In a press conference held in the heart of Pacific Palisades an official announcement was made on Tuesday afternoon that phase two of the debris removal process on residential properties in the area was beginning.

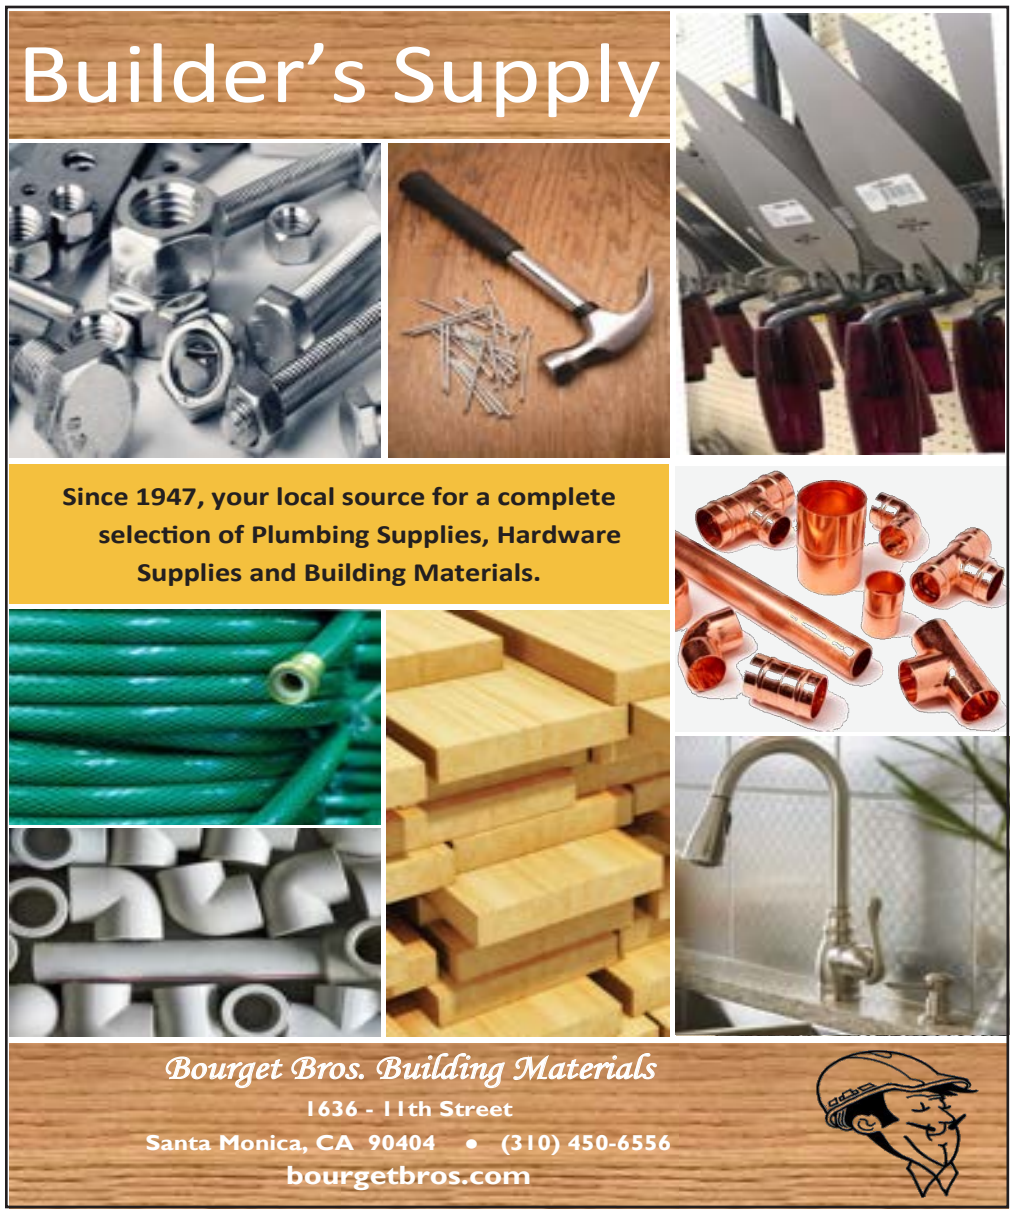

Flanked by a fleet of backhoes, mini-excavators and other earth-moving equipment Los Angeles County Supervisor Lindsey Horvath was joined by Los Angeles City Mayor Karen Bass together with state and federal leaders from the Governor's Office of Emergency Services, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the US Army Corps of Engineers.

"This is an amazing day to think that we are here just a few weeks after these fires were contained with the completion of the Household Hazardous Materials efforts for phase one and now to be able to begin phase two," said Nancy Ward, Director of the Governor's Office of Emergency Services.

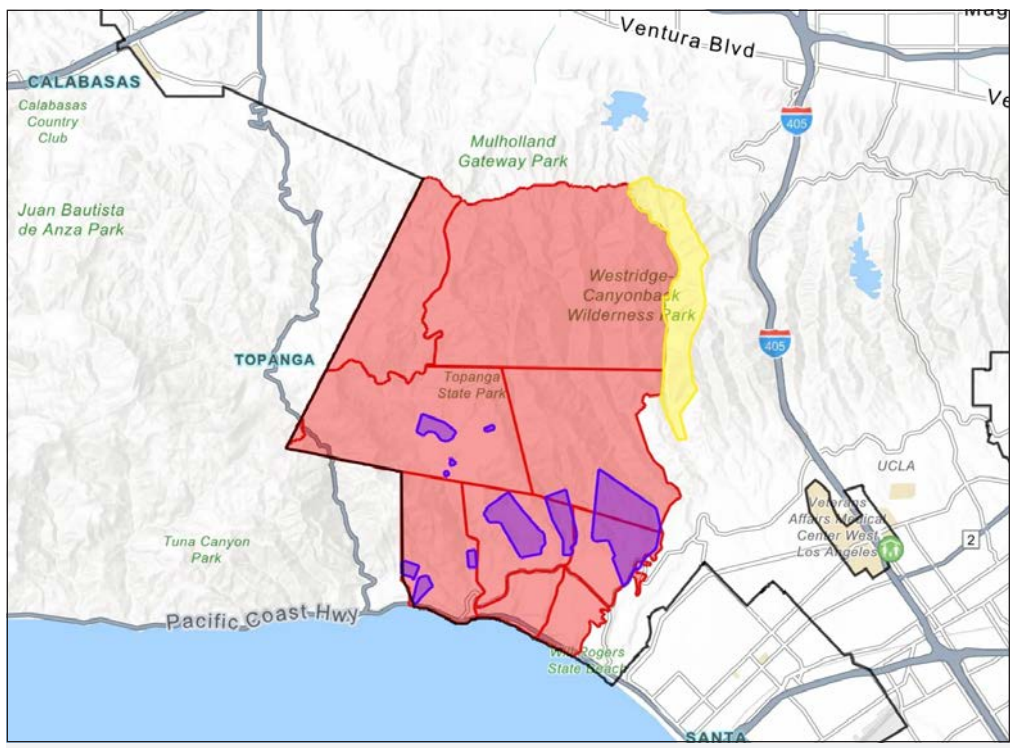

"My family and friends lost homes in the fires of 2017 in Northern California, so seeing the devastation here is catastrophic. It's remarkable, though, to see the unity that can be brought from scenarios like this and seeing

EVACUATION: Rain is causing concern after the recent fires.

Los Angeles officials are issuing preemptive evacuation warnings for residents living in the some areas burned by the Palisades Fire.

Evacuation Warnings and selected Orders for some areas inside burn zones will be in effect from 7 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 13 to 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 14, due to high mudslide and debris flow risk.

Officials said Wireless Emergency Alerts have been sent to targeted areas in and around where the Evacuation Warnings and Orders will be in effect. These areas have recently burned and are especially susceptible to heavy rain.

Evacuation Warnings will be in effect for specific locations within the Palisades, Mandeville Canyon, Sunset and Hurst burn scar areas. Details can be found in the map. Areas in red mark the boundaries of the fire zone with access limited to residents only. Purple areas inside those boundaries are under the new evacuation warnings as are yellow areas outside the burn perimeter.

According to Los Angeles officials, houses in the warning area with high risk will be visited by LAPD to issue specific evacuation orders. Beginning at 7 a.m. on Thursday and ending at 2 p.m. on Friday, the Palisades area will be limited to residents only. Contractors with existing passes will not be allowed entry and contractor access passes will not be distributed on Thursday or Friday.

Residents can also find their zone by searching for their address in the Genasys Protect website.

Angelenos should prepare for moderate rain Wednesday through Friday, with Thursday bringing the highest risk of heavy rain, flooding, debris flow and wind gusts.

Local weather updates provided by the National Weather Service can be found online at https://www.weather.gov/lox/.

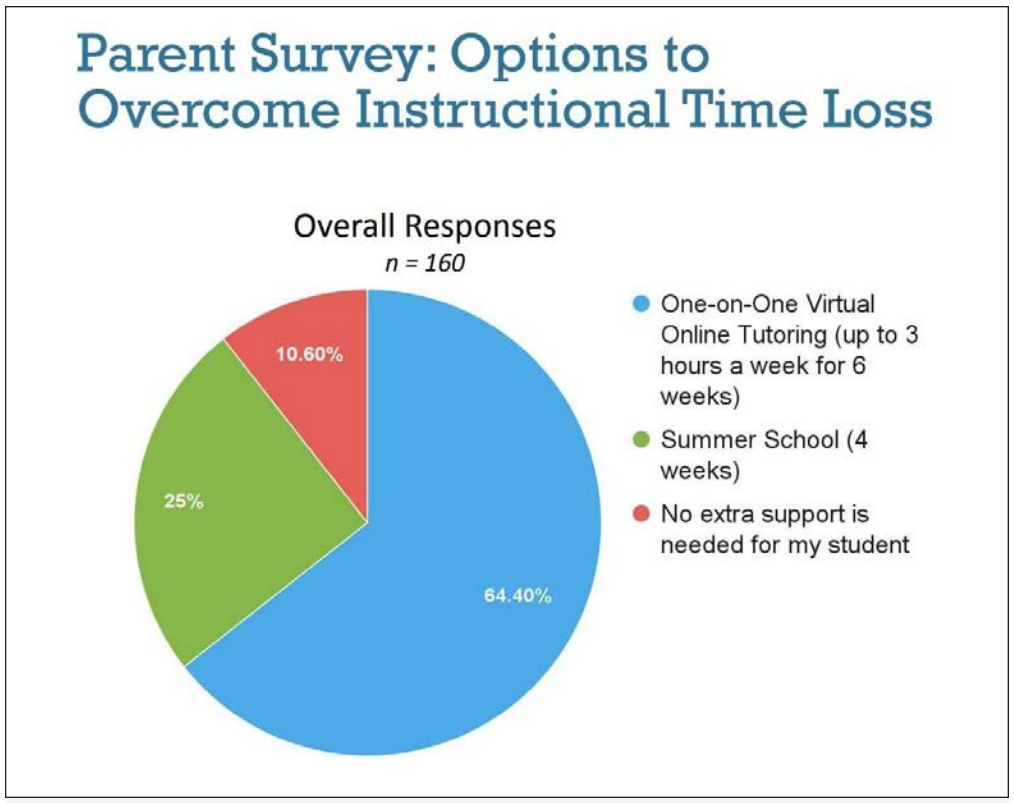

These alerts have been issued following announcements made by the National Weather Service regarding the upcoming heavy rain and windstorm, which will be the most significant storm system Los Angeles has seen this year. The City of Los Angeles announced preparedness measures the City is taking for heavy rain and winds – including the installation of more than 7,500 feet of concrete barriers and more than 6,500 sandbags throughout the Palisades.

Learning loss still top concern for Malibu families

LEARNING: Malibu parents recently made their voices heard on how to make up learning loss on their campuses.

THOMAS LEFFLER
SMDP Staff Writer

After Malibu students missed nearly all of January due to the Palisades Fire, Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District (SMMUSD) officials are figuring out how to rectify the lost instructional time.

Per a Jan. 14 executive order from Gov. Gavin Newsom, a minimum number of instructional days and minutes has been waived for schools that closed due to recent fires. However, SMMUSD has chosen to offer extra instructional options, responding to requests from Malibu community members.

SMMUSD Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services Dr. Stacy Williamson told the Board of Education Feb. 6 that staff understands the "unique needs" of the Malibu community and "are committed to providing additional support for the students." These support options are either online one-on-one tutoring, or a summer school session.

The tutoring can be for up to three hours per week for six weeks, starting on Feb. 17 and ending March 28. A prospective summer school session would be for 19 days between June 23 and July 18, going from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day.

SMMUSD staff sent out a parent survey to all four Malibu campuses on which of these options they preferred for their children, with a third choice being "no extra support is needed for my student." Out of 160 responses, 64.4% of parents preferred the online tutoring option, with 25% preferring summer school and 10.6% picking no extra support needed.

The survey splits were similar at each Malibu campus, with the exception of Webster Elementary School, in which all responses indicated that students need some sort of instructional makeup. The campus was particularly harmed by not only the Palisades Fire, but December's Franklin Fire as well which caused even more time outside the school walls.

Though these were the options posed, some Malibu residents inquired about a full-on addition of classroom time, with Advocates for Malibu Public Schools President Wade Major saying some families want a "more robust classroom environment" beyond tutoring and summer school.

"It's not about just ticking minutes off the clock, it's about actually getting the instruction in the subject matters in which (students are) enrolled … to be able to progress, as they were not able to progress normally during the school year," Major said.

Not only do current SMMUSD students need to make up for lost time, so do brand new district enrollees brought in from the blaze. As of Feb. 5, a total of 128 students have been enrolled into the district out of 322 total requests. The grades impacted the most through this process have been 9th Grade (24 new students), 10th Grade (18), 1st Grade (16) and 2nd Grade (12).

Displaced families have inquired for enrollment in three different ways: Becoming a new resident of Santa Monica via displacement (60 total enrollees), through the McKinney-Vento Homeless Assistance Act (47 enrollees) or through a recent Newsom executive order aimed at assisting displaced students (21 enrollees).

Through the fires and for future periods of learning loss, online resources have been offered to students through the district's Continuity of Learning Plan, which meets state requirements that will be implemented over the next two years.

The plan is merely an online resource with no direct teaching, however, the district and the Santa Monica-Malibu Classroom Teachers Association have collaborated on a Memorandum of Understanding to outline a plan for direct instruction during closures.

Surf report

WATER TEMP: 57.4

THURSDAY
POOR
SURF: Knee to thigh 1-2FT

Confidence is increasing we'll see fairly solid WNW swell build, although with onshore wind. Mid to long period and fairly solid surf looks increasingly likely. Could be chest-head for many breaks, potentially overhead at top spots. Unfortunately, it also looks like we'll have all day onshore wind and potentially heavy rain. We'll slowly work out the details in the coming days.

FRIDAY
POOR TO FAIR
SURF: Thigh to waist 2-3FT

Potential for a clean up day with plenty of swell leftover. Run of WNW swell that moves in on Friday still has plenty of legs if the current forecast holds. Models are in pretty good agreement on the storm setting up the swell and the likely return of favorable local conditions to start the weekend. Stay tuned - we'll see if the models can stay aligned through the next few days.

Weather

Thursday: Rain. High near 60. Breezy, with a south wind 10 to 15 mph increasing to 15 to 20 mph in the afternoon.
Thursday Night: Rain and possibly a thunderstorm before 4am, then showers and possibly a thunderstorm after 4am.
Friday: Showers, mainly before 10am, then a chance of rain after 4pm. High near 59. West wind 5 to 10 mph increasing to 10 to 15 mph in the afternoon.
Friday Night: A 30 percent chance of rain before 10pm. Partly cloudy, with a low around 47.

the community come together," said Cameron Hamilton, acting Administrator for FEMA.

"We at FEMA are committed to ensuring that every survivor here knows that they have our full commitment. You have our focus, and you will not be forgotten. President Trump's laid out a very aggressive agenda to ensure that all the resources necessary to allow this community to recover quickly and effectively can be achieved," Hamilton said.

"We want you to know that we stand with you. We grieve with you. We stand with you, and we're going to be there with you until everybody is able to return home. I am glad to stand here today to show you that when your government stands together, your government can work, every level of the government is here," Bass told the large crowd of reporters.

"To move quickly, to move efficiently, to move safely, has been our key and this is the quickest debris removal process in state history … We thank the EPA and the Army Corps of Engineers, who have been relentless in their commitment to making sure that we are cleaning up our neighborhoods and that we are making them safe for people to come back home.," Horvath said.

"As of today, we have more than 8000 forms which have been turned in and about 99% of them have opted into the Army Corps process, which means we can move swiftly in a coordinated fashion, thanks to the partnership of all of our residents who have opted into this process for the 1% those 131 individuals who have opted out, the county stands ready to issue permits," she said, adding that more information is available at recovery.lacounty.gov and that forms need to be submitted by March 31, 2025.

Speaking to the Daily Press, Colonel Eric Swenson from the US Army Corps of Engineers explained how they were tackling identical problems after fighting the tragic wildfire on the island of Maui in Hawaii just five months before the Palisades Fire.

"We were right off the heels of that and we've learned a lot of lessons as a result. The same contractor we had in Hawaii is our contractor that we have here. We have what's called the Advanced Contracting Initiative. So all of these contracts are pre-negotiated on five year agreements. So we already had a contract written. Think about it like having a lawyer on retainer. We have a contractor on retainer," Swenson said.

"So when a crisis happens, if we get called, we call our contractor and they are responsive to us. So they were already here almost the same time we were starting to plan and do their own analysis, knowing that the work would come to them. Consequently, we were able to shave a lot of time off. And then the President provided us with additional resources, which allowed the EPA to shave probably more like 60 days off their timeline … So it's a perfect storm of resources coming here, which is a good thing."

Regarding the imminent rain that's forecast for the area, Swenson said, "A light rain is absolutely our friend. That is the Lord providing us with a little bit of dust mitigation. But too much rain is not our friend. So that's why we have these best management practices all over here, these green sleeves with wood chips in them, and that is to slow the water down, catch the water, filter the water before it has a chance to get into the storm drains."

OPINION NOTEWORTHY

Charles Andrews | Send comments to editor@smdp.com

What a week!

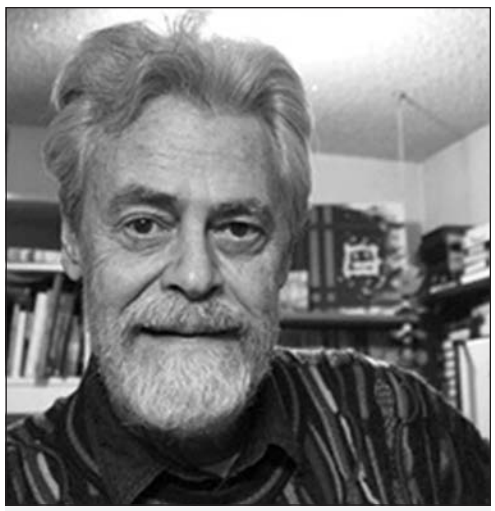

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED:

ROGER STEFFENS, "Poetry for People Who Hate Poetry" – A bit of a misnomer, but you get the idea. Name anyone – musician, actor, politician – and I would bet Steffens has led the most interesting life, from war-torn Viet Nam to Trenchtown JA to Marakesh: radio, TV, stage, film, actor, photographer, writer, lecturer, producer, poet, editor, publicist, musicologist, activist, archivist, ist ist ist and THE top authority on Bob Marley (if not reggae itself) and owner of the world's largest (mind blowing) Marley/Wailers memorabilia collection. Steffens first performed this one man poetry show 59 years ago, but updates it. He describes it as "poems old and new by e.e. cummings, Gregory Corso, locals like Long Beach laureate Gerry Locklin, and several newly discovered pieces – a wide-ranging, often very funny, repertoire." You will be very entertained, never forget his sonorous acting voice, and probably learn a few things too. Sat 7:30 p.m., Church In Ocean Park, Santa Monica, $20.

KURT ELLING, PETER ERSKINE, YELLOWJACKETS, music of WEATHER REPORT – What?! Sacrilege! Weather Report was a groundbreaking, music changing group in the '70s, and... they were instrumental. How dare vocalist Elling write words to those iconic songs? Um - with permission, of WR saxophonist and composer Wayne Shorter, his friend for many years, before he died two years ago. Elling (I'm a huge fan) said the saxophone sounds very much like a human voice, and he took the greatest care to write appropriate lyrics. The music of Weather Report was apparently confounding to even very respected drummers and percussionists because they ran through 14 of them, all lasting less than two years, before Erskine came along in 1978 and stayed four years, returning for '86-'87. Erskine would not be part of this project if he had any doubts about the legitimacy and value. Sat 8 p.m., The Soraya, Nothridge, $59-84.

HOT CLUB OF LOS ANGELES – You can go to the Cinema Bar any Monday night, 9-11:30, for more than a decade now, and hear these hot players run through Django Reinhart-style '30s jazz. This amazing ensemble is a treasure. Mon 9 p.m., Cinema Bar, Culver City, free.

Next Thurs - DUDAMEL Conducts MAHLER's Journey, LA PHIL – Fasten your emotional seatbelts, we're off on a month of Mahler, from perhaps his most passionate and skilled fundi today, our own Gustavo. You may as well camp out at Disney until March because he is leaving us with a curated cornucopia of bits and pieces, lieder and symphonies, that all flow together into a remarkable tribute to both Gs. Tonight he bookends Mahler's career with selections from his first and his final symphonies, then comes back with lieder from important German poets. Next Thurs 8 p.m., Walt Disney Concert Hall, LA, $20-200.

Courtesy Photo

POETRY MAN: Roger Steffens will be at the Church in Ocean Park on Saturday.

Next Thurs - CHUCHO VALDES, ARTURO SANDOVAL, IRAKERE 50 – Cuba has a long and rich musical history, but much like the innovation of Weather Report (above), Irakere changed the landscape in 1973 for all Afro-Cuban jazz to follow. Half a century later, two of the original members are reuniting the band for a landmark performance at The Soraya. Valdes can be an electrifying pianist, and Sandoval recently received the Kennedy Center Honors (the last year for a while it will be worth anything, since maven of the arts DJ Trumpf recently fired the board and appointed himself in charge. Next honorees: Kid Rock, The Rock, Kanye, Ted Nugent, WWF...) Sandoval can also blow your mind on trumpet, so this show should rock the rafters. Next Thurs 8 p.m, The Soraya, Northridge, $43-74.

RECOMMENDED:.

PAAVO JÄRVI, LA PHIL, RAVEL, BRAHMS/SCHOENBERG – I've caught Järvi a couple of times and I like his style, and I like this program. The Wall Street Journal says South Korean pianist Seong-Jin Cho is poised to join the ranks of the great ones, and he delivers Ravel's piano concerto with technique and emotion. Then Jarvi leads the LA Phil in Schoenberg's adaptation of a Brahms string quartet into orchestral mode, and that should be spellbinding and especially poignant now that so many of the former Brentwood resident Schoenberg's papers were destroyed in the fire. Next Thurs 8 p.m., Walt Disney Concert Hall, LA, $68-219. 2/13, 14, 15, 16

TOLEDO DIAMOND – His decades-long Sunday night residency at Santa Monica's Harvelle's, the oldest blues bar in LA (almost a century!), is a treasure that you shouldn't assume will always be there. Toledo choreographs (literally) a truly unique show, a blend of '50s hipster jazz and his dancing dames and a most modern smokin' hot band that gets better all the time. Every Sunday 9:30 p.m., Harvelle's, Santa Monica, $12

MAHLER Grooves Listening Party – Gustav Mahler has long been my numero uno, and although ignored for years after his death, he has long been very popular among Angelenos, who back in the '60s-'70s used to organize listening parties of recordings, in private homes – before Gustavo Dudamel brought his love of Mahler here, with so many performances over his tenure. That tenure is ending as we send him off to rescue poor culturally deprived New York (don't forget to thank us, please). This is a recreation of those days, at the gorgeous Paramour Estate, with commentary from film mavens who have mined his treasures. It's sold out, so why do I even mention it? So you might grab tickets to such rare events sooner, and not be disappointed. (Hint: watch this column.) Wed 7:30 p.m., Paramour Estate. Sold out.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Feb. 13)

A year featuring relationships with people who see and celebrate you "as is" - without you needing to do anything extra or shrink yourself. More highlights: Because you have a keen awareness of the finer details that make life more efficient and beautiful, you create harmony wherever you go. You'll parlay three small wins into one windfall. Leisure is lovelier than ever. Sagittarius and Pisces adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 40, 22, 15, 39 and 8.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21-April 19). When you don't think the other person is understanding you, keep in light and move along where you can be appreciated by people who resonate with the quirky joy, intelligence and other qualities you bring to the conversation.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Even as you grapple with the ache of unmet needs, that's not the whole picture. You can simultaneously affirm your value and vision for the future. That duality, the ability to feel the weight of everything while still moving forward, is rare and powerful.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There is still much to learn on the journey to becoming the person you want to be. The fact that you'll never know it all is not the least bit discouraging to you; rather it's a cue to go after your most compelling topics of interests.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Don't let someone's efforts at subtle persuasion box you into a decision. Stay alert to the power of your own autonomy. Another theme may emerge in the afternoon, and the answer is this: It's not silly or petty to want admiration or flirtation; it's human.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Like a rebel, you use the element of surprise. People are more alive when something exciting is happening, even if they don't completely approve of it in the moment. Their raised eyebrows delight you. It's fun to give them something to talk about.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You'll channel your pain and strength into something that resonates on a larger scale. It feels like a calling - a way of alchemizing your experience into something transformative not just for you, but for others, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Stay focused on growing your network and developing your projects. You'll soon hit on what truly excites you while also fostering new connections with people who see and appreciate you for all that you are, not just what you can offer them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). There's no way to know where the half-point of a journey is unless you also know where the beginning and end are. In any regard, don't quit now, because you're much further along than you think.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You have nothing to prove. When someone seems to demand a performance from you, to recognize that the interaction is optional might be all that's needed to inspire you to redirect your energy into things that bring you joy and fulfillment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You're expanding your skills, and training will be available in many forms: formal, informal, in books or in person. You'll have the luxury of choice. Experiment boldly, and you'll not only learn faster but also uncover your unique approach.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You have dreams of comfort and security and the luxury of time to savor life's pleasures and invest in your own growth. These aren't just fantasies; they're signposts pointing toward the kind of life you deserve and are working to create.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Instead of trying to replace "bad" with "good," resolve to see everything as its own particular mixed bag. This approach inspires practicality, creativity, and ultimately the trust and loyalty of all who see you operate.
