Malibu protects mountain lions and local environment with stricter pesticide rules

CLARA HARTER
SMDP Staff Writer

Coastal Commission granted approval for the City of Malibu to expand its regulations on pesticides with a focus on limiting the use of rodenticides that have wreaked environmental damage locally.

The updated land use policy strengthens Malibu's existing restrictions by expanding the areas where they apply, explicitly banning rodenticides, and promoting non-chemical methods for dealing with invasive species.

The motion passed with minor amendments suggested by the Commission, creating one of the strictest pesticide restriction programs in the State.

This impetus for this regulation change came from rising awareness on the dangers that anticoagulant rodenticides pose to local wildlife including coyotes, bobcats, mountain lions, and foxes.

In the Santa Monica Mountain area, US National Park Services recently documented six mountain lion deaths due to internal bleeding caused by rodenticides. Larger predators are at a higher risk from these poisonous compounds as they bioaccumulate up the food chain.

Other pesticides and herbicides used on wetland habitats can result in the loss of native vegetation and have adverse impacts on water quality. Insecticides that target mosquito larvae can destroy food sources for native amphibians, reptiles, fish and birds. Additionally, Neonicotinoid-based insecticides can make plants toxic to bees and limit their ability to pollinate.

Under Malibu's updated policy no development can use pesticides, herbicides, or insecticides, if it has the potential to degrade Environmentally Sensitive Habitat Areas, or coastal water quality or harm wildlife.

These chemicals can be used for habitat restoration or dealing with invasive species, but only when non-chemical methods have been deemed unfeasible. Even if permitted, these chemicals cannot be used during winter, within a week of predicted rain, or when wind is above 5mph.

The motion was met by a groundswell of support from community members and environmental groups.

"I was poisoned by pesticides and had to move from my home and my life was turned upside down, so this issue is really important and I'm so overwhelmed with gratitude to the Coastal Commission and to everyone here," said Suzanne Hume, founder of Clean Earth For Kids.

Nonprofit organization Poison Free Malibu was one of the groups behind the policy change and has been working on the initiative since 2014.

"Thank you very much for supporting this very important amendment to protect wildlife, pets, children, our oceans and our entire ecosystem," said Co-founder Kian Schulman. "Pesticides are in the air that we breathe, the water that we drink and the food that we eat. Animals are still dying right here in our own backyards."

Coastal Commissioner Catherine Rice called for the regulation change to be accompanied by an education campaign to ensure people are aware of and abiding by the restrictions.

"Outreach to the general public is absolutely essential as we know that the bulk of pesticides, herbicides or pesticides are used by the general public, not by public agencies," said Rice.

Commissioner Mark Gold asked if it would be possible for the City of Malibu to provide a three year report on the impact of the policy, adding that there is very little data on the results of previous similar restrictions. Adrian Fernandez, principal planner for the City of Malibu, said the City would look into this.

City Manager selection process begins

BRENNON DIXSON
SMDP Staff Writer

City Council finished its first round of interviews for Santa Monica's next city manager this weekend, meaning the search for the city's first permanent manager since Rick Cole resigned in April 2020 could soon be completed.

Council conducted interviews throughout Friday and Saturday, according to a public notice posted on the Council's agenda. They were held in closed session so little information is available on who the leading candidates are since city leaders have remained mum on the matter in an effort to retain the search's integrity.

Dilg, who took the reins as Interim City Manager in April 2020, announced her intention to leave the city back in December as her family relocates to pursue other public service ventures. A few months later, Santa Monica City Council unanimously directed staff to retain Lamont Ewell (who managed Santa Monica until 2009) of Ralph Andersen & Associates to search for a replacement.

Councilmember Gleam Davis, who joined Mayor Sue Himmelrich and Councilmember Oscar de la Torre on an ad-hoc committee tasked with hiring a search firm, clarified that Ewell will not be responsible for hiring a city manager; instead, he will recommend a short list of candidates who will be interviewed by the Council before a selection is made.

Survivor's Fund helps first responders far and wide

CHARITY: Local police officers are raising money to support the families of fallen officers.

BRENNON DIXSON
SMDP Staff Writer

National Police Week has closed, but local officers are hoping residents will continue showing support for first responders who have given their lives throughout the state.

The Santa Monica Police Officers Association's Charity Fund, also known as the Survivor's Fund, was created after the death of Santa Monica Police Department Officer Ricardo Crocker, who died while on active duty in Iraq in 2005.

"We didn't have the means or the ways to assist his family with his funeral expenses," Sgt. Chad Goodwin said in an interview this week. "And since he was from Puerto Rico, there was a lot of trying to get family here and a question of was it legal or okay for the police department to do it all within like a gift and all these tax purposes and things that we have to abide by within the union that made it difficult.

With so many hoops to jump through, Goodwin said SMPOA figured it best to create the charity fund so if anything happened in the future, officers could receive a lump sum of money that could be spent on anything family members needed to get by.

Following the deaths of two officers this week in San Luis Obispo and Stockton, the Survivor Fund has helped a little more than half a dozen officers throughout California. Last year, it made nearly 20 payments to US Customs & Border Protection agents, sheriff's deputies and others who had their watch end.

"We've given them $1,000 each. That's what we're setting now but as the charity grows and our bank account gets bigger, we want to ultimately increase what we give," Goodwin said. "The main purpose of that is because, well there's several reasons; we don't know everyone's financial situation — if they're without life insurance or what their personal finances are life, so this money is to just help with immediate expenses that come along with what occurs at the time of death like funeral expenses, medical

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (MAY 17)

Wisdom's heartbeat commands the rhythm of your solar year. There is magic in the pauses. Your restraint (somehow at once judicious and natural) will have you moving strategically and with purpose, your goals ever in mind. You'll alternate between going out on a limb and returning to the roots that stand you in good stead. Libra and Scorpio adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 30, 50, 2, 21 and 17.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Try not to get too caught up in how important a job is. Commit to the work, whatever it may be, as though the harmony of the universe depends on it. It just might.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The right mindset helps you cruise unimpeded by the worries or doubts of underconfidence and overthinking. It takes time and experimentation, but it's well worth it to learn how to conjure that mindset on command.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Lately, your feelings are often suspended as you wait to see what goes well and what blows up spectacularly. Every outcome is a sign that you're doing what you're supposed to be doing at this stage: testing it all out.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). As you find yourself actually enjoying the same process that others meet with dread, you prove a point about the power of interpretation. Cultivate this and you have the world in the palm of your hand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). There is no reasoning with what was born outside of reason's realm. Much falls into the category, including every animal and infant, and every fear or impulse that comes from the animal and infantile parts of the brain.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). While the newbies may be wise to aim for incremental, reachable goals, the pros, who long ago separated their self-worth from the task at hand, will set the bar impossibly high and expect to fail gloriously and often.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). The untapped resources around you are so plentiful there's no time to tap them all. Where to start? You can afford to be a little selfish about it right now. Your preferences and interests are as worthy of serving as anyone's.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You keep finding new ways to be useful. You'll figure out how you can create convenience, relieve pain and solve the problem. Your efforts are only successful when they give you ease, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Though the only way to really know if something will work for you is to try it, there are many things that are not worth the risk. Today, your educated guess will steer you very accurately.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You don't need all good examples around you as the inspiration for living right. In fact, it is the bad examples that can be the most motivating of all. You'll be shown an array of models, both aspirational and cautionary.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Should you dive in or dip a toe in? Much depends on the number of people in the pool. Your strategy will be determined by what others are doing and how many are doing it.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Whether you sit in the sun or the shade is a personal choice, though it's dictated by things beyond your control. Metaphorically, your skin is sensitive and protection is required to avoid getting burned.

COUNCIL

Himmelrich highlighted Ralph Andersen & Associates' rigorous background checking capacities and the firm's broad network within the state when stating why she felt the firm was the best fit. Dilg shared that she wasn't exactly sure how long it would take to find a replacement but she did believe the process should be deliberate and thoughtful.

"When looking for a city manager, I think that we want a city manager for the long-term and we want that person to provide excellence for the community and continuity," she said.

Councilmember Kevin McKeown agreed in a February interview and reiterated the point this week.

"We want someone who can understand Santa Monica's unique characteristics and needs," he said. "Clearly, our new city manager will be tasked with bringing us back from COVID and its economic struggles as a reinvented community, but at the same time, we want a refreshed and recognizable Santa Monica, not losing our historic identity."

POLICE CHIEF SEARCH

In addition to the ongoing search for a City Manager, Ralph Andersen & Associates has also been tasked with conducting the executive search for Santa Monica next Police Chief, and lead consultants Greg Nelson and Bryan Noblett intend to hold a community listening session from 6-7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 20 in an effort to receive feedback that will help inform the selection process.

The 90-minute conversation will center around three questions: What are the most important characteristics Chief candidates should possess; what do you believe are the top challenges and opportunities for Santa Monica's next Police Chief; and what qualities about Santa Monica do you believe would attract top candidates?

Residents can now register by visiting bit.ly/3boF0hN.

"A key component of the recruitment is to understand the community's perspective on this key leadership position," the page states.

expenses or just paying your rent, mortgage and light bill."

Federal or state benefits can oftentimes those things take three months to a year to come in, if not longer, Goodwin said. "So, this money we give is to try to bridge that gap and help pay expenses that come along with these types of incidents."

When Officer Rashad Riley died in 2019, the charity donated $25,000 to his family. Fellow Officer Derek David Morton received a smaller donation back in 2010 when he died of cancer.

"Because the charity was much smaller then. But as the funds have grown, we have increased the benefits," Goodwin said, "and we want to keep increasing the benefit because we want to be able to give as much as we can to our own people as well as officers outside our own agency. But we have to have a cushion in the bank in the event of some major incident… We can have something major like a terrorist attack, mass shooting or who knows what can happen, and five (officers) could die at one time. We have to have money in reserve in case of a major incident like that."

Most donations from outside of the police department are completed through PayPal, which can be accessed through the Survivor's Fund website at smpoacharityfund.org.

"We also are trying to get 100% participation of our own police department and get all the officers to donate something out of their own paychecks, which most of them do. We got about an 85% compliance rate," Goodwin said. "We can't make them do it, obviously, but it's for their own benefit and their own brothers' and sisters' benefit so if you can donate five or 10 bucks a month — anything you can do."

And the same message rings true for local residents and businesses as well, Goodwin added. "We accept cash gift cards to your restaurant or products that we can auction, hotel stays or anything like that. We've accepted all different forms of donations from the community, which we've been used to generate money. Anything you can do is appreciated, and it'll be for a good cause, well, it's going to go towards charity."

Community Service in Santa Monica

A Rotary Day of Service

By Bill Chillingworth and John Bartlett

Two dozen big-hearted painters and planters from the Rotary Club of Santa Monica joined forces in March to add fresh colors to the walls and gardens of John Adams Middle School (JAMS). The Rotarians gathered early in the morning, rolled up their sleeves, grabbed rollers and shovels and went to work while they laughed, socialized, and rocked to a playlist of some pretty memorable '70's and '80's Rock 'N Roll music. The 24 volunteers made memories of their own so that the students of JAMS could be refreshed and invigorated upon returning to school after the long pandemic.

Special thanks to Rotarians Tom Woods and Drew Fleming who provided the paints and the painting equipment, and to Charlie Follette who provided the plants and the shovels, brooms, and rakes. They worked closely with our Rotary Day of Service Co-Chairs Iao Katagiri and Eric Schmitter to complete the work.

The entire project was spearheaded by Cindy Fitzgerald, parent volunteer and PTSA Executive Board Member in charge of beautification at JAMS. Principal Steve Richardson was over-the-moon thrilled with the results and the work of the Rotary volunteers. Cindy summed it up nicely by saying, "The timing for this project could not have been more ideal, as the kids are returning immediately. And, to see their school with fresh paint and plants, the students will know that they are loved."

Over 20 enthusiastic Santa Monica Rotarians took paintbrushes to brighten the John Adams Middle School campus last month.

At the end of the day, all Rotary Club of Santa Monica members gathered for a group high-five – covered head-to-toe in paint with broad smiles splashed across their faces.

Another example, as you can see on our website (rotaryclubofsantamonica.org) is our ability to mobilize problem solvers who are driven by a desire to strengthen communities. We find solutions to the tough challenges locally and take action.

Favorite Activities to Resume This Month

By Pat Webber

The old saying "the end is near" used to portend doom. In May of 2021, it means hope for a return to our new normal lives. The Santa Monica Bay Woman's Club (SMBWC) is open (as of May 3) for our members and guests for the Monday afternoon bridge and canasta tables.

The Artists League will also begin on Tuesday, May 4. Until restrictions are lifted, we will ask for confirmation of covid vaccinations and may also take temperatures upon arrival. Also, no food or drink will be served. Of course, with the state and county regulations being gradually lifted, all this may change in the next couple of weeks.

The Club will also be booking events again, although capacity limits may still be regulated, depending on the dates. Anyone wishing to inquire about renting for meetings, special events, wedding receptions, fundraisers, concerts, filming, or any other activity, please contact the office weekdays by phone at 310-395-1308, or email us at info@smbwc.org. Our office hours are Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., but you're encouraged to leave a message.

We have missed our member activities over these past 14 months. Besides the Monday card playing, our monthly Pass-the-Dish events will resume this month, as will our monthly Monday morning business meetings. Another activity that will resume, probably in September, is our wine and cheese get-together for members, new members, and potential new members.

Again, please contact us by phone or email if you are interested

Lions Welcomes New Members

By Linda Levee

We had a very successful regular Lions meeting by Zoom. But, the good news that we may hopefully be back at the Elks Club on Pico by the middle or end of June.

Just having a date to look forward to made everyone's hearts lighter. Our new president for this third of the year is Lion Kathy Boole. We welcomed her as our new president and thanked Lion King for his service in the first third of the year.

Our program was a short video from Feeding Families - Feeding Santa Monica. We decided as a club to help local families with feeding their children and themselves, as many lost their jobs or were laid off indefinitely. We found that this alone was cause for concern regarding feeding those who were on school programs for the past 14 months or longer.

It was an excellent presentation, and we asked the speaker about what might happen to the program, as people will be returning to work. We were delighted to find out that our donation fed 660 people locally. You can follow them on Instagram, Facebook, and other social media.

We are continuing the merger with the Pacific Palisades club and hope it will be finalized by the time we are again having our regular meetings.

The Santa Monica Lions have been serving this community since 1923. At one point, we were the largest service organization in Santa Monica. We have served our community well for almost 100 years. In order to continue with our programs, we need more members. Please contact me at levelheadedlinda@yahoo.com and someone will contact you with information regarding our Club.

Oops! My Dog Swallowed Ibuprofen Tablets

By Dr. Frank Lavac MS, DVM

Q: My Labrador Retriever swallowed two ibuprofen capsules (200 mg each), How concerned should I be?

A: I'm sorry to hear that, and I am concerned. Hopefully, you have contacted your nearest 24 hour veterinary emergency hospital for immediate advice. Another excellent resource is National Animal Poison Control at 888-426-2235, or online at www.aspca.org.

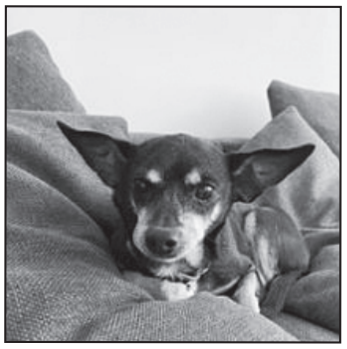

For a large lab, you may have been fortunate with the amount ingested, and this dose may not cause problems. All the NSAID analgesics have the possibility of causing vomiting, diarrhea, nausea, anorexia, gastric ulceration/perforations and abdominal pain. Ibuprofen can also cause kidney failure.

Ibuprofen intoxication, if promptly treated, has a favorable outcome. Treatments include using activated charcoal to neutralize the medication. Other therapies include using drugs to reduce the risk of ulcerations and intravenous fluid therapy.

I hope your dog is well. It's not uncommon for pet owners to drop their medications and have their pets ingest them.

Dr. Frank Lavac can be reached by calling 310-828-4587.

Old traditions are important, but more than that, we strive to develop new traditions and infuse the organization with new members and new ideas. However, our mission will always be the fellowship of women and service to the Santa Monica community.

Mar Vista: Neighbor to Neighbor

Be Sure to Vote Before June 8

By Tesi Treuenfels

Have you noticed new bus benches bearing the seal and charter of the Mar Vista Community Council (MVCC) around town? These have been provided free of charge by the bus bench ad company. The only cost has been the printing of the signs.

Speaking of the Mar Vista Community Council, elections are coming up. Voting is by mail only. You must go to the website to obtain a ballot, and your vote must be postmarked no later than June 8. Go to marvista.org for the full details.

You'll also find much interesting information about the goings-on in our fair city, which is actually part of Los Angeles. Mar Vista is the 70th annexation to Los Angeles, incorporated in 1927. That was the same year that "talkies" arrived, movies with sound. It was the same year as the opening of the Grauman's Chinese Theatre! It was the same year that Lindbergh flew his famous solo flight across the Atlantic. Only two years before that, our post office had opened.

In 1926, Mar Vista incorporated Barnes City. Barnes City extended south from Washington Boulevard to Jefferson Boulevard. Stretching from Sawtelle Boulevard and west to Lincoln Boulevard. It's a fascinating piece of local history.

More information about Barnes City in our next issue.

Tesi is an educator and a longtime Mar Vista resident.

Jokes About the City of Los Angeles

Laughter is good for all ages! It was fun to read some examples from LOL Jokes: Los Angeles to my friends. Topics of jokes include sports, animals, beach, food, and more. An example, "What did one L.A. earthquake say to the other?" The response: "It's not my fault." Another, "I don't think a big earthquake can happen." Response: "You're on shaky ground!" One more: "Which building in Los Angeles has the most stories? Answer: "The Los Angeles Public Library!"

Inspired by all the wonderful sights, sounds, and smells of the City of Angels, this local joke book delivers kid-friendly punchlines, hilarious jokes, puns with fascinating facts, goofy tidbits of local history, and engaging graphics.

Author Craig Yoe has written several kids joke books. He has been a creative director for Nickelodeon, Disney, and for Jim Henson at the Muppets. Raised in the Midwest,

Craig has lived in places from New York to California and has six kids.

Longtime Santa Monica Resident Dr. Avraham Perlmutter Featured in Award-Winning Docuentary "Determined"

The Los Angeles Jewish Film Festival hosted a special virtual screening of the multi-award-winning documentary, "Determined: The Story of Holocaust Survivor Avraham Perlmutter," in April to commemorate Holocaust Remembrance Day (Yom HaShoah).

A live Q&A (Question and Answer) session with the filmmaker and Avraham's daughter, Dr. Keren Perlmutter, and the film's composer, Steven Chesne, was also held via Zoom last month. A highlight of the Q&A was the participation of three descendants of the couple who helped to hide Avraham in the Netherlands. Renowned Holocaust scholar Dr. Michael Berenbaum moderated the Q&A. It was particularly meaningful to 93-year-old Avraham that the film was available to Los Angeles residents since he has lived in Santa Monica for many decades. Event partners included American Society for Yad Vashem, Holocaust Museum L.A., and Santa Monica-based Chabad North of Montana, among others. Wider distribution of the film, which received a fantastic response from its L.A. audience, is planned for later this year.

This inspirational documentary follows Avraham as he outwits the Nazis and overcomes every obstacle standing in his way. But more than just a remarkable story of survival, his tale is a testament to human kindness, even in the darkest of hours, and to the achievements made possible through relentless perseverance.

Avraham's daughter, Keren, explains why she was determined to make this film. "For the last several years, my father and I have jointly given talks to thousands of people at schools, museums, and other venues to share his inspirational life story. We have been so moved to see how audiences have responded to his story and messages about the importance of helping others in need, being determined to overcome obstacles to pursue one's dreams, and obtaining an education. We hope this documentary will enable his messages to inspire a wider audience."

The documentary, "Determined" will be screened later this year.

More information about the film, as well as the trailer, is available at www.determinedstory.com.

From Me to You...

By Diane Margolin

In this month's issue, we ran photos of some of the devoted mothers we know.

There is a story with each picture, and I wish we had the space to tell you more about these special women. Next month, we will run photos of dads with their children, so please send them to us at smstarnewspaper@gmail.com by May 15 for the June issue.

Have you noticed that since the pandemic, and maybe even before, that procedures that used to go fairly smoothly seem to have developed a glich that makes things a bit more complicated?

Happy May Birthdays to:

Ed Rich, Barbara Bishop, Lynn Gadal, Patti Braun, Evelyn Lauchenauer, Dick Thompson, Marlena Gordon, Maravic Hilario, Elyse Arbour, Eric Oxenberg, Michael Cates, Don Dickerson, Donn Umber, Jack Gregory, Dick Lawrence, Gia Mickey, Brian Linnekens, Jake Margolin, Savi Labensart, Steve Litvack, Jim Menzies, Bill Randle, Thomas Woods, Jane Wall Rainsford, and Cathryn Litvack Dhanatya.

It feels like everything is just off center a bit. Maybe it's the stress of dealing with all the changes in the past year. Many services, such as an insurance or phone company, or even credit card companies, have their employees working from home. When you make your call, you hear children laughing or dogs barking in the background.

I've spoken to people in New Hampshire, South Carolina, and Cleveland, to name a few places.

One friend told me she heard an ad where the voice said, "We understand that you may not have access to a computer. We do have phone numbers you can call to get information. To get these phone numbers, go online to our website," etc. We both laughed and thought how typical.

As we prepare for more businesses to open, remember to keep wearing a mask and to keep your distance when it is appropriate.

Wishing you all a wonderful spring this coming month.

Here's my mom, Dr. Edy Margolin, when she was a college professor.
