DTSM to host first ever Connect Day to promote homelessness resources

GRACE INEZ ADAMS
SMDP Staff Writer

As part of Downtown Santa Monica Inc. (DTSM)'s ongoing efforts to help address homelessness, the organization will hold its first ever DTSM Connect Day on June 15.

The event is intended to bring together local service providers in one location to share resources with people experiencing homelessness or at risk of becoming homeless and will take place from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at St. Monica's Catholic Church.

"It's kind of like a homeless resource fair for those who are looking for services," said DTSM Outreach Coordinator Donovan Wilkes. "Basically what we're trying to do is create an event that has a lot of different resources, a plethora of services, in one area so it becomes a one stop shop for folks who are looking to be connected to services."

More arrestees will stay local, or be released, under new zero-bail rules

MATTHEW HALL
SMDP Editor

Suspects arrested for low-level crimes in Santa Monica will likely be put back on the streets with a citation to appear following a recent ruling prohibiting bail for some suspects unless they've seen a judge.

California Superior Court Judge Lawrence P. Riff issued a preliminary injunction on May 19 prohibiting the County and City of Los Angeles from requiring cash bail for non-violent and non-serious offenses prior to an arraignment.

Under the current system, individuals arrested for such offenses must pay a preset amount of money to secure their release before their arraignment. The plaintiffs in the case argued that this practice disproportionately impacts those without financial means, potentially resulting in job loss and other penalties even if the charges are ultimately dismissed. They also highlighted the poor conditions and threat of violence in Los Angeles County jails for those unable to pay.

Santa Monica Animal Shelter to hold second fundraiser day of events and activities

Elizabeth Noble
FUNDRAISER: Animal Control Officer Taylor Schill and a cute kitten called Kevin.

SCOTT SNOWDEN
SMDP Staff Writer

The Santa Monica Animal Shelter will hold its second annual open house fundraiser this coming weekend on Saturday, June 3 to raise money to help cover the cost of veterinary care, medical attention and of course food for all of those hungry little mouths.

"Last year was such a success that we are holding the fundraiser again and are making it an annual event," says Elizabeth Noble, Chair, Santa Monica Animal Shelter Foundation.

During the event you'll be able to tour the facility and meet the animals waiting to be adopted. And if that doesn't tug at your heartstrings, then nothing will. For a teeny-tiny donation you could win some fantastic prizes in the raffle, including gift certificates and gift baskets from many local Santa Monica businesses. Alternatively, you could bid on some pretty special experiences in the silent auction, the top prizes include a ride on a Santa Monica Harbor Patrol rescue boat or an educational experience with the Santa Monica Police Forensics Department.

"To ensure that all donations help the animals, everything for the event has been donated. Event participants are generously donating their time and skills to help ensure that this is a successful fundraiser and a very fun day and all the items in our raffle/silent auction have also been generously donated," Noble says.

Other events and attractions include a live performance from School of Rock West LA house band, face painting by The Magical Atelier, balloon animal headbands from Wild About Balloons LA,

Don't Wait to Donate: Blood and Platelet Donors Needed Now Exclusive Red Cross Beach Towel for Coming to Give by May 31

The American Red Cross asks people to book a time to give blood or platelets now to address a recent drop in donation appointments that could lead to fewer transfusions for patients in the weeks ahead. Type O blood donors are especially needed to ensure a strong blood supply.

The start of summer can shake up normal routines, but it's important for donation appointments to stay on the calendar – especially as Memorial Day weekend approaches. More than 42 million Americans are expected to travel over the holiday, meaning fewer donors may be available to give.

Appointments are critical this week for people waiting for lifesaving care. Download the Red Cross Blood Donor App, visit RedCrossBlood.org or call 1-800-RED CROSS (1-800-733-2767) to schedule a time to give now.

In thanks for making and keeping appointments, the Red Cross will help donors prepare for beach days and backyard fun as the season begins:

All who come to give through May 31 will receive an exclusive Red Cross beach towel, while supplies last.*

Donors in May will also be automatically entered for a chance to win a trip for two to the 2023 MLB® All-Star Game® in Seattle, including two tickets to the 2023 MLB® All-Star Game® thanks to the support of Fanatics, round-trip airfare, four-night hotel accommodations, a $750 gift card and more.*

Those who come to give June 1-30 will receive a $10 gift card by email to a merchant of their choice. Plus, they'll also be automatically entered for a chance to win a backyard theater package including a projector and screen, projector tripod, smokeless firepit, Adirondack chair set and a movie night snack package.

SMC Concert Chorale, SMC Chamber Choir, and SMC Symphony Orchestra to Present Live Performance of "Beethoven & Hunchback" June 2

The Santa Monica College (SMC) Concert Chorale and SMC Chamber Choir join forces with the SMC Symphony Orchestra and guest soloists for "Beethoven & Hunchback." The ensembles will perform on Friday, June 2, at 7:30 p.m. in The Broad Stage at the SMC Performing Arts Center, 1310 11th Street (at Santa Monica Boulevard), Santa Monica.

Under the direction of Jeremiah Selvey — with pianists Gary Gray and Frank Basile, symphony director Mercedes Juan Musotto, concertmaster Andrea Sanderson, soprano Anna Schubert, mezzo-soprano Janelle DeStefano, tenor Joey Krumbein, and bass-baritone Chung Uk Lee — the concert will feature the Finale ("Ode to Joy") from Beethoven's 9th Symphony and Jake Runestad's "A Silence Haunts Me," a stunning modern setting of a letter in which Beethoven discloses his deafness to his brothers, even expressing the desire to end his life. The SMC Chamber Choir will also present excerpts from Disney's "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," with music by Alan Menken.

The performance will celebrate the powerful impact and influence of deaf people in the world and in history, and include American Sign Language (ASL) interpreters for the hearing impaired.

Funding for the ASL interpreter is provided by the SMC Associated Students.

Tickets are free at the door for students with ID; $10 for general admission (plus a modest service charge). Advance tickets may be purchased online at smc.edu/tickets or by calling 310-434-3005 (Monday-Friday; limited hours). Venice Family Clinic Shares Tips for Supporting LGBTQ+ Teens' Mental Health

With Pride Month bringing a renewed focus to the LGBTQ+ community and the complex challenges experienced by people with intersecting identities, Venice Family Clinic's behavioral health department provided the following tips for supporting the mental health of teens who identify as LGBTQ+.

"Studies have found teens who identify as LGBTQ+ are more likely to suffer from depression and to consider suicide than non-LGBTQ+ teens," said Iliniza (Nisa) Baty, Venice Family Clinic's director of behavioral health. "This is especially true in BIPOC communities, where many people are medically underserved and face substantial obstacles – including social stigma and language barriers – to getting the care they need. Teens who identify as transgender are also feeling the pressure of anti-transgender legislative efforts in other parts of the country. With the start of Pride Month just a few weeks away, we want to share some tips for helping LGBTQ+ teens and their families navigate the mental health challenges they may face."

> "Studies have found teens who identify as LGBTQ+ are more likely to suffer from depression and to consider suicide than non-LGBTQ+ teens
> - Iliniza (Nisa) Baty, Venice Family Clinic's director of behavioral health

1. Understand that self-care is not selfish: Practice self-care regularly. This can include proactive activities such as exercising, getting enough sleep, and continuing to do things that help you feel affirmed. It can also include consciously choosing how to react to stressful situations. Engaging in practices that challenge discrimination can elevate a sense hope. These activities can include watching and reading affirming movies and books, joining a support group, writing and creating artwork and learning more about role models in the LGBTQ+ community.

Mindfulness is especially important in preserving mental health during times of adversity. Remembering to take a breath when upset can help ensure a thoughtful response to the situation instead of an emotional reaction. Taking a breath reduces stress and anxiety by lowering blood pressure and improving oxygen levels. It also allows you to better manage your emotions and rely on logic rather than emotions to make decisions.

2. Stay curious and listen actively and without judgment: The people closest to us can be the best at helping us feel safe and connected. Parents and other family members can create an open and supportive environment by actively listening without being judgmental and by giving LGBTQ+ teens the space to express themselves, ask questions and share their feelings. It is important to show respect, awareness and a desire to learn about who someone is and what they are experiencing. Remaining open to new ideas and taking time to learn about different gender identities and sexual orientations will help parents and family members provide support and communicate with those they care about in a respectful and informed way. This will lead to better mental health outcomes for all involved.

3. Find and connect with a tribe: Fear of discussing mental health concerns is a major reason that LGBTQ+ teens don't access needed mental health care. Identifying a close group with shared interests and values can create a sense of safety and acceptance that is critical for improving mental health. Connecting with people who understand and can provide emotional support during difficult times – whether that be at home, school, a social club or somewhere else entirely – is critical to a sense of well-being.

4. Seek resources and identify safe spaces that support mental health: No one is alone on this journey. There are many resources available to help, including organizations such as Venice Family Clinic. The Clinic and its community partners offer a variety of resources for young adults and their families, including education and counseling, stress management groups, relationship-building workshops and a special support group for LGBTQ+ youth ages 12-21 called AFFIRM that validates and supports teens of all identities through affirmative cognitive-behavioral therapy.

"At Venice Family Clinic, we understand the unique challenges that LGBTQ+ youth may face, and we are committed to providing a safe, affirming and accessible space for all," says Baty. "By addressing mental health concerns and providing the necessary support, we can work together as a community to help young adults navigate their journey of self-discovery and lead fulfilling and healthy lives."

The City of Malibu Arts Commission invites all of Malibu to the free opening reception of City's next public art exhibition in the Malibu City Gallery, "Expressions," by Jane Seymour, Sunday, June 4, 12 p.m. - 1:30 p.m. at Malibu City Hall.

"I applaud the Malibu Arts Commission for continuing to find interesting, relevant artists and subject matter for the City's art exhibitions in the Malibu City Gallery. I hope everyone in Malibu can come and enjoy the exhibition."

The exhibition will be on display from May 22 to June 30, 2023 and is open Monday - Friday, 8 p.m. - 4 p.m.. The public opening reception will feature live music by "A Call 2Peace" and refreshments, and Jane Seymour will be on hand to discuss her work. RSVPs are not needed for this free event, or to visit the gallery.

"Expressions" by Jane Seymour showcases a variety of delicate watercolors, colorful, vibrant oil paintings, and fine art bronze sculptures. Jane began painting over three decades ago during a personal challenge. Her art became the expression of a private healing process from which she emerged as an accomplished, passionate painter.

Since 2000, Seymour has exhibited in numerous galleries and venues nationwide and in Canada and has accepted select private commissions. She has created set designs for the Houston Ballet and the Ft. Worth/Dallas Ballet, among other special projects. Additionally, Seymour's ever-growing collection of original artwork has been adapted to and continues to serve as inspiration for her various home and fashion designs. She is also a multiple Emmy and Golden Globe Award winner and recipient of the Officer of the British Empire (OBE) bestowed upon her by Queen Elizabeth II. She has proven her talents in virtually all media, the Broadway stage, motion pictures, and television.

"Last year he brought a wild eagle and it was incredible, really fascinating and wonderful to see such a majestic bird up close. One of the first questions I got this year was, 'is there going to be a bird presentation again?!', so we're thrilled and grateful to him for wanting to support us again this year."

All the info on the day and a list of the items in the raffle are on the shelter's website www.smasf.org/events they'll be adding to the list of raffle items, but there are already some fantastic ones listed.

The shelter is also waiving the adoption fees for dogs over the weekend because space is reaching its capacity. "There are so many gorgeous dogs who are waiting to be adopted, so we're stepping in and covering the adoption fees. We want to help each dog find the most wonderful forever home," says Noble. To adopt a dog or any of the available animals, you can call the Santa Monica Animal Shelter at: (310) 458-8595 to schedule an appointment.

The second annual Santa Monica Animal Shelter Open House Fundraiser is on Saturday, June 3, between 12-3 p.m. at the Santa Monica Animal Shelter, located at 1640 9th St. Santa Monica, 90404.

parts of Los Angeles and that it is a great way to spread the word about available resources and get people connected to services.

"While Santa Monica does have a good amount of resources inside the area, not everyone is always aware of the resources in the area so by creating a one stop shop, people who may be going there to seek, for example, hygiene, may or may not know about the People Concern and all that they do, or they may not know about Venice Family Clinic."

In addition to the People Concern and the Venice Family Clinic other organizations that will have a presence at the event include the Department of Public Health, Safe Place for Youth (SPY), Veterans Affairs and West Coast Cares, among others. Wilkes said DTSM is still looking for other organizations who may be interested in joining.

Wilkes said that the City of Santa Monica's recent declaration of a state of emergency over homelessness and the results of the 2023 homeless count – which indicate that the number of people living on the streets or in makeshift shelters has increased by nearly 15% from the previous year to a total of 926 individuals – make the need to spread awareness of services and resources clear.

With homelessness a top concern of many in Santa Monica, he said this is an opportunity for people to educate themselves on the efforts to address the crisis and learn about ways to become part of the solution.

"By creating this event, it brings awareness and education to both the housed and the unhoused community and folks who are observing the trend and trying to figure out what they can do," Wilkes said. "It takes a community in order to combat homelessness, and really having people walk away with that knowledge of seeing the collaborative efforts happening here and understanding that it does take everybody – unhoused and housed – in order to combat homelessness."

He said DTSM is looking for volunteers to help staff the event and that individuals who are interested in volunteering, or organizations interested in participating, should contact him at dwilkes@blockbyblock.com.

BAIL

The judge considered whether the injunction would lead to increased crime rates or failures to appear in court. The plaintiffs presented evidence from expert witnesses and academic studies, indicating that secured money bail systems are associated with higher crime rates and failure to appear compared to non-financial conditions. The court found that the evidence suggested the current money bail system in Los Angeles County itself contributes to increased criminal activity.

The defendants argued that they are obligated to enforce the cash bail system established by the courts. However, the judge stated that it is not uncommon for lawsuits to target enforcers rather than creators of potentially unconstitutional laws.

The ruling provided a 60-day period for stakeholders to develop alternative options for pretrial detention, such as electronic monitoring or personal promises to appear in court and some of those plans are now coming to light.

> “We at the SMPD are sorry that our options for keeping offenders in custody prior to arraignment have been limited by this injunction
> - Lt. Erika Aklufi

The Sheriff’s Department said that with the elimination of cash bail, individuals charged with most misdemeanor and non-violent felony offenses would be released on their recognizance or subject to non-monetary conditions. The Sheriff said the Los Angeles County Jail System will not accept inmates who do not meet the exception criteria outlined in the Emergency Bail Schedule, this includes court lock-ups. These arrestees will need to remain in the custody of the arresting agency until the arraignment is complete or the arrestee is released by that agency.

The judge’s ruling only applied pre-arraigned arrestees from the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) and the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department (LASD). While the 45 independent city agencies within the county may continue to hold their inmates from arrest through arraignment, cities like Santa Monica relied on the Sheriff’s jail as our local facility is severely limited in size.

The Santa Monica Police Department said the net result will be more catch and release of suspects prior to their arraignments.

“We at the SMPD are sorry that our options for keeping offenders in custody prior to arraignment have been limited by this injunction,” said Lt. Erika Aklufi. “As you know, there are some very serious offenses, including grand theft, auto theft, misdemeanor battery, and vandalism, that are zero bail offenses. Under this order, we are once again required to release the offenders back into the city with a notice to appear as soon as they are booked and their identity confirmed.”

Aklufi said the change is “challenging” but that SMPD already has a progam in place with the City Attorney’s office that helps divert some lower-level chronic offenders through their Alternatives to Incarceration Program.

“Since the inception, the ATI program has successfully graduated 23 participants, with two more expected in June; even more importantly, none of the graduates have been re-arrested, a notable success,” she said. “In addition to ATI, the SMPD utilizes a Department of Mental Health (DMH) worker in the jail who assists with diverting those experiencing acute mental illness to the appropriate treatment facility, not jail. Lastly, the SMPD works closely with the city prosecutor connecting individuals with the Shelter, Treatment and Empowerment Program (STEP), our newest iteration of Homeless Court. All of these collaborative efforts are aimed at seeking better outcomes; it is about finding long-term solutions and getting people the help they need.”

The judge's ruling also updates the "Repeat Offender" provision, stating that subsequent offenses committed while released on $0 bail during the abeyance period will be subject to traditional bail procedures.

That provision is actually an enhancement from the prior rule that temporarily eliminated bail as a public health measure during the pandemic.

“We are heartened by a significant change that was made since the Covid era rules in the ‘Repeat Offender’ provision that allows us to keep in custody, or transfer to County Jail, anyone who is out on zero bail and violates any penal code,” said Lt. Aklufi. “During Covid, an individual had to be arrested a second time for the same offense in order for the provision to apply. It helps; though at the end of the day, the result is a second victim.”

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 30)

You'll be channeling your creative talents in new and exciting ways that will blow your own mind and impress all your friends. You'll also expand your social circle with quirky and fascinating folks who share your passions and values. More highlights: a career milestone and a positive change to your routine that will have you feeling like a superhero. Aries and Sagittarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 7, 10, 5, 38 and 16.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You'll have multiple points to tend to, which can only be handled one at a time. The first thing to do is list everything, then prioritize. The right order will be twice as productive than the wrong one.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You know what you're going for, and you could definitely get lucky and find it within a few attempts. But you'll be much more successful if you give yourself more options. Find a dozen or 20, then choose the best.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Take the first step today and fate will shoulder some of the weight. As you work, you'll open yourself up to new opportunities and possibilities. You'll do your part and put in the effort, then destiny will meet you halfway.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Even if it's uncomfortable, take the time to address contrasting opinions and find some common ground. Who knows, you might just learn something new and deepen your relationships in the process!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Your mind is aglow and firing ideas, from the dreamy to the practical, logical, playful and more. The day will provide a steady stream of fuel to keep the intensity manageable and prevent you from flaming out.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You'll feel the need for more organization. There's no method out there that will work perfectly for you. You'll do well to experiment with mixing and blending different systems to find one that fits where you're at these days.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). What you're considering will be done with the mindset of "shooting your shot" or, in other words, attempting something unlikely. If it takes very little effort, the only thing at stake is your confidence, which is high today, so you can afford the risk.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Avoid situations that come with giving others too much power over you. Everyone is learning. Don't assume that someone who has more experience than you in a certain area is going to know more than you in other areas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Core qualities like determination, perseverance and resilience are what truly define someone. Even if someone is currently facing failure, if they have the grit and determination to keep pushing forward, that's what really matters.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). First, you notice something curious. Soon, you're interested and, if the subject is worthy, you quickly become fascinated. Everything will seem to speed up as you close in on your orbit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Shocker -- loved ones don't always see eye to eye with you. Don't dive into differences; tiptoe instead. While it's hard to tiptoe wearing clown shoes, add humor anyway. You'll laugh, then awkwardly waddle back to common ground.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). When you take a chance and it doesn't work out, as embarrassing or painful as this may be, it's still a far better state than the apathy and boredom that comes of a risk-free life. Fortune favors the bold.
