Fundraising figures reflect quiet election season

MATTHEW HALL
Daily Press Editor

Fundraising for candidates and issues in this year's November election is off to a slow start with most campaigns reporting a few thousand dollars in donations for the first reporting period.

City Council challenger Ashely Powell was the exception, reporting more than $63,000 in donations in the first few months of the season, but most campaigns reported significantly less.

In the race for Rent Control Board, Incumbent Nicole Phillis was in first place with $5,700 in fundraising and no expenses. Her 58 donors included several current RCB Commissioners, School Board members, College Board candidates and SMRR officials. She also received a donation from Sonya Sultan, the mother of fellow candidate Naomi Sultan.

Challenger Lori Brown raised $5,128 and had no expenses. Her 21 donors included property management companies and several realtors.

Challenger Naomi Sultan raised $4,225 and spent $29. Her 20 donors include Denny Zane, Mary Marlow, Laurie Lieberman, Anastasia Foster

Beauty within St. Johns

A hospital is many things, but exciting and uplifting aren't typically the words you'd associate with one. Sterile and quiet — aside from the whir of machines and the plops of a nurse's busy footsteps — hospital walls can be a place of immense solitude for patients, their pain echoing around them.

Until about around a year ago.

Beauty Bus, a Santa Monica-based nonprofit, teamed up with St John's to do what they do best: to color the worlds of terminally or chronically ill patients who don't often get the chance to indulge in feeling good about themselves.

Malibu

Dark Sky Ordinance will be in effect

On October 15, the City's Dark Sky Ordinance goes into effect, aimed at reducing light pollution in order to protect wildlife, habitats and Malibu's rural coastal village character.

"In Malibu we are blessed to live surrounded by nature, and our dark, starry skies are a big part of that," said Mayor Rick Mullen. "I am proud that we passed this innovative legislation that will protect that heritage for generations to come."

The Planning Department will hold special Public Counter Hours at Malibu City Hall on Thursdays from 9 to 11 a.m., October 4 through October 25 to offer outdoor lighting guidance to residents or businesses.

The City Council unanimously approved the ordinance in April 2018 in order to preserve Malibu's rural character and quality of life, protect wildlife and habitats from light pollution, preserve enjoyment of the night-time sky, and promote the City's goal of conserving energy and natural resources.

In order to ensure that residents and businesses have had enough time to make any changes needed to meet the new requirements, the City distributed information and resources on the City website, social media, newspaper advertisements, direct mail, and email messages to the community.

THE CITY'S PROJECT WEBPAGE AT WWW.MALIBUCITY.ORG/DARKSKY OFFERS EXAMPLES OF COMPLIANT LIGHTING METHODS AS WELL AS RELEVANT DEADLINES AND OTHER INFORMATION. THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE ORDINANCE INCLUDE:

- Outdoor light fixtures that are fully shielded, directed downward and do not exceed 850 lumens
- Maximum Kelvin temperature of 3000 K
- Requirements for motion detectors, string lights and allowable light trespass from property lines
- Additional lighting requirements based on zoning districts

The Dark Sky Ordinance adds comprehensive citywide outdoor lighting standards to the Malibu zoning code. It aims to provide safe and effective levels of outdoor lighting, mainly by ensuring lighting is only used when and where it is needed so that it does not indiscriminately cause light pollution. The ordinance has been five years in the making. Grace periods were drafted into the ordinance to assist residents and business owners with the implementation process.

While developing the ordinance, the City held numerous community workshops and meetings that provided education about the impacts of light pollution on people and nature, model lighting ordinances that have been adopted in other cities, and light pollution-reducing lighting technologies.

In 2013, the City Council enacted a citywide outdoor lighting ordinance that was created with assistance from the International Dark-Sky Association (IDA). The IDA is a United States-based non-profit organization started in 1988 by astronomers in an effort preserve the night-time environment and reduce light pollution.

Soundwaves Concert

On Wednesday, October 17, at 7:30 p.m., the Soundwaves concert series welcomes Brightwork newmusic, one of LA's hottest contemporary chamber ensembles, to the Santa Monica Public Library's Martin Luther King Jr. Auditorium at 601 Santa Monica Blvd, for a diverse program entitled "Parallel Divergence."

The five musicians: Sara Andon (flute), Aron Kallay (piano), Maggie Parkins (cello), Shalini Vijayan (violin), and Brian Walsh (clarinet), will appear in configurations from duo to quintet on work by American, British, Finnish, and Japanese composers.

THE FULL PROGRAM IS:

David Lang - Sweet Air
Thomas Ades - Catch
Kaija Saariaho - Mirrors
Somei Satoh - Birds in Warped Time II
Takuma Itoh - Parallel Divergence

Brightwork newmusic is based in Los Angeles, California. A flexible and fearless group of world-class musicians, they champion the best of the music that's being written today, while continuing to play the classics of "new" music from the last hundred years.

The members of Brightwork newmusic are among the busiest players in Los Angeles, performing with the LA Chamber Orchestra, LA Opera, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, and a dozen other Southern California orchestras. Brightwork members are also fully engaged in the vital task of passing along their own musical experience to the next generations, and Brightwork members teach at the University of Southern California, Chapman University, University of Redlands, and Pomona College, serve as coaches for various organizations, and are available under the Brightwork umbrella for various outreach programs.

Soundwaves is a concert series presenting artists who appear on the DRAM (Database of Recorded American Music) streaming service. The Santa Monica Public Library is the first public library to offer this service to its cardholders. Listings of past and upcoming Soundwaves shows as well as sound and video recordings are at SoundwavesNewMusic.com

This event is free and open to the public. Seating is limited and on a first-arrival basis. Soundwaves is sponsored by the Friends of the Santa Monica Public Library. The Santa Monica Public Library is wheelchair accessible. For other disabled services, call Library Administration at (310) 458-8606 at least one week prior to event. For more information, visit smpl.org or contact the Santa Monica Public Library at (310) 458-8600.

The Need for Supportive Housing

Everyone should be housed, healthy and safe. But for many, ending homelessness is not simply about finding a home. It is about being comfortable in that home, maintaining that home, and having the tools and support to rebuild your life.

There are individuals experiencing homelessness who struggle with mental illness, substance addiction, acute and chronic medical conditions, histories of trauma, or a combination of these issues. In the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority Homeless Count for 2018, 26% reported a serious mental illness, 15% reported a substance use disorder, 10% reported both substance use disorder and serious mental illness, and 6% of people report experiencing homelessness because they are fleeing domestic/intimate partner violence.

However, these findings are self-reported by those surveyed. At The People Concern, in our work on the streets and in our various programs, we find that more than 90% of the people served by our agency are living with serious mental illness or co-occurring disorders, many are struggling to overcome substance use, and most have experienced personal trauma. These individuals are the men and women who need intervention and care, and we engage them with our coordinated, integrated services. This is why The People Concern provides a holistic, integrated system of care for all of our program participants, often the most vulnerable neighbors in our community.

Without stable housing, these conditions can worsen. Experiencing homelessness can exacerbate mental illness, make ending substance use difficult, and prevent serious health conditions from being addressed.

Although finding affordable housing is part of the answer, individuals with multiple challenges will need assistance in maintaining that housing. Supportive housing, the integration of affordable housing with wraparound services to help individuals and families remain stably housed, provides the needed assistance that our most vulnerable neighbors can utilize to rebuild their lives. The supportive services might include mental health or substance abuse treatment, primary healthcare, domestic violence services, employment, assistance with paying rent or bills on time, transportation, or connection to meaningful daily activities through volunteering or other community service

Supportive housing gives people the opportunity to thrive in a safe environment while receiving guidance on choices that promote better health and well-being, stability, a sense of belonging to a larger community and self-sufficiency. We have found that 98% of individuals we provide with wraparound services are able to maintain their housing and thrive. You can be part of ending homelessness by advocating for the development of permanent supportive housing in your neighborhoods. It's good for everyone in the community to have people living indoors – housed, healthy and safe.

Scarlett Yingvorapant is the Communications Manager at The People Concern.

St. Matthew's Music Guild season opener October 12

St. Matthew's Music Guild's 34th season of concerts begins Friday, October 12, when the Music Guild's new Music Director and Conductor, Dwayne S. Milburn leads an all-Beethoven concert featuring South African pianist Petronel Malan in the Emperor concerto.

A native of Baltimore, Milburn earned degrees in conducting and composition from UCLA and the Cleveland Institute of Music. In 1993 he joined the U.S. Army, serving as Bandmaster of the Continental Army Band and U.S. Army Band "Pershing's Own." Since then he has served in the Middle East and Eastern Europe and most recently as Commander and Conductor of the U.S. Army Band and Chorus in Europe. He retired from the Army in early September.

In residence at St. Matthew's Church since 1985, The Chamber Orchestra at St. Matthew's has performed more than 200 concerts and commissioned more than two dozen works, primarily from deserving young Los Angeles composers but also established artists such as Christopher Tin, Ola Gjeilo, Roger Bourland, and Paul Chihara. The orchestra is made up of some of the finest studio and concert orchestra players in the city, many of whom have been with the orchestra for more than twenty-five years.

In addition to the Emperor concerto, the program includes Beethoven's Symphony No. 4 and the "Coriolan" Overture.

All concerts are on Fridays at 8 p.m. at the architecturally stunning, award-winning St. Matthew's Church, 1031 Bienveneda Avenue, Pacific Palisades.

Tickets for the concerts are $35 at the door. Advance tickets, discounted season passes for all concerts, and more information are available through the Music Guild's website, MusicGuildOnline.org or by calling the Music Guild office, (310) 573-7422.

Palestine Unlimited Photography Display

The public is invited to an opening reception for Palestine Unlimited, photography from the ten finalists in the first annual Karimeh Abboud Award Competition @ Dar al-Kalima University in Bethlehem, Palestine on Sunday, October 7 from 5 – 7 p.m. at Mt. Olive Lutheran Church, 14th & Ocean Park, Santa Monica.

Palestine Unlimited is sponsored locally by Mt. Olive Lutheran Church and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, both in Santa Monica. The photography is by Christian and Muslim students who attend the Lutheran college, Dar al-Kalima University in Bethlehem. The university is affiliated with the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Jordan and the Holy Land. The winning students were asked to share photograph interpretations of their country and its people, to help viewers "experience Palestine as it really is."

The display can then be viewed in the rear of Mt. Olive's church building through the end of October.

The Lisa Smith Wengler Center for the Arts presents Michael Feinstein The Great American Songbook

The ambassador of the Great American songbook and multi-platinum-selling, Emmy and Grammy-nominated singer and songwriter Michael Feinstein brings an incomparable concert experience to Pepperdine University's Smothers Theatre at 2 p.m. on Sunday, October 7 at the Lisa Smith Wengler Center for the Arts.

Feinstein has built a dazzling career over the last three decades bringing the music of the Great American songbook to the world. From recordings that have earned him five Grammy Award nominations, to his Emmy nominated PBS-TV specials, his acclaimed NPR series and concerts spanning the globe–in addition to his appearances at iconic venues such as The White House, Buckingham Palace, Hollywood Bowl, Carnegie Hall, and Sydney Opera House–his work as an educator and archivist define Feinstein as one of the most important musical forces of our time. In his Great American Songbook show, Feinstein and his trio trace the history and greatest lyrics of the most enduring jazz and popular songs of the 20th century.

In 2007, Feinstein founded the Great American Songbook Foundation, dedicated to celebrating the art form and preserving it through educational programs, master classes, and the annual High School Songbook Academy. This summer intensive open to students from across the country has produced graduates who have gone on to record acclaimed albums and appear on television programs such as NBC's America's Got Talent. Feinstein serves on the Library of Congress' National Recording Preservation Board, an organization dedicated to ensuring the survival, conservation and increased public availability of America's sound recording heritage.

The most recent album from his multi-platinum recording career is A Michael Feinstein Christmas from Concord Records. The CD features Grammy Award-winning jazz pianist Alan Broadbent (Paul McCartney, Diana Krall, Natalie Cole). Feinstein earned his fifth Grammy Award nomination in 2009 for The Sinatra Project, his CD celebrating the music of "Ol' Blue Eyes." The Sinatra Project, Volume II: The Good Life was released in 2011. He released the CDs The Power Of Two–collaborating with Glee and 30 Rock star Cheyenne Jackson–and Cheek To Cheek, recorded with Broadway legend Barbara Cook. For Feinstein's CD We Dreamed These Days, he co-wrote the title song with Dr. Maya Angelou.

This performance is sponsored by Anne Marie and Mitch Bredefeld.

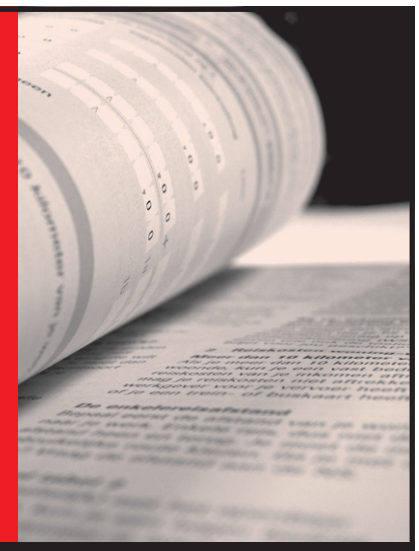

The Lisa Smith Wengler Center for the Arts at Pepperdine University provides high-quality activities for over 50,000 people from over 1,000 zip codes annually through performances, rehearsals, museum exhibitions, and master classes. Located on Pepperdine's breathtaking Malibu campus overlooking the Pacific, the Center serves as a hub for the arts, uniquely linking professional guest artists with Pepperdine students as well as patrons from surrounding Southern California communities. Facilities include the 450-seat Smothers Theatre, the 118-seat Raitt Recital Hall, the "black box" Helen E. Lindhurst Theatre, and the Frederick R. Weisman Museum of Art.

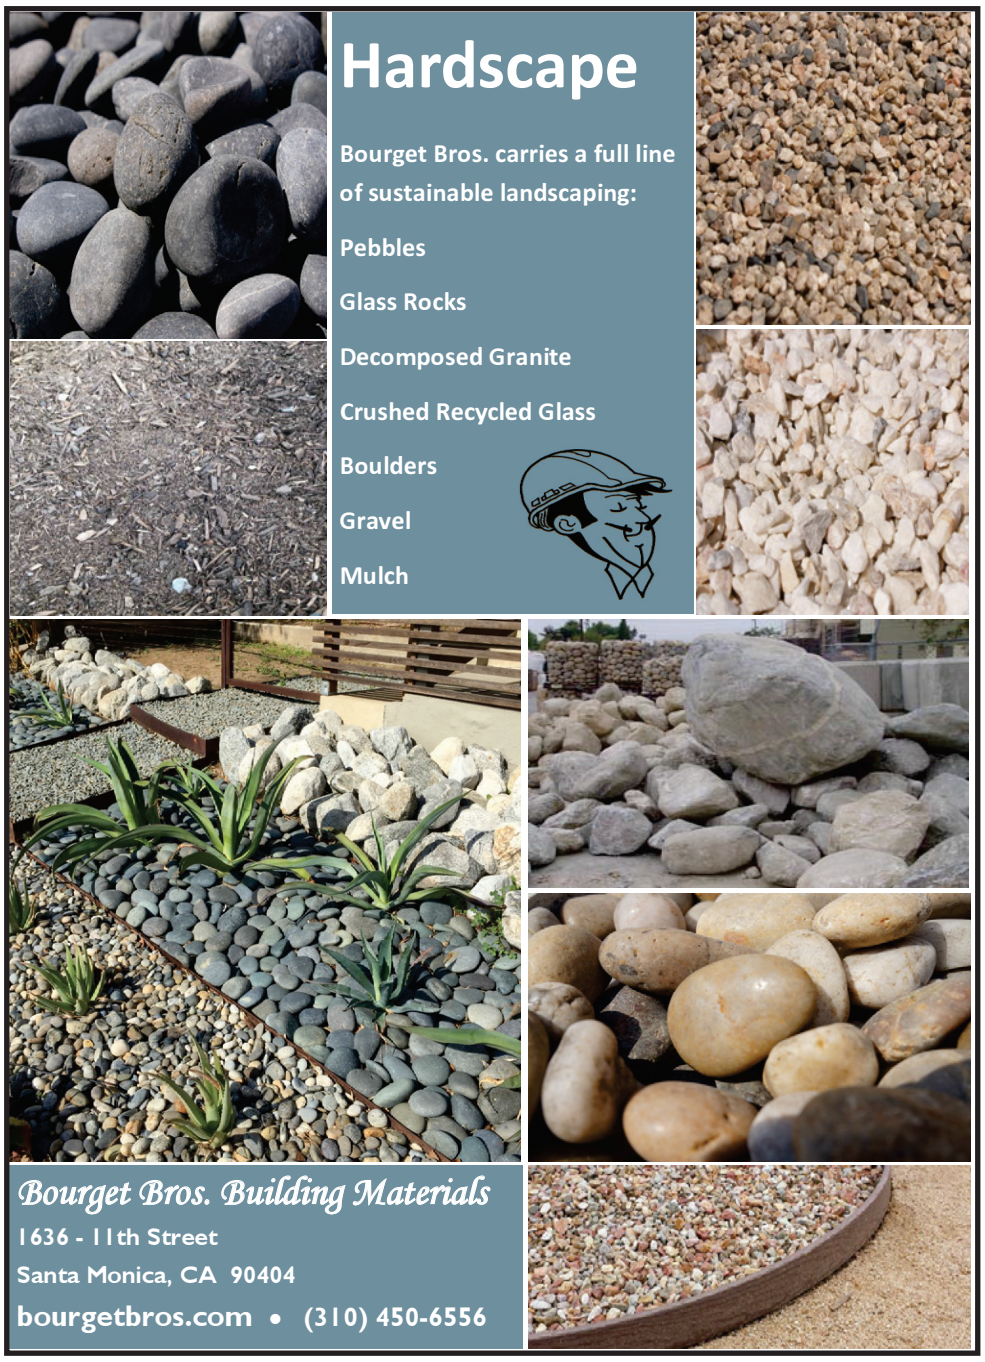

Sunday, October 7, 2018 at 2 p.m., Smothers Theatre, Pepperdine University, 24255 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, CA. (310) 506-4522 or arts.pepperdine.edu $40-$70 for adults, $10 for Pepperdine students

BEAUTY: The Beauty Bus services improve morale for patients in local hospitals.

BEAUTY

Wendy Marantz Levine's own grief— her sister, Melissa, developed a degenerative neuromuscular disease that cut her life short at 28 years of age.

Levine saw what her sister was going through and wanted to cheer her up. To do this, her family arranged in-house beauty care for Melissa, providing her with haircuts, facials, mani-pedis and more. Years later, after seeing that no organization was doing this, Levine started the non-profit.

The spa-like treatment Levine provided her sister was soon transplanted to Levine's Beauty Bus, who routinely do in-home beauty care for the chronically and terminally ill as their core method of operation. The treatment comes at no cost to the patient.

Every Tuesday, however, they bring their bus, a bag of goodies and beauty technicians to St. John's oncology wing on the fourth floor, to brighten up and beautify lives. They see 6-8 patients (or clients, as Beauty Bus calls them) a day, spending around an hour or as much meaningful time with a client as possible.

"It takes them away from this," Levine said, motioning towards a hospital room filled with equipment. "It gives them time to talk about the Emmys or movies or whatever. We just want to be there for them and allow them to get outside of their disease, even if it's just for a small part of their day."

Janice Frost, the administrative coordinator of the oncology department at St John's, says her hospital's small, family-friendly feel and the hands-on touch of Beauty Bus was a perfect match for her wing and ill patients.

"The personality of St. Johns is more like a community hospital rather than a large academic facility, very family-centered, everyone knows everyone, " Frost said. "I heard about Beauty Bus at a meeting and knew they'd be a natural fit. They give VIP-type care."

A patient (or client, as Beauty Bus calls them) that's benefited from the VIP-type care is Marilyn Gold.

Gold was in the process of being Beauty Bus'd during a recent visit. She was laughing and smiling, cracking jokes about herself and the hospital she was in, seemingly doing everything she could to bring a smile to anyone within the immediate vicinity.

With the joy in the room, you'd have never known she was going through an arduous process.

Gold became a long-term patient at St. John's after a check-up on knee inflammation problems turned into something more dire; doctors discovered Gold had a stomach tumor.

As a new patient, she'd lie in bed many days overcome with depression due to how she perceived herself to look.

"I used to go to the beauty parlor every week," she said. "And now I was just sitting here, staring at a TV all day. It's a hospital. People walk by you and some don't even look at you. It didn't feel good."

That's when Beauty Bus stepped in.

The program chooses patients based on who they feel might benefit from their services most, and Gold was one of many on the list.

"The nurses have a pretty good pulse here," a Beauty Bus beauty technician volunteer said.

Beauty Bus heard of Gold from her family and St. John's nurses. "She's usually known as energetic and fun," her daughter said, "And they saw she wasn't that."

After several beauty services, Gold is who she was before her hospital stay— beaming smile, all joy and devil-may-care attitude.

"They take care of you, but the emotional part, the beautification, that's what means a lot. And that's overlooked in a hospital … even if they don't do quite as good as my regular salon."

Gold laughs with nurses and Beauty Bus staff. Joy spreads across their faces. Happiness, at least for a moment.

FUNDRAISING

Incumbent Steve Duron reported $1,205 in donations and no expenses. His five donors were fellow RCB Commissioner Anastasia Foster, Mark Kreher, Mary Marlow, Denny Zane and Marcia Zimmer.

Challenger Jon Mann did not file paperwork related to fundraising.

Of the five candidates in the race for Santa Monica College Board, challenger Sion Roy raised the most with $13,541 in cash and a loan to himself of $600 against $5,632 in expenses. The majority of his donations came through an online fundraising platform, Democracy Engine.

Loans are a theme in the SMC race among the incumbents.

Nancy Greenstein received $1,000 in donations and loaned herself $6,700. She reported $4,703 in expenses. All of her spending went towards campaign mailing and literature.

Louise Jaffe has loaned herself $18,000 and raised $100. She has spent $4,748 on mailers.

Barry Snell received a single $1,000 donation. Combined with loans and residual money from past campaigns, he had an ending cash balance of $1,136 after spending $550.

The second challenger, Patrick Acosta II, did not report any fundraising.

Incumbent Richard Tahvildaran-Jesswein raised $19,355, the most among the five candidates for Santa Monica Malibu Unified School District Board. Combined with his preexisting cash and $6,123 in expenses, he ended the period with a cash balance of $16,660. He received several donations from a variety of labor unions and spent money on mailers or his website.

Craig Foster had an ending cash balance of $19,273 after raising $5,000 and lending himself $20,000. Foster spent $5,726.

Oscar de la Torre loaned himself $2,000 and raised $850 against $157 in payments.

Laurie Lieberman raised $14,442 and has spent $5,483. Combined with past fundraising, she had $12,772 in the bank at the end of the filing period.

Ann Thanawalla hadn't gathered and donations but did spend $271 on her campaign website.

There are four measures on the November Ballot (Board and Commission eligibility requirements, maximum high limits on development, a school bond and term limits for City Council) but only two had fundraising activity.

The Committee for Safe & Modern Santa Monica Schools - Yes on SMS is working to support the school bond and raised $84,802. The campaign spent about $15,642.

Santa Monicans for Council Term Limits, Yes on Measure TL supports establishing term limits for City Council. The organization raised $11,529 and spent $10,632. With some preexisting cash factored in, the group has an ending cash balance of $3,758.

The Political Action Committee representing city employees raised $13,284 and spent $5,278. Their expenses were for press releases and marketing material in support of their endorsement of incumbents Kevin McKeown, Sue Himmelrich and Pam O'Connor.

A second PAC, ACT PAC sponsored by Action Apartments, spent $3,768 in support of Lori Brown's campaign for the Rent Control Board.

CRIME WATCH

BY DAILY PRESS STAFF

Crime Watch is culled from reports provided by the Santa Monica Police Department. These are arrests only. All parties are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ON SEPTEMBER 20, AT ABOUT 11:33 A.M.

Officers responded to a radio call for service at the Santa Monica Main Library at 601 Santa Monica Blvd – regarding a man brandishing a knife to a security officer. Prior to arrival, the subject had left the location and the suspect was threatening passersby as he walked away. As officers reached 5th Street and Arizona Avenue, the victim involved flagged officers down and pointed out the suspect. The suspect was immediately detained for an investigation. Officers learned the subject was creating a disturbance in the library. The victim, a security officer at the library, told the subject he needed to leave. The subject became upset and pulled out a knife. The subject threatened the security guard with the knife. The subject exited the library and the security guard called the police as he followed the suspect. Maxim Stepaneko, 44, was arrested for brandishing a weapon. Bail was set at $25,000.

DEVELOPMENTS

narrow, one-way street.

At the moment, a row of ficus trees obscures the property, which serves as a valet parking lot for guests staying at Casa Del Mar. The hoteliers behind the luxury hotel and Shutters on the Beach submitted plans for two mixed-use complexes to add more than a hundred apartments beachside neighborhood.

Both lots used to be owned by the city. The most recent sale came in 2012, when the City sold the lot at 1921 Ocean Front Walk to Edward Thomas Hospitality Companies for $13.5 million. The money from the sale went to the Citywide Housing Trust Fund to pay for affordable housing elsewhere.

The two lots are zoned R4, which allows fairly dense residential development. The apartments on Ocean Front Walk will have 22 units. The complex on Ocean Avenue will have 83 apartments, including 17 restricted for affordable housing. But the fact ETC manages hotels, rather than apartments, has fueled suspicion in the community that the new construction will not alleviate the local housing crisis.

"We really want neighbors," said Sally Reinman, who moved into her beachside house on San Vicente Terrace in 1988, "but we think this is thinly veiled, short-term corporate housing and longer vacations. They refuse to promise us any more than 30-day leases. The city says their laws will prevent it but we know that's not happening."

Reinman is referring to recent discussions by both the Planning Commission and the City Council that apartments in Santa Monica are increasingly leased to corporations or vacationers staying just over a month, the threshold to get around the city's strict anti-Airbnb ordinance. City leaders estimate 47 buildings in the downtown area are advertising furnished units for month-to-month tenants.

Reinman's neighbor, Dayle Kerry, also moved into her 1913 craftsman cottage in 1988, just as developers broke ground on the Shutters hotel. She said the hotel and other nearby developments have drastically changed the neighborhood since she bought her home. Both women hope any new construction would reflect smaller scale of their side of the street.

"It's gone from a sleepy little beachside neighborhood and we slowly got boxed in," Kerry said of the surrounding developments.

A 1990 local law prohibits any new hotels west of Ocean Avenue. Proposition S also capped the size of new restaurants to 2,000 square feet. Lawyers for the project from Harding, Larmore, Kutcher & Kozal say the developer has heard the concerns and adapted the project. They vow to follow all local laws.

"The setbacks along Pico Boulevard and Vicente Terrace have been increased, which provides a more pedestrian-friendly environment, more opportunities for exterior landscaping, and an opportunity to create "front yards" along Vicente Terrace, favorably reflecting the front yards that exist across (the street) – all at an anticipated loss of future rental revenue due to corresponding floor area reductions in the apartments," they wrote in a letter to the Planning Commission Friday.

Both the Planning Commission and the City Council is restricted by state law that limits their discretion to reduce the density of housing projects. The law is intended to encourage housing throughout the state.

"This neighborhood mirrors what Santa Monica says it wants to be. We're so diverse economically, socially demographically but no one's protecting us," Reinman said.

The Planning Commission will meet Wednesday, Oct. 3, at 7 p.m. inside City Council Chambers, 1685 Main Street.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (OCT. 1)

Whereas many fear change, you go into your solar return craving it. The desire to make a difference will be behind every presentation you give, every major decision and thousands of small ones, too. There will be a windfall in November and June; invest carefully. Love and family inspire an action that will be your legacy. Gemini and Aquarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 3, 36, 44, 49 and 13.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

You'll do a sort of mental training. You'll steer your thoughts in such a way that creates a peaceful state. It will be easy this time, and you'll be able to build on this positive experience later when circumstances make it harder.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

The people you cherish will know it. They sense it in the tenderness of your eyes, the thoughtfulness of your words and the warmth of your being. You and your loved ones are rewarded equally in the exchange.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

To get faster at a thing takes training. Put yourself through the paces. Repeat the processes until you can do them more automatically, until the friction points wear smooth. Doing a thing well will be its own reward.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Thoughts will seem to bump up against one another, creating confusion and division within your own mind. Instead of taking on each clash as a battle to be sorted, get into some exercise and breathing. All will calm down.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You listen well. Do they? This matters today. Make it known that you have an expectation regarding the quality of attention you receive from others. You deserve this, and there's a classy way to do it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

There's an effect you're going for -- a reaction you'd like to get from others. You're not even aware of it, until you realize that it's not happening. Take it as an opportunity to fulfill an elusive need.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Don't let it get complicated. It doesn't have to be. Kindness is the way. Kindness is the choice through which all the other choices will be made clear.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)

The task requires your emotional involvement. It requires you to relate to others, see it their way and lean into the unknown of interactions. A computer couldn't pull it off. The labor is a celebration of your humanity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

The cleanest, most direct and most effective way to get your goal is through sacrifice. It gets the unpleasantness out of the way upfront. It will be harder. But there's something instantly gratifying about doing hard things.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Capricorn is a sea goat who climbs mountains while remembering where he came from -- the sea. You'll be recognized in your community yet stay connected to your emotional and spiritual source.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Because you will accomplish what you believe you can, it will be very effective to spend more time visualizing your desired outcome and hyping yourself up.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

You're driven to become better at what you do. However, you're not ready to handle a lot of attention just yet. Play it low-key. Keep learning. Tonight features a moment of accidental good luck.

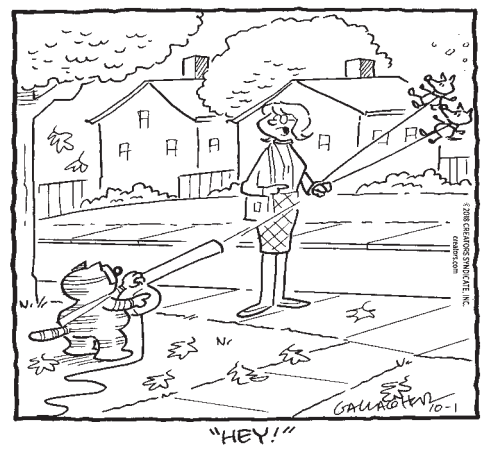

MOON GOES HOME

It takes guts to go first. That's why those who go first have an advantage. Their courage earns them an edge. First can be tricky, too, with no examples to tuck within or hide behind. As the moon goes home to Cancer and Mercury mixes it up with Pluto, it's a good time to calculate the risks of going first. It might be worth it.
