Season Notes

- The Broncos opened the spring with a sixth-place finish at the N.I.T. in Tucson, carding a 19-under 845 two-day total. Freshman Matt Robles turned in the second top-five finish of his young career, tying for fifth at 11-under 205.
- Robles shot in the 60s in all three rounds of the N.I.T. - 69-67-69. His 205 total is the second-best by a Bronco this season behind J.P. Odland's 198.
- Santa Clara opened the season with a bang, capturing both the team and individual title at the Myrtle Beach Golf Trips Intercollegiate. The team turned a three-day total of 21-under 843 to capture the tournament championship.
- Sophomore J.P. Odland won the first event of his young Bronco Career, and became the first Bronco to win medalist honors since Nolan Forsman in 2021. He finished the event 9-under 67-71-69--207 and was part of a three-way tie for first place.
- Through six events, Odland continues to lead the team in scoring average at 71.44 strokes per round followed closely by Robles (71.83), Calder Overfelt (71.94), Alvaro Muller (72.00) and Emil Nielsen (72.72).
- Odland also leads the team with five rounds in the 60s and is tied with freshman Emil Nielsen for the team-lead with eight rounds under par.
- Odland made program history at the Alister MacKenzie Invitational, tying the program record of 15-under par (67-66-65--198) to finish in seventh.
- Jack Hayden also won medalist honors for the first time of his career with a 5-under 211 tally at the 2024 Otter Invitational where he played as an individual participant.
- Nielsen couldn't have asked for a much better debut, turning in an 8-under 208 to finish in fourth at the Myrtle Beach Intercollegiate.
- The Broncos are in the fourth year under the direction of head coach Andrew Larkin.
