

Santa Monica backs court decision to suspend Trump travel ban

BY MATTHEW HALL
Daily Press Editor

Santa Monica has joined a long list of cities that oppose President Trump's travel ban.

Municipalities nationwide including New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Minneapolis, and Skokie, Illinois, are urging a federal judge to continue blocking President Donald Trump's travel ban. Santa Monica formally joined that list at the Feb. 14 council meeting.

The Council action puts the city on the record in two cases, both of which focus on the same issue.

The State of Washington filed a lawsuit to block the President's ban on travelers from predominantly Muslim countries and that case made recent headlines when the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals temporarily halted the ban. A second case, Darweesh v. Trump, was filed by the ACLU and other organizations on behalf of two men who were detained at John F. Kennedy International Airport after the ban was first announced.

"The city of Santa Monica has been asked if it would participate in the filing of amicus briefs, that is, briefs in support of the state of Washington and support of the plaintiffs in Darweesh and it is recommended that the council allow the City Attorney's Office to participate in that," said Interim City Attorney Joseph Lawrence.

Commissioner: condo project "canary in the coal mine" for rent control

BY KATE CAGLE
Daily Press Staff Writer

It's hard to think of a better place to live in Santa Monica.

In a shaded neighborhood just one block between the beach to the west and Santa Monica's Community Garden to the east, the rent controlled tenants at 122 Strand Street quietly took buy-outs and moved out over the last few years.

The new owners of the parcel are now moving forward with plans to demolish the four apartments and replace them with three condominiums that will likely sell for millions of dollars.

"It is something that should be a red flag across the city," Commissioner Richard McKinnon said before the Planning Commission approved plans for the project Wednesday night.

McKinnon is concerned that the escalating cost of land in Santa Monica is putting pressure on rent-controlled buildings that have endured for decades. In the example on Strand, the new owners, Texas-based MAV Partners, LLC, purchased the 1950's building for $2.3 million. Even after construction costs, when they are finished the high-priced beach condominiums will likely produce a tidy profit for MAV in McKinnon's view.

"This is not a cyclical thing," McKinnon said. "This is something here to stay. Santa Monica only has a certain amount of land going forward and this may be the canary in the coal mine."

Along with McKinnon,

Downtown Louise Gabriel's daughter assumes interim leadership role at Santa Monica History Museum

The Santa Monica History Museum is saddened by the passing of its Founder, President, and CEO Louise Gabriel. Gabriel was a member of the Historical Activities Committee of the Santa Monica Centennial Celebration in 1975 which led to the establishment of the Santa Monica Historical Society. Gabriel was one of the founders and incorporators of the Santa Monica Historical Society. As the collections of the Historical Society grew Louise Gabriel, along with her late husband Bob Gabriel, endeavored to establish the Santa Monica Historical Society Museum to give the Historical Society a home to share the City's history with the public. Established in 1988, the Santa Monica Historical Society Museum is now known as the Santa Monica History Museum and flourishes in a state-of-the-art location on the main campus of the Santa Monica Public Library.

Louise Gabriel is the reason the Santa Monica History Museum exists today. It was her hard work and determination that lead to the donation of the first display cases and furniture needed to open the museum. As the museum grew, it was at her direction. Her vision and leadership allowed the museum to thrive and to become an important part of the community. "I will dearly miss Louise Gabriel, her passion for the city of Santa Monica and 'Keeping History Alive', her friendship, and leadership skills. I was honored to serve as Chair of the Museum's Board of Directors and as a current Board Member will continue to support her legacy," said Edward Guerboian, Santa Monica History Museum Board Member.

"My mother died peacefully surround by her beloved family," said Susan Gabriel Potter, Louise Gabriel's daughter and Santa Monica History Museum Board Member. "My mom was an extraordinary woman who lived her life to the fullest with great passion, humor, and love. She loved the community she lived in and gave back in the most generous ways.

She is an inspiration to so many and has left a tremendous legacy. The founding of the Santa Monica History Museum was to her one of her greatest accomplishments and what she was most proud of. The Santa Monica community having their own museum to preserve our own history for generations to come. There will never be another 'Louise Gabriel'. I was so blessed to have called her my mother," continued Gabriel Potter.

Louise Gabriel is survived by her children, Susan Gabriel Potter, Robb Gabriel, and Sharyl Gabriel Szydluk; grandchildren Patrick Potter, Bryan Potter, and Michael Szydluk; two sisters Josephine Van Buren and Elaine Bruner; sons-in-law Pat Potter and Joseph Szydluk; and many nieces and nephews. Her family has requested that in lieu of flowers donations be made in Louise Gabriel's honor to the Santa Monica History Museum, 1350 7th Street, Santa Monica, CA 90401.

In accordance with the Santa Monica History Museum's succession plan, Susan Gabriel Potter has been elected by the Board of Directors as the Museum's Interim President. Gabriel Potter will assume the duties of her late mother and lead the Museum through this time of transition. "My mother will always be my guiding light," said Susan Gabriel Potter "and I am proud to keep her legacy and this museum moving forward to preserve and promote our community's history."

Before her passing Louise Gabriel, as President and CEO, had overseen the development of exciting plans for the Santa Monica History Museum in 2017. These plans include the continuation of the Museum's popular free Discover the History lecture series and monthly free Hands on History children's workshops. The Museum also has plans for four special exhibitions in addition to its permanent exhibit about the history of Santa Monica. These special exhibits will highlight the history of Girl Scouts, Shirley Temple, the KCRW radio station, and the Tongva Gabrielino Native Americans. "I know nothing would have made my mother prouder than working to keep our history alive," added Gabriel Potter, "and I feel honored and privileged to be carrying on her life's work by leading the Santa Monica History Museum."

For more information about these and other Museum events, activities, and exhibits please call (310) 395-2290 or visit www.santamonicahistory.org.

Intermittent Signal Outage at Montana Avenue & 7th Street

The traffic signal at Montana Avenue at 7th Street is experiencing intermittent outages. It unpredictably transitions from regular operation to red flashing light, four-way stop operation. The signal has reached the end of its life after constant operation for the last 40 years. A new signal has been ordered and is expected to arrive in April 2017 or sooner.

In the meantime, officials need the community's help in reducing the risk that comes from a malfunctioning signal. They are asking that the motoring public, pedestrians, and bicyclists proceed with heightened awareness and caution through the intersection at Montana Avenue and 7th Street. Temporary signs are being affixed to the signal post to alert residents to caution residents.

Pepperdine University presents Don Giovanni

The Pepperdine University Flora L. Thornton Opera Program presents Mozart's masterpiece, Don Giovanni, sung in the original Italian, with English supertitles, at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday and Saturday, February 23 and 25, at Smothers Theatre on Pepperdine's Malibu campus.

Tickets, priced at $20 for the public, $10 for Pepperdine students, and $16 for Pepperdine faculty and staff, are available now by calling the Pepperdine Center for the Arts Box Office at (310) 506-4522 or online at: <http://arts.pepperdine.edu/>

Henry Price, professor of music at Pepperdine University, directs the student cast, with Tony Cason conducting the Pepperdine University Orchestra.

Seduction, murder, and retribution propel Don Giovanni. In this reimagined production, the events of the story begin as Grammy Award nominees are gathering at the Beverly Hilton hotel in Los Angeles, 1999. Don Giovanni, a young, arrogant, and promiscuous rock star, outrages the other musicians, their assistants, and hotel staff until he encounters something he cannot kill, beat up, dodge, or outwit: his own demons.

"Abuse of power is a theme that Mozart and Da Ponte addressed in their first collaboration, The Marriage of Figaro, just two years before the Don Giovanni premiere," says Professor Price. "Updating our production to modern times has brought a sense of immediacy to our young cast. I'm sure this will be readily apparent to our audience as well."

Pepperdine students from the cast of Don Giovanni were awarded first place in the Opera Division I category of the National Opera Association's Collegiate Opera Scenes Competition at the annual national convention held in Santa Barbara on Jan. 5, 2017 where they presented a scene from the show. The cast at the convention included Fernando Grimaldo, Preston Hereford, Hailey Hoffman, Natalie Leonard, Alexander Papandrea, Michelle Pina, Angelo Silva, Matthew Soibelman, and Turner Staton.

"I was unbelievably proud of them the whole time," says Professor Price. "They're so exuberant, charming, and humble. They are great students, and I think they were the hit of the whole conference because everybody liked them so much both in their performance and personally."

Price was additionally presented with the National Opera Association's "Lifetime Achievement Award" at the annual convention on Saturday, January 7.

Pepperdine alumni now populate the rosters of many of the country's finest opera houses, including Los Angeles Opera, San Francisco Opera, and the Metropolitan Opera in New York. Jake Shideler, a 2010 Seaver College graduate, is now Manager of Artistic Operations at LA Opera and 2002 graduate Brian Speck is head of the Houston Grand Opera Studio.

A generous gift from the late Flora L. Thornton has enabled the University to enhance considerably the quality of its opera productions, its summer European opera studies workshops in Heidelberg, and its arts outreach programs. Recent productions include Die Fledermaus, Little Women, The Bartered Bride, The Marriage of Figaro, La boheme, L'elisir d'amore, The Merry Widow, and Cosi fan tutte.

BAN

New York City's chief lawyer Zachary Carter filed papers Friday in federal court in Brooklyn on behalf of nearly three dozen cities. Carter and Senior Counsel Susan Greenberg say in the filing that the ban damages the economies and cultures of the cities. They say it harms efforts to keep cities safe, including against terrorists.

The White House has said the order is necessary to protect against terrorism.

In a press release sent out on behalf of the Darweesh case, attorneys have argued there would be significant costs for cities' economies and the livelihood of immigrant families if the hold on the President's Executive Orders were to be lifted. The release said immigrants are a significant part of the local work force with more than 960,000 immigrants employed in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles City Attorney Mike Feuer said L.A. was to protecting its residents.

"Los Angeles continues to be at the forefront in the battle to uphold the basic constitutional values that protect all our residents," said Feuer. "I'm proud our office is standing up for fundamental rights with this broad coalition of cities. We offer a unique and significant perspective in support of the Court's injunction."

Feuer said he would remain vigilant against a new order and that agencies should continue blocking the current ban.

"Los Angeles is at the forefront of a movement to defend American values and support immigrant communities," said Mayor Eric Garcetti in a statement. "I thank City Attorney Feuer for his leadership, and stand committed to doing everything in my power to make sure that all Angelenos' rights are respected and upheld."

The papers were submitted in advance of a Tuesday hearing.

The Santa Monica Council's decision to back both cases was unanimous.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Commissioners Jennifer Kennedy and Amy Anderson urged City staff to look into potential policy decisions that could curb the conversion of rent controlled buildings to condominiums. Over the years, the Ellis Act has effectively tied the hands of City leaders.

To the three commissioners, losing those four apartments will mean lasting demographic change in the neighborhood as renters lose another foothold in Santa Monica. City staff conceded it is a phenomenon they have noticed and attributed the market pressures to the strong economy.

A spokesman for MAV assured the commissioners the tenants in this case had not been living there for a long time, and were paying market rate to rent the space.

Still, McKinnon remained frustrated.

"This concerns me enormously and we don't seem to have any tools here," McKinnon said. "There's nothing we can do here."

"There's obviously a lot of money to be made," Commissioner Leslie Lambert said of the ongoing trend to demolish rent-controlled housing to build condominiums. She added the only way to "take the pressure off the neighborhoods" is to build high density housing elsewhere in Santa Monica.

"We've argued that until we're blue in the face but I think that is the most affirmative step we could take," Lambert said.

Lambert then made a motion to approve the application for the condominium construction. All seven commissioners proceeded to vote "yes" and approve the new project.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Feb. 20)

Your excitement builds through the next 10 weeks as you realize that you can absolutely be the person you want to be. The guides begin to show up at the end of March. You'll need to invest when May comes around and again in August. Seemingly unrelated areas of life will support one another. Capricorn and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 7, 22, 48 and 33.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You'll be reminded that everything in life is a trade-off. Nothing comes from nothing. Each result has origins. Assuming that you won't be able to have it all, what will you trade for the result you want?

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Healthy habits help you find balance so you can do your best and be your best. But when you're trying to establish those habits, improvement may feel very far away. A Pisces will help you have faith.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)
Today life is a maintenance project. To invite future good fortune, get the oil change, buy a new air filter for the home or give some flowers to your beloved.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)
You will be entranced by someone's quirks today. Like Elizabeth Bennet in Jane Austen's "Pride and Prejudice," you'll find that "intricate characters are the most amusing."

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
It's the recurring theme of the week: Patience is power. You want it now, but it's going to happen later -- and only if you commit to doing something each day toward the goal (and then keep that commitment).

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Today's happening is something akin to going to a party and after a long while finally stumbling upon the most interesting person in the room, the unassuming one standing in the corner for most of the time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Living life in the moment can lead to being joyous. However, you'll often find this much easier when the moment is something you projected, planned and endeavored to make happen.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)
The thing you forgot about will soon catch up with you. Therefore, don't worry about racking your brain to remember everything you're supposed to do. When it's really important, it will show itself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Move forward. Go with enthusiasm. If it feels fake, keep acting it out until you can wear it more comfortably. Today the excellent attitude is required. If you don't bring it, you might as well stay home.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Friction polishes the gem. Even so, you've had enough friction lately. You're ready to step back from it for a moment; you're ready to temper these character-building trials with a little perspective and self-care.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
In order to be totally effective, you need more facts and you need more truth. In other words, don't let lies and misinformation keep you from achieving all the success you desire.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
It's too easy to pass the blame, and also it takes too long. It doesn't matter that it's not your fault. Soon after you take charge and fix it, miraculous good luck will befall you.

Moon of More

Overwhelmed? The Sagittarius moon suggests that the cure is to add a big responsibility to the mix. Seem counterintuitive? It actually makes perfect sense. We become overwhelmed when minor responsibilities vie for our attention. Add something more important and things prioritize themselves, with the low priorities falling away.

WELL NEWS BY SCOTT LALEE

Stories for the Waiting Room
■ Fans of the TV quiz show “Jeopardy!” may already know Cindy Stowell’s story. The 41-year-old Texas woman played the game show in August, taping seven episodes that aired in late December.
■ Apart from obviously knowing a lot, what Stowell knew that viewers did not was that she had been diagnosed with Stage 4 colon cancer. She had a six-month prognosis. At the time of the tapings, she was fighting a blood infection, but being on “Jeopardy!” was a dream of hers.
■ Stowell won $105,803. She donated it to cancer-related groups. She died December 5, 2016.
