REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

TO THE VISITORS AND GOVERNORS OF ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE:

On April 22, 1963, ground was broken for St. John's College in Santa Fe. In commencing this annual report it seems appropriate to quote the remarks of John Gaw Meem as he turned the first spadeful of earth:

"This simple ceremony has a three-fold significance. In the long history of St. John's College in Annapolis, it marks the moment, when, because of a sound and successful program in Liberal Education under dynamic leadership, it has outgrown its physical limitations and must expand. This groundbreaking is a symbol of that growth.

"It is also an historical event for the City of Santa Fe and the State of New Mexico. One of the oldest colleges in America and one of its most distinguished is about to construct a campus on our soil, thus increasing our educational facilities and immeasurably enriching our culture.

"And, finally, it is an important event in the history of education in the United States of America, for here—for the first time in our country—a college has adopted the policy of expanding, not by enlarging its local facilities, not by constructing regional branches, but by establishing extensions of its campus throughout the Nation. Santa Fe has the honor, in response to our invitation, of being chosen for the first campus extension to be so established.

"Ladies and Gentlemen: By virtue of authority vested in me by the Board of Visitors and Governors, I hereby break the ground for the first group of buildings to be constructed on the campus of St. John's College in Santa Fe."

I am happy to report that the work has made rapid progress. To date the utilities are nearly complete and foundation walls are rising in the yawning excavations which resemble nothing so much as an archeological dig. The College has been extremely fortunate in its contractors—Robert E. McKee General Contractor, Inc., for the basic contract and materials, the L. E. Meyer Company for mechanical and plumbing work, and Reynolds Electrical Engineering Company for electrical work. Contracts on the classroom building, the laboratory building, the student center and all campus roads and utilities aggregate $2.3 million.

Plans are complete for the first nine dormitory units to house 106 students, 36 women and 70 men, as well as two tutors. The full application for a Housing and Home Finance Agency loan of $700,000 is now being processed by the district office in Fort Worth. Preliminary approval of this loan was received on May 22nd.

In anticipation of the opening of the new college with a formal convocation on September 27, 1964, eight new faculty appointments have been made in Annapolis thus bringing to eleven the number of extra tutors undergoing a period of apprenticeship and training in the St. John's program. The tenure members of the Faculty have chosen a committee to recommend a Dean for the new college, and I anticipate placing his name before the Board for appointment at the September meeting. Meanwhile, John M. Knego, Reference Librarian of the Science Library at Wayne State University, has accepted appointment as Librarian. Important progress has already been made on building the new book collection. Preliminary architectural plans for the new library and the music and fine arts center have been completed, through the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Fogelson.

A tremendous task still confronts the Board in the need to raise approximately $2.4 million to complete the construction and equipping of the new college and to meet its operating expenses for the first year. Through June 30, 1963, $2.1 million had been raised in gifts and pledges. Of this amount $845,615 has been received in cash payments of pledges. It will be necessary to raise approximately a million dollars in each of the next two years to meet the financial requirements of the new college. This will take the active assistance of every member of the Board of Visitors and Governors, and of every friend of the College as well.

The Curriculum

A successful innovation in the St. John's curriculum this year was the preceptorial. The junior and senior seminars were omitted from December 10th to February 21st, and all students distributed themselves by choice into preceptorials in groups of from four to six members. The aim of the program was to give students and tutors alike an opportunity for closer study of a particular subject matter or book than was possible in the seminar. The list of preceptorials offered this year included: Plato, Theaetetus; Shakespeare and The Roman Plays; Seventeenth Century Comedy—Ben Jonson, Moliere, Congreve; For and Against the Actual Infinite; Hume's Treatment of Cause; Lucretius, with some reference to Aristotle's Physics; Descartes, Meditations; On the Will (Augustine, Aquinas, Calvin, William James); Goethe as Scientist: on Color and on Plant Morphology; Kant, Critique of Pure Reason; Wittgenstein, Philosophical Investigations; The Brothers Karamazov; The Federalist Papers and Modern Democratic Theory; and The Common Law. The program was found to be generally successful and will be repeated during the coming year for approximately a ten-week period.

A major revision of the laboratory program will be undertaken during the next academic year following some two years of study and discussion by the Instruction Committee and the laboratory tutors. The freshmen will do exercises in measurement first, following this with a chemistry sequence in the latter half of the year. The entire sophomore year will be devoted to biology, thus bringing the whole biology program together and making possible some work in physiology with a certain amount of chemistry as background. Changes will also be recommended in the laboratory program for the upper two years.

A third modification in the curriculum is the decision of the Instruction Committee to have the music tutorials begin in the second year. A revision of the teaching materials is now under discussion by the music tutors who have been asked by the Instruction Committee to see whether the music program might be completed in one year. For the coming year the chorus will continue as a required part of the freshman year. In the future it will be optional for freshmen and mandatory for sophomores.

The Faculty

Three members of the Faculty were on sabbatical leave during the year: Douglas Allanbrook, who completed an opera in Italy; Barbara Leonard, who taught biology at Lady Doake College in Madurai, India; and Curtis Wilson, who spent the year studying physics at the University of London. Both Charles Bell and Victor Zuckerkandl were on leave of absence during parts of the year. For the coming academic year sabbatical leave has been granted to William A. Darkey, Jr., and Clarence Kramer. Thomas Simpson has received a Danforth Fellowship for Teachers to continue his study of physics at the Johns Hopkins University and Beate von Oppen will be on leave to lecture at Smith College.

Two tutors received tenure appointments to the faculty: Eva Brann and Samuel Brown. James Gilbert was a visiting tutor and director of the Fine Arts Studio while on leave from the Department of Art of the University of Chicago. Eight new tutors joined the faculty, either to be trained for St. John's College in Santa Fe or to replace tutors who might go to the new campus: David Castillejo, a Spanish writer who holds two degrees from Cambridge University; Joseph P. Cohen, a graduate of St. John's College in the Class of 1956, who has studied philosophy at Chicago and Vienna; Molly Gustin, who holds the Ph.D. degree from Indiana University in music; Richard Kennington, who has taught philosophy at Baldwin-Wallace College, the New School, and Pennsylvania State University; John F. C. Kiley, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Ottawa and taught both philosophy and physics at colleges in New York City; Daniel M. Lerner, who has a M.S. from Yale and subsequently taught philosophy at Bucknell University; and John F. Steadman, who was an assistant in philosophy at Cornell University for three years while working toward his doctorate. Luke Harvey Poe, Jr., resigned his tenure tutorship to continue his career in the business world.

The Students

The academic year began with a total enrollment of 313 students, divided as follows among the four classes:

	Men	Women	Total
Freshmen	70	56	126
Sophomores	59	34	93
Juniors	32	24	56
Seniors	30	8	38
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>
Totals	191 (61%)	122 (39%)	313

Twelve students who had previously attended the College re-enrolled at the beginning of the year. Two more returned for the second semester. There were 43 withdrawals in the first half of the year and nine more in the second semester. Reasons for withdrawal included marriage, disciplinary action, academic deficiency, financial difficulty, and the desire to specialize. A number of the withdrawals were made with the intention of returning to the college in the future.

Student organizations in general functioned quite well during the year. Particular mention should be made of the Collegian under the editorship of Richard Freis and the advisors of Miss Eva Brann. The paper appeared regularly and the quality of the material presented from many members of the College community was usually excellent. An innovation this year was the Modern Theatre Group which presented Saroyan's Time of Your Life and Giraudoux' Tiger at the Gates. Jeremy Levin was student director of the group and Daniel M. Larner served as faculty advisor.

Student government, however, presented a problem. Mounting dissatisfaction on the part of the administration and Faculty with the failure of the Student Polity adequately to enforce the rules of residence precipitated a decision to revoke this grant of authority to the Polity. The administration, therefore, resumes enforcement of the rules at the beginning of the next academic year. Nevertheless, Francis Brooke and Thomas Eaton, successive Executors of the Student Polity, and the members of the Delegate Council deserve high credit for their attempt to solve this knotty problem.

Athletics were unusually vigorous on campus. Bryce Jacobsen, of the Class of 1942, Director of Athletics, developed a new and challenging plan for intramural athletics. The entire student body was divided vertically into five teams, each under its own captain. The teams chose such esoteric names as the Guardians, the Panzas, and the Green Wave. League games were scheduled in all sports and the grand winner determined at the end of the year.

Again the College was able to extend to students substantial financial aid through a combined program of State and endowed scholarships, grants, jobs and loans. Maryland students received a total of $79,657 through the State scholarship program. Unrestricted scholarships amounting to $12,312 went to 23 other students. In addition, $30,481 was awarded from the income on endowed scholarship funds. Student assistantships and other student jobs provided $32,943 in student aid. This means that the total program amounted to $155,393 in addition to which students borrowed $2,400 through the United Student Aid Fund.

Robert Skeele, one of the Assistant Deans, served as Director of Placement and worked most helpfully with the members of the senior class. Information on employment opportunities, military programs and graduate and professional schools was made available and interviews were scheduled. Eleven of the graduating seniors are entering upon advanced study, three in law schools, two in medical schools, one in seminary, one in business school and four in graduate schools. Seven graduates are becoming teachers, two of them in the Peace Corps and one at the Columbia University program in East Africa. Three of the class are going directly into business and industry, one into the Navy, one into government service, and one into the American Field Exchange, while eight graduates are still undecided.

Admissions

The Class of 1967 is expected to number 53 women and 72 men. It was developed from over 260 applications. The considerable increase in interest in St. John's College is probably attributable both to the new St. John's film and to the article on the College by David Boroff appearing in the March 23rd issue of the Saturday Review. It is noteworthy that visits were made by James Tolbert, the Director of Admissions, and Temple Porter, of the Class of 1962, his assistant, to a wide range of schools in New England, the Middle Atlantic States, the Middle West, the Southwest, and California. Students applying during the coming year will be offered their choice of campus. The first student has already been accepted for the Class of 1968 at St. John's College in Santa Fe. He is Richard McGuinness of Morristown, New Jersey.

Library

By design the St. John's Library maintains a carefully selected and well-pruned collection of approximately 50,000 volumes, most of which are of particular interest to the St. John's community. There is in addition a strong bibliographical collection showing the holdings of other libraries. During the year just ended some 1100 books were added and 400 discarded. A special project was the complete reorganization of the New Program Great Authors Collection, now to be housed in the downstairs reading room.

The present building is in a shabby state of repair. It was originally designed only in part as a library, but it has met the needs of the College better than might be expected. During the year a decision was reached to retain and remodel the structure and to add a wing to house stacks and work space. Charlotte Fletcher, the librarian, and the members of the Library Committee have worked with I. M. Pei and Associates, the College architects, to this end. I am pleased to report the offer of a matching grant of $75,000 from the General Assembly of Maryland toward the new wing, providing a like amount is obtained within the next two years. Remodeling of the present structure is estimated to cost $150,000, thus making the total cost of the library project $300,000.

Much effort was expended upon the completion of the list of books to constitute the initial working collection for St. John's College in Santa Fe. It was decided to concentrate on class copies, texts, and reference and secondary books for the Program as a whole. Small faculty committees are now at work compiling and selecting titles from shelf lists and proposing additional titles in the areas of Greek, French and English literature, philosophy and theology, science and mathematics, and music.

Administration

Mrs. Helen R. Quaid, Assistant Treasurer, resigned her position in September, 1962, to rejoin her family in St. Louis. Mrs. Quaid had served the College faithfully in the Business Office for sixteen years. This position was filled for the balance of the year by William E. Thomas, formerly Bursar at Washington College in Chestertown, Maryland.

James A. Baldwin, of the Class of 1958, resigned as Alumni Secretary of the College in December to accept a public relations position in New York City. Mr. Baldwin had done a great deal to re-ignite activity among the alumni and had established a new record for annual giving during the preceding year. A decision was reached to place responsibility for alumni activities under Thomas Parran, of the Class of 1942, Assistant to the President, since his office is charged with coordination of all functions having to do with publicity, public relations and fund raising.

Dr. Gerard Church was appointed College Physician for the year and Mrs. Pauline G. Fowler College Nurse. It was generally agreed that arrangements in the Infirmary were better than they had been in recent years. Both Dr. Church and Mrs. Fowler proved professionally competent and established good working relationships with the students.

During Miss Barbara Leonard's sabbatical leave, Mrs. Richard Cahall acted as Resident Head of Campbell Hall. She will continue at the college during the coming year as Resident Head of the second women's dormitory, Humphreys Hall. Miss Patricia Schwallenberg was married during the summer and left the College in September. Her position as secretary to the Assistant Deans was filled by the appointment of Mrs. Audrey Kempton. Mrs. Barbara Simpson was appointed secretary in the Alumni Office, succeeding Miss Carol German, who became secretary to the Assistant to the President.

The Physical Plant

Each year seems to show a marked improvement in the condition of the physical plant. Last summer Iglehart Hall underwent major exterior and interior repairs. Bryce Jacobsen, Director of Athletics, devoted his skill and labor to the refinishing of the gymnasium floor and to the rebuilding of the squash and handball courts, the ping pong room, the director's office and the locker rooms. The attractiveness of the renovated gymnasium was a major factor in the sharply increased student participation in the athletic program.

A second major project was renovation and redecoration of the President's house. During the year the roof was repaired, the exterior siliconed and painted, and the entire interior refinished. The program of weatherproofing the exteriors of other buildings was carried forward. In addition to Iglehart Hall and the President's house, the Key Memorial, Mellon Hall, the Carroll Barrister House, Humphreys Hall and the heating plant were cleaned, pointed, siliconed and painted where necessary.

Chase-Stone House was vacated during the spring recess and a major renovation program to cost approximately $175,000 was undertaken in May. James W. Burch of Annapolis was appointed architect for the project and Baltimore Contractors, Inc., of Baltimore, Maryland, were named general contractor. The dormitory is scheduled for completion in November of this year.

Finances

For the second year in succession the College operated without a deficit. The statement of revenues and expenditures for 1962-63 shows that income amounted to $1,166,348 and expenditures to $1,139,874. A modest increase was recorded in the consolidated endowment fund. As of June 30, 1963, the book value of the fund stood at $6,498,190 as compared to a market value of $7,228,827. The College endowment produced an income of $277,416 for the year, representing a yield of 4.269% on the book value of its investments.

A most significant increase in gifts to St. John's College was recorded during the year, largely for the new campus at Santa Fe, New Mexico. For current purposes in Annapolis a total of $54,004 was received, $9,249 from Board members, $19,401 from alumni, $7,149 from friends of the College, $6,474 from foundations, business and industry, and $11,731 through the combined appeal of the Association of Independent Colleges in Maryland. For capital purposes in Annapolis the College received $56,137, $17,500 for buildings and campus improvement and $38,637 to be added to the endowment fund. The latter figure includes $24,514, representing the first year's payment by Old Dominion Foundation on its generous offer to match all gifts received for permanent endowment prior to June 30, 1967 up to a total of $1,000,000.

There were approximately 500 donors to the new college in Santa Fe. Actual cash received in Santa Fe amounted to $845,615, as compared with total pledges of $2,091,393. Two foundation grants should be noted with particular appreciation, a grant of $75,000 from the James Foundation of New York City and a pledge of $25,000 over a five-year period from the Raskob Fund for Catholic Activities of Wilmington, Delaware. A complete list of donors is appended to this report. On behalf of both the Faculty and the students I should like to express warm appreciation to all of these contributors. Through their giving they have a significant part in the College's educational program on both campuses.

Alumni

At a well attended Homecoming on October 20, 1962, Myron L. Wolbarsht of the Class of 1950 was re-elected President of the Alumni Association for a second year. The alumni also elected Edward A. Kimpel, Jr., of the Class of 1931, and Walter C. Mylander, Jr., of the Class of 1932, to three-year terms on the Board of Visitors and Governors, and Harrison Sasscer, of the Class of 1944, to a one-year term.

It is impossible within the confines of this report to list all alumni who died during the course of the year. Special mention, however, should be made of William Lentz, of the Class of 1912, and Robert F. Duer, of the Class of 1921. Mr. Lentz, a Baltimore attorney, served on the Board of Visitors and Governors for many years, much of that time as its Secretary. Mr. Duer throughout his career as a banker maintained a lively interest in his alma mater and was a consistent member of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association and for two years its President. Both men had received the Alumni Award of Merit.

* * * * *

I must also note with deep regret the death of Duane L. Peterson who had served for approximately one year as a Visitor and Governor of the College when death came after a protracted illness. Mr. Peterson had a distinguished career in business in Baltimore City and was widely recognized for his interest in philanthropic activities. The College is fortunate that his wife is serving on the Board in his stead.

* * * * *

In the year immediately ahead the College will be visited by an evaluating team of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. In anticipation of their visit an extensive report is being prepared by the Faculty and the administrative staff of the College. If recommendations of the visiting group of educators are favorable, accreditation of St. John's College will be renewed for a further decade. At the same time automatic accreditation will extend to St. John's College in Santa Fe for the first two years of its operation. I believe that the College approaches this independent appraisal with vigor and confidence. Difficulties and problems still remain in the areas of curriculum, student retention, and the expansion and renovation of the physical plant in Annapolis, but all of these problems are capable of solution.

In the Southwest the challenge is very great indeed, and an immense task lies ahead over the next several years, a task which will command all possible time, energy and devotion of Board members and staff members alike. One cannot watch a new college come into being without experiencing an exhilaration and an excitement which make all of the work involved worthwhile and satisfying. I look forward to the opening convocation in Santa Fe on September 27, 1964, in full faith that our dreams and plans will become a reality.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS

St. John's College is a non-sectarian, independent liberal arts college deriving its income from student fees, from a limited appropriation by the Maryland General Assembly, from the gifts of its friends and alumni and from permanent endowment funds. The College's permanent endowment now exceeds $6,000,000, but increasing educational costs will require future additions to these funds.

The College invites gifts and bequests to its current budget, to its building program, and to its permanent endowment funds. Inquiries may be addressed to the President or the Treasurer. Bequests may be made in a form similar to the following:

"I hereby give and bequeath to St. John's College
in Annapolis, Maryland or in Santa Fe, New Mexico
the sum of dollars."

The College would prefer gifts and bequests to be applied in the discretion of the College, but gifts and bequests may be made for specially stated purposes.
