HAPPY 4TH

Santa Monica has been displaying its patriotic spirit this week and the city will celebrate Independence Day with its annual parade. The event begins at the corner of Pico and Main St. at 9:30 a.m.

37 locals appointed to Boards/Commissions

MATTHEW HALL
Daily Press Editor

City Council appointed 37 individuals to the city's various boards and commissions at their June 27 meeting.

The annual process fills vacancies caused by the regular rotation of individuals who serve terms of limited length. Appointees are generally limited to two, four-year terms but a third term is possible if approved by two-thirds of the council. Incumbents who should term out or who did not reapply can remain in their seats temporarily if no-one applied to replace them.

The appointment of two incumbents, (Patrick Tighe of the Architectural Review Board and Bud Pell of the Personnel Board) was postponed to September to allow the individuals to fulfill mandatory ethics training. If the two do not complete the required training, they will be ineligible for reappointment.

The five-member Airport Commission acts in an advisory capacity to the Council in everything airport or aviation related. The Commission meets on the fourth Monday of each month at 7 p.m. in City Hall. Council appointed Andrew Wilder for a term ending June 30, 2021.

The seven-member Architectural Review Board "acts to preserve existing areas of natural beauty, cultural importance and assure that buildings, structures, signs or other developments are in good taste, good design, harmonious with sur-

City Council approves $774.9 million budget

KATE CAGLE
Daily Press Staff Writer

On June 27, the City Council unanimously approved a $774.9 million budget for fiscal year 2017/18 and $802.8 million for the next. Months of Council input increased the budget by $1.2 million and funneled money toward specific priorities including parks, homeless services and pedestrian safety.

"With this budget we're allocating our limited resources as efficiently and effectively as possible to avoid steep structural deficits in the future. We've taken steps to control operating cost increases," said the City's Director of Finance Gigi Decavalles-Hughes.

Pensions and worker's compensation present the most significant pressures on the budget in coming years. To combat those rising costs, the budget will balance the need for new positions by eliminating others, resulting in a net increase of zero full time staff members in the next fiscal year. Decavalles-Hughes predicts the City's payroll will actually decrease in the number of employees after that.

"Staff and Council crafted a budget that covers resident and other needs while constraining costs, including a net halt on adding employees," Councilmember Kevin McKeown told the Daily Press.

Council updates home sharing rules

As part of its continued commitment to preserve and increase housing in Santa Monica, the City Council voted at its June 27, 2017 meeting to ban the use of newly constructed accessory dwelling units (commonly referred to as guesthouses) from being used exclusively as short-term rentals.

This follows the State of California's recent legislative efforts easing regulations in order to encourage the construction of accessory dwelling units and thereby increasing the state's overall housing supply. As such, the City's ban only applies to new guesthouses that received building permits on or after March 31, 2017. Those built prior to March 31, 2017 are grandfathered and not affected by this ban.

Santa Monica's definition of home-sharing is based on the traditional activity of sharing, whereby a person hosts visitors in their home, usually to earn extra income. These stays are for periods of 30 consecutive days or less, while at least one of the primary residents lives on-site throughout the visitor's stay.

Rentals of entire units in a commercial hotel fashion where there is no full-time resident occupying a residential unit, such as a house or apartment, are still banned and subject to code enforcement action.

"This update strikes the balance of preserving newly-constructed accessory dwelling units for potentially long-term affordable housing use while also preserving the existing guesthouses that are successfully and lawfully operated as home-share units," said Planning and Community Development Assistant Director Salvador Valles.

Residents with eligible guesthouses or rooms for share can register for a business license through the City of Santa Monica Finance Department.

For more information about Santa Monica's home-sharing program, including frequently asked questions, visit smgov.net/homeshare.

Public questions regarding enforcement of the City's Home-Sharing Ordinance can contact Denise Smith at denise.smith@smgov.net or (310) 458-4984.

California marchers call for impeachment of President Trump

Demonstrators hoisting signs and chanting anti-Donald Trump slogans marched through downtown Los Angeles to urge Congress to impeach the president.

The Los Angeles march was one of several similar gatherings Sunday across California and the nation. One rally took place in Austin, Texas, the state's capital.

Organizers say they believe the president has violated the U.S. Constitution and obstructed justice.

One banner called the president an "Illegitimate Corrupt Puppet."

Marcher John Meranda tells the Los Angeles Times he has attended five recent anti-Trump marches. The 56-year-old says he's most recently frightened by the Republican proposal to cut billions of dollars from the Medicaid program.

A smaller group of pro-Trump protesters gathered nearby outside Los Angeles police headquarters. The Trump supporters say they're unconcerned about allegations that Trump tried to thwart an FBI investigation of former national security adviser Michael Flynn.

California man pleads not guilty to killing 5-year-old son

The father of a 5-year-old boy whose body was found near a Southern California lake pleaded not guilty to a murder charge Monday.

Aramazd Andressian Sr., hands shackled at his waist, appeared before Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Cathryn Brougham, who set bail at $10 million and scheduled a preliminary hearing for Aug. 16.

Authorities have alleged Andressian killed his son, Aramazd Andressian Jr., to get back at his estranged wife.

Andressian was returned to Los Angeles County last week from Las Vegas, where he was arrested.

Defense attorney Ambrosio Rodriguez said outside court that a blue smock his client wore during the arraignment was a suicide-prevention garment and that he was being evaluated by a jail psychiatrist.

Andressian is "in a state of shock," said the attorney, who declined to answer questions about the case.

Authorities say homicide detectives discovered the remains of the boy near Lake Cachuma in Santa Barbara County on June 30. He had been missing for more than two months.

"We are all grieving right now," Shaun Estevez, the boy's uncle, said after the arraignment. "We're really hurting."

He said his sister, the boy's mother, is still trying to come to grips with her son's death.

"We're here for justice for Piqui," he said, using the boy's nickname. "He was a great kid."

Estevez said "no words could describe" seeing the father in court.

Investigators think the boy was killed early April 21 after a trip to Disneyland.

Police had searched for the boy since his father was found passed out in a park in South Pasadena on April 22. Andressian had taken prescription pills and was found in a car doused in gasoline in an apparent suicide attempt, sheriff's officials said.

Andressian told authorities that he drove that day about 145 miles (233 kilometers) to Lake Cachuma. Before finding the remains, authorities had twice previously searched the lake unsuccessfully, using dogs and a dive team.

California hate crimes jump for second straight year

California's attorney general says the number of hate crimes increased about 11 percent last year — the second consecutive double-digit increase after years of decline.

The report released Monday shows 931 hate crimes statewide in 2016, nearly 100 more than in 2015.

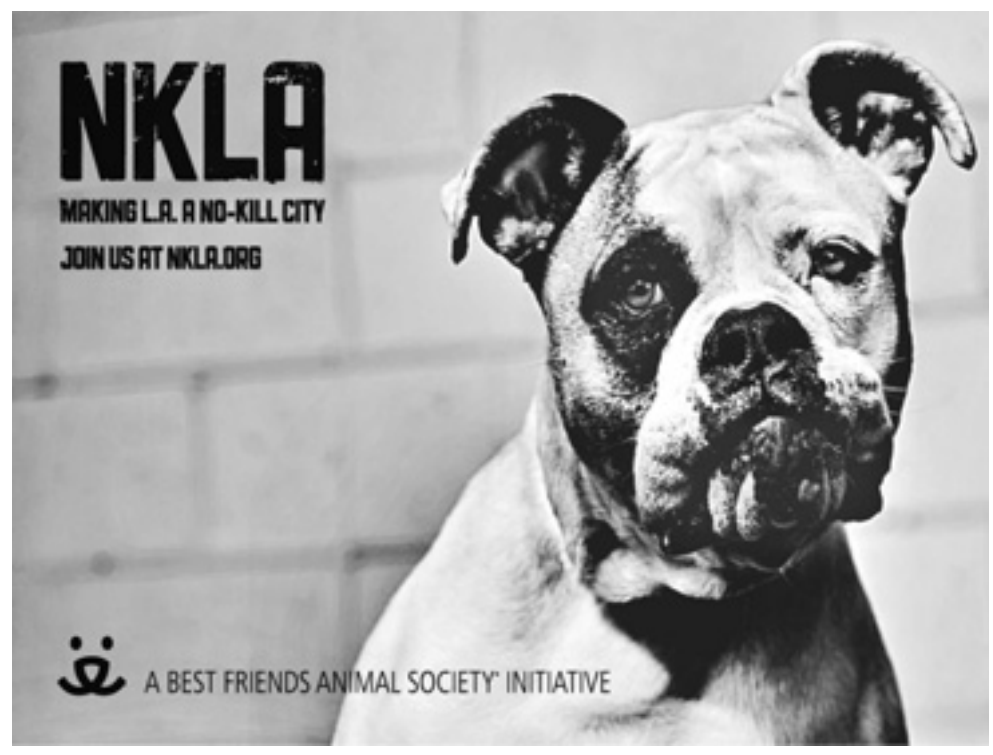

More than half the crimes were based on the victim's race or ethnicity and more than 20 percent were because of the victim's sexual orientation.

Less than 20 percent were because of the victim's religion, despite the national debate over President Donald Trump's immigration restrictions on countries with large Muslim populations.

Nearly two thirds were violent and the rest property crimes.

Hate crimes also jumped more than 10 percent between 2014 and 2015. However, the number has decreased about 35 percent over the last decade.

Manslaughter conviction in death of LA studio executive

A convicted drug dealer has been found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the beating death of a Southern California movie studio executive five years ago.

A Los Angeles jury on Monday rejected first- or second-degree murder but convicted 44-year-old John Creech on the lesser charge in the killing of Gavin Smith, a 20th Century Fox distribution executive.

The prosecution said at the outset of the trial that Creech killed the 57-year-old Smith because Smith was having an affair with his wife.

Creech's public defender said Creech hit Smith in self-defense after the executive attacked him.

Smith disappeared in 2012. His remains were found in 2014 in the desert north of Los Angeles.

At the time of Creech's indictment he was serving an eight-year sentence for sale or transportation of drugs.

SpaceX craft returns to Earth after 2nd space station trip

A SpaceX Dragon capsule that brought supplies to the International Space Station has splashed down as planned in the Pacific Ocean.

SpaceX announced on Twitter that the Dragon hit the water off the California coast shortly after 5 a.m. Monday.

After being released by the space station's robotic arm, the capsule completed a 5?-hour journey back to Earth. SpaceX will recover the spacecraft and take it back to California.

Cargo from the space station will be sent to NASA for analysis.

It was the craft's second delivery trip to the space station. Previously, the Dragon carried supplies and equipment to the orbiting module in 2014.

SpaceX, based in Hawthorne, California, is working to reuse as many parts of its rockets and spacecraft as possible to slash launch costs.

BUDGET

"Under the hood, we've restructured how Santa Monica addresses community priorities, to make expenditures more effective in the long run."

All major sources of revenue in the City are expected to grow slowly or decline over the coming years including sales tax as retail activity shifts to online sales. Most of the City's tax revenue depends on the health of the overall economy and could be impacted by a slowdown or down-turn in coming years.

"This was a smooth budget adoption process. Council and staff were in sync on finding as many efficiencies as possible, including reducing staffing over the long term and elevating priorities such as enhancing pedestrian safety and assuring our social services are protected from possible cuts in Federal funding," said Mayor Ted Winterer.

Fee changes, including a beach parking rate increase on Nov. 1, will increase City revenue by about $1.2 million. Two new non-standard fines for violations of the Municipal Code related to tenant harassment have been added. There are also new fees regarding the City's recently passed Water Neutrality Ordinance.

Despite Decavalles-Hughes conservative projections, the Council increased the budget to fund several projects. Here's where the money is going:

VISION ZERO

About $500,000 of the additional money will go toward Vision Zero, a City initiative seeking to eliminate traffic fatalities and serious injuries. In October, staff members will present the Council will a proposed "Vision Zero Action Plan" that includes projects to increase pedestrian safety throughout the City. While several Council members stressed support for a new staff member dedicated to the initiative, a current staff member will take on the duties for now.

STAFF CHANGES

A $300,000 increase (not from the General Fund) will go toward new positions, including someone to handle increased Federal regulatory workload at Big Blue Bus. The Beach Manager is also being made a permanent position.

HOMELESS SERVICES

The budget includes moving $300,000 from the General Fund to extend the Homeless Multi-Disciplinary Street Team for an additional year. The team consists of four full time staff members and a part time psychiatrist who provide street care to the highest utilizers of police, fire and hospital services. Supervisor Sheila Kuehl has also agreed to provide $300,000 in Los Angeles County funds to help sustain the program. The combined money will keep the team funded through 2019. The RAND Corporation will evaluate the program after that time to see if it resulted in fewer contacts between the homeless population and local emergency services.

"I am happy that we adopted a balanced budget that reflects this City's values," Councilmember Gleam Davis told the Daily Press. "Our continuing investments in social service agencies and the arts reflects our commitment to the wellbeing of every resident. That priority also was reflected in the increase of funding for young children in need of quality early childhood education and family support."

CREATORS SYNDICATE © 2017 STANLEY NEWMAN STANXWORDS@AOL.COM 7/4/17

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 4)

You're so often asked to be creative, look for the opportunity inside of a problem, rise above the situation. You do an excellent job of that, but you deserve a break from it, too. The next 10 weeks hands you good luck you don't have to work for. You had this coming. Invest in August. Domestic transformation comes in December. Leo and Scorpio adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 30, 2, 26 and 4.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
The moment you decide to impress yourself, the adventure will be on! (But if you are hung up on impressing anyone other than yourself, it will cause a delay in your journey to greatness.)

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
There is some heaven here on earth, and you want to experience it. Also, heaven on earth wants to experience you. When you approach the moments with this in mind, the portholes open.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)
Those with many opinions may have few facts. As for the ones who have plenty of both, they're worth listening to today. You may not agree, but you'll come to a resolution faster for learning what they know.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)
Orphans and strays will be attracted to your generosity and compassion. Your posse will get bigger and bigger. The growth won't be the least bit draining to you. In fact, you'll get back more than you give.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Counting the cost isn't the same as paying the price. In fact, often those who paid didn't count. The bottom line is that you don't have to know the bottom line to do the right thing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Living well is spending your life in your own way. You realize exactly what way that is by being forced to live by other people's rules and figuring out, "This just isn't me."

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Don't be in too much of a rush. If you want everything yesterday, you miss the opportunity to learn how it's made, earned and delivered. There is wisdom and creativity hiding away in the origin story.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)
You have taken a child into your heart even though you probably already knew that children have a way of bruising the hearts they live inside with their naive will. When that part comes, you'll handle it and be stronger for it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
It will take a great deal of personal restraint not to say the thing on your mind, but if the idea seems the least bit unhelpful or has the slightest chance of causing offense, it won't be worth the breath it takes to utter it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Enduring love isn't always so visible in the action of your daily life. There are those you communicate with in thought only who continue to influence you in ways both minute and remarkable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
The luckiest thing you can do today will be to teach others born in another time. It doesn't matter if they are older or younger than you; there's much of value to impart about the experience of your own particular slice of time.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Usually, you can see quite well with your heart, and its vision extends as far as needed or becomes microscopic for things that are very small or extremely close. It can even see what's invisible. Your heart will never need glasses.

Communication and Independence

On the birthday of the United States of America, Venus begins a cycle in Gemini, and Mercury and Uranus square off. The discussion of country will continue to trend in a lively direction. Seek understanding before trying to influence others. "Liberty is always dangerous, but it is the safest thing we have." -- Harry Emerson Fosdick
