A modern spin on cotton candy

Pacifica Christian grad talks entrepreneurship at alma mater

CANDY GIRL: Pacifica Christian alumna Cloe Lane is the owner of Bon Puf, a cotton candy business that uses natural and organic ingredients.

BY JEFFREY I. GOODMAN

Daily Press Staff Writer

When Cloe Lane thinks back on her childhood, she has vivid memories of a particular puffy, sugary confection. Whether she was at Santa Monica Pier, Dodger Stadium or Disneyland, she often found herself clamoring for a stick of cotton candy.

"It's always been my favorite treat," she said. "I was surprised no one had really thought to put a modern spin on how people enjoy it."

That's where Bon Puf comes in. Lane, a 22-year-old Santa Monica native who graduated from Pacifica Christian High School, now runs her own artisanal cotton candy business using natural and organic ingredients.

Bon Puf has made slow but steady progress since it launched a few years ago, and it came full circle last month when Lane returned to her alma mater to discuss her experiences as an entrepreneur and serve her product to current students.

Lane turns out flavors like mango with chile salt topping, caramel dusted with sea salt, coconut and watermelon featuring a coconut chip crumble, and vanilla with a crushed candy cane topping. She sells her cotton candy from a cart at public and private events, and she's working to develop pre-made cotton candy to expand her business in the coming months.

It's all part of an evolving journey for Lane, a daughter of graphic designers who was homeschooled until she enrolled at Pacifica. The idea of a cotton candy business, which she bounced around as a senior at the Santa Monica private school, gained momentum during her gap semester after graduation. She

Local, state laws taking effect in 2016

BY JENNIFER MAAS

Daily Press Staff Writer

With the first month of 2016 behind us, several new laws have already taken effect in the state of California, and right here in Santa Monica, that will change how we go about our day-to-day lives. And there are more to come.

On the state level, starting this year it will be illegal to wear earbuds or headsets in both ears while driving a vehicle or riding a bicycle. Electric skateboard riders must now be 16 years or older, wear helmets and stick to roads with a speed limit of 35 mph or less; it will also be against the law to ride an electric skateboard while under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

California's emergency alert system, mostly used for Amber Alerts in child-abduction cases, will now also be used to broadcast a "Yellow Alert" to find hit-and-run drivers in incidents that result in death and/or major injuries.

A one-year extension will be granted to a pilot project in L.A. County, which hopes to limit drunk driving through the use of ignition interlock devices that test the sobriety of drivers. Drivers are required to blow into the devices in order to start their vehicles; and if their blood-alcohol content exceeds a certain level, their cars won't start.

On July 1, one of the strictest

For those looking to enjoy a romantic meal together, Santa Monica restaurants like Del Frisco's Grille and FIG are offering special holiday menus in honor of St. Valentine.

Friday, Feb. 12 - Sunday, Feb. 14, Del Frisco's Grille, 1551 Ocean Ave., will offer a romantic brunch, complete with Cupid's Cocktail (made of Stoli Razberi, POM Wonderful Pomegranate Juice and orange juice) at $10.50 a piece or $21 for a brunch carafe. All week-

Fans of Del Frisco's Grille can also enter to win a Valentine's meal through Facebook. Two lucky couples will win a last-minute brunch or dinner (valued at $200) on Feb. 13 by tagging their date on Facebook and sharing why they'd like to spend Valentine's Day weekend at Del Frisco's Grille.

Over at the Fairmont, FIG Restaurant, 101 Wilshire Blvd., will be offering a prix fixe Valentine's menu Friday, Feb. 12 - Sunday, Feb. 14, priced at $72 per person. An abbreviated FIG a la carte menu

Signalization gaffes
Editor:

The bottom line is that in Santa Monica the current mode of signalization discriminates against, and makes the lives of pedestrians, particularly the elderly, and the handicapped more dangerous and stressful! The Promenade, an ostensibly pedestrian friendly venue, for example, gives more green light time at Arizona for cars than pedestrians, [I] recently had to wait for a whole minute for the walk sign to come on, despite the fact there was only a single car in that time. Similar signalization gaffes occur throughout the city! Fact that the city has ignored the rights of pedestrians for so many years gives lie to any notion that we are a green city! Observed at Stewart and Kansas 10 out of 10 cars failed to stop for the Boulevard stop sign! Stephen Hawking for all his brilliance wouldn't be able to catch a walk sign at most intersections in Santa Monica because he can't push a button, same intersections have detected cars for decades, for shame!

Samohi and SMMUSD celebrate student who earned 'perfect' scores on Advanced Placement Exams

Santa Monica High School and Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District celebrates student Carlos Bustos for earning perfect scores on his Advanced Placement Exam in spring 2015.

Carlos was one of only 55 students in the world to earn every point possible on the AP Spanish Language Exam. Looking across approximately 4.5 million AP Exams taken by 2.5 million U.S. public high school students in 2015, only 322 students earned every point possible on an AP Exam, a rare accomplishment.

"I am thrilled with Carlos' accomplishment!" Samohi principal, Eva Mayoral, said, "Carlos Bustos is the very definition of phenomenal. Throughout the six years I have known him he has never been driven solely by grades; he has earned straight A grades in every of the most rigorous courses we have to offer here at Samohi and John Adams Middle School because he is invested in mastery. This is a proud day, not only for Carlos and his mom, but for our entire Spanish Immersion Pathway. Today we celebrate Carlos' achievement as a full SMMUSD accomplishment."

Carlos' AP Spanish language teacher, and Samohi immersion chair, Claudia Bautista said. "I am beaming with pride! Carlos is one of the hardest working, and most eloquent writers I have ever had the pleasure of working with in class. The same year, Carlos helped get 20 scholarships for low-income students who could not pay for their AP Exams through the AP Pals Club. I can't wait to see his contribution to our society in the future!"

AP Exams are based and reported on a 5-point scale, where 5 is equivalent to a grade of A in the corresponding college course. Carlos received the top score of 5. Scores of 3, 4 or 5 earn college credit.

Samohi had 2,984 students last year with 876 students taking a total of 1,783 AP exams in 21 subjects. 75-percent, or 1,330 exams, were passed with a score of 3, 4 or 5. "We congratulate all our students who earned college credit and took on the rigor of AP exams," Mayoral said.

"AP courses and exams are college-level, and require hard work and focus on the part of students and their teachers," Trevor Packer, senior vice president of AP and instruction at the College Board, said. "On behalf of the College Board, we congratulate the students and community members who make challenging coursework and focused practice a priority, and who motivate and encourage all students to capture their academic potential."

The College Board is committed to ensuring that students have access to the opportunities they have earned. Students who succeed in AP are not only more likely to succeed in college, but have the chance to save a significant amount of time and money by earning college credit or placement.

In 2015, more than 4,100 colleges and universities around the world received AP scores for college credit, advanced placement, and/or consideration in the admission process, with many colleges and universities in the U.S. offering credit in one or more subjects for qualifying AP scores.

Keeping 4th/Pico open

GAINING NEW OPEN GREEN SPACE IS A major priority for our community. At the corner of 4th/Pico Bl., we have a historic opportunity to do just that.

Since the 1993 version of the Civic Center Specific Plan (CCSP), the corner of 4th/Pico Bl. has been envisioned to be open, green space, converted from the large surface parking lot there today.

Shown as open and green in all subsequent CCSP iterations - and explicitly containing a sports field since the 2005 CCSP - discussion of 4th/Pico nevertheless was reopened in 2013, when the City Council appointed and tasked the Civic Working Group (CWG) with drafting a vision for "the future cultural and community use of the Civic Auditorium as the hub of a cultural campus."

Questions in the community immediately arose - "Would there be development recommended at 4th/Pico to partially fund costs to rehabilitate and operate the Civic Auditorium (and an associated cultural campus)? What amount of open space would remain and what uses would it be directed towards? What would happen to the sports field in the 2005 CCSP?"

These questions were a running sub-text to the CWG process and are part of Tuesday night's City Council discussion on the future of the Civic Auditorium.

The Council avoided directly confronting these questions in 2013, when its direction to the CWG also included exploring "an appropriate mix of compatible adjacent [to the Civic Auditorium] uses, from open space to additional facilities" - but without making a concurrent Council statement about its commitment to open space square footage and/or the sports field. This left the door open, at least theoretically, for some or most of 4th/Pico to be cannibalized with new development, in order to fund the significant costs to rehabilitate the Civic Auditorium, and to potentially integrate the entire corner into a new cultural campus.

That schizophrenia needs to be addressed Tuesday night.

WHAT KIND OF OPEN SPACE?

To be fair, CWG members have not argued for eliminating all open space on the site. But the reality is a large fenced-in sports field is not compatible with an expanded cultural campus that goes much beyond renovation or replacement of the Civic Center's East Wing. If there is to be an enlarged cultural campus, what would make the most sense is a multi-purpose open (and substantially green) park space at 4th/Pico that functions for events, and serves as an open-space gateway to Ocean Park.

If - and that is a big if - the City were to go in that direction, many CWG members expressed the concern that the Civic Auditorium restoration process not be encumbered by the costs of finding new land for a sports field, as it would make that process more expensive and less predictable for an investor/operator. But the field people don't want to give up their promised field on that side of town, just because someday the City may create playing field space elsewhere, especially since we'll still have an overall deficit citywide, and a deficit in that part of town.

DEVELOPMENT ISSUES

When the City Council approved the 1993 CCSP, most of the land west of Main St. was owned by the RAND corporation. At the time, RAND successfully sought entitlements to redevelop its aging headquarters, and to develop the rest of the land with commercial office space and a mix of market rate and affordable housing. With so much private development under consideration, and only a sliver of green space planned to the north of the proposed new RAND headquarters across from City Hall, it was easy to argue that 4th/Pico needed to be open and green in the CCSP.

In 1999, the City purchased approximately 11.3-acres of land owned by RAND, with the goal of providing more public open space and affordable housing within the Civic Center (a historic purchase for which I played an initiating role as a councilmember). Now that the City was in direct control of more development choices within the Civic Center, the thinking included how to more appropriately transition from downtown to Ocean Park.

In an extremely positive cooperation by/with RAND, the 1999 purchase led to a revised 2000 CCSP that allowed for the new RAND headquarters to be built on the southern end of the Civic Center at 56-feet high, instead of across from City Hall at 84-feet high, leading to the beautiful open space we know today as Tongva Park. Rather than developing 4th/Pico, the thinking was that the housing density (instead of commercial office space) and heights we were going to build along Ocean Avenue, would now be balanced by a substantially increased amount of open space within the Civic Center overall.

One thing that did not change from the 1993 to the 2000 CCSP - and is still in the plan today - is the idea of making a major pedestrian linkage from Palisades Park to Ocean Park through the Civic Center, via what is now Tongva Park, ultimately to Ocean Park at 3rd and 4th/Pico.

If we are truly serious about making Santa Monica a walkable city, retaining a truly inviting and sizable open-space entrance from Ocean Park into the Civic Center (and ultimately to downtown and points beyond) is critical. By contrast, any major development at 4th/Pico would be a betrayal of the historic land use compromise between various issue constituencies that led to using $53 million of public money to buy the RAND land in the first place; and a de facto bait-and-switch that first allowed Ocean Avenue to be up-zoned and developed, with the promise that 4th/Pico be kept open, and then a "camel's-nose-under-the-tent" breaking of that promise later.

FIELD OF DREAMS

The answer is not to pit the arts/cultural vs. the sports/open space vs. the slow-growth communities (many of us are in all three!), but to think big picture and find a way to make everything happen.

On Tuesday night, City Staff is rightfully suggesting a pause from addressing the entire area considered by the CWG, and is recommending for now issuing a Request for Qualifications/Request for Proposals for

'We are good social scientists'

BETH ROLANDSON, PRINCIPAL transportation planner with the Planning and Community Development Division previewed the City's new Pedestrian Action Plan (PAP) in front of about 70 folks at the Wilshire/Montana (Wilmont) Neighborhood Coalition meeting last Tuesday night at the Montana Avenue Branch Library.

I mentioned in last week's "My Write" that I thought it would be a great opportunity to ask tough questions; being that traffic, congestion and parking are the top community concerns and have gotten progressively worse over the years. But, it seems the assembly wasn't in the mood for hardball, preferring to ask about street lighting, stop signs and crosswalks.

I knew Rolandson's presentation was off to a rocky start when she stated, "We are good social scientists." I wouldn't agree with that, however, one thing is for certain, they're lousy traffic engineers.

Rolandson's view of her roll in the City bureaucracy cuts to the core of the problems as demonstrated by the way the City has, and is, dealing with traffic, parking and transportation issues. For example, there was some mumbo-jumbo about how more pedestrian crosswalks may help those with high blood pressure.

Most important for me is feeling and being safe while on foot. I'd like to know that some motorist turning at an intersection isn't going to cut me off in a crosswalk because he/she can't see past parked cars down the street.

I'd like to walk past subterranean office parking garages and know that some motorist shooting up an access ramp isn't going to take me out like a pin in a bowling alley.

And, I feel much safer (while keeping my blood pressure low) when some bozo on a bicycle doesn't race by me on a sidewalk.

As I've written before, most of the negatives of being a pedestrian in Santa Monica have to do with rude, dangerous and illegal behavior by motorists and bicyclists. Without enforcement, this condition will continue and escalate. All the wide sidewalks, lovely planters, distracting medians, slower speed limits, curb extensions and social engineering in the world won't make a dangerous situation safe, let alone pleasant.

A Santa Monica Police Department Motor Officer with a new cite book will do a world of good when it comes to behavior modification. I'd appreciate it if Rolandson and her staff did the job they were hired to do: traffic planning without the social engineering and over-intellectualization. And, adopt a goal of keeping Santa Monica moving, not gridlocking it.

Another issue that came up at Wilmont's monthly meeting concerned the use of a parking lot next to the Civic Auditorium. A number of friends and neighbors are advocating for a 2.8-acre sports field directly across Fourth Street from Santa Monica High School on what is a 1,100 car surface parking lot used by City Hall and the L.A. Courthouse employees on weekdays and for auditorium events (when there were events) at night and on weekends.

Two Samohi PTA moms, Jaleh Mamita and Ann Hoover, have been making the rounds asking for community support to finally undertake a "regulation-sized" field that can be used by some "1,000 students involved in athletics at Samohi," such as football, soccer, baseball, softball, lacrosse, track and field and marching band.

All need practice space, as Samohi has been critically short of athletic space on or near the main campus for years, they say. They claim a field was promised to the community by the City Council in 2005 as part of the Civic Center Specific Plan.

THE CIVIC CENTER IS NOT THE RIGHT PLACE FOR A 2.8-ACRE SPORTS FIELD. HERE ARE THE ISSUES AS I SEE THEM:

■ The school district is responsible for its own facilities, but has built out the Samohi campus. Now, they want the City and the residents to give them prime downtown real estate to compensate for its own bad planning.

■ A regulation sports field would have to be enclosed by a 20-foot high security fence, making the facility out-of-bounds except for sanctioned school or recreation and parks events. Also, one field is not going to serve the needs of all sports as each activity has its own unique and incompatible physical requirements.

■ No revenue would be generated. Current parking would have to be moved underground at a cost of millions of dollars for a subterranean garage large enough to meet the area's various parking demands.

■ What is the goal for the remaining open area in the Civic Center? Arts, entertainment and culture? Child care? Housing and/or hotels? Expanded athletic facilities? A sports field would pretty much add to the mish-mosh and nullify any other opportunity for the area while serving mostly young athletes. The rest of us will be outside the fence, looking in. And, no tennis courts?

According to many postings on Santa Monica's various politically oriented, social media websites (like Facebook), there's a growing backlash against Santa Monica College's (SMC) 110 student, Early Childhood Education Center (ECEC) scheduled to start construction early next year on 1.8 acres of valuable, publicly owned, Civic Center space.

The land is worth millions. SMC is paying only a buck a year for the next 55 years plus options for this endeavor which is a part of the college's child-care curriculum but operated by an outside for-profit. With the tide of public opinion rising against this misconceived land grab, don't be surprised if lawsuits start flying.

Apple and outsourcing

Dear EarthTalk:

Is it true that Apple gets around U.S. labor standards and laws by outsourcing production to China?

Josie Walsh
New York, NY

APPLE ISN'T THE ONLY TECH GIANT

outsourcing much of its production to Chinese manufacturers nowadays, but the sheer popularity of the California-based company's products makes it an especially easy target for activists concerned about worker health and safety. China Labor Watch and other groups have exposed inhumane conditions at huge Chinese factories of suppliers like Foxconn and Pegatron that support many U.S.-based tech firms. Workers at these facilities, many who are underage, are often required to work 18-hour shifts and are routinely exposed to toxic chemicals-but still can barely make ends meet. The problem came to a head in 2010 when journalists got word that 14 workers had committed suicide at Foxconn's massive iPhone-assembly manufacturing facility in China.

Another issue dogging Apple's Chinese partners is worker exposure to toxic chemicals and a higher than average incidence of leukemia among employees. Apple agreed to discontinue using two of the worst offenders, benzene and n-hexane, after the non-profit groups China Labor Watch and Green America collected upwards of 40,000 signatures from consumers demanding action from the company. But China still allows its manufacturing sector to use several other carcinogenic chemicals long outlawed in the U.S. and Europe. Repeated exposure to these substances is another threat Chinese workers have to contend with when working on the assembly line making smartphones and other tech gadgets.

Despite knowledge of the dangerous conditions, Apple's Chinese suppliers rarely struggle to find workers, many of whom are willing to take the relatively high paying jobs despite the risks-especially if they are supporting loved ones at home who depend upon the extra money to survive. China's huge population creates an infinite supply of workers, such that even a large-scale walkout would be pointless. The assembly line system gives each person a repetitive, simple job that can be taught in an hour.

For its part, Apple continues to claim they are investigating the situation and doing everything they can to ensure satisfactory working conditions. In 2010, the company revamped its supplier responsibility standards and threatened it would terminate relations with Chinese manufacturers that refuse to toe the line, and also called for new audits on all of its "final assembly" facilities in China. Two years later, Apple became the first technology company admitted to the Fair Labor Association, a non-profit that conducts independent monitoring and verification to ensure acceptable workplace standards. While this affiliation doesn't mean Foxconn, Pegatron and other Chinese high tech suppliers are beholden to standards as stringent as U.S. labor laws, activists consider it a step in the right direction and continue to keep an eye on the situation.

Of course, whether or not Apple steps up on the issue may depend more on if consumers are willing to forego the company's products due to worker exploitation issues. And that's not likely to happen anytime soon, as Americans and others continue to buy iPhones, iPads and Macs as fast as Apple and its Chinese partners can produce them.

work with the City once the City is more clear about its plans there. Now is the time for the two agencies to partner to explore how a new field(s) could be added north of Samohi as part of the GAMP.

It makes great sense for a new field(s) to be located next to Samohi and near the Expo light rail stop. In 2003, at the instigation of then Councilmember Herb Katz and myself, the Council asked City Staff to explore the feasibility of a new field over the I-10 freeway, east of 4th Street. As a stand-alone project it was prohibitively expensive. Now with the GAMP, new possibilities for covering capital costs exist.

Not only could this process help facilitate Samohi's improvement and possible northward expansion, but if a bond measure to help fund the Civic Auditorium restoration is ever going to pass the voters - passage which would also lessen the need to overdevelop the site to help fund the restoration - the sports/open space community must feel its needs weren't precluded by it, otherwise the blowback will kill the bond.

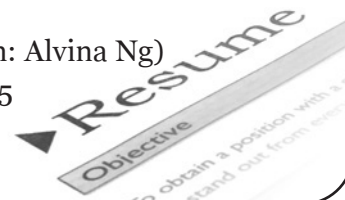

Adding one or more new fields between Samohi and the new Expo light rail station could be a win-win for our community. The Council should "think big and think green" Tuesday night and vote to explore it.

reuse of the Civic Auditorium only. Market conditions have changed since the last time the City looked in that direction, and there are nearby planning processes that could shed light on an ultimate resolution.

Taking advantage of that "pause," the Council should give direction to City Staff Tuesday night to work with the School District on joint planning between the Santa Monica High School improvement planning process (resulting from Measure BB funds approved by voters in 2006) and the Gateway Area Master Plan (GAMP), in order to site one or more new fields north of Samohi.

THE WORLD ACCORDING TO GAMP

The City is looking at comprehensively planning the area between Ocean Avenue and 5th Street, and between Colorado Avenue and covering the I-10 freeway; as well as realigning the 4th Street west bound off-ramp to link directly with Olympic Boulevard and then extending the useable area south of the Expo rail stop at 4th/Colorado with the space gained. That planning process is what is called the GAMP.

The school district has stayed out of the crossfire over what should happen at 4th/Pico, but has indicated its willingness to vaccination laws in the country will take effect. The bill, sponsored by Democratic Sens. Richard Pan of Sacramento and Ben Allen of Santa Monica, will allow only children with serious health problems to opt out of school-mandated vaccinations. School-aged children who still remain unvaccinated will need to be home-schooled.

One bill will allow female employees to allege pay discrimination based on the wages a company pays to other employees who do markedly similar work.

The Reproductive FACT Act, now requires pregnancy clinics to hand out, or plainly post information about where women can acquire low-cost contraceptives, prenatal care and abortions.

And the law requiring slow-moving passenger vehicles to pull over carefully to let traffic pass has been revised to apply to all vehicles.

ON THE HOME FRONT

There are also several new rules here in Santa Monica, the most notable of which being the municipal code requiring a minimum wage for employees, and requiring a living wage for hotel workers.

In the land of development agreements and land-use, ordinances have allowed for a new 6-story (84 feet), 52,545 square-foot mixed-use project consisting of 64 residential units and 6,345 square feet of ground floor commercial space at 1415 5th St.; a 5-story, 102,500 square-foot mixed-use project consisting of 100 residential units, 13,800 square feet of ground floor commercial space, and 232 parking spaces within a three-level subterranean parking garage at 1560 Lincoln Boulevard (Denny's); and a 5-story (57 feet), 77,758 square-foot mixed-use project consisting of 90 residential units, 10,617 square feet of ground floor commercial space, and 168 parking spaces within a two-level subterranean parking garage at 1601 Lincoln Boulevard.

An ordinance was put in place that requires individual meters for all multi-family residential projects with six units or fewer; requires all multi-family residential projects with greater than six units to install a master meter and submeters; and deletes the meter exemption for low and moderate multi-family housing.

The San Vicente Boulevard Courtyard Apartments Historic District was also created, and updates have been made to the regulations of vehicles for hire, taxicabs, and pedicabs.

Laws and ordinances on the horizon for the Westside in 2016 include a speed survey update, a modification request to the Santa Monica ordinance prohibiting retail establishments from providing single use plastic carryout bags and regulating the use of paper carryout bags, and zoning ordinance cleanup.

then started taking general education classes at Santa Monica College, but she soon realized that she wanted to be able to devote her time to her company.

"It was going so well, and education is something you really have to hunker down and focus on," she said, adding that she hopes to go back to school eventually. "I was excited where Bon Puf was going."

Bringing creative energy to her new pursuit, Lane has relied on her parents for guidance on organization, finances and client correspondence. She said they also instilled in her the value of a healthy lifestyle, a tenet that she incorporates into her selection of ingredients that don't have artificial flavoring.

"What's been really fun is that because my product is natural, more parents are open to Bon Puf," she said. "I've had a great success in people being way more open to what I offer."

Lane certainly found a receptive audience at Pacifica, from which she graduated in 2012. She returned to the campus at the request of her former math teacher, Kevin Kirchner, who runs the school's Minchin Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship. The interdisciplinary program is meant to help students develop their business skills through collaborative projects and partnerships with Silicon Beach companies.

"I was honored to be given the chance to give back a little bit," Lane said. "I just told the students my story and tried to encourage them in their own endeavors."

Lane, who in 2014 made Zagat's list of 30 culinary rock stars in Los Angeles under 30, said she is now pulling in a profit and able to support herself.

"I'm so incredibly thankful for that," she said. "I owe that to the people who hire [Bon Puf] and believe in what I'm doing."

CRIME WATCH

BY DAILY PRESS STAFF

Crime Watch is culled from reports provided by the Santa Monica Police Department. These are arrests only. All parties are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ON JAN. 25 AT APPROXIMATELY 2:45 P.M.

A man was sitting at a computer desk in the lobby at Step Up on Second (1619 Santa Monica Blvd) and started listening to some music. Shortly afterward, a woman in the lobby started complaining about how loud the music was and told the man to turn the volume down. The man however did not, so the woman became belligerent and walked over to the man to confront him. After some name calling, the woman's boyfriend, who was also in the lobby, got up and punched the man in the face. At about that same time, the woman grabbed a metal fold-up chair and also struck the man's face with it. As the man fell to the ground, both the woman and her boyfriend began kicking his head and face repeatedly. When the man tried to protect himself by rolling over onto his stomach, the woman picked up a chair again and struck the back of his head several times. Both suspects then ran out the back door of the location. Two days later, on Jan. 27, a Santa Monica police officer responded to another Step Up facility at the 3400 block of Ocean Park Boulevard to assist the staff there as they placed a woman on a psychiatric hold. When the officer arrived, he realized the woman was the suspect in the assault and noticed her boyfriend was with her. Both suspects were then taken into custody and booked at the Santa Monica jail. Brittany Therlene Washington, 23, of Santa Monica, had bail set at $60,000. Gage Allen Brown, 19, of Santa Monica, had bail set at $30,000.

Sudoku

Fill in the blank cells using numbers 1 to 9. Each number can appear only once in each row, column, and 3x3 block. Use logic and process of elimination to solve the puzzle. The difficulty level ranges from (easiest) to (hardest).

Difficulty Level ★

GETTING STARTED

There are many strategies to solving Sudoku. One way to begin is to examine each 3x3 grid and figure out which numbers are missing. Then, based on the other numbers in the row and column of each blank cell, find which of the missing numbers will work. Eliminating numbers will eventually lead you to the answer.

- NEWS OF THE WEIRD BY CHUCK SHEPARD
- Even though concealed-carry gun permit-holders in Texas can now "open carry," pistol-packing women concerned with fashion are not limited to traditional firearms in ordinary cowboy holsters. An online company, The Well Armed Woman, offers such carry options as stylish leggings, lace waistbands and an array of underarm and bra holsters (even an in-cup model, the "Marilyn") in leopard-print and pastel colors. However, a woman's body shape and size may be more important shopping considerations, according to the company's founder. "A 32A bust could not conceal a Glock 19 very well -- nor would a 42DD-or-larger (front) allow for effective cross-draw carry."

■ In January, Robert Battle took the oath of office for his second term as a city councilman in East Chicago, Indiana -- administered at the county lockup, where he is being held without bail, charged with a cold-blooded murder during a drug deal. The crime made news in October (i.e., before election day), yet Battle still won his race. According to law, he cannot be forced out of office unless he is convicted or admits the crimes, and he had the right to vote for himself in the election (except that he failed to request an absentee ballot).

Night at the Hammer Museum

by Colin Newton

Let's be honest, The Most Interesting Man in the World is a beer commercial. But we all know some interesting people. Imagine cramming them all into one room and talking to them. Now imagine doing it on stage. Comedian James Bewley must have done that because his alter ego – aspiring entertainer and podcaster Dale Seever – is bringing some interesting people to the Hammer Museum in West LA for “Deep Night With Dale Seever”. Everyone's invited and it's free.

Just like a televised talk show, Bewley will perform a quick monologue, interview the guests and schmooze with the audience. But this will be live and in-person, so expect plenty of craziness. Dale is always ready to hop in and “make something happen” and cross-talk about his guests' unusual areas of expertise. “Everyone stays up on stage,” Bewley said. “I'm interested to see how people interact.” Bewley's guests include comedian Kate Berlant; composer Cyrus Ghahremani, whose music has been featured on Comedy Central and Cartoon Network; and Megan Rosenbloom, medical librarian and director of the aptly named “Death Salon”. “My interest is, obviously, characters,” Bewley said. “Kate does some pretty interesting characters. Megan has a lot of information about the character of death.” Bewley said he's thrilled to be back at the Hammer Museum, where he did a live taping of a podcast in January 2012. “It's always great to perform for friends and people who I haven't seen in a long time,” he said. “I'm also genuinely interested in what everybody's talking about. So this is going to be a fun show.” “Deep Night with Dale Seever” is going down on Tuesday, Feb. 16, at 7:30 p.m. For more information, including where to park, visit Hammer.ucla.edu.

AT HOME TONIGHT, SCORPIO

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
★★★★ You could wake up on the wrong side of the bed this morning. Try to become more goal-oriented and methodical. You will experience a New Moon today, which could promise a new beginning, if you so choose. Go for what you want. Tonight: Where your friends are.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
★★★ You could be angrier than you realize. If you are feeling triggered by many different situations, try to find out what is really bothering you. Ask yourself what the bottom-line issue is. Recognize that others are observing your behavior. Tonight: Burn the candle at both ends.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
★★★★ Focus your energy wisely. You could be cranky and difficult, or you could choose to be effective and busy. A new beginning will become possible through a foreigner or through taking in class; be willing to break a pattern. Tonight: Decide to approach situation differently.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
★★★★ A loved one knows how to push your buttons. Know when to say “enough.” You might not be able to make peace with this person, but that's OK. Maintain a sense of humor and relate to those who can be responsible. Tonight: A noteworthy chat with a dear friend or loved one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
★★★★★ Be smart and defer to a partner or loved one. Because you're so charming, others don't realize how controlling you can be. You might not even realize how controlling you are. Step back and look at what happens when you don't get your way. Tonight: Have a good time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
★★★★ All work and no play might not be a good combination. However, that could be what you have to do today. Are you frustrated or short-tempered with a loved one? If this is the case, you will want to take off for a change of scenery. Tonight: Don't push yourself too hard.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)
★★★★ Your playful side emerges, and you simply can't help yourself. You even might act as if there's no tomorrow. Be careful if this carefree attitude flows into your work or finances, as you could cause yourself an enormous problem. Tonight: Be naughty and nice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
★★★★ Mars in your sign adds a feistiness to your personality. If others scatter away from you, think about whether you've been a bit sharp or sarcastic. You might not have realized how difficult you've been, and you still may not realize it. Try to be nice. Tonight: At home.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
★★★★ You might not be sure what is triggering your anger, but you can reach out to a trusted friend for feedback. The sooner you can find out the source of your ailing mood, the sooner you will be able to resolve a lot of the craziness around you. Tonight: At your favorite haunt.

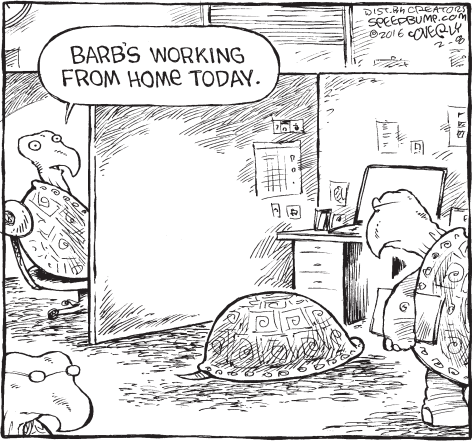

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
★★★ You know what you want, but somehow you have allowed your associates to veer you off course. You could have said “no,” but you didn't. Take responsibility for a financial problem that you likely have caused. Do not blame others. Tonight: Balance the checkbook and your budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
★★★★ You might wonder why a boss or older relative is directing his or her frustration at you. Know that this person might not even be aware of his or her behavior. The real issue will be how you deal with these outbursts, and if you can avoid triggering them. Tonight: Do your thing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
★★★ Use today for personal matters. Take time to touch base with someone at a distance. This person is always a source of helpful feedback and wisdom. Get down to brass tacks, and tackle a project that has been sitting on the back burner for a while. Tonight: Get some extra R and R.

This year you have the power of a New Moon on your birthday. New Moons are about new beginnings and unusual creativity. Another feature is an unusual amount of magnetism. People have a hard time saying “no” to you. If you are single, you will have many choices to make. Someone quite exotic could enter your life come fall 2016. Do not commit before then, if possible. If you are attached, the two of you enjoy being together and having intense conversations. Share more with your sweetie and become more involved in his or her life. A fellow AQUARIUS could be demanding.

Have You Been Injured in an Auto Accident?

If you believe that you or a family member are entitled to compensation for an injury, the best thing you can do is speak to an experienced personal injury attorney. You may be entitled to compensation for your injury including lost wages.

Find out how much your claim is worth right now!

Get immediate consultation 24/7. This a cost free, no obligation call.

Negligence and Auto Accidents

To have a valid car accident claim, you must first determine the negligent party or parties that caused the car crash. You may suspect that another driver, pedestrian, motorcyclist etc. acted carelessly, but cannot identify what traffic laws they violated. A skilled car accident attorney, however, can examine police reports and state traffic laws and speak to witnesses to determine who was at fault for your motor vehicle accident.

Tip: Act Quickly

If you seek legal advice, it's important that you do so as soon as possible after an accident. You're more likely to get the compensation due to you if your attorney is able to act quickly. Our state attorney's are available 24/7 to discuss your claim.

You get the windows, we pay the interest

The problems with poor-quality vinyl windows:

- Even through normal temperature changes, poor-quality vinyl windows and patio doors can expand, contract, warp and leak.
- If their seals break and the insulating gas escapes, your energy-efficiency goes out the window.

The solution is our Fibrex® window:

- We're the replacement window division of Andersen, and they developed our Fibrex material to meet their superior standards.
- Fibrex is two times stronger than vinyl and has the elegant look and feel of a wood window without the maintenance.*
- Fibrex is available in nine beautiful colors, and we have eleven gorgeous hardware styles.
