New rules coming for aviation businesses at the Santa Monica Airport

MATTHEW HALL
Daily Press Editor

The Santa Monica Airport Commission will hold a special meeting on Tuesday to debate new rules for leasing space to aviation-related businesses.

The airport commission will hear the changes, consider revisions and make a recommendation to City Council regarding the proposed Airport Minimum Standards. Council will consider the recommendation at a future meeting and will have the final say in any new rules.

The new standards include insurance rules, security requirements, application procedures, general operator requirements and specialized rules for individual types of businesses. Commercial service providers such as fixed base operators (FBO), aircraft charter/air taxis, flight training schools, aircraft maintenance and repair stations, self-service fuel pumps, aircraft management services, air transportation arrangers, aircraft sales operators and other aeronautical services would be covered under the rules.

SMO has about 187 acres of aeronautical space and 40 acres for other uses. The airport derives about 70 percent of its revenue from lease and license operations.

"The Minimum Standards would build on the current processes to provide concise and

Town hall to focus on homelessness

On June 5, Downtown Santa Monica Inc. (DTSM) will host a town hall forum at the Santa Monica Public Library's Martin Luther King, Jr. Auditorium from 10 a.m. until 12 p.m. to discuss homelessness. Facilitated by City Manager Rick Cole, the conversation aims to be educational and collaborative in nature.

Kathleen Rawson, CEO of DTSM, said the meeting is meant to share "what is being done to address the homeless crisis impacting cities across the state and the country, as well as provide useful information and tips on how to deal with issues related to the street population."

Homelessness has become a dominant topic across the region. While homelessness decreased in Los Angeles County last year, falling about three percent, the number of homeless individuals in Santa Monica increased by about 4 percent in the same time.

Efforts to combat the crisis have increased with the passage of Measures H and HHH in 2016. The additional funds will increase spending on homelessness by $402 million this year including new tracking system, rapid re-housing programs for the recently homeless, outreach programs and prevention efforts.

Locally, Santa Monica has budgeted $1.4 million in one-time funds to support an action plan that will add dedicated staff, explore redeployment of public safety officials and create pilot programs to help prevent those most at-risk from becoming homeless.

Representatives from a variety of Santa Monica departments will be present to answer questions, including members from health

AWESOMENESS: A company near Bergamot Station received an award for the design of their office.

KATE CAGLE
Daily Press Staff Writer

The Los Angeles Business Council gave a Santa Monica media company top honors for its new offices inside the Pen Factory near Bergamot Station at their annual architecture awards Friday.

Awesomeness is an entertainment brand that caters to teenagers by helping young internet sensations build their brands, monetize their content and improve their production quality. The company's new offices take up the East Wing of the recently remodeled 1950's era Papermate factory.

"The Awesomeness project reimagines how we use office space to meet the needs of today's workforce," said Mary Leslie, LABC president. "We congratulate the winning team for their innovative design and for helping L.A. keep pace with the needs of the modern Angeleno."

The company's new offices were designed by architect Skidmore, Owings & Merrill LLP. It was one of 54 projects that took home honors during the 48th annual LABC Architecture Awards.

"This year's award winners were especially focused on making urban life more livable and sustainable as well as beautiful," Leslie said.

A jury panel of industry experts co-chaired by Robert Jernigan, Regional Managing Principal of Gensler, and Nadine Watt, President of Watt Companies, picked the win-

Bestselling Author to Discuss New Book on the Power of Kindness on June 24

Dete Meserve, award-winning author, filmmaker and television producer will discuss her new book, Random Acts of Kindness at The Braid, home of Jewish Women's Theatre's (JWT) in Santa Monica, on Sunday, June 24 from 10 a.m. to noon.

The "Dialogue on Stage" event also features an original performance of an inspiring story told in Meserve's new non-fiction book. The story is of a man who has turned his pizza restaurant into a "pay it forward" establishment, helping the homeless with food and messages of hope and acceptance.

Meserve will share real-life stories about ordinary people who do big and small extraordinary things that make a difference. Who are these everyday heroes? Frat boys and great grandmothers. Ten-year olds and teens. Dog lovers and autistic car washers. Football players, teachers, bikers, and members of a marching band.

"After I wrote Good Sam, a mystery about finding people who inspire us with their selfless acts of kindness, I had to write another book that would let me share the beautiful truth that there are countless people doing meaningful Acts of Kindness around the globe," Meserve explains.

"JWT is delighted to give Dete Meserve a platform to tell the story of how she came to write this book and how her readers often led her to meet regular people who display what Meserve calls, "boundless goodness," says JWT's artistic director Ronda Spinak.

Moderator and JWT Board Member Suzanna Kaplan, adds, "The book's message echoes many of the themes JWT regularly features in our theatre. Over and over again, we present a different kind of reality show – the reality that each of us can make a difference regardless of our age, religion or bank account. Come. Be inspired. Get your spirits lifted and smile."

"Working with Dete Meserve, a writer who has chosen to tell stories of kindness, has been a joy," says Rachel Greco, co-author and journalist. Greco will also be at The Braid, signing books.

Dete Meserve and "Dialogue on Stage" will take place at The Braid, 2912 Colorado Ave. #102 from 10 a.m. to noon on Sunday, June 24. Tickets are $20 and include a light brunch. For tickets and additional information, visit: www.jewishwomenstheatre.org and click on "Buy Tickets."

JWT, recently voted "Best Live Theatre on the Westside" by The Argonaut, stages and displays traditional and contemporary works and educational programming that provide a forum for the development, performance and showcasing of Jewish artistic talent. Now celebrating its 10th Anniversary, JWT's salon theatre of original dramatic shows, each written to a specific theme, displays the diverse and eclectic community of writers, artists and creators who celebrate Jewish life, one story at a time. Local choreographers Make Dance a Part of Daily Life at the Annenberg Community Beach House

Santa Monica Cultural Affairs has announced Beach Dances: Repetitions, featuring seven days of local choreographers rehearsing and presenting on a sand-level platform at the Annenberg Community Beach House Monday, June 4 through Sunday, June 10. All are invited to observe open rehearsals and performances and participate in free movement workshops.

Participating choreographers and companies include: Mecca Vazie Andrews, Suchi Branfman, Rebecca Bruno, Jay Carlon, Sarah Elgart | Arrogant Elbow , Jeremy Hahn, Victoria Marks, Pieter Open Studio, No)one. Art House and Alexx Shilling

In addition to daily rehearsals, all are invited to a performance of RIGHT & L3FT by No)one. Art House and a world premiere of Four Triangles created onsite by Jay Carlon and his company CARLON. Free workshops with Suchi Branfman, Rebecca Bruno, Jay Carlon round out the week.

"Rehearsal is the iterative process of transformation, a way to move things from the head into the body, and a testing ground for interpretation, adaptation and change. The vision for Beach Dances: Repetitions stems from this. We're working to not only support artists by providing a 'literal' platform for art-making,'" says Naomi Okuyama, City of Santa Monica Cultural Affairs Supervisor. "With Beach Dances, we encourage visitors to consider not only watch the choreographers and dancers are doing, but also to look around at the cyclists, picnickers, swimmers, bird watchers and kite flyers on the beach and around the Beach House in the context of movement and composition."

Full schedule available at beachdances2018.eventbrite.com.

This program is part of the Beach=Culture series, presented by City of Santa Monica Cultural Affairs. Other cultural events at the Annenberg Community Beach House: visit annenbergbeachhouse.com/cultural-programs

The Beach House story is one of evolution from private to public, starting with the development of the property at 415 Pacific Coast Highway as an opulent private estate of silent film star Marion Davies in the 1920s. Parking from April – October is $12/day or $3/hour

Santa Monica Cultural Affairs hosts exhibitions on a quarterly basis at the Annenberg Community Beach House as a part of the Beach=Culture program. Beach=Culture is a year-round series of free concerts, discussions, readings, exhibitions and artist residency events. annenbergbeachhouse.com @Annenbergbeachhouse #SMBeachHouse

SMC Art Mentor Show "AMP 2018" Reception June 9

The Santa Monica College Pete & Susan Barrett Art Gallery presents "AMP 2018," an exhibition of works by gifted students in the highly selective Santa Monica College Art Mentor Program (AMP). "AMP 2018" will combine two-dimensional works on canvas and paper with mixed media installational sculptures, video and audio works, and performance.

The show will be open to the public from Saturday, June 9, to Saturday, June 16, with a gallery reception on Saturday, June 9, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. The gallery is located at the SMC Performing Arts Center, 1310 11th Street (at Santa Monica Boulevard), Santa Monica.

The Art Mentor Program is a unique yearlong program for gifted visual art students, selected by SMC Art Department faculty. AMP – led by department chair Ronn Davis and faculty member Christopher Badger – was established to provide an innovative, experimental, and interdisciplinary environment for students to explore a variety of art forms, professional practices, and critical theory. Students experience rigorous critiques, interactive demonstrations, and exposure to a range of contemporary artists, curators, and other arts professionals through a curated speaker series and onsite studio visits.

The spring 2018 group boasts a strong selection of emerging artists who will transfer this fall as third-year students to a wide range of art programs at colleges and universities that include UCLA and UC Berkeley, Rhode Island School of Design (RISD), Pacific Northwest College of Art, Harvard University, CSU Long Beach and CSU Northridge, and Otis College of Art and Design.

The student artists this year are Nehemiah Cisneros, Ivana Damjanovic, Cynthia Kraus, Beatrice Lanza, Margaret Oakley, Nicolina Ojala, Philip Otto, Helena Schaerberg, Harold Van Arnam, Daria Volynska, Andrew Wharton, Anyi Zhao, and Pearl Zhou.

Hours for SMC's Pete & Susan Barrett Art Gallery are noon to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday. All exhibits, gallery talks, and opening receptions are free.

Eric Rowen Appointed Director of Classified Personnel

Eric Rowen recently joined the Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District as the director of classified personnel. The three-member personnel commission recommended Rowen following recruitment and interviews.

Rowen will oversee the recruitment and hiring of classified personnel under the direction of the personnel commission. SMMUSD currently has approximately 800 classified employees in positions that include office staff, food services, custodians, maintenance and operations, transportation, instructional assistants, security officers, paraeducators and other non-certificated staff.

Rowen comes to SMMUSD following four years at the Los Angeles County Office of Education where he served as senior human resource analyst. He previously worked at LAUSD as a human resources specialist 2.

Prior to working for a K-12 education agency Rowen worked for the Chicago School of Professional Psychology in Los Angeles, managing the business psychology department's student-run consulting projects.

"I'm very excited to begin this new role at SMMUSD," Rowen said. "The district has a great reputation and I look forward to ensuring that we continue to hire and promote the strongest, most qualified classified staff possible."

Rowen earned a Bachelor of Arts in psychology from USC and a Master of Arts in industrial-organizational psychology from the Chicago School of Professional Psychology.

"Mr. Rowen will be a valuable addition to our district leadership team," Superintendent Dr. Ben Drati said. "We would like to congratulate him on his new position."

reasonable threshold entry requirements for persons or entities wishing to provide commercial aeronautical services to the public at the Airport; prevent irresponsible, unsafe or inadequate services; and prevent unfair competition," said the staff report.

The rules reflect an ongoing set of changes to airport operations following a deal between City Hall and the FAA. The Consent Decree allows the City to close the airport in 2028, shorten the runway and dismissed several ongoing legal disputes. Aviation supporters are currently challenging the validity of the agreement but the City has already reduced the runway length and continues to operate under the terms of the deal.

Under the decree, the City is required to offer aeronautical businesses three-year lease terms and adhere to FAA standards that make the airport available to pilots on reasonable terms. Staff said the new Minimum Standards are in compliance with those rules.

"The main objective of Minimum Standards is to ensure that each aeronautical service provider is reasonably fit, willing and able to perform the services it seeks to provide; to promote good service and fair competition; and to discourage unqualified applicants," said the staff report. "The City's adoption and uniform enforcement of these proposed Minimum Standards would enhance the City's ability to comply with the requirements of the Consent Decree without creating any rights to operate the Airport that do not already exist."

The Commission received more than 80 comments from 32 individuals or groups about the rules.

A joint submission from the National Business Aviation Administration, Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, and the Santa Monica Airport Association highlighted several specific issues but also criticized the process at large saying the rules were at odds with FAA rules.

"Simply put, the policy is not reasonable nor relevant, but rather is unjustly discriminatory," said one comment.

Staff said the rules were in compliance with Federal standards.

"The City disagrees that any aspects of the Minimum Standards or the Airport Leasing Policy are unreasonable, irrelevant, or unjustly discriminatory," said the response.

The Airport Commission will meet on Tuesday, June 5 at 7 p.m. in City Hall, 1685 Main St.

and human services, the police department, the fire department, Downtown Santa Monica, Inc., and Santa Monica's ambassador program.

Rawson cited DTSM's recent 10-year assessment renewal process as a large motivating factor for this town hall. During the assessment renewal process, business owners voted to maintain the assessment district that funds DTSM. According to Rawson, DTSM stakeholders had discussed a perceived increase in the numbers of homeless individuals in the area, as well as an increase in both social and criminal offenses.

"There were a lot of conversations from property owners and businesses about the uptick in issues related to street populations," Rawson said. "We realized that it was important for people to get on the same page and have not only a broad understanding of what actions and activities are taking place locally and how Downtown Santa Monica's efforts complement them, but also talk about how the community itself can get involved in helping with this issue."

Town hall attendees will have the chance to raise questions and receive guidance on how to manage specific scenarios.

Rawson anticipates a robust turnout of Santa Monica residents, property owners, business leaders, employees, and any other concerned parties or people with a vested interest in the subject. Rawson urges audience members to "come prepared to listen, take notes and ask questions."

In preparation for the discussion, attendees are encouraged to review the Homelessness Toolkit, which can be downloaded here: www.weare.santamonica.gov. The Toolkit presents statistics about local and national homelessness (it reports that approximately 13,000 Los Angeles County residents lose their housing monthly) and offers the contact information for organizations that support homeless individuals.

"We want our stakeholders to be well informed and to understand the role we all play and to help make a significant difference in the effort to end homelessness," Rawson explained. "We're all touched by [homelessness] on a day-to-day basis, so we all have a role in helping with solutions."

CRIME WATCH
BY DAILY PRESS STAFF

Crime Watch is culled from reports provided by the Santa Monica Police Department. These are arrests only. All parties are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ON MAY 22, AT ABOUT 8:05 P.M.

Officers responded to the area of 700 Pier Avenue regarding a subject attempting to break into a locked residential sub-garage of an apartment complex. The reporting party saw the subject trying to defeat the lock with a tool. When the subject saw the reporting party, he fled southbound out of the area. Officers located the possible suspect in the area of Highland Avenue and Marine Avenue. The subject was identified by the reporting party. A search of the subject and his belongings led to the recovery of a laptop computer, methamphetamine, heroin, narcotics paraphernalia and a power tool. Paul Micahel Olszewski, 33, from Venice, was arrested for attempted burglary, possession of methamphetamine / heroin, possession of burglary tools, possession of narcotics paraphernalia and possession of stolen property. Bail was set at $50,000.

ners out of nearly 300 entries.

Culver City restaurant Vespertine won the grand prize with its curving steel and glass facade, interior garden and intimate dining spaces. The two-story structure was designed by Los Angeles architect Eric Owen Moss, who is known for postmodern projects around the world, including the Guggenheim museum in Helsinki, Finland and Samitaur Tower in Culver City.

The awards also honored projects that reimagined underused parking lots and turned former stores into creative work spaces and transit-oriented communities.

The Architectural Review Board approved plans for about 200,000 square feet of office space inside the former Papermate factory in August 2015. Construction on the adaptive reuse project finished in September 2017, and the building reopened with a rainbow striped facade and a central courtyard.

The site infamously known as "the Hines project" was once slated for 375,000 square feet of office space, 427 apartments and $32 million in community benefits. A Texas-based developer spent seven years trying to get the mixed-use complex approved, before it ultimately failed amid community outcry over traffic impacts. The City Council initially approved the Hines development in a 4-3 vote, but then reversed their decision when residents gathered enough signatures to take the issue to the ballot.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 4)

You've a goal and a plan, but you're missing a few necessary resources. They'll finally drop into your world over the next six weeks. Make a wish list for your personal life in August; the act of articulating your wants will have strange magic in it. In 2019, the financial world demands more participation, and you'll love the rewards. Leo and Sagittarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 3, 38, 31, 41 and 6.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

To do what you can while you are where you are — that's all you can ask of yourself. If this is your only directive for yourself, it will be an exceptionally beautiful, productive day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Renunciation may refer to a religious tenet for those who wish to turn away from the trappings and temptations of the world. It also refers to a practice of turning toward something. To get what you seek, you'll renounce its opposite.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

To understand who a person really is takes more than good observational skills, though those are certainly part of it. The truth requires objectivity. You'll detach from your hopes and see a person for who he or she really is.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Some care about competition more than others, though you should really watch out for the ones who claim not to care at all. A degree of competitive instinct lives inside everyone you'll meet today, and the honest won't deny it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Your pursuits will be informed by great love and compassion. You'll have an overwhelming sense of your equality with — and intricate connection to — the other beings of the planet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

To fulfill the full potential of the role, the person in power must be tirelessly vigilant and answer every challenge. Right now, you're not really sure you want to step into that position. Luckily, there will be time to think it over.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Maybe the world is less substantial than you once believed. Sure, it's filled with things and items. But they don't seem to mean anything to you until you assign a meaning. It will feel liberating not to cling so tightly to the material.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)

A dominant percentage of the universe is made up of mass that cannot be directly observed. There seems to be a similar percentage of unobservable material influencing your day, which will evolve in mysterious directions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

To rage against the reality of the moment with your expectation and hope for it — this is natural. It's what children do in tantrums and adults do in gripe sessions. Both instances are futile, of course. Accept reality and act.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

The force needed for circular motion is the force of gravity. It's what makes the moon orbit the Earth, the planets orbit the sun, the stars orbit the center of the galaxy. And there's something grave that's making you orbit your dear one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Just because something is not found doesn't mean it's nonexistent. It will apply to your love life. Usually, the proof of love makes you relax into your trust of someone, but with today's proof's being slow in coming, you'll have to trust.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Though you can't entirely rid yourself of all the negative facts and forces alive in the world, you can greatly reduce their power over you with today's increased agency over your own focus.

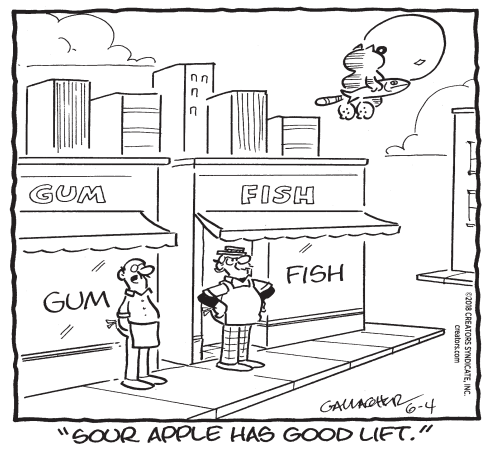

Lunar Square to Jupiter

People sometimes take full credit for actions they didn't intend and/or execute. Often it's not deceptiveness but the overwhelming human tendency to rationalize that is to blame. Those who know this and plan for it, taking measures to protect what's truly theirs, will be the ones to keep order during this lunar square to Jupiter.

WELL NEWS BY SCOTT LAFEE

Get Me That, Stat!

■ Every year, the news service Bloomberg publishes its "Global Vice Index," which measures the cost of a bundle of "vice" products – cigarettes, alcohol, amphetamine, marijuana, cocaine and opioids. This year, the price in the U.S. decreased by 26 percent.

Medical History

■ This week in 1981, artificial skin was transplanted for the first time in the U.S. on burn patients at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. It was a combination of cowhide, shark cartilage and plastic developed by Ioannis V. Yannas and colleagues at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Former Telemundo Entertainment President and NYT Bestselling Author Nely Galán to Speak at SMC Commencement June 12

Nely Galán – former President of Entertainment for Telemundo; an Emmy Award-winning producer of over 700 shows in English and Spanish; and the New York Times bestselling author of SELF MADE, Becoming Empowered Self Reliant and Rich In Every Way – will be the 2018 commencement speaker at Santa Monica College (SMC).

SMC's 88th commencement ceremony will be held at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, June 12 at Corsair Field. For the ninth year in a row, the ceremony will also be webcast live and available on the SMC Alumni Association webpage (alumni.smc.edu). Families and friends worldwide who are not able to attend graduation will be able to watch the ceremony and see the graduates receive their diplomas.

About 675 of the more than 4,500 students who have earned degrees and certificates are expected to take part in the festivities. Among the graduating students will be SMC's first baccalaureate graduates: 18 students who have earned the Bachelor of Science degree in Interaction Design. (In 2015, The California Community Colleges Board of Governors selected Santa Monica College to be among 15 community colleges in California that would offer baccalaureate degrees as part of a pilot program created by the state legislature.).

"This year's commencement marks a big moment in Santa Monica College's history: the first time 18 students will receive a Bachelor's degree from this institution," said Dr. Kathryn E. Jeffery, SMC Superintendent/President. "We are so proud of them and of the thousands of other students who chose this college as the pathway to their dream university or career, and have worked so hard to earn that degree or certificate. And we are very pleased to have Nely Galán, a driven, accomplished media entrepreneur to be our 2018 commencement speaker."

An immigrant who came to this country at the age of five from her native Cuba, Galán worked her way up the ladder—from being an intern, an assistant, then the youngest television station manager of WNJU, channel 47 until she became the first Latina President of Entertainment for a U.S. television network, Telemundo. She is an Emmy Award-winning producer of over 700 episodes of television in English and Spanish, which she produced through her multi-media company Galán Entertainment. Galán is also the founder of The Adelante Movement, which seeks to empower and train Latinas and multi-cultural women and their families economically and entrepreneurially. She is a New York Times bestselling author of the book SELF MADE, Becoming Empowered, Self-Reliant, and Rich in Every Way (2016, Random House), which has also been published in Spanish and Mandarin.

Galán completed a two-year 150 city book tour in the U.S.; she just began the international leg of the tour in China. She has spoken at venues and forums including the U.S. Chamber of Commerce; the No Ceilings initiative of the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and the Bill, Hillary & Chelsea Clinton Foundation; and the United Nations. She is a member of the board of the Hispanic Scholarship Fund, the number one resource for Hispanic and Latino scholarship programs. In addition, Galán serves on the Coca-Cola Company Advisory Council; is an Emeritus member of The Smithsonian Board; and was featured in HBO's The Latino List documentary and national museum show.

Galán went back to school in her 40s and earned a Master of Arts in Counseling Psychology with an emphasis in Depth Psychology from Pacifica Graduate Institute; she is currently completing her dissertation for a Doctor of Psychology in Marriage and Family Therapy. She lives with her family in Venice, California. To see more about Galán and her accomplishments, visit her website at nelygalan.com.

Through the Alumni webpage, SMC graduates will also be able to watch videos and read and post comments. Graduates and SMC friends are encouraged to visit and "like" the Alumni Association's Facebook fan page (facebook.com/SMCAlumni), as well as upload their graduation photos. They can also tag their pictures to Flickr or Twitter with #proudtobesmc to have them published on the Alumni website.

After the ceremony, the SMC Alumni Association will host a reception on the Quad, with free hors d'oeuvres, beverages, and photo booths where pictures will be taken and uploaded to the SMC Alumni website. A compilation video will be available on the Alumni website about a week after graduation. For more information on SMC's 88th commencement ceremony, visit www.smc.edu/graduation.
