BIKE LANES: City Hall has approved more painted bike lanes.

City invests millions of dollars in greener commute

KATE CAGLE

Daily Press Staff Writer

The length of emerald pavement in Santa Monica is about to quintuple after the City Council rubber-stamped a $5 million project to paint twenty miles of green bike lanes, adding thousands of more racks and installing video cameras at intersections to give green lights to bikes and scooters. The striping improvements will move ahead as city staffers finalize a massive remodel of 17th Street that will create the city's first parking-protected bike lane and Dutch intersections.

The project is partially funded by a 2009 Metro grant for $2 million, supplemented by a future public right-of-way fee charged to participants in the city's upcoming electric bike and scooter pilot project. The fee is expected to generate about $1.1 million a year.

City staff says the city's green lanes on Main Street and Broadway have increased visibility for cyclists and scooter riders and reduced crashes caused by drivers making a Clean energy and sustainability rule the roost here in Santa Monica. Bikes, Birds, Teslas and hybrids all dominate the city at any given moment, but there's one type of clean-energy transportation that's not easily visible—hydrogen fuel cell vehicles.

According to cafcp.org (California Fuel Cell Partnership), only 4,926 hydrogen fuel cell vehicles (FCVs) are on the road right now. For these drivers, only 35 hydrogen fueling stations exist in California—locally, there's one on 1819 Cloverfield Blvd and one currently in development at 1866 Lincoln

PARKING: The parking lot adjacent to the Santa Monica Pier will no longer be used for special events.

MATTHEW HALL

Daily Press Editor

The popular beach parking lot adjacent to the Pier can no longer be used for special events and while staff will honor existing contracts for upcoming events, event organizers looking for a beachfront location will have to look elsewhere.

Staff said the change was prompted by an increase in yearly visitors to the Pier and beach area that has created year-round demand for parking at the site. Closing the parking lot for a special event created problems for visitors, nearby employees and reduced revenues for the city's beach fund.

Council first approved the use of the lot as an event space in May of 2001 as part of a revision to a wider policy governing events in public spaces. Use of the lot was expanded in 2004 to include longer-term events that included a Cirque du Soleil show. The lot was recently leased to the Independent Spirit Awards under

To the extent possible, the Secretary seeks members who have diverse professional and personal qualifications including but not limited to subject matter experts in the areas described above. We ask that nominations include any relevant experience and information so that VA can ensure diverse Board membership.

Climate change and heat

Dear EarthTalk:

With all the crazy heat waves around the world this summer, how could anyone still claim that climate change isn't anything to worry about?

Randy Smith
Providence, RI

IT CERTAINLY IS HARD TO BELIEVE THAT anyone would be able to disregard the signs that human-induced climate change is starting to have a deleterious effect on our environment and our quality of life around the planet. Here in the United States, fully one-fifth of our land mass is currently sweating through record summer heat or drowning in torrential floods. It's never been hotter—if recent July 2018 temperature records are any indication—than across certain parts of Texas, California, New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado. While such extremes used to come about once in a decade or longer, now every successive year is worse than the last.

And the problems aren't limited to the United States. Japan, North Korea and South Korea are experiencing record heat waves this summer, while Europe is sitting under a high-pressure ridge blowing hot dry air across the continent and fueling unprecedented wildfires across the United Kingdom and Scandinavia, with the flames even licking as far north as the Arctic Circle. Meanwhile, Greece is suffering through its deadliest wildfire season ever with more than 50 dead and dozens more people unaccounted for with entire towns up in flames.

"The impacts of climate change are no longer subtle," reports climatologist Michael Mann of Penn State's Earth System Science Center. "We are seeing them play out in real time in the form of unprecedented heat waves, floods, droughts and wildfires. And we've seen them all this summer."

And hurricane season hasn't even ramped up yet. According to Inside Climate News, scientists are worried that U.S. coastal communities "could face more super storms with winds, storm surges and rainfall so intense that current warning categories don't fully capture the threat." And a new "Category 6" designation—with peak winds approaching 190 miles per hour—is under consideration to account for the spate of more intense storms coming our way.

"The current intensity scale doesn't capture the fact that a 10 mph increase in sustained wind speeds ups the damage potential by 20 percent," Mann adds. "That's not a subtle effect. It's one that we can see."

For more evidence that global warming is something to fear, consider the fact that 2018 is on track to be the warmest year on record for the U.S. (which has been keeping records since 1894) and the planet at large. A United Nations World Meteorological Organization study found that 2016 was the warmest year on record globally, with 2017 and 2015 tied for second place.

And those who say "so what if the planet is warming?" might not be so smug when their waterfront property—or private golf club—becomes part of the ocean in the not so distant future. It's not so far-fetched to believe the scientists who claim parts of Florida will be under water by 2025 after seeing footage of the streets of Miami flooding every year in recent memory. Donald Trump better hope Mar-a-Lago, his private club in Palm Beach, Florida, has flood insurance.

Store security notified the manager and they began monitoring the subject. As the subject was walking out of the store, they noticed the backpack appeared full. The subject exited the store without paying for anything. The security guard confronted the subject outside of the store but the subject ignored security and walked away. As they reached the area of 7th Street and Broadway, the subject turned around and grabbed the security guard's cellular telephone and began punching him with a closed fist. The subject fled the area leaving his bicycle behind and backpack. The backpack was recovered containing merchandise from the store. The security guard took bike was to the store. The subject returned to the store looking for his bicycle. A struggle ensued between the security guard and subject. The subject was able to grab the bicycle and walk out of the store. City of Malibu Joins Nationwide Effort to Protect Monarch Butterflies

On July 23, 2018, the City of Malibu joined nearly 400 other cities across the United States, Canada and Mexico in joining the National Wildlife Federation's Mayor's Monarch Pledge, committing the City to enacting policies and practices that protect the Monarch butterfly. The majestic Monarch has experienced a sharp decline in recent years.

"Malibu is highly aware of the impact that even the smallest species can have on protecting our environment," Mayor Rick Mullen said. "I am proud that our community is participating in this effort to protect the delicate and beautiful Monarch, an iconic resident of California. Moreover, by planting native plants, we are contributing to the health of our local ecosystem."

Mayor Mullen introduced a proclamation declaring July 23, 2018 to July 24, 2019 the Year of the Butterfly in Malibu. The proclamation encourages residents to support the Monarch butterfly by planting native milkweed and other nectar plants in Malibu that the Monarch needs to survive.

Monarchs overwintering in coastal California have seen a 95% decrease since the 1980s. While tens of thousands of monarch butterflies typically overwintered in Malibu 20 years ago, fewer than 100 were counted in 2017.

The Mayor's Monarch Pledge includes a list of action items that cities can take on to help the Monarch butterfly. The City of Malibu, with the support of groups like the Malibu Monarch Project, have already completed eight of the 25 recommended steps, putting the City into the prestigious "Leadership Circle" category.

The action steps that Malibu has taken include issuing a proclamation to raise awareness about the decline of the Monarch butterfly and the need to preserve its habitat. The City has planted a Monarch-friendly demonstration garden with milkweed at Las Flores Park. Malibu has earned recognition for being a wildlife-friendly city by taking strong actions to become a poison free city, and enacting policies requiring native plant species in parks and private development and invasive species removal programs.

Santa Monica Public Library Establishes a Walk-in Tutoring Service for Adults

Santa Monica Public Library will begin offering Walk-In Tutoring to assist adults with reading, writing and basic online user skills on August 7. Part of the Library's LEAF (Literacy Education for Adults & Families) initiative, the walk-in sessions will take place each Tuesday, from 1 to 3 p.m., throughout the month of August and September at the Main Library, 601 Santa Monica Blvd.

The Library's walk-in tutoring is one component of the Adult Literacy Program, which complements many literacy-related services already provided by the Library. Santa Monica Public Library's adult literacy program focuses on adult learners meeting their personal reading and writing goals, such as completing a job application, reading to their children or grandchildren, learning to use email, writing checks and paying bills, or obtaining a driver's license. The Walk-in Tutoring sessions provide an avenue for adult learners to connect with tutors on a more casual basis. Tutors can assist with a variety of needs and refer adults to the Library's other literacy services, such as one-to-one tutoring, ESL classes, and computer classes.

Santa Monica Public Library's LEAF program encompasses a variety of literacy programming for adults and families, including Story Time for babies, toddlers, and pre-school age children, the Reading-2-Go outreach program, and digital literacy classes for adults. In addition, the Library offers the Career Online High School program, which provides students an accredited high school diploma and a certificate in a high-demand career field, GED test preparation, and the LEAMOS (Let's Read) program, a pre-ESL online literacy course that teaches Spanish-speaking adults to read and write. Additionally, the Library has teamed up with Santa Monica's Adult Education Center (part of the Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District) to provide ESL classes, throughout the school year, at the Main Library.

Santa Monica Public Library welcomes all adults who need help with reading or writing to contact us for more information. If you or someone you know needs help with reading or writing, stop by any Library location, visit smpl.org, or call (310) 458-8600 to learn more about the program.

This program is free and open to the public. The Santa Monica Public Library is wheelchair accessible. For disability-related accommodations, call Library Administration at (310) 458-8606. turn. About forty new video cameras placed at intersections throughout the city will allow cyclists and other riders to trigger a green light without the presence of a car.

While the city awards a construction contract to repaint the roadway, dramatic changes to 17th Street from Wilshire to Pico Boulevard won't happen until 2020. The number of people walking along the stretch of 17th between the Expo line stop at Colorado and Santa Monica College has exploded by 1,600 percent since the opening of the light rail station, according to a recent city report. The number of people biking is up 82 percent. With the sudden popularity of electric scooters from Bird and Lime, heavy usage of a protected lane is nearly guaranteed.

The project involves removing 94 parking spaces to add wider sidewalks and relocated the bike lane to the right of parked cars for added protection. The project is similar to changes the City of Los Angeles made to nearby Venice Boulevard, that haven't always received a warm welcome from drivers. For example, changes that narrowed streets in Playa del Rey lead to lawsuit threats and an attempt to recall Councilmember Mike Bonin.

On Tuesday, one of the former leaders of LA's Great Streets Initiative cautioned the City Council to learn from their neighbor's mistakes.

"You can do as much outreach as physically possible and beyond and as soon as it's live and on the ground, you'll have hundreds of people calling ... confused about how they're supposed to use it and what the rational was," Carter Rubin said.

Rubin urged the city to have a dedicated email address and hotline ready when the project is complete.

Indeed, some Pico Neighborhood residents have already expressed dismay upon learning they will lose precious street parking near SMC, where residents already compete with students to find a spot to park.

Residents said many renters rely on street parking between Delaware and Pico Boulevard, which will basically be eliminated on one side of the street to make way for the extended bike lane.

Councilmember Tony Vazquez said city staff needed to find a way to guarantee residents a place to park near their homes. The plan already calls for preferential parking for those who live nearby.

"We're talking about the reality of this neighborhood and the Pico neighborhood has a history in Santa Monica that we have never respected the families that live there," Vazquez said. "And I hope that we don't continue to just shove this down their throat."

However some councilmember said the resulting improvement in bike transportation will be a benefit to everyone.

"I view this as a tremendous amenity," Councilmember Gleam Davis said.

Boulevard — with no easy way to find a station aside from googling around and eventually landing at cafcp.org, the Department of Energy's website, or other (potentially unreliable) sources.

AirLiquide, a French multinational company, is hoping to make life easier for the FCV loving crowd; the company created the just-launched H2 Station Finder app to help users locate one of 39 stations throughout the country.

In addition to the app, AirLiquide is also betting big on the niche technology, having designed and installed hundreds of hydrogen fueling stations themselves to help build hydrogen-powered infrastructure.

While automotive manufacturers seem hesitant on the tech (Toyota seems to be the only manufacturer truly dedicated to the alternative fuel, announcing mass production and lower costs for FCVs), time will tell if the bet pays off and this alternative fuel makes a splash with consumers.

In the meantime, the Daily Press talked to AirLiquide CEO Ole Hoefelmann to discuss his app and hopes for an alternative fuel filled future.

THE ONLY HYDROGEN PUMP ON SANTA MONICA IS ON 1819 CLOVERFIELD BLVD WITH THE OTHER CLOSEST STATION BEING 11261 SANTA MONICA BLVD, LOS ANGELES CORRECT? JUST WANT TO GET THAT FACT CORRECT FOR SANTA MONICANS THAT MAY BE DRIVING A FCV.

Yes, that is correct. There is another hydrogen station set to launch early next year, and it is located at 1866 Lincoln Boulevard.

WHAT MADE AIRLIQUIDE DECIDE TO INVEST IN HYDROGEN FUELING STATIONS?

We believe that hydrogen is one of the key solutions to a cleaner transportation future. Hydrogen-powered vehicles have many advantages: zero carbon emissions, zero particulate emissions and zero noise at their point of use. Used in the fuel cell, hydrogen combines with oxygen from the air to produce electricity (to propel the vehicle), with water as the only by-product. As a result, for equal distance traveled, hydrogen cars allow for reduction in greenhouse gas emissions by 20% compared with an internal combustion vehicle.

Given hydrogen's great potential to provide clean energy, Air Liquide has — for years — made great strides contributing to the growing use of hydrogen in the transportation sector by supporting the development of the hydrogen energy infrastructure around the world. To date, 100 hydrogen fueling stations have been designed and installed by Air Liquide worldwide.

HOW DOES AIRLIQUIDE FORECAST HYDROGEN FUEL CELLS FUTURE COMPARED TO HYBRIDS AND ALL-ELECTRIC VEHICLES?

According to the "Hydrogen, Scaling up" study conducted by the Hydrogen Council, by 2050, the market should be worth US$2.5 trillion and involve over 30 million skilled jobs around the world.

BESIDES THE OBVIOUS OF NOT HAVING AN APP TO MAP OUT HYDROGEN FUEL LOCATIONS, WHAT OTHER FACTORS LED TO THE CREATION OF THIS APP?

At Air Liquide, we routinely conduct focus group discussions, and ultimately, participants shared that it was challenging to find a hydrogen station near them. Prior to the launch of our app, drivers were only able to locate a hydrogen station through a website offered by the California Fuel Cell Partnership (CaFCP) — however, this had limited functionality as it only provided drivers with the station name and whether it was online or offline. We believed it to be important to provide a consumer-friendly resource to hydrogen drivers that allowed them to get to where they need to go, when they needed to go with complete ease.

WHAT BENEFITS (BESIDES LOCATING STATIONS) WILL THIS APP BRING USERS?

The app introduces a streamlined user experience and several functionalities, including the ability to rate a station, get directions to a station, view how much CO2 drivers are reducing, connect with other hydrogen drivers, provide real-time feedback on a station, and view details of the station, such as amenities offered.

WHAT HOPES DO YOU HAVE FOR THE APP?

With this app, we hope that this will give hydrogen drivers convenience, connectivity, security, and ultimately, a more positive experience on the road.

HOW CAN/WILL AIRLIQUIDE INTEREST CONSUMERS IN HYDROGEN VEHICLES? IT'S VERY NICHE COMPARED TO OTHER ALTERNATIVE FUELS.

Air Liquide is proud to be on the forefront of hydrogen fuel cell technology and the deployment of the necessary supporting infrastructure. In order for hydrogen energy to be fully embraced among consumers as a clean mode of transportation, there needs to be a greater number of hydrogen vehicles. For this to happen, we believe that a strong collaboration must exist with OEMs, such as Hyundai and Toyota, who have both launched Fuel Cell Electric Vehicles(FCEV): the Hyundai IX35 and the Toyota Mirai.

ASSUMING THE APP WILL BE MADE AVAILABLE FOR BOTH ANDROID AND IOS, CORRECT?

That is correct.

Award-Winning Author to Discuss Her New Memoir About Recovery and Renewal in a Jail Cell After a Relapse into Alcohol Addiction

In the Jewish tradition, the ten days between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are known as the Days of Awe - a time to contemplate and repent the sins of the past year and to ask God to write our names in the Book of Life.

On Sunday, August 26, Jewish Women's Theatre (JWT) prepares for the Days of Awe with a "Bagels and Bestsellers" event featuring award-winning author Leslie Schwartz. Schwartz, whose novels have been translated into 13 languages and a motion picture (Angels Crest), has written a remarkable new memoir, The Lost Chapters: Finding Recovery and Renewal One Book at a Time. She will discuss her dramatic story of a descent into addiction and the surprising path to her recovery at The Braid, home of JWT. Tickets are $20, including a light brunch and a book signing.

In 2014, after a 414-day relapse into alcohol addiction that followed more than a decade of sobriety, Schwartz was sentenced to 90 days in a Los Angeles County jail for drunk driving and battery of a police officer. During that period, which she describes as a "chronic state of blackout," she inflicted unfathomable damage on her friends, her husband, and her teenage daughter - to say nothing of herself. She lost job after job; her family was forced to move away; her friends left, unable to help. Schwartz found herself completely alone with the mental illness that accompanies alcoholism.

Century Regional Detention Facility, known in the vernacular as Lynwood, is considered one of the toughest jails in the United States, "each minute an entire anthem to human depravity," she writes. Incarceration might have ruined her, if not for the books that comforted her and the stories her fellow inmates shared with her in her jail cell. The Lost Chapters recounts the visceral experience of the daily humiliations she and her fellow inmates endured. It delves deep into the nature of shame and rage, but also how love can be an instrument of change and redemption. She reveals learning how to banish her shame, to use guilt for good, level her grief, and how she found her lost joy in prison - the unlikely of places.

"We are thrilled to bring Leslie Schwartz's story to JWT," says Ronda Spinak, JWT's Artistic Director. The Lost Chapters tells of her terrible spiral into hopelessness but also of the stories that restored her. When Leslie was sentenced, she was actually teaching a writing class at JWT. That she was able to pick up the class where she left off and to write this book after such a harrowing experience is profoundly moving."

Meghan Daum, author of The Unspeakable, says, "What an incredible book. Leslie Schwartz's story would be a page turner on its own, but she's also crafted an elegant tribute to literature and all its transcendent powers. The Lost Chapters is honest, erudite, and infused with just the right proportions of shock, awe, humor and grace. I read it with unceasing admiration and haven't stopped thinking about it since."

Janet Fitch, author of White Oleander and The Revolution of Marina M. called it, "a real life-changer of a book. This is time more than served, it's time redeemed."

Schwartz will be in conversation with JWT dramaturg and author, Lisa Rosenbaum, for a compelling morning of talk, book signing, and a light brunch at The Braid, 2912 Colorado Ave. #102, from 10am to noon, on Sunday, August 26. For more information, visit: www.jewishwomenstheatre.org and click on "Buy Tickets."

JWT, voted "Best Live Theatre on the Westside" by The Argonaut, stages original dramatic performances, contemporary art exhibits, classes, and other events showcasing the diverse community of writers, artists and creators who celebrate Jewish life, one story at a time. Citywide
Santa Monica City Council Approves Compensation Philosophy

The Santa Monica City Council has approved a Compensation Philosophy for City of Santa Monica staff, implementing a key recommendation of the Moss Adams independent review of staff compensation. The philosophy aligns total compensation with the organization's overall mission and goals to guide future policies and practices. The approach calls out the factors to be weighed in establishing, administering and modifying the compensation system for City staff, including fiscal sustainability and recruiting and retaining a high caliber workforce.

"This Compensation Philosophy represents longtime best practices undertaken by the City and includes clear guiding principles aligned with citywide goals," said Mayor Ted Winterer. "It ties our commitment to competitive compensation to peer cities and to delivering the highest standards of service to the community. Adoption of the Compensation Philosophy is the first step in crystalizing the compensation review recommendations. The expeditious and unanimous adoption of the philosophy fortifies Council's commitment to proactive and transparent fiscal management."

A Compensation Philosophy is not a specific policy and is designed to capture the philosophy of the City as an "employer of choice" in the 21st Century that also has a responsibility to its citizens to be fiscally responsible and transparent. The philosophy states "we are committed to promoting organizational and community values that include: exceptional service to the public; consistent and excellent performance; innovation; good fiscal, social, and environmental stewardship; and ethical behavior."

The new guiding principles state, "The compensation program should aim to retain and attract high-skilled, high-performing staff capable of delivering the highest standards of public service to our community. The City will expect all staff to consistently perform to those high standards in their work performance, service, ethics and passion for public service. The City will also strive to administer pay and benefits in a way that is fair and transparent to all, that provides equal pay for equal work, and that does not take into consideration race, ethnicity, religion, sex, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or other factors unrelated to work performance."

This is the first action item that has been completed of the 13 recommendations identified in the employee compensation study conducted by the independent firm Moss Adams. The study is the most comprehensive ever undertaken by a Southern California city.

The compensation philosophy was distributed among the City's eleven labor unions in its draft form and calls for evaluation every five years. Other public entities with compensation philosophies include San Luis Obispo and the County of Sonoma.

an extended policy for use through 2020.

“Closing the 1550 Pacific Coast Highway beach parking lot as an event forum will return the lot to its original purpose of providing parking for the public coming to the beach and/or the Santa Monica Pier,” said a report given to City Council. “Staff will work with event organizers to consider alternative event venues, and many have already reached out to the Santa Monica Pier.”

The lot was already subject to specific rental criteria. Uses had to be predominantly cultural and/or entertainment related. Music concerts were banned in the lot and events could not be primarily focused on promotion, sales or product sampling. Organizers were also limited to holding events in off-peak months. The busy season used to be from July 1 through Labor day but that timeframe was expanded in 2014 to run from June through September.

“Currently, community events are not permitted in the 1550 PCH beach lot from June through September,” said the report. “In addition, due to the established Extended Event Policy process administered by CCS, events proposed for after September and prior to Memorial Day weekend cannot be accepted more than six months in advance. Consequently, there is a limited window of opportunity to permit community events in the 1550 PCH beach lot.”

In the last four years, 20 events have been scheduled for the lot (such as the Pacific Car Show, Santa Monica Pet Expo & Adoption, Copa Cabana Beach Soccer, Rose Art 75, Fitness Event, Santa Monica Bike Expo, Rollergames World Cup 2016, The 420 Games Los Angeles, City of Hope Gala, Electric Bike Expo, Gran Tasting Food Festival, Out of the Darkness Walk and Touch a Truck).

While some of those events will continue in the nearby beach area without use of the lot, others will have to find new homes and the city has already banned events in other beach lots.

In 2014 staff prohibited events at the 2030 Ocean Avenue and 2600 Barnard Way lots over complaints of noise, traffic congestion and loss of public parking.

According to city staff, Pier businesses support a moratorium on events as the lot is needed for employee parking. Recent event closures forced employees to park in the south beach lots.

“Business owners expressed concern for the safety of employees who work late and had to walk a distance to their cars,” said the report. “These events occurred during Spring Break, which covers several weeks before and after Easter and is a very busy time for the Pier and beach. The SMPLA has requested that, at a minimum, no events be permitted during the six-week Spring Break period.”

Events also decrease revenues for the lot. Parking can cost between $12 and $14 per space but many spaces turnover throughout the day creating multiple fees. The price for renting the lot is a flat $15 per space per day.

“Using the spaces for events, particularly on busy weekends, results in a net revenue loss for the Beach Fund,” said the report.

The conclusion of The Clean Beaches Project will add approximately 100 new spaces in the 1550 lot but the additional capacity is will merely offset the growing demand for the lot. Staff said any excess capacity in the beach lot would be better used to facilitate closures of the Pier Deck parking rather than events on the beach.

“As the Pier moves forward with its initiative to engage the local community with more cultural and educational programming, the additional parking in the 1550 lot will help to offset the loss of parking on the Pier when the Pier parking lot is used as an event space,” said the report.

In addition two upcoming construction projects will have potentially negative impacts on the beach lot creating further hurdles for events.

While no new events will be permitted, The Independent Spirit Awards will continue to use the space per their existing contract through 2020.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 30)

It is said that people are amalgamations of those they're most often around. That's reductive, yet it's true that you're changed by relationships. You endeavor to be around the people who make you better – those who push you, attract you and help you grow into your best self. Savor the prizes in September and May. Pisces and Aquarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 39, 37, 43, 26 and 32.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Don't let volatile and violent forces steal all of the press. Celebrate the gentle forces alive in your life. The succession of hundreds of beautiful, mild days may one day be eclipsed by a storm, but this is not that day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Children are tomorrow. What's done to children is done to the future, and vice versa. Every little bit of proactive effort today will count much more than you would imagine toward a better tomorrow.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

Your friends and loved ones are very unlikely to tell you how right you are or were, even if they know in their hearts that it's true. So don't waste another thought on it. Better to just be right than to have to convince others of it.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

There's an opportunity you're keen to seize that comes with a risk you're not. This package is indivisible. You can't water the roses without watering the thorns.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You can't see electricity because, like gravity, it is a phenomenon (not an object) detected only by its influence on the world. You will also be experienced through your influence on the world today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

The attraction between certain people has such strength that it's almost as though they don't have a choice but to be drawn together. It's difficult to imagine a world in which they would not interact.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

When you see something displeasing in others, use it as an indicator of what you might change in yourself. For instance, a person who is disrespectful reminds you of the necessity for kindness in the world.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)

Feelings express themselves in waves. A wave is a phenomenon with a trade-off between space and time. At one moment in time, it's here, and it's somewhere else at another moment. In short, feelings change.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

If you feel as if working on yourself from the inside out would be a bit too intangible and strange an approach for you today, it might be a better bet to work from the outside in. Equally effective!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

If there's too much of something or too little of it, if something is too small or too fast, it's the “too” (not the thing itself) that makes it impossible to deal with. Perhaps your problem is not with the thing but with the amount of it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

The solution may not be at hand; in fact, you'll travel miles to find it, and it won't be where they said it would be, which motivates further journeying. But that's what you get for choosing worthwhile pursuits!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

People will reach out in love and also in need. Then there are those who reach out in something else – something not worth labeling, as they are only expressing a symptom of their own sickness. Your compassion will be required.

The Retrograde Idea

Ideas are, in and of themselves, quite insubstantial in that they have no actual mass. They are not things. But ideas are certainly forces, and one idea can change everything. The predominance of retrograde planets reminds us that these are precarious times in which we need to put our ideas to test before we get too attached to them.

1. Special interest rate and Annual Percentage Yield (APY) of 0.31% is available for Platinum Savings accounts opened in CA and MT. Interest rates and APYs are available from 7/9/2018 to 8/31/2018; subject to change at any time without notice. Special Interest Rates require $25,000 deposited to the account from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., or its affiliates. Wells Fargo may limit the amount you deposit to a Platinum Savings account to an aggregate of $1 million. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is a blended APY which is based on the Special Interest Rate for the initial three (3) month promotional period and the Standard Interest Rate for remaining nine (9) months. Minimum daily account balance of $25,000 must be maintained to earn the shown Special Interest Rate and blended APY. The account will revert to the Standard Interest Rate for any day the balance falls below the $25,000 minimum daily balance. Interest is compounded daily and paid monthly. The amount of interest earned is based on the daily collected balances in the account. As of 6/13/2018 the standard APYs for a Platinum Savings account in CA with $0.01 to $249,999.99 is 0.01% and with $250,000 and above is 0.05%; for a Platinum Savings account in MT with $0.01 and above is 0.01%. Each tier shown reflects the current minimum daily collected balance required to obtain the applicable APY. Minimum to open a Platinum Savings account is $25. Platinum Savings' monthly service fee of $12 applies in any month the account falls below a $3,500 minimum daily balance. Fees may reduce earnings. Interest rates are variable and subject to change without notice. 2. Annual Percentage Yield (APY) is effective for accounts opened between 7/9/2018 to 8/31/2018 and is subject to change at any time without notice. The 11-month New Dollar CD special requires a minimum of $25,000 brought to Wells Fargo from sources outside of Wells Fargo Bank N.A., or its affiliates to earn the advertised APY. Public Funds and Wholesale accounts are not eligible for this offer. APY assumes interest remains on deposit until maturity. Interest is compounded daily. Payment of interest on CDs is based on term: For terms less than 12 months (365 days), interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or at maturity (the end of the term). For terms of 12 months or more, interest may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, or annually. A fee for early withdrawal will be imposed and could reduce earnings on this account. Special Rates are applicable to the initial term of the CD only. At maturity, the special rate CD will automatically renew for a term of 6 months, at the interest rate and APY in effect for CDs on renewal date not subject to a Special Rate, unless the Bank has notified you otherwise. APY shown offered at Wells Fargo Bank locations in CA, MS, MT, NC, and SC. Due to the new money requirement, accounts may only be opened at your local branch. Offer cannot be: • Combined with any other consumer deposit offer. • Minimum new money deposit requirement of at least $25,000 is for this offer only and cannot be transferred to another account to qualify for any other consumer deposit offer. • If you wish to take advantage of another consumer deposit offer requiring a minimum new money deposit, you will be required to do so with another new money deposit as stated in the offer requirements and qualifications. • Reproduced, purchased, sold, transferred, or traded. 3. The Portfolio by Wells Fargo program has a $30 monthly service fee, which can be avoided when you have one of the following qualifying balances: $25,000 or more in qualifying linked bank deposit accounts (checking, savings, CDs, FDIC-insured IRAs) or $50,000 or more in any combination of qualifying linked banking, brokerage (available through Wells Fargo Advisors, LLC) and credit balances (including 10% of mortgage balances, certain mortgages not eligible). If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the bonus interest rate on all eligible savings accounts, and discounts or fee waivers on other products and services, will discontinue and revert to the Bank's then-current applicable rate or fee. If the Portfolio by Wells Fargo relationship is terminated, the remaining unlinked Wells Fargo Portfolio Checking or Wells Fargo Prime Checking account will be converted to another checking product or closed.
