Study Sessions on hot topics set to dominate Tuesday's Council meeting

SCOTT SNOWDEN
SMDP Staff Writer

Tuesday's City Council meeting will be dominated by two Study Sessions, the first of which addresses the economic issues faced by the City associated with hosting the beach volleyball event during the Los Angeles 2028 Olympic Games.

And the second of which will also address financial issues, but those regarding enhancing public safety and addressing homelessness. Moreover, both of these will almost certainly draw significant public comment.

The City has engaged in extensive negotiations with the LA28 organization to secure the honor of hosting the beach volleyball event given the history Santa Monica has with the sport and the fact that several other coastal locations in the city of Los Angeles would be more than happy to step in should they need to.

A total of four agreements must be executed to formalize Santa Monica's participation. The Games Agreement is the first of these and is especially critical because it lays the foundation and framework for all future agreements.

A fiscal impact study conducted by HR&A Advisors projects that the City would be responsible for $15.54 million in estimated costs to prepare for and host the Olympic games. If the City were to choose to not host beach volleyball, it stands to gain $10.65 million in fiscal benefits. The City would only generate $2.79 million in additional revenues if it hosted Olympic events, but would face

Top city officials and housing partners gathered on Oct. 2 to celebrate Santa Monica's first Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH) project opening in nearly a decade.

In an afternoon full of inspiring speeches and guest tours, The Laurel officially opened its doors for public consumption at 1413 Michigan Avenue. Hosting 57 formerly unhoused individuals in studio apartments, the four-story building is part of the city's PSH program that both houses and gives wraparound services to those who received project-based vouchers.

All apartments are fully furnished, equipped with a full kitchen featuring energy-efficient appliances, as well as a twin bed, dining table, chairs and window coverings provided at no additional costs to residents. Each floor holds a laundry facility, while the third and fourth floors have a common area deck. The base floor also has 800 square feet of community space,

Series of traffic accidents occur across the city in a matter of days

SCOTT SNOWDEN
SMDP Staff Writer

A series of four traffic accidents have unfolded this week and there seems to be no apparent reason to link any of them together. Not even poor visibility as we've found ourselves in a soup-like fog a few times this week. According to the Santa Monica Police Department (SMPD) nothing about weather or other environmental conditions can be attributed to any of the collisions.

On Sunday, September 29 at about 6:30pm, there was an incident where a bicyclist was struck in the 1500 block of Pico Blvd near Santa Monica College. According to SMPD, there was no DUI or hit and run but information regarding the circumstances has not yet been released.

In the early hours of Tuesday morning, there was a single vehicle rollover on the Pacific Coast Highway at the McClure Tunnel that affected traffic in both directions, closing southbound traffic from California to Moomat Ahiko/Ocean and northbound traffic south of California. An all-clear was broadcast a little after 5am on Tuesday morning and according to SMDP it was a misdemeanor DUI with no injuries, thankfully.

Also early on Tuesday morning, a vehicle traveling down Wilshire Blvd lost control as it approached the Ocean Ave intersection, ultimately crashing through a section of the fence at Palisades Park before coming to a precarious stop with part of the vehicle actually dangling over the bluffs. Incredibly, according to SMPD, this isn't the Attempted Homicide – 2000 Block of the Beach. The victim, a 30-year-old resident of West Hollywood, was fishing at the waterline in the 2000 Block of the Beach. Unprovoked, and with no prior contact between them, the suspect approached the victim from behind and placed him in a chokehold, strangling him to the point the victim lost consciousness. The suspect lets go when witnesses intervened. DART officers arrived almost immediately and took the suspect into custody without incident. The suspect was arraigned on one felony charge of attempted murder and is being held on $2 million bail.

Attempted Homicide - 1400 Block Alley 5. Officers respond to a radio call of a physical fight between a male and a female. The caller stated that the male suspect was on top of the female victim punching her. The suspect kicked the victim several times and then ran northbound in Alley 5. The officers located the victim who refused medical attention. Despite their best efforts, the victim would not provide any information to officers about herself, the suspect, or the attack. An area check for the suspect was negative. Officers took a report.

Injury Report - Ocean Front Walk / Appian Way. A solo driver was riding a Vespa Scooter traveling southbound on Ocean Front Walk when they lost control of the scooter and collided with a concrete bollard. The driver was ejected from the scooter and struck a light pole. The driver sustained several injuries, including a broken leg, and was transported to a local hospital for treatment.

Sexual Assault - 1600 Block of 5th Street. During the early morning, officers were flagged down in front of the Public Safety Facility by a female who reported she was just raped. The victim told officers that she was sleeping in front of OPCC when a subject pulled up in a vehicle and asked if she wanted something to eat. The female entered the vehicle and the suspect drove onto the 1600 Block of 5th Street where he sexually assaulted the victim. The victim was able to exit the vehicle and ran to the station.

Assault w/ Deadly Weapon – 400 Block of Colorado Ave. Officers responded to a radio call of an assault with a knife that just occurred. The investigation revealed that the suspect got into a verbal argument with his mother in the valet area of the parking garage. The victim tried to intervene and the suspect produced a knife. So What is the Deal?

We were alarmed when in 2021 signs were erected to communicate that an outsized development under the legal "Builder's Remedy" would be coming our way at Ocean Park and Lincoln and there was not a damn thing any residents of the affected neighborhoods could do about it.

Many of us attempted to object and went to meetings held to express our concerns. Futile efforts and the threat of forceful ejection by one or more uniformed cops present if one uttered a "boo" or a guffaw at the lunacy of such a bizarre remedy to our need for affordable housing.

Well nothing seems to be happening except the loss of several essential services that used to be available to local residents-namely a UPS outlet and a mom & pop pharmacy which relocated "due to redevelopment."

It will soon be 4 years since that sign advertising the forthcoming behemoth of a complex which will make for at least twice that many years of deconstruction/ construction noise, particulate pollution, traffic snarls and accidents than residents near the old "Stinkin' Lincoln" could ever have imagined.

What gives???

significantly higher costs. Overall, hosting beach volleyball could translate to a total net loss to the City of $12.1 million.

However, the exact scope of services or level of reimbursement is not actually defined in the Agreement, thus requiring the City to commit to providing services without understanding the required service levels or costs, which will be defined in subsequent agreements.

If the council gives direction to move forward, a finalized Games Agreement would come back for a final vote at a future meeting. Exact terms, conditions, costs and operational details would be negotiated in three additional future agreements.

Back in July, Council directed staff to return with a study session on the best ways to make strategic investments to enhance public safety and address our homelessness crisis. This was done in conjunction with placing a Parking Facility Tax measure (Measure K) on the November 2024 ballot.

The measure was originally rejected during the June 25 meeting, however, during the July 9 meeting Vice Mayor Lana Negrete — who had originally opposed it — asked the City Council to direct the City Manager to halt the process to identify tradeoffs and budget reallocations within the existing budget.

According to the staff report, the decision to place this on the ballot "was driven by the city's fragile financial position, facing unprecedented liabilities, deferred infrastructure maintenance, slow growth of tax revenues and an extremely competitive labor market."

If approved by voters in November, Measure K is estimated to raise an annual $6.7 million, at least half of which would be spent on public safety and addressing homelessness. In response to that direction, departments with lead responsibilities for public safety and addressing homelessness developed proposals with a "focus on programs and services that would be effective, make the most immediate impact in our community, and increase visibility into how the city is addressing these issues."

Other highlights include a public hearing and adoption of a resolution approving the California Municipal Finance Authority to issue revenue bonds for the benefit of 1634 20th Street LP, a developer of affordable housing in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $45,000,000 to finance the project.

Councilmembers will also hear the adoption of a resolution amending the Council rules of procedure regarding Councilmember discussion items pursuant to direction given at the Council meeting on September 10. The amended rules would require discussion items proposed by Councilmembers to be reviewed by the City Attorney and City Manager before being placed on the agenda.

There are also eight items on the Consent Calendar, so depending on whether or not any are pulled for discussion will very much determine the length of this meeting.

LAUREL

including the revitalization of Nikkei Hall as a dedicated community room.

Crafting the development in the Pico neighborhood was developer EAH Housing, alongside architect KFA Architecture. The People Concern works as the service partner for the site, providing tenants with life skills classes, budgeting classes and community-building social activities.

"The Laurel is a shining example of our collective ability to impact change and create a world we can all be proud of, a world where everyone has a safe, affordable place to call home," said EAH Housing Chief Real Estate Development Officer Welton Jordan at the opening event.

A $11.7 million Housing Trust Fund loan from the city, along with ongoing city housing vouchers, funded the project and brought the city's total PSH unit count to 181. A total of 98 more units are currently in development.

Out of the 57 who received the vouchers, seven were referred through the Los Angeles County Pathway Home initiative, a partnership between the city, the county and the Office of County Supervisor Lindsey P. Horvath. Mayor Phil Brock said that handing keys to those in the Pathway Home program back in February was "the most profound day" during his time on Santa Monica City Council.

"(Tenants) are adjunct college professors, art educators, filmmakers, tattoo artists and businessmen who struggled to stay afloat in their Santa Monica neighborhoods after life-changing events ... some have been street homeless in Santa Monica for more than 10, 15, and in one case, 25 years," Brock said. "Now, thanks to collaboration and hard work from so many of the wonderful people who are present here today, these folks have a safe and stable place to rebuild their lives."

That "one case" was Christopher Felts, who has been battling homelessness for decades in both San Francisco and Santa Monica, and was able to share his story with the bevy of supporters gathered at The Laurel.

"It can be very difficult to be unhoused," Felts said. "Several times I just lost interest and became discouraged because it takes so long ... people who have been homeless, especially (for) a long time, they need a little help. (That's what) supportive housing is all about."

The Laurel's community room is also inspiring for Japanese-American locals, as the space honors Nikkei Hall, which became a gathering space for American-born Japanese families in 1957. A place to celebrate heritage and mark special occasions, Nikkei Hall was designated as a historic landmark in 2018 and was acquired by EAH Housing a year later as an adaptive reuse project.

Integrating the hall into The Laurel complex, EAH stated, "highlights the importance of preserving cultural landmarks" and ensures that "the legacy of the Japanese-American community endures alongside new developments."

"Nikkei Hall served an important (role) ... providing space for people to meet socially and receive support services," said Steve Ohigashi, son of original Nikkei Hall member Yutaka Jack Ohigashi. The lone surviving original Nikkei Hall Board Member, Kazuko Sue Takahashi, was in attendance for the occasion.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 7)

Going forward, you'll apply increasing doses of courage to creating your beautiful life. You'll be particularly good at figuring out the exercises that build the strength you need and taking small steps that allow for repeated wins. More highlights: Fun new hobbies and friends will expand your support system and lead to interesting trips and shared adventures. Taurus and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 7, 16, 43, 33 and 3.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Your dedication will pay off in many ways — first in the feeling that you are where you're supposed to be, doing all the good work you possibly can, and next in the result.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). When you see someone applying themselves to the best of their ability, it's inspiring, no matter what the level of that ability may be. All you ask of people is that they try. Why, then, do you demand so much more from yourself?

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). As much as you would like everyone around you to be happy at the same time, it's not within your control, nor is it within the control of any individual. Still, a lot of good comes of your habit of just showing up, willing to do your best.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You're not sure whom you can trust, but trust is just a prediction about how a person is likely to behave in different circumstances. The more circumstances you encounter together, the better you will know what to expect.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You have responsibilities that can feel weighty at times, even burdensome. Even so, you get the sense that these same responsibilities are somehow making your life great. You're not wrong.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). There are certain people whose opinions matter to you. Even so, their nod of approval means nothing to you unless you agree with them. So the question is, what do you have to do to earn your own respect?

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You used to think happiness wasn't the sort of thing that could be so neatly measured, but today's cut-and-dried happening makes for some tidy accounting. One small change will make you 25% happier.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). If there is only one road between you and the destination, it's not like you can really choose your route. You can, however, alter it with timing, speed and whatever you can do about the atmosphere, especially the music.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). What starts from a place of passion soon becomes a very quantifiable aim with an entire set of plans behind it. This is how your dream will come together, by ticking one box at a time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). As long as this task hangs over your head, you won't feel in control of your time. Get it done and you'll be immediately lighter. You have an ally in fellow earth signs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You're likely to keep being annoyed by the same thing or person unless you take yourself away from the whole situation for long enough to get a fresh perspective. A change of scenery changes everything.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You care about people, and your kind heart shines through all you do, even the tasks that don't involve other people. Because the fact is, your loved ones are never far from your mind. They influence all you do.

ACCIDENTS

first time that an accident like this has happened, almost always because of a vehicle speeding. There are no confirmed reports of injuries and authorities are investigating whether the driver was under the influence at the time of the incident.

Maintenance crews responded quickly and were seen on Tuesday morning, installing a temporary chain-link fence to secure the area and reinforce the damaged section together with replanting vegetation that had been torn out during the impact.

And again on Tuesday, just before 4pm, there was an incident on the westbound lane of Olympic Blvd between Cloverfield Blvd and 21st Street. Early indications are that it wasn't serious, but traffic was shut down at the intersection by Ralphs, which caused significant disruption given the time of day.

An unspecified type of scooter was struck by a vehicle and there was a rumor on social media that it was a hit and run, which is false. The driver was cooperative and stayed on the scene, plus there was no DUI or any other kind of impairment.
