season produced the decisive run. Strategists dissected the Fullerton eighth when the Titans sacrificed two runners into scoring position with eventual CWS MVP Phil Nevin coming up. Pepperdine Coach Andy Lopez leaped at the chance to intentionally walk Nevin, putting the go-ahead run on. The strategy worked -- barely. Jason Moler's drive into right center was turned into a sacrifice fly by a stiff incoming wind. Then second baseman Steve Rodriguez robbed Tony Banks of a game-tying single to right field.

professional draft, conducted early in the CWS, going No. 1 to Houston. He spent an entire day doing interviews for Baseball America as its national player of the year and was the focus of attention everywhere he went. Yet he hit better than .500 for the series. And many questioned the decision to continue the Friday night win over Miami, made to ensure the CBS payday would come through on Saturday.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: The road to Omaha went through Baton Rouge, where Coach Skip Bertman's dynasty was still developing. Freshman Mike Parisi pitched most of an 11-0 shutout of the Tigers in the decisive winners' bracket game and then the Titans got a break when LSU was eliminated by Ohio State. The Titans routed the Buckeyes, 13-1, for the regional crown.

The last two teams to qualify for the CWS had to meet in the opening game and the hitters weren't sharp. Georgia Tech's Brad Rigby tossed a three-hit shutout for a 2-0 win over Mike Parisi and the Titans, who had shut out Georgia Tech earlier in the year in Fullerton. Rested, the Titans' hitters exploded for a 20-6 win over LSU and a 10-3 romp over Florida State to earn another shot at the Yellowjackets and Rigby. Parisi was his match this time. The score was 2-2 in the fourth and it didn't change until the 12th inning, when Nomar Garciaparra led off with a home run off Chad Rolish. Dante Powell reached third with no outs in the bottom half but the Titans couldn't score.

OFF THE FIELD: Another "Fullerton" rule change. In the future, the last team to qualify would be placed in the bracket that begins play on Saturday.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: By capturing perhaps the most difficult regional tournament victory of them all. In the decisive winners' bracket game in Stillwater, Oklahoma, Fullerton took an 11-8 lead over host Oklahoma State into the bottom of the ninth. Jake Benz hit a two-out, three-run walk-off home run for a 13-11 OSU win. The Titans came back the next morning to beat Memphis, 12-5, to get another chance at OSU in stifling heat and humidity with no fresh pitchers. Five hurlers including Dan Ricabal, who worked five innings in the morning, held the Cowboys to five runs. But it's 5-4 OSU in the ninth, two out and the bases loaded. Brian King singles to center to score the tying run but pinch runner Tony Fetchel was thrown out trying to score the winning run. Fullerton put a patchwork defense on the field in the tenth including lightly used shortstop Chris Remala and third baseman Steve Rath, who caught a line drive for his only fielding chance of the season. In the bottom of the tenth, OSU relief ace Rob Gaiko entered with the bases loaded and one out and hit pinch-hitter Robert Matos in the wrist with his second pitch to force in the winning run.

Possibly the greatest college baseball team ever roared through Omaha, becoming the first No. 1 seed to live up to the hype. After a nervous 6-5 win over Stanford -- those guys again -- in the opener, the Titans rolled elevens to twice rout Tennessee and Todd Helton (11-1 and 11-0) and then beat USC, 11-5, behind Mark Kotsay's two home runs and close-out relief pitching. The Titans won everything that season -- the Anaheim Hilton and Towers Classic, the conference title, the postseason tournament and the regional before adding the ultimate trophy.

OFF THE FIELD: The Titans earned themselves a September trip to the White House as the guests of President Bill Clinton.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Baton Rouge proved a popular spot again for the Titans, who went 4-0 for the second time at LSU. Rice, with Jose Cruz, Jr., and Lance Berkman, stood in the way in the final two games, going easily by a 17-7 score but then hanging tough in an 8-7 finale. Freshman Mike Lamb drove in the winning run in the top of the ninth with a sacrifice fly.

A three-year absence, equalling the longest void in the Titans' Roads to Omaha, came to an end but the Stanford jinx was renewed as the Cardinal beat the Titans in the opening round, 9-2. Kirk Saarloos saved Matt Sorensen's 4-2 win over Texas A&M, but Florida State sent the Titans home 1-2 with a 7-2 victory.

OFF THE FIELD: Kevin Costner's visit turned into a Hollywood event. The Cal State Fullerton alum rented a local cineplex on Sunday morning and invited all the teams and CWS officials to an uncut showing of his latest baseball film, "For Love of the Game." Sorensen jumped up on stage at the Opening Ceremonies and played "air guitar" with country group Sawyer Brown.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: The first year of the Super Regional format created all kinds of controversy. Fullerton went 3-0 to win a regional at Notre Dame, but after the final victory, four Titan players were cited in a gravel-throwing incident that got them banned from the Super Regionals, held at Ohio State. Fullerton thought it would be the host of the new 2-out-of-3 format because of its higher seeding, but the Buckeyes and their bigger stadium and following got the nod (the rule would be changed the next year). Minus stars Adam Johnson and David Bacani, the Titans overcame an opening loss to pound the Buckeyes, 11-5 and 13-2.

Beloved University of Nebraska made its first Omaha appearance and the normally neutral fans turned a bright shade of red for the opening game vs. Fullerton on a weekend that President George W. Bush threw out the ceremonial first pitch. Jon Smith got a 5-4 win with help from Mike Nunez and Chad Cordero. David Bacani's solo home run in the fifth broke a 4-4 tie. But Stanford reared its ugly head for a 5-2 win in 10 innings as Cordero was beaten after escaping a ninth-inning jam. Fullerton beat Tulane but lost again to Stanford, 4-1, as Jeremy Guthrie got 20 of 21 outs on strikeouts or ground balls.

OFF THE FIELD: Baseball SID Ryan Ermeling missed what would have been his first College World Series, staying at home to await the birth of his first child. Alexis was born on June 15, two days after the Titans were eliminated.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Fullerton qualified for Omaha on its home field for the first time. The Titans won their first home regional (they finished second to USC in 2000) by winning a Game No. 7 over Texas Tech behind Jon Smith. That earned them a Super Regional hosting role for the first time and they overpowered Mississippi State. Mike Rouse had three home runs in a 13-2 win and then Aaron Rifkin hit three in a 9-3 decision.

In another revision of the format, the Titans came within a run of meeting Rice in a best 2-out-of-3 series for the national championship. After beating LSU (8-2) and Stanford (6-5), the Titans needed only one more win to advance. But Stanford stayed alive with a 5-3 victory, and then became the first team all season to overcome a three-run deficit against Fullerton with a 7-5 win in 10 innings. Jonny Ash's first career home run off Chad Cordero tied the game in the seventh, and Danny Putnam hit a two-run game winner in the tenth off Darric Merrill. Justin Turner survived a beaning in the face, but the Titans could not overcome 15 runners left on base including three in the eighth inning.

OFF THE FIELD: The blue and orange got plenty of exposure. Lead singer of the rock group Smashmouth wore a Titans' warmup shirt during their performance at the Opening Ceremonies. The CSF Alumni Association rented a house across the street from the stadium for hospitality and it became a mecca for fans before and after games, including some local converts.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Fullerton stayed home at Goodwin Field again with great success. The Titans went 3-0 in a home regional for the first time by beating San Diego and then Notre Dame twice. In possibly the tourney's toughest Super Regional matchup, the Titans won two of three from Arizona State behind the outstanding starting pitching of Jason Windsor and Dustin Miller.

The 2003 squad is one of the most talented teams Fullerton has ever assembled. Nine of its players have gone on to play in the major leagues, with a handful competing in the upper ranks of the minor leagues. Right-handed reliever and first-round draft pick Chad Cordero pitched in the College World Series in June and by September, was pitching in Olympic Stadium for the Montreal Expos.

The number 13 proved extremely lucky for the Titans as they won their fourth national title by sweeping the championship series in two games over heavily favored and No. 1-seeded Texas with former Fullerton Coach Augie Garrido. Making their 13th consecutive trip to the NCAA playoffs and their 13th trip to Omaha, the Titans spent 13 nights in the Crowne Plaza Hotel, which is 13 miles from Rosenblatt Stadium, which is located on 13th street. Ricky Romero put the Titans in the driver's seat in their bracket as he logged win No. 13 in beating No. 1-ranked Miami in Coach George Horton's 13th game in the CWS. Jason Windsor logged his 13th win with a 3-2 complete-game victory over the Longhorns in the final game.

OFF THE FIELD: The matchup of the mentor (Garrido) and pupil (Horton) took center stage despite efforts by both coaches to downplay their roles. A medical problem prevented Kevin Costner from attending and having to show allegiance publicly to either his good friend Garrido or his alma mater, Fullerton. The "Return of Titan House," a pre and post-game Fullerton fan headquarters across the street from the stadium, reached new heights. The fans cheered the team bus in and out of the stadium each day and the players showed up en masse by foot for the post-title celebration.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: After a 15-16 start, just qualifying for the postseason seemed an optimistic goal. But a 32-6 finish that included a record-breaking 19-2 run to the Big West Conference title gained the Titans a host role for the regionals, albeit as a No. 2 seed to No. 1-seeded and apparently snake-bitten Arizona State. A stunning extra-inning loss to Pepperdine forced the Titans to win three elimination games to qualify for the Super Regionals, where they drew a break by drawing another hosting role after No. 3-seeded Tulane won the regional at No. 1-seeded Mississippi. Fullerton dispatched the Green Wave in two games behind Jason Windsor and Ricky Romero.

The starting pitching that carried the Titans through a tremendous season and helped lead the nation in earned run average didn't perform with the same efficiency in Omaha. The Titans held the lead for only six innings the entire College World Series and they finally ran out of rallies. A 13-inning loss to North Carolina put them in the losers' bracket. They were one strike away from elimination before a 3-run ninth inning eliminated Georgia Tech and a four-run rally erased a 6-3 deficit to eliminate No. 1-seeded Clemson. Down by the same score to North Carolina, the Titans scored twice and then saw the potential tying run first cut down at the plate on a squeeze play in the eighth and then caught against the left-field wall in the ninth.

OFF THE FIELD: The Titans maximized their rare shot at national TV exposure. Their opening game vs. North Carolina went 4:53, making it the second longest game in CWS history. And their win over Clemson took 4:05, making it the third longest 9-inning game ever at the CWS. "Titan House" again proved extremely popular and the team even ate its post-game meals there three out of four times.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: A suspect starting rotation in January turned magnificent as Wes Roemer, Lauren Gagnier and Dustin Miller combined for a 39-6 record before the CWS. The Titans were ranked No. 1 or 2 nationally most of April and May, went 6-0 vs. Long Beach State and won the Big West title by six games. They got to host in the post-season again, sweeping a Regional against Fresno State, San Diego and Saint Louis by a combined score of 25-6, and sweeping the Super Regional against Missouri, 7-1 and 9-1, behind Roemer and Gagnier.

The Titans picked up where they left off in 2006, playing dramatic games down to the final pitch but with less success. In the opener against Oregon State, Wes Roemer gave up two home runs and made a throwing error that was decisive in a 3-2 loss. A two-out rally in the ninth inning ended with Titans on the corners. In an elimination game, Fullerton and UC Irvine went toe-to-toe for a CWS record 5:40 before the Anteaters won their first game ever in Omaha, 5-4, in 13 heart-stopping innings.

OFF THE FIELD: The Left Coast, Left Bracket bunched a maximum of four West Coast teams -- two from the Big West Conference and two from the Pac-10 -- into Bracket No. 2. The Pac-10 won the openers to leave the Titans and Anteaters in a battle for survival that took on epic proportions. Coach George Horton, matched as pupil against mentor Augie Garrido in 2004, had to battle protege Dave Serrano in an elimination game. UCI copied the Titan practice of renting hospitality headquarters across the street from Rosenblatt Stadium as Cal State Omaha battled Eater Nation in consumption of food and beverage.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: The Titans found out what life on the bubble was like. They lost 11 of their final 17 regular-season games including the final four Big West series to finish in fifth place with a 10-11 record. But given new life with an at-large berth into the regionals, they played like Titans of old. They avoided host University of San Diego (0-2) and easily handled Minnesota (7-1) and Fresno State twice (6-4 and 13-2) to advance to a Super Regional, which they got to host when UCLA upended Long Beach State in the Blair Field Regional. Wes Roemer easily avenged a loss to Tyson Brummett by a 12-2 count and then a home run by Clark Hardman and a seventh-inning single by Matt Wallach were enough to beat the Bruins, 2-1, behind the pitching of Jeff Kaplan, winner Adam Jorgenson and Bryan Harris, who got the save.

This was probably the second most disappointing performance of the Titans' 16 trips to Omaha, "topped" only by a pair of shutout losses in 1982 after dethroning defending national champion Arizona State in Tempe in the Regional. Seeded No. 2 nationally and on a roll to end the season, the Titans played out of character -- or were forced to by Arkansas and Virginia. The young pitchers had trouble throwing strikes and the offense wasted several opportunities to add to a respectable showing of 11 runs in two games. The reckless aggressiveness on the basepaths never materialized as the Titans never led at the end of a single inning. And yet, in each game, the Titans staged aborted rallies, falling a big hit shy of tying the scores -- 10-6 to Arkansas and 7-5 to Virginia.

OFF THE FIELD: The head coaches were the big news. Four had brought multiple schools to Omaha. One was here for the fourth year in a row. One grew up across the river, played at Creighton and coached alongside his opening-day opponent. Another announced his retirement and then brought his school to Omaha for the first time. A former Nebraska coach got his first win after three 0-2 and cues. And the sport's winningest coach picked up wins with a walk-off walk and a 10-run rally to overcome a six-run deficit. Jared Clark made news when his practice day home run broke the windshield of a passing motorist, an LSU fan who had Jared autograph the ball.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Titans cruise through Regionals and Super Regionals unbeaten for third time but easily by biggest margin of victory, outscoring foes 64-11. Titans led for 43 innings and trailed for only one. Only close game was 7-4 win over Gonzaga after 4-4 tie through five innings. Dustin Garneau edges Khris Davis for Regional MVP honors as Titans hit .476 and Christian Colon is LOW man among regulars at .429. Titans hit .394 to .129 for Louisville in Super Regional routs, 12-0 and 11-2.

The Titans stormed through the Big West Conference, winning 19 of 24 conference games to reclaim the Big West crown. It was Fullerton's 20th Big West Conference. The Titans swept the Fullerton Regional over Pepperdine, Arizona State, and Pepperdine again. Fullerton defeated Louisville in three games at the NCAA Super Regionals to advance to the NCAA College World Series and end the Titans' five-year absence from Omaha. Fullerton took a 3-0 lead over defending champion Vanderbilt and held it into the sixth inning, but a lightning strike forced the game to be suspended until the following day. The Commodores scored four times after the resumption, including a walk-off blast to send the Titans into the loser's bracket, where they fell to No. 1 LSU.

COLLEGE WORLD SERIES YEAR-BY-YEAR CAPSULES

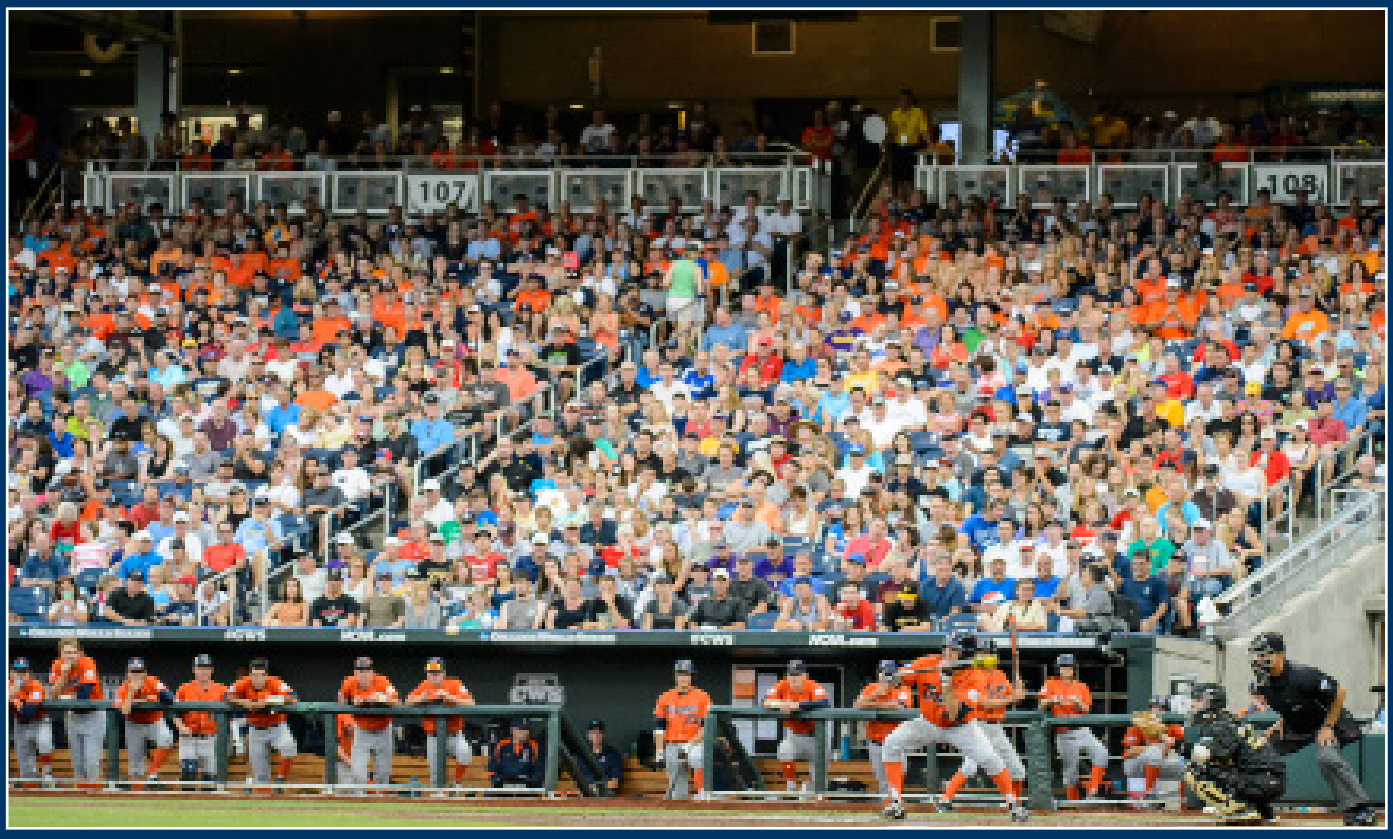

OFF THE FIELD: The Titans racked up the frequent flyer miles in 2015, playing 30 games on the road. Fullerton made four trips of more than 2,000 miles during the season (Louisville, Ky.; Clearwater, Fla.; College Park, Md.; and Honolulu, HI). It did not affect the Titans as Fullerton posted a solid 17-13 record in road games including nine of the last 10 away from Goodwin Field before heading to the NCAA College World Series for the 17th time in program history.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: The Titans entered the postseason on a six-game winning streak and continued to roll, beating Pepperdine 9-3 in the opening game of the Fullerton Regional. The Titans big test came against No. 19 Arizona State as the teams battled deep into the night deadlocked at 2-2 after nine innings. It took magnificent pitching performances by Thomas Eshelman (9 IP, 2 ER, 14 Ks, 0 BB) and Tyler Peitzmeier (W, 5 IP, 3 H, 6 Ks) and a bases loaded walk in the bottom of the 14th inning to lift Fullerton into the regional title game after 5:12 of playing time. The Titans met Pepperdine again in the title game and again scored a lopsided win to advance to the Super Regionals at No. 9 Louisville. After splitting the first two games, the Titans had to battle back from a two-run deficit late in the game, getting a clutch two-run single by Jerrod Bravo to tie the game 3-3 in the eighth inning and then got a go-ahead solo homer from David Olmedo-Barrera in the top of the 11th inning to punch their ticket to Omaha for the first time since 2009.

In Fullerton's previous 16 appearances, the Titans played at Rosenblatt Stadium, winning four national championships. Fullerton's trip to Omaha in 2015 also ended a five-year drought from the College World Series, the longest absence from Omaha in program history.

The Titans put together another strong postseason run in 2017, returning to Omaha for the 18th time in program history. Fullerton battled through a challenging Big West slate to finish third in the conference, but the Titans hit their stride at the perfect time, winning the Stanford Regional behind dominant pitching and timely hitting. Fullerton then traveled to rival Long Beach State for the Super Regionals and delivered a memorable three-game performance, taking the final two contests to secure the program's first College World Series berth since 2015. In Omaha, the Titans struck early against No. 1 national seed Oregon State, jumping out to a 5-1 lead before the Beavers rallied late to take the opener. Fullerton again started strong in its elimination game against Florida State but could not hold the advantage, ending the season with an 0-2 mark at TD Ameritrade Park after a remarkable postseason surge.

OFF THE FIELD: The Titans' 2017 run came with a wave of national attention surrounding the program's pitching development and defensive consistency. Fullerton entered the postseason with one of the most battle-tested rotations in the country, featuring standout performances from Connor Seabold, Colton Eastman, and John Gavin throughout the spring. Head coach Rick Vanderhook guided a young but resilient roster that had competed against one of the nation's toughest nonconference schedules, helping prepare the Titans for the intensity of postseason play. The Super Regional series at Long Beach became one of the most-watched matchups of the entire tournament, drawing national media coverage and showcasing the rivalry on a national stage.

HOW THEY GOT THERE: Fullerton opened the postseason with a dominant showing at the Stanford Regional, defeating BYU, host Stanford, and again Stanford to advance unbeaten. The Titans outscored opponents 21-5 over the three games, backed by Eastman, Gavin and Seabold's strong outings and a hot offensive stretch led by Scott Hurst and Timmy Richards. In the Long Beach Super Regional, Fullerton dropped a narrow Game 1 but answered decisively with a 12-0 shutout in Game 2 behind Gavin's dominant complete game shutout. Chris Hudgins led the Titans offensively in game two, going 3-for-5 with two runs and four RBI. The Titans completed the comeback in Game 3, using aggressive baserunning, timely hits, and late-inning execution to secure a 2-1 series victory and return to Omaha. The postseason run — capped by resilience on the road and a pitching staff that delivered in every elimination moment — pushed Fullerton back onto college baseball's biggest stage for the first time in two seasons.

THREE TITANS GIVEN LEGEND STATUS

Former Cal State Fullerton baseball superstars Augie Garrido, Mark Kotsay and Jason Windsor were named to the College World Series Legends Team in 2010 as part of the commemoration of the Series' 60th and final season at Johnny Rosenblatt Stadium.

Team members were voted in based solely on their performances at the College World Series, and not for any regular season or post-collegiate performances.

Garrido made seven CWS appearances with Cal State Fullerton (1975, 1979, 1982, 1984, 1992, 1994, and 1995) and seven more with Texas (where he is still coaching). His teams have won a total of five national championships in Omaha - the only coach to win a national championship with two different teams and in four different decades. He was also elected to the CWS All-Decade Team. Garrido played in the CWS as a student-athlete in 1959 with Fresno State.

Kotsay (CWS with CSF in 1994 and 1995) rewrote the record books during two memorable trips to the CWS in 1994 and 1995. He was on the All-Tournament team both years and the Most Outstanding Player in 1995. He had the highest batting average of the 1995 series (.563) and the highest all-time CWS batting average (.517); hit a grand slam in both the 1994 and 1995 CWS; shares the CWS record for most RBIs in one year (7) and second most total all-time (18); and has the highest CWS slugging percentage of all time (1.103). Kotsay is a member of the CWS 50th Anniversary Team and CWS All-Decade Team of the 1990s.

Windsor (CWS with CSF in 2003 and 2004) was a workhorse for the Titans' 2004 title run, throwing a complete-game shutout of South Carolina in the Titans' first game of the Series; notching a three-inning save in the Titans' fourth game against South Carolina; and then throwing another complete-game five-hitter with 10 strikeouts against Garrido's Texas Longhorns in the CWS final game. He only allowed 11 hits and struck out 29 with an ERA of 0.86 in 21 innings in 2004 and was named the CWS Most Outstanding Player. Overall, Windsor was 3-0 with a save in five CWS appearances (32.3 IP, 1.67 ERA) over two seasons.

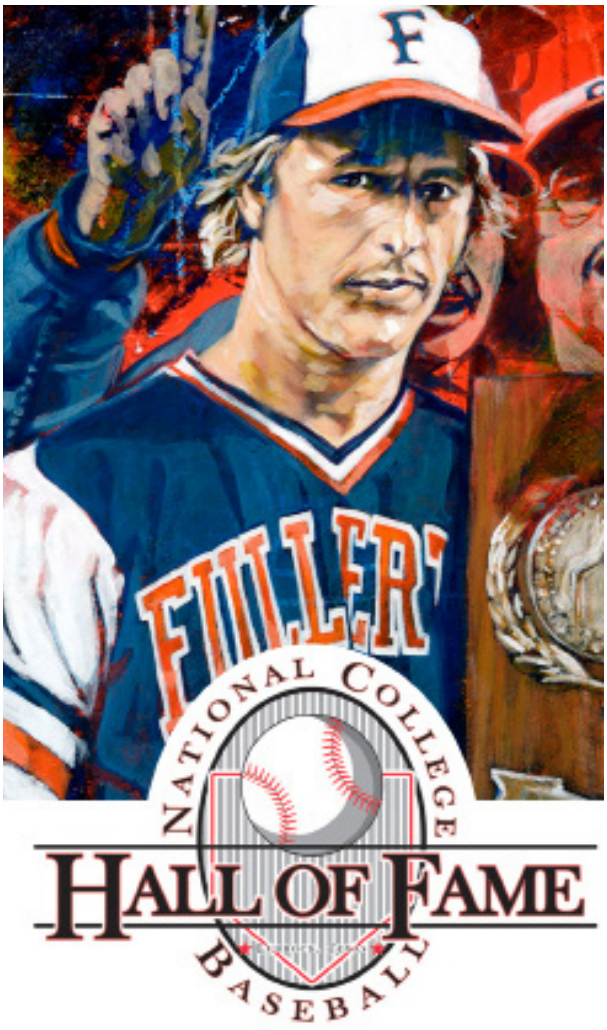

Other Titans nominated for the CWS Legends Team were former infielders Phil Nevin (1992 CWS Most Outstanding Player) and Justin Turner.

The 28 CWS Legends Team members were invited to attend the final College World Series at Rosenblatt Stadium as guests of the NCAA and were formally honored during the Opening Ceremonies on June 18, 2010.

NATIONAL COLLEGE BASEBALL HALL OF FAME

2011 INDUCTEE TIM WALLACH

The College Baseball Foundation inducted Cal State Fullerton's first superstar Tim Wallach into the National College Baseball Hall of Fame in Lubbock, Tex., on July 3, 2011.

Wallach joined Terry Francona (Arizona, 1978-80), Danny Goodwin (Southern University, 1972-75), Dick Groat (Duke, 1951-52), Coach Ralph Waldo Emerson Jones (Grambling State, 1926-77), Oddibe McDowell (Arizona State, 1983-84) and Coach Bill Wilhelm (Clemson, 1958-93) in the seven-man 2011 induction class.

After prepping at University High School (Irvine, Calif.) and playing junior college ball for two years at Saddleback College (Mission Viejo, Calif.), Wallach transferred to Fullerton where he had a pair of monstrous seasons that eventually led him to being selected in the first round of the 1979 Major League Draft by the Montreal Expos.

At Cal State Fullerton, Wallach posted a career .392 batting average (2nd all-time at CSF), 39 home runs (7th all-time at CSF) and 182 RBI (6th all-time) in just two seasons (1978-1979) under legendary Head Coach Augie Garrido.

He hit .394 in with 16 home runs and 80 RBI while slugging .715 in 1978, setting single-season school records in all four categories as a junior, and led the Titans to a Southern California Baseball Association (SCBA) championship and a Regional appearance at USC. At season's end, the first baseman was named the SCBA Player of the Year and was drafted in the eighth round of the MLB Draft by the California Angels.

Wallach decided to return for his senior season at Fullerton and in 1979 was the best college baseball player in the nation, guiding the Titans to the school's first Div. I national championship with a 60-14-1 record. Behind his .392 batting average, 23 home runs, and 102 RBI (still a school record), the Titans again won the SCBA title, a Regional championship at Fresno State and the College World Series title in Omaha, Nebraska.

Wallach was again named the SCBA Player of the Year as well as an All-American by both The Sporting News and the ABCA, and later went on to win the Golden Spikes Award and The Sporting News' National Player of the Year Award as the nation's top amateur player.

Wallach went on to a 17-year major league career with the Expos, Dodgers and Angels and was a three-time Rawlings Gold Glove-winning third baseman and five-time National League All-Star. He broke into the majors with a home run in his first official at bat, and finished his long career with a .257 batting average with 260 home runs and 1,125 RBI.

"To have our first player inducted into the College Baseball Hall of Fame is a tribute to the Cal State Fullerton program and a tribute to what Tim Wallach did when he established this program back with his teammates in 1979."

Rick Vanderhook
Cal State Fullerton baseball head coach

In 2000, Wallach briefly returned to Fullerton as an assistant coach with friend and then-Head Coach George Horton.

In 2005, Wallach was among the seven inaugural members of the Cal State Fullerton Athletics Hall of Fame, joining his former college coach (Garrido) as representatives of the baseball program. He is one of 18 former Cal State Fullerton student-athletes in the hall of fame, and one of just five baseball players with such an honor.

Wallach resides in Yorba Linda, Calif., with his wife, Lori, and three sons, Matt, Brett and Chad. Matt Wallach played for the Titans under Horton in 2007. Brett is in the Chicago Cubs farm system at the single-A level. Tim's youngest son, Chad, played for the Titans from 2011-13, and was drafted by the Miami Marlins in the fifth round of the 2013 MLB Draft.

Wallach coached four season with the Los Angeles Dodgers, three as the third base coach and then served as bench coach in 2015. He had spent the previous two seasons managing the Albuquerque Isotopes, the Dodgers' triple-A affiliate. In 2016, Wallach will again serve as bench coch for Don Mattingly with the Miami Marlins.

On July 24, 2011, College Baseball Foundation Executive Director Mike Gustafson presented Tim Wallach with a replica of the commissioned portrait (top) that will hang at the National College Baseball Foundation in Lubbock, Tex. Also in attendance for the pregame ceremony at Dodger Stadium were a number of Wallach's 1979 Cal State Fullerton teammates, his sons, Matt and Chad (also Titans), and his wife, Lori.

OMAHA COLLEGE BASEBALL HALL OF FAME

On July 3, 2014, Mark Kotsay was inducted into the Omaha College Baseball Hall of Fame. Kotsay joined Dustin Ackley (North Carolina), Steve Arlin (Ohio State) and Will Clark (Mississippi State) as part of the second class to be inducted in the Omaha College Baseball Hall of Fame's history. Kotsay was also the second former Titan to be inducted as former Cal State Fullerton head coach and current University of Texas skipper Augie Garrido was part of the inaugural class in 2013.

During his time at Cal State Fullerton, Kotsay (1994-96) batted .404 with 259 hits, 60 doubles, 11 triples and 45 home runs and 216 RBI to go along with 40 stolen bases. He ranks first in Titans history in batting average, slugging percentage (.743) and is second in home runs, RBI, total bases (476), and on-base percentage (.481). He also ranks in the Titans top-10 in hits (7th), runs scored (6th, 201), doubles (5th), and triples (4th).

Kotsay shined in the postseason for Cal State Fullerton and particularly in Omaha as he was a two-time member of the College World Series All-Tournament Team, one of two Titans (Justin Turner) to earn multiple nods to the All-Tournament team. Kotsay was named the Most Outstanding Player at the 1995 CWS after leading the Titans to the 1995 NCAA championship, the program's third national title. In the title game, Kotsay blasted two home runs and had five RBI and then came in to pitch in relief of Ted Silva to get the final five outs and secure the title for the Titans.

He was one of three Titans named to the College World Series Legends Team in 2010 along with Jason Windsor and Augie Garrido as part of the commemoration of the CWS' 60th and final year at Johnny Rosenblatt Stadium. He led the 1995 CWS with a .563 batting average and owns the record for the all-time CWS career batting average (.517) and slugging percentage (1.103). He is also the only player to ever hit two grand slams at the CWS.

Kotsay is also the last Fullerton player to win the Golden Spikes Award, given to the nation's top amateur baseball player. He was the third Titan to ever win the award after batting .422 with 21 home runs and 90 RBI. He also went 2-1 with 11 saves and a 0.31 ERA in 21 appearances on the mound that year. The two-time First Team All-American (1995-96) struck out 27 in 29 innings pitched in 1995.

Kotsay was named the College Player of the Decade (1990s) by Baseball America and was also inducted into the Cal State Fullerton Athletics Hall of Fame in 2007 as part of the second induction class. The Titans went 149-41 in his three seasons at Fullerton.

In 1996, Kotsay was the ninth overall selection of the then-Florida (Miami) Marlins in the Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft. He would win a World Series Championship ring with the team in 1997 and went on to play 17 seasons and 1,914 games with seven different teams in the Majors, batting .276 with 1,784 hits, 353 doubles, 48 triples, 127 home runs and 720 RBI.

He was 14th in American League MVP voting in 2004 as a member of the Oakland Athletics when he hit .314 with 37 doubles, 15 homers, 63 RBI and a .459 slugging percentage in 148 games with the A's. He led the team to 91 wins as Oakland finished just one game back of the Anaheim Angels in the A.L. West, just missing out on the playoffs.

WINNER CARLOS LOPEZ

Pictured: First baseman Carlos Lopez became the first Cal State Fullerton athlete in any sport to win the Senior CLASS Award in 2013. The award, chosen by a nationwide vote of Division I baseball coaches, national baseball media and fans, is given annually to the most outstanding senior student-athlete in Division I baseball. To be eligible for the award, a student-athlete must be classified as an NCAA Division I senior and have notable achievements in four areas of excellence – classroom, community, character and competition.

Carlos Lopez made Fullerton history in 2013 as he became the first Titans athlete in any sport to win the Senior CLASS Award. An acronym for Celebrating Loyalty and Achievement for Staying in School®, the Senior CLASS Award focuses on the total student-athlete and encourages students to use their platform in athletics to make a positive impact as leaders in their communities.

"I am so flattered and grateful to receive the Senior CLASS Award," Lopez said. "I share this accolade with my teammates, coaches and Cal State Fullerton staff and community that supported me during my career as a Titan. Most importantly, I share this award with my family, who stressed the importance of effort not just on the field, but in the classroom and in my community.

"When I made the decision to return for my senior season, I could not have fathomed the amazing and successful season we had this year, as well as the long-lasting relationships I was able to build with my coaches and teammates," Lopez added.

Boasting a GPA of 3.41, Lopez's academic success did not go unnoticed. He was named to the Dean's List twice and the All-Big West academic team three times. As a senior he became the second player in Cal State Fullerton history to be named to the Capital One Academic All-American team, a member of the third team. He was also named Cal State Fullerton Male Scholar Athlete of the Year two times. Lopez was an active member in multiple community service events. Through the athletic department, he visited local elementary schools to read to students and was involved in Challenger Camps and free baseball clinics for local kids. Lopez also traveled to Mexico to help build houses for the needy.

"Carlos has been an exceptional leader for our program both on and off the field," head coach Rick Vanderhook said. "His effort, guidance and maturity played a significant role in our success this year, and I am very pleased that he is being honored with this well-deserved distinction."

Lopez ended his career at Cal State Fullerton with a Big West championship and Fullerton Regional Championship before being drafted by the Cincinnati Reds in the 10th round of the 2013 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft. He was also voted to the American Baseball Coaches Association/Rawlings West Region Second Team, and was an ABCA/Rawlings Gold Glove selection at first base.

During his career, Lopez managed a .338 batting average and played in 226 career games, which ranks eighth all-time at Fullerton. His 287 career hits rate third all-time at Fullerton, while his 53 doubles rank 10th. In addition, he totaled 145 runs scored, 10 triples, 14 home runs, 142 RBIs, 95 walks and 35 stolen bases. Lopez's 849 career at-bats rank fourth all-time at Fullerton.

Following the 2013 regular season, Lopez received Big West co-Player of the Year honors, and received Big West first team accolades for the second straight year. Lopez returned for his senior season after earning Big West Conference First Team honors in 2012 and hitting .317 while playing in all 57 games.

"Carlos committed to making Cal State Fullerton a better baseball team when he signed to play for the Titans," said Erik Miner, executive director for the Senior CLASS Award. "In honoring his commitment, he was able to impact many teammates and people in the community through his good works and strong leadership."

THE GOLDEN SPIKES AWARD

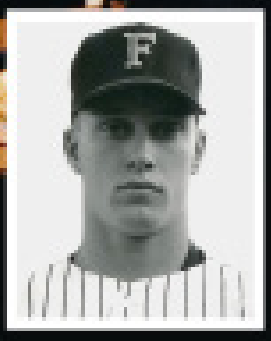

For the past 36 years, USA Baseball has honored the top amateur baseball player in America with the Golden Spikes Award. Cal State Fullerton, along with Arizona State and Florida State, have placed the most winners (3) on this list, which features many major-league stars.

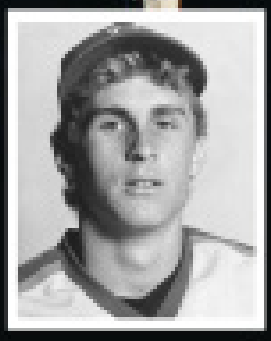

TIM WALLACH
1979 Golden Spike Winner

Wallach hit .391 with 23 home runs and 102 RBI in 1979 to lead Cal State Fullerton to its first national championship.

MARK KOTSAY
1995 Golden Spike Winner

Kotsay batted .422, belted 21 home runs and drove in 91, while holding a 0.30 ERA with 11 saves for the 1995 champs.

PHIL NEVIN
1992 Golden Spike Winner

Nevin batted .402 and had 22 home runs and 86 RBI for the Titans and led them to the national championship game in 1992.

BASEBALL CARDS: Phil Nevin (top), along with Titan teammate Jason Moler represented the Titans at the 1996 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain. Bob Caffrey (middle) was the first Cal State Fullerton player to represent the United States in the 1984 Los Angeles Olympic Games. He played along side the likes of Barry Larkin, Mark McGwire and Will Clark and was coached by college legend Rod Dedeaux in the tournament that was held at Dodger Stadium. Noe Ramirez (bottom) was a part of a trio of USA collegiate hurlers (Vanderbilt's Sonny Gray and TCU's Kyle Winkler) to toss a combined no-hitter against Korea on June 14, 2010. Ramirez pitched a perfect ninth, striking out the side and notching the save in the 3-0 victory.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

A TRIBUTE TO OUR ATHLETES

The Cal State Fullerton Athletics Hall of Fame was established in 2005 and honors the school's most prolific former student-athletes, athletic department personnel and supporters who have been recognized for their outstanding contributions to the university.

So far, 38 former student-athletes, coaches and supporters have been enshrined in the Hall of Fame, nine of which have come from the school's nationally prominent baseball program. In 2013, the 1995 baseball team was the first ensemble to be inducted into the Hall

Cal State Fullerton Athletics Hall of Fame induction is based on the individual having provided at least one of the following: Successful graduation; exceptional collegiate experiences and career achievements; having distinguished themselves or their team to truly reflect the Cal State Fullerton mission; outstanding success having served as a model to student-athletes in the traditions of honor, integrity and character; provided distinguished and sustained support to the athletic department.

Inductees are chosen biannually by the Cal State Fullerton Athletics Hall of Fame Selection Committee comprised of current Fullerton administration, coaches, players, staff and Titan Athletic Club board members. Student-athletes become eligible five years after their final season in a Titan uniform and coaches and staff must have provided at least five years of service. The next Hall of Fame induction will come in the fall of 2015.

AUGIE GARRIDO

Augie Garrido was the architect of the Titan baseball program that continues to be among the nation's best. While at Cal State Fullerton (1973-87, 1991-96), Garrido's teams compiled a remarkable 875-341-5 record winning three national championships, 16 conference championships (including an amazing 11 in a row from 1974-84), made seven College World Series appearances, and he himself was named national coach of the year four times. Since leaving Cal State Fullerton, Garrido has spent the past 19 seasons as the head coach at the University of Texas and while there, he became the all-time winningest baseball coach in NCAA history. Garrido has led the Longhorns to two national championships in 2002 and 2005 and was again named national coach of the year after each of those seasons giving him six overall. As a student-athlete at Fresno State, Augie was named all-conference and his Bulldog team advanced to the College World Series in 1959. After college, he signed with the Cleveland Indians and played six minor league seasons before embarking on his long-time baseball coaching career. Garrido has coached a total of 46 years at the intercollegiate level and only USC's Rod Dedeaux has won more national championships. Garrido's overall record is 1,920-892-9 (.681). In 2010, Garrido was one of three former Titans (along with Mark Kotsay and Jason Windsor) to be named to the College World Series Legends team to commemorate the CWS's final year in Johnny Rosenblatt Stadium.

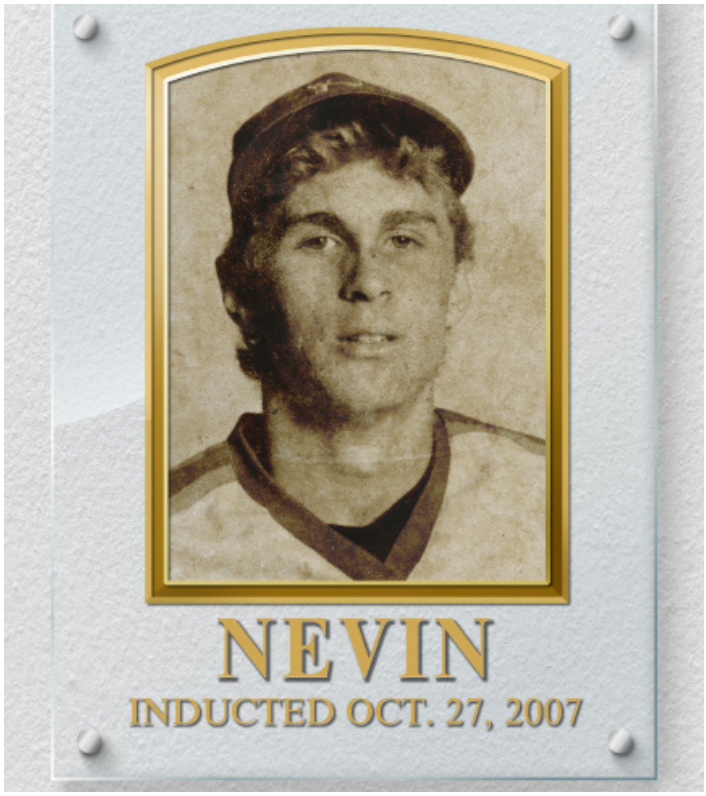

TIM WALLACH

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1978-79

Tim Wallach is one of the finest players to ever wear a Titan uniform. Wallach led Cal State Fullerton to its first national championship in 1979, and during the banner year the first baseman drove in 102 runs, a school record that still stands, and batted .391 with 23 home runs. That year Wallach earned All-College World Series honors, won the Golden Spikes and The Sporting News National Player of the Year awards, and was also a consensus first-team All-American. In 1978 he batted .394 with 16 home runs and 80 RBI. In Wallach's two seasons with the Titans, the team compiled a 104-27-1 record, twice winning the SCBA league title. Wallach was a first-round draft choice of the Montreal Expos his senior season, and he eventually played 17 major league seasons with the Expos, Dodgers and Angels. Wallach was a National League All-Star third baseman five times and won three Rawling's Golden Glove awards. In 1994 he was named major league comeback player of the year. Wallach broke into the majors with a home run in his first official at bat, and finished his long career with a .257 batting average with 260 home runs and 1,125 RBI. Wallach was inducted into the National College Baseball Hall of Fame in 2011 by the College Baseball Foundation in Lubbock, Tex. He and his family were honored in early 2012 by the professional Baseball Scouts Foundation with the Ray Boone Family Award for baseball excellence within a given family.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

MARK KOTSAY

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1994-96

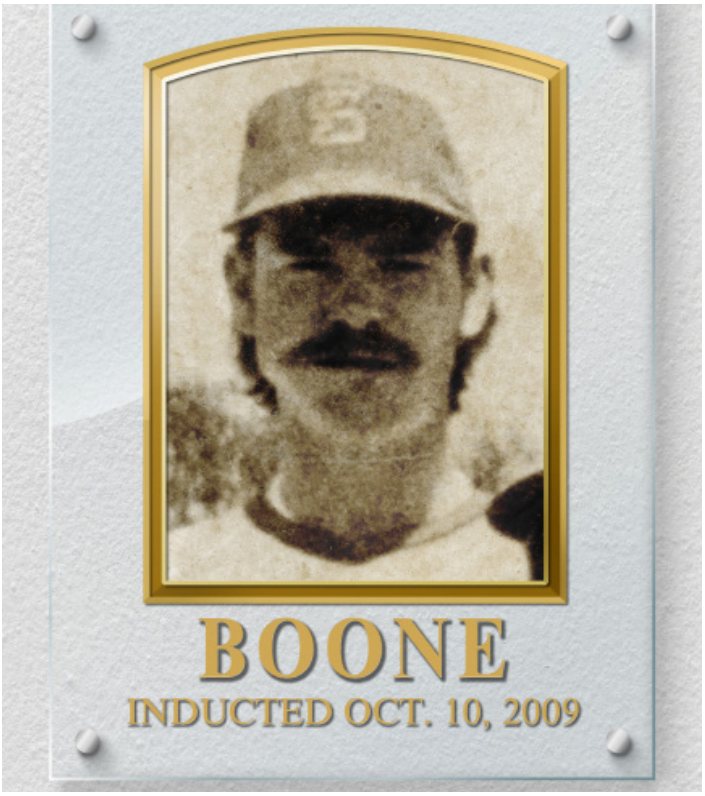

Amidst a remarkable three-year collegiate career, Mark Kotsay led the Titans to their third national championship in 1995. A combination outfielder and relief pitcher, Kotsay was selected College Player of the Decade (1990s) by Baseball America and is a member of the 50th anniversary all-time College World Series team. In 1995, Kotsay won both the Golden Spikes Award and the Smith Award as the nation's top player and was selected national co-player of the year by Collegiate Baseball. He was the Most Outstanding Player of the 1995 CWS and won first-team All-American honors in both 1995 and 1996, then adding an Olympic bronze medal in the summer of 1996. The Titans went 149-41 in his three seasons as he batted .404, a school career record. Kotsay was a first-round draft choice of the Florida Marlins with whom he earned a World Series Championship ring in 1997. In 2010, Kotsay was one of three Titans (along with Augie Garrido and Jason Windsor) to be named to the College World Series Legends team to commemorate the CWS's final year in Johnny Rosenblatt Stadium. Kotsay played 17 major league seasons with seven different clubs: Florida, San Diego, Oakland, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago (AL) and Milwaukee. He finished his career with a .276 batting average, 1,784 hits, 353 doubles, 48 triples, 127 home runs and 720 RBI. He was 14th in American League MVP voting in 2004 as a member of the Oakland Athletics when he hit .314 with 37 doubles, 15 homers, 63 RBI and a .459 slugging percentage in 148 games.

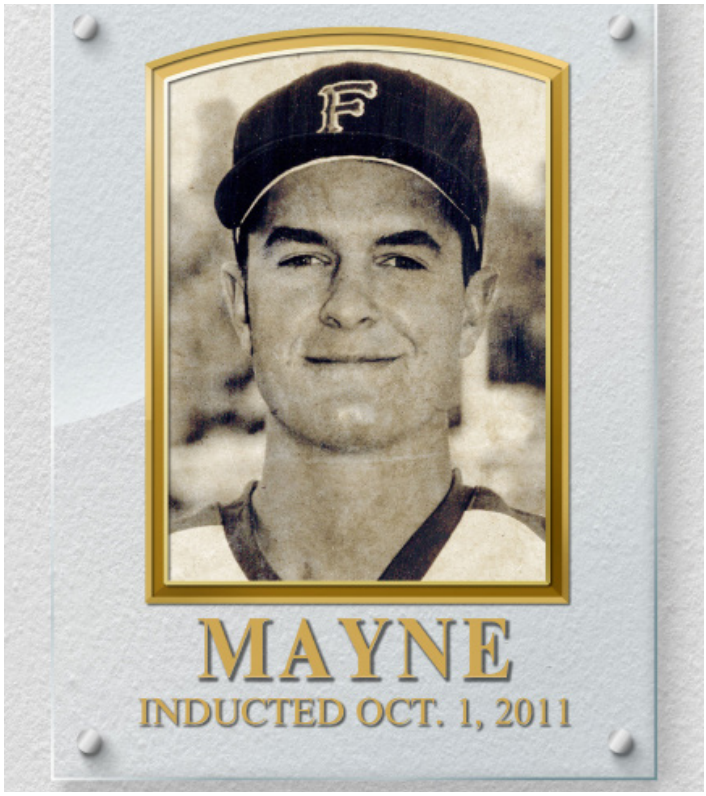

PHIL NEVIN

Phil Nevin is arguably the most successful two-sport performer in Cal State Fullerton history. And the argument shouldn't last too long. Nevin won freshman All-American honors from The Sporting News as a placekicker in 1989 and developed into an outstanding punter as well for Coach Gene Murphy's Titan football team. In baseball, Nevin bridged the Larry Cochell (1990) and Augie Garrido (1991-92) Eras and earned national recognition as Baseball America's National Player of the Year and the Golden Spikes Award winner, and was the 1992 College World Series Most Outstanding Player. Nevin was also named to the United States baseball team for the Barcelona Olympic games. Professionally, Nevin was the first player chosen in the 1992 draft by the Houston Astros and went on to enjoy a 12-year major league career that saw him hit 208 home runs and compile a .270 batting average. His best years (1999-2005) came in San Diego where in 2001 he posted career highs of 41 home runs, a .306 batting average and 126 runs batted in. After one-year stints with the Erie SeaWolves in 2010 (AA affiliate for the Detroit Tigers) and the Orange County Flyers of the independent Golden Baseball League in 2009, Nevin was named the 2011 manager of Detroit's AAA farm club, the Toledo Mud Hens. In 2013, Nevin moved on to become the manager of the Arizona Diamondbacks' AAA farm team, the Reno Aces.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

DAN BOONE

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1975-76

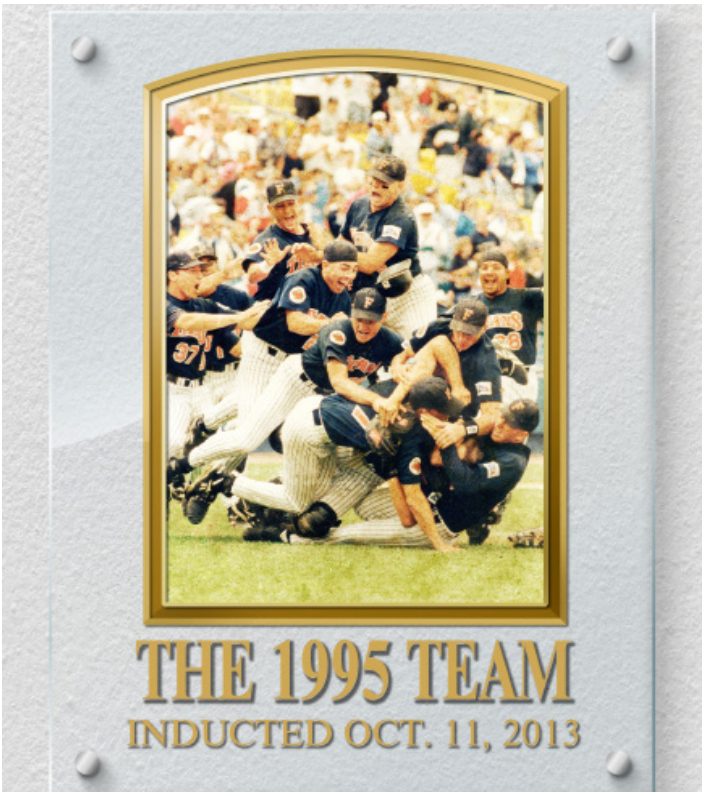

Dan Boone was the key player as Coach Augie Garrido launched Cal State Fullerton's highly successful Div. I baseball program in 1975. The left-hander transferred from Cerritos College and compiled a 22-6 record for the Titans in 1975 and 1976 with a 2.29 career earned run average, fourth best in school history. Boone's defining moments came at the 1975 NCAA Regional at USC, where the Titans would face the five-time defending national champion Trojans on their home diamond. Boone beat the Trojans with a complete game in the opening round, 3-1. He then came back two days later in the eventual title game vs. Pepperdine, entering in relief in the third inning to finish a 6-4 victory that sent the Titans to Omaha for the first time. He still holds the CSF single-season record with 13 complete games in 1975 and is third on the career list with 19 despite playing only two seasons. Boone was selected five times in the major league player draft, finally signing with the Angels. He made the big leagues in 1981 with San Diego but was traded in the middle of the 1982 season to Houston and was out of baseball by 1984. He came back to pitch in a senior league in Florida in 1989 and attracted the attention of the Baltimore Orioles. They signed him to a minor league contract where he eventually pitched a no-hitter at the Triple A level. The Orioles called him up to Baltimore late in 1990 and he made four appearances, including his only major league start. His major league record for 61 appearances was 2-1 with four saves and a 3.36 ERA.

BRENT MAYNE

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1988-89

Brent Mayne was a two-year starting catcher for Larry Cochell's Titans from 1988-89. He came to Fullerton as a sophomore after playing his freshman season for his father, Mike (won 400 games over 14 seasons), at Orange Coast College. He was a two-time All-Big West Conference first teamer and earned ABCA second-team All-American honors in 1988 when he led the team with a .393 batting average with 22 doubles, one home run and 31 RBI. He followed that up with a campaign that saw him bat .350 with five home runs and 34 RBI in 1989. He owns the Cal State Fullerton record with a 38-game hitting streak in 1988 that ended with him "in the hole" in Starkville, Miss., when Mike Ross hit a walk-off home run to earn a World Series berth. He became the Titans' fifth first-round draft pick when he was selected as the 13th overall pick by the Kansas City Royals. His .373 career batting average ranks fifth all-time in a Titan career and he was the seventh toughest Titan to strikeout, fanning just once every 14.4 at bats. Mayne went on to a 15-year (1990-2004) major league playing career with seven different clubs with a lifetime .263 batting average. He made one postseason appearance with the Dodgers in his final season in 2004. On Aug. 22, 2000, he became the first position player in 32 years to post a pitching win when he worked a scoreless 12th inning in Colorado's 7-6 win over Atlanta.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

1995 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

Long-time fans of the College World Series in Omaha are familiar with the tournament's moniker of the "Greatest Show on Dirt." In 2013, the team that, perhaps, put on the "greatest show" that dirt has ever seen: the 1995 Cal State Fullerton baseball team; was inducted into the Fullerton Athletics Hall of Fame.

Labeled as a "rebuilding year" by Head Coach Augie Garrido after finishing the previous year with 47 wins and a trip to Omaha, the Titans ran roughshod through their schedule in 1995, enduring only one losing "streak" of three games during the campaign before rattling off 18 consecutive victories en route to a 57-9 overall record -- still the best record in school history (.864 winning percentage) -- and a Big West Conference title with a 18-3 mark. Fullerton won everything possible that season: a regular season tournament (the Anaheim Hilton and Towers Classic), a regular season conference title (its 17th), the Big West postseason conference tournament, NCAA Regionals in Baton Rouge, and the College World Series for its third national title.

Led by National Coach of the Year Garrido and the likes of Golden Spikes Award Winner and CWS Most Outstanding Player Mark Kotsay, Brian Loyd, and Ted Silva, the '95 Titans became the first No. 1 seed to win the College World Series, outscoring the championship field by a combined total of 39-11. The run culminated in an 11-5 victory over USC, an 11-time national champion, in the title game.

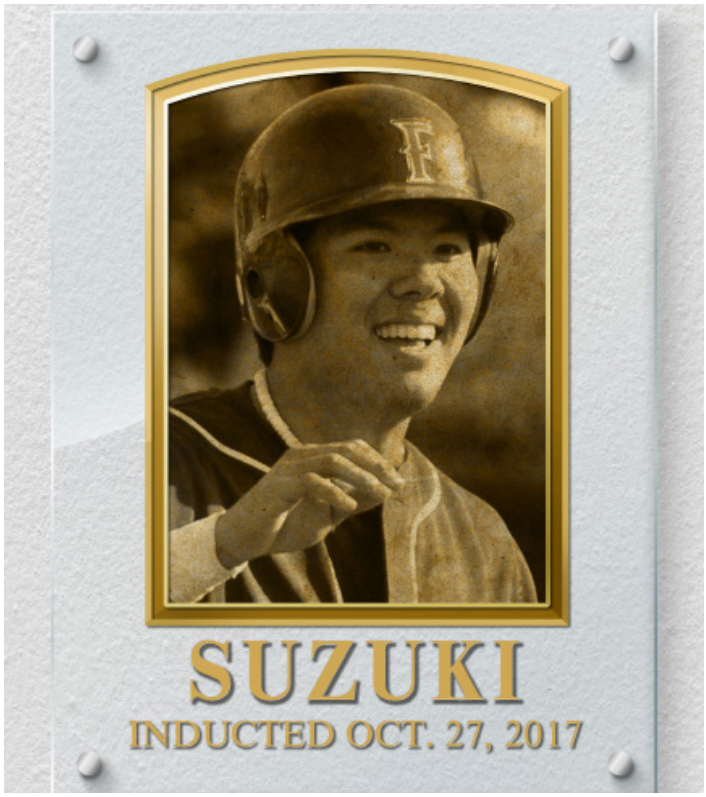

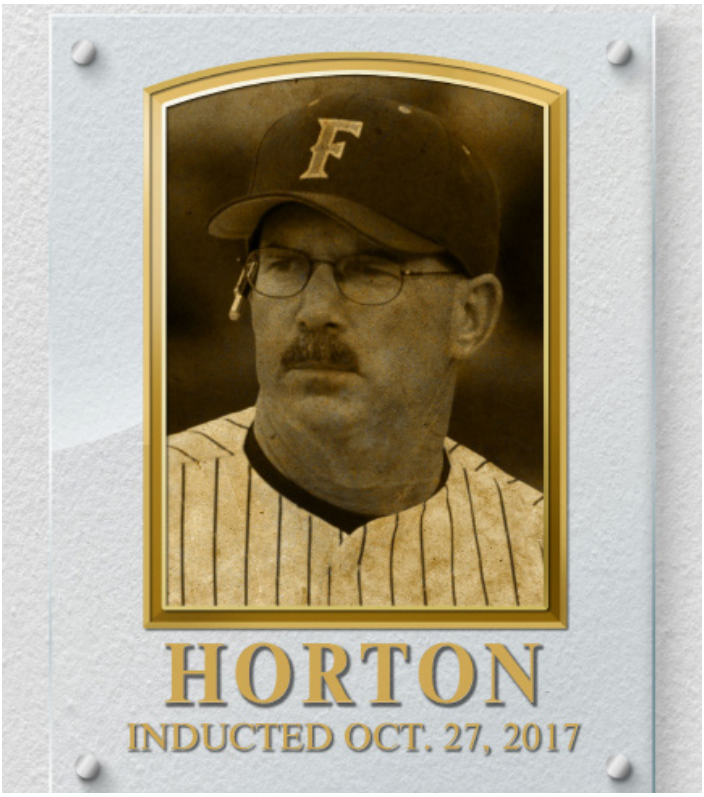

TED SILVA

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1993-95

Redondo Beach native Ted Silva made 94 career appearances with the Titans over three seasons, but it was his effort in 1995 that cemented his name among the Titan baseball greats. After being used strictly a reliever for Augie Garrido's Titans in 1993 and 1994, Silva added "starter" to his resume in `95 and became a double threat as a closer on Fridays and a starter on Sundays. The 1995 Titans steamrolled their competition, large-in-part to Silva's dominance on the mound. He finished the 1995 season with a staggering 18-1 record with six saves to boot. He posted a 2.83 ERA in 29 appearances (19 starts) and struck out 142 batters in 152.2 innings. He also tossed the Titans' first nine-inning no-hitter on Apr. 24, 1995, against Pacific. That year in Omaha – his second trip in pinstripes – Silva got the call in the opening game and earned the victory over Stanford, 6-5. He went 7.1 innings and was the beneficiary of a 3-run Titan seventh inning that broke a 3-3 tie. Silva also got the nod in the championship game against USC. He wrapped up his Titan career with a 7.1-inning effort, allowing two earned runs on five hits while striking out five without a walk. The Titans won that game, 11-5, earning the school its third baseball national championship. In his first two seasons with the Titans, Silva made 65 appearances and recorded 20 saves in 112 combined innings. For his career, Silva was 26-7 with a 2.92 ERA and he recorded 257 strikeouts in 264.2 innings pitched. His 26 career saves currently ranks third in the Fullerton all-time record book Silva was a two-time All-American, a consensus first-teamer in 1995, and was also the Big West Conference Pitcher of the Year in 1995.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

KURT SUZUKI

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 2002-04

Kurt Suzuki is one of the most notable Titans as all-time, as he spent three years (2002-04) as arguably the best catcher Fullerton has ever seen. Suzuki put together a special career at Cal State Fullerton, which culminated with a senior season that saw him hit .413, recording 16 home runs and 87 RBI on his way to claiming the Brooks Wallace Award honors. He also was also presented with the Johnny Bench Award. The Brooks Wallace Award is given to the nation's most outstanding player, while the Johnny Bench Award is handed out to the country's best catcher.

While Suzuki's personal statistics were second to none, he was also an instrumental part of Fullerton's 2004 National Championship squad, as he played under fellow Titan Hall of Famer George Horton.

Suzuki's .413 batting average in 2004 still ranks fifth all-time in school history, while the 87 RBI rank sixth and the 104 hits rank seventh. His career .491 on-base percentage is still highest in program history, while his .996 career fielding percentage is second highest in school history.

After Cal State Fullerton, Suzuki's baseball career was far from over, as he was drafted by the Oakland Athletics in the second round of the 2004 MLB Draft. Since being drafted he's played for the Athletics, Washington Nationals, Minnesota Twins, Atlanta Braves and Los Angeles Angels

GEORGE HORTON

George Horton is surely one of the most recognizable names in Cal State Fullerton Athletics history, helping guide the Titans Baseball program to two National Championships; once as an associate head coach in 1995 under fellow Fullerton Hall of Famer and then Head Coach Augie Garrido and of course leading the Titans to the national crown in 2004 as the head skipper. Horton also made his mark as a player under Garrido, as he was a part of Fullerton's first team to qualify for the College World Series in 1975.

The Downey, Calif. native was as successful as they come when it came to the college baseball coaching scene. He spent 11 seasons as the head coach for the Titans, compiling an overall record of 490-212-1, while leading Fullerton to the postseason in all 11 seasons, claiming seven conference titles, qualifying for the CWS on six separate occasions and leading the program to its fourth national championship in 2004.
In 2004, Horton's Titans squared off against the Texas Longhorns, coached by mentor Garrido. Fullerton claimed the title, sweeping Texas in two games (6-4, 3-2).

Horton led Fullerton to three 50-win seasons, including a 50-16 overall record in 2003, which garnered him Baseball America Coach of the Year Honors. He was also named the 2004 ABCA Coach of the Year and Collegiate Baseball Newspaper's Coach of the Year. He was also named the Big West Coach of the Year five times during his career.

During his tenure as head coach, the Titans won 127 of 160 regular season three-game series for a winning percentage of just under .800. He's also just one of 17 men to appear in Omaha as player and a head coach.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

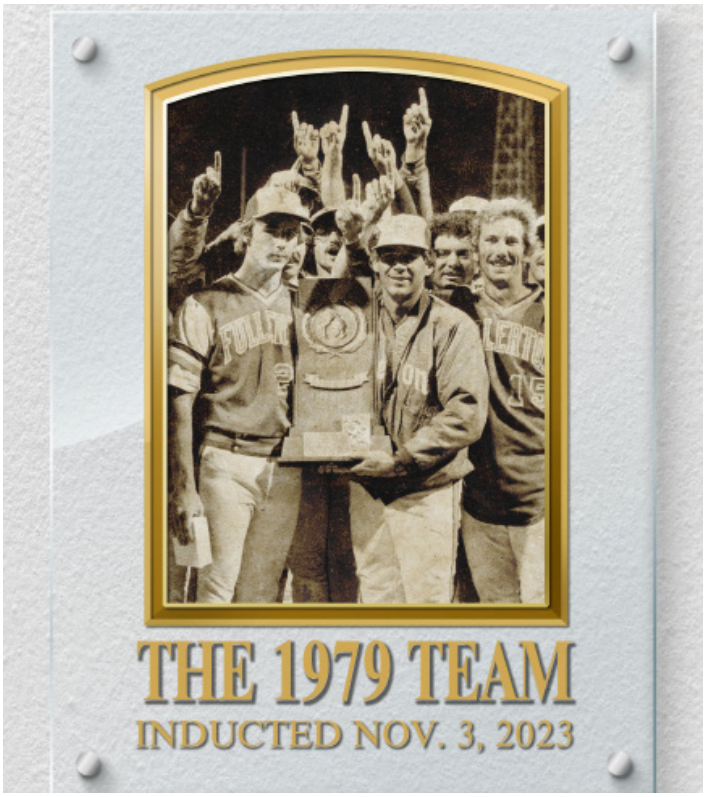

JOHN FISHEL

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1981-84

Fishel is certainly one of the greatest players to wear a Titans baseball uniform, and one of the greatest college baseball players of all-time for that matter. Fishel was an integral part of the 1984 National Championship team that defeated Texas for the Titans second national championship. Fishel was named the 1984 College World Series Most Outstanding Player for his key contributions. Fishel was outstanding throughout the entire 1984 season, racking up a team-high 116 hits with 25 doubles and 88 RBI. His 116 hits in 1984 is the most in a single season in the history of the program while his 88 RBI ranks third.

Fishel has his name throughout record books after his incredible four-year career at Cal State Fullerton, ranking No. 1 in career games (295), career at-bats (1,114), hits (379), doubles (72) and RBI (281). Fishel's 295 games played and 1,114 career at-bats are also NCAA records. He also ranks third in the history of the program in home runs with 45 and stolen bases with 83.

The Oakland Athletics drafted Fishel in the 19th round of the 1984 MLB Draft, however, Fishel decided to return to Cal State Fullerton for his senior year in 1985. Following his senior season, Fishel was drafted by the Houston Astros is the 9th round of the 1985 MLB Draft. Fishel made his MLB debut in 1988, becoming the 10th Titan at the time to make it to the big leagues.

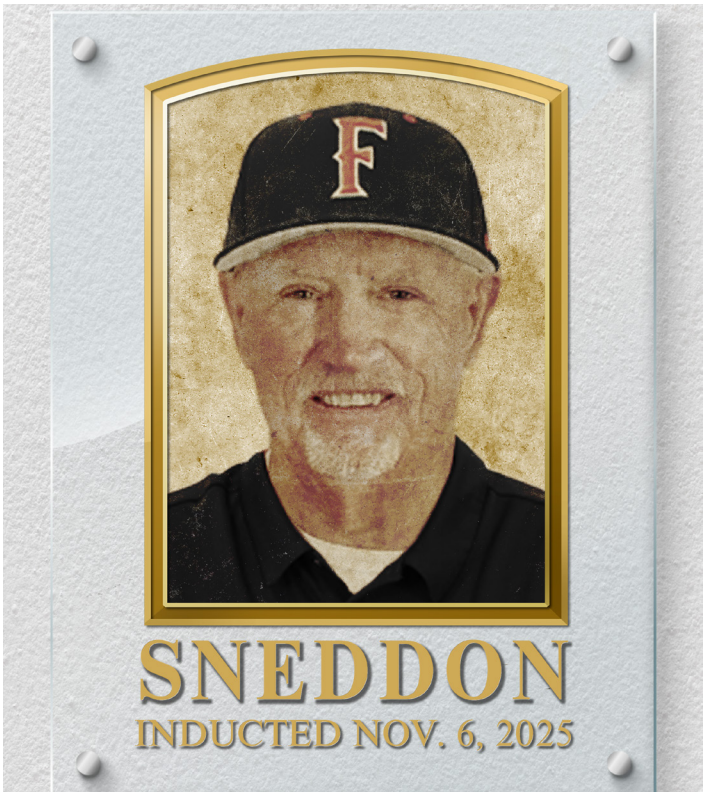

1979 NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

The 1979 baseball team earned Cal State Fullerton's first Div. I national championship. In just their fifth year in Div. I, Augie Garrido led the Titans to a national championship, defeating Arkansas in the championship.

After losing the opener to Mississippi State, the Titans fought their way back through the losers' bracket. Right-hander Dave Weatherman, who got knocked out early in an eventual 8-5 win over Pepperdine, came back to pitch the championship game and beat Arkansas, 2-1, with a complete game four-hitter.

Starter Tony Hudson was converted to a reliever and won the Most Valuable Player Award. The 1979 team had 10 MLB draft picks that year, led by Tim Wallach who was selected 10th overall.

CAL STATE FULLERTON ATHLETICS HALL OF FAME

DON SNEDDON

AT CAL STATE FULLERTON: 1973-74

Sneddon spent two years as a player at Cal State Fullerton in 1973 and 1974 after transferring from Cerritos College. Sneddon led the Titans to a California Collegiate Athletics Association championship in 1974 and was the first NCAA Div. II All-American in school history. Following his graduation, Sneddon joined Augie Garrido's coaching staff at Fullerton as an assistant in 1975 and spent two seasons with the Titans before moving to Santa Ana College. Sneddon became an assistant for then-head coach Jim Reach at Santa Ana, before taking over the program in 1981.

Sneddon spent 32 years as the head coach at Santa Ana College, where he became the all-time winningest coach in California community college baseball history. Sneddon finished with a career record of 1,072-383-3 (.735), and among those 1,072 victories are three state championships (1993, 1995, 1996) and 16 conference championships. Sneddon also led the Dons to the second round of postseason competition for 25 consecutive seasons from 1988-2012. His teams never finished with a losing record, and in 22 of his 32 seasons, had a winning percentage of .700 or higher. He was named conference coach of the year 16 times, including five-straight seasons from 2007-2011. After breaking the career wins record in 2006 with his 832nd victory, Sneddon went on to become the first coach to record 900 and 1,000 wins.

Following his retirement from Santa Ana in 2014, Sneddon was inducted into the California Community College Baseball Coaches Association Hall of Fame in 2015. Sneddon was inducted into the ABCA Hall of Fame in 2020 alongside George Horton.

Augie Garrido is the winningest coach in Div. I history and is the first coach to lead two different schools (Cal State Fullerton and Texas) to national titles. He is also the first coach to guide teams to national championships in four different decades.

Larry Cochell was the first coach to take three schools to the College World Series (Oral Roberts in 1978, Fullerton in 1988 & 1990, Oklahoma in 1992). Cochell is pictured above with then-Chapman Head Coach Mike Weathers.

In September, 2007, George Horton was named the head coach of the University of Oregon, after reinstating its baseball program for the 2009 season. Ducks baseball had been a club sport since 1982.

Dave Serrano was named the head coach at Tennessee in June of 2011. In 2009, he bacame the ninth Div. I head coach to take multiple teams to the College World Series (UC Irvine 2007, Fullerton 2009).
