James 'Jimmy' Cooley, who survived terrible burn accident as a child, dies at age 62

GRACE INEZ ADAMS
SMDP Staff Writer

James 'Jimmy' Cooley did not have an easy life but despite years of physical pain and accompanying emotional trauma, he is being remembered by his family for the deep love he shared with them before his recent death.

In 1972, Cooley was a fifth-grade student at McKinley Elementary School on a camping trip in Oxnard when a can of flammable liquid placed on a grill exploded and lit him on fire, resulting in burns to over 80% of his body. Doctors were initially unsure if he would survive. Cooley did survive and recovered better than had been expected, but his sister Debra Cooley said the incident affected him throughout the rest of his life.

She said she didn't realize the full extent of it until later in his life when he was diagnosed with PTSD from the event as well as severe anxiety. He was also diagnosed with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), which eventually led to his death. Through it all, she said he remained kind and optimistic, always trying to cheer up those around him.

"Jim had a really funny personality, even when he felt horrible he would tell jokes," she said. "Sometimes just to be funny and most of the time to just kind of ease the worry that someone else was feeling for him."

She said one of his favorite jokes was his response whenever someone asked how he was feeling during his many hospital stays.

"He would reach over and he would squeeze you on your side or on your arm and say 'pretty good, I can feel pretty good,'" she said.

FUNDRAISERS: Celebrity figures like Sugar Ray Robinson and Wilt Chamberlain helped raise money for James 'Jimmy' Cooley after his burn accident. Cooley died this year.

He moved away from Santa Monica as an adult but his sister said he was a "Santa Monica boy through and through" and she is still grateful for the support the community showed her family following the incident 50 years ago.

"People we didn't know, businesses we didn't know just started reaching out to my family," she said.

Cooley spent months at the Sherman Oaks Burn center where he underwent skin grafts and extensive rehabilitation, the cost of which quickly added up to more than his family could afford.

Revised plan for 13,000 new housing units heads to council

GRACE INEZ ADAMS
SMDP Staff Writer

Following a months-long saga, Santa Monica City Council is on track to approve and adopt a revised version of the city's 6th Cycle Housing Element at the upcoming Oct. 11 meeting.

All cities in California are mandated to produce a housing plan once every ten years that outlines development guidelines to show capacity for more residential housing units to be built in order to hit state-mandated minimums as well as other state standards, such as low-income housing availability.

In February, the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) rejected Santa Monica's initial plan on the grounds that city-identified housing sites were infeasible. The HCD believed the City's plan relied too heavily on an unrealistic estimate of the number of residential units likely to be constructed in mixed use zones where it is permitted to put in non-residential developments.

That first plan, submitted in October 2021, identified 8,895 potential new housing units, 6,168 of which would be affordable. The revised Housing Element identifies 13,000 units of potential housing.

Food Bank's Hunger Walk returns to raise $100,000

GRACE INEZ ADAMS
SMDP Staff Writer

Westside Food Bank's (WSFB) Annual 5K Hunger Walk is returning to Santa Monica in person this weekend for the first time in two years.

The event's goal is to raise over $100,000 to fund the programs which provide hundreds of thousands of meals to individuals and families on the Westside.

The event has been virtual for the last few years due to the pandemic and CEO Genevieve Riutort said she is excited to get the in-person walk back up and running.

"The Hunger Walk is, first of all, a way for us to build community, it's a chance to see each other in person and really celebrate the work that we do, but it's also a really good chance to raise awareness," she said. "When you have hundreds of people out on the beach all wearing the same shirt, all walking the walk – it's a pretty visual statement."

There is no charge to attend the walk and all participants will be given a free T-shirt and "swag bag." There is no requirement for walkers to fundraise, but the organization encourages participants to create an online fundraising page through their website to solicit donations.

"If everyone who signs up asks 10 people to give $10, that $100 would create enough food for 400 meals," Riutort said. "So it's an opportunity to make an impact by going out and walking and putting

Celebrate Pumpkin Season at the Virginia Avenue Park Mini Fall Festival

Held on Saturday, October 15, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., the Mini Fall Festival, part of the Saturday Pico Farmers' Market, brings back community favorites and kids' activities to welcome the season.

The central feature of the event is the one-of-a-kind handblown glass pumpkins by Santa Monica College Glass Department students, available for purchase. Attendees will also have the chance to pick out a free pumpkin, one per family, while supplies last.

Other free activities include a family photo booth and a seasonal craft kit prepared by the Santa Monica Public Library.

The Pico Farmers' Market will offer its weekly fare of seasonal produce and prepared foods.

For event information click here or call 310-458-8688.

This event is presented in partnership with Santa Monica College.

Third Annual Arnold Maeda Manzanar Pilgrimage Grant, applications due January 6, 2023,

The Venice Japanese American Memorial Monument (VJAMM) Committee and the Manzanar Committee announce the Third Annual Arnold Maeda Manzanar Pilgrimage Grant for 2023.

Maeda, who passed on September 10, 2020, at the age of 94, inspired the Venice Japanese American Memorial Monument Committee on which he served as a charter member. Arnold proved to be a willing and articulate public speaker, and invaluable fundraiser. The VJAMM Committee dedicated the VJAMM on April 27, 2017, on the northwest corner of Venice and Lincoln Boulevards, in Venice, California. This marks the spot where some 1,000 persons of Japanese ancestry forcibly removed from Venice, Santa Monica, and Malibu, lined up with only what they could carry, for their day-long bus ride to the American concentration camp at Manzanar. Maeda remembered that day in his quote engraved on the monument:

"Instead of being worried about where we were going, I was obsessed with the fact that I had parted with my constant companion, my pet dog, Boy. For a fifteen-year old, that was unforgettably traumatic."

Despite the trauma of being forcibly uprooted from Santa Monica, and his family's losing their home and nursery business, Arnold distinguished himself at Manzanar. He participated in music and drama productions, lifted weights, worked as a kitchen helper and a hospital orderly, and became President of his Senior class of 1944 at Manzanar High School. After World War II ended, Arnold began to volunteer with the Manzanar Reunion Committee, the Santa Monica Nikkei Hall, and in 2010, with the Venice Japanese American Memorial Monument Committee. Grant applicants will get to know Arnold Maeda by finding his many interviews and articles online, and will describe his life and legacy in an essay, short story, or poem.

Applicants will address three or more areas of reflection: who Maeda was and how he became a role model for the Japanese American community; how Maeda's legacy has influenced the applicant; how the applicant will apply the lessons learned from Maeda to his/her life today; how Maeda's life in the American concentration camp at Manzanar compares/contrasts with the student's life today; how collaboration and service to others have affected the applicant's life; how and why working with the Manzanar Committee on the 2023 Manzanar Pilgrimage will help the applicant better understand Maeda's life and legacy.

Each recipient of the 2023 Arnold Maeda Manzanar Pilgrimage Grant will receive a stipend of $500 for their attendance at planning meetings, and for their participation in the Manzanar Pilgrimage weekend of April 28 – 30, 2023. Deadline for application submissions: January 6, 2023. All applicants will be notified of the judging results by the end of January, 2023.

To read the winning essays of previous Arnold Maeda Manzanar Pilgrimage Grant recipients, Leslie Aguilar (2021), Charlene Tonai Din and Terumi Tanisha Garcia (2022), please visit the VJAMM website at www.venicejamm.org for their links. To download the 2023 Information Packet and Application Form, please visit www.venicejamm.org or https://manzanarcommittee.org. Questions may be sent to: am-grant@manzanarcommittee.org

The Santa Monica City Councilmembers that put Measures GS and DT on the ballot don't want you to know the FACTS about their giant tax increase measures:

Measures GS and DT would raise rents on small businesses that are still recovering from the pandemic and are struggling with the cost of inflation.

Measure DT would raise funds that go directly to the City Council's pocket. The taxes from Measure DT are for unrestricted use by the City Council.

Measures GS and DT will increase residential rents throughout Santa Monica, which our residents cannot afford.

Measure GS adds a new layer of bureaucracy that the City does not need.

Measures GS and DT could increase taxes by 800% on seniors who have lived in Santa Monica for decades and are looking to sell their homes for retirement. Our seniors cannot afford this tax increase.

RESTAURANT REVIEW

Send comments to editor@smdp.com

RITA'S GATE OF INDIA

Years ago, Rita's Gate of India on 2nd Street was considered by many to be the best Indian restaurant on the West Side. The interior was very pleasant, there was a wonderful buffet, and the food was superb. I'm not sure what happened but the rumor was that she lost the lease and had to move.

The move didn't go well, the new space on 5th Street was not as pleasant, and there were some health code problems. I didn't go back there for several years. But recently I saw several great reviews, so I just went back for dinner.

I don't know how to explain the experience. The space is small and not all that comfortable. There is beautiful art on the walls. Comfortable Indian music is playing. There are strings of blinking lights on the ceiling.

The menu doesn't have many of the traditional Indian foods that I'm used to. And when we sat down the waiter advised us that they were short of staff and he was all alone (which was not true) and he was overwhelmed by having six tables to serve so we should expect at least a 45-minute wait before anything was served, except for drinks.

Not a promising start. But it was true. I noticed that only one of the six tables had anything on their plates. But we decided to stick it out, and I ordered a lamb curry and Judy ordered Tandoori chicken. When we suggested ordering one of the appetizers on the menu the waiter announced that none of the appetizers were available.

Beer and Pellegrino arrived. About an hour later the food arrived. It was superb. Both dishes were A+, and there were delicious condiments on the side. The lamb curry had just the right amount of spice (I like it hot) and the lamb was lean and cut into small pieces and was fork tender. The Tandoori chicken was just as it should be but twice as much as Judy could eat at one time. So, there was about half of each dish to take home for lunch the next day.

Rita hasn't lost her touch, but she needs more staff. When I asked the waiter about that he said yes, but they can't find anyone that wants to work for a salary they can afford to pay. I understand that and hear it all the time from a few businesses. Welcome to the new job market!

I don't plan to go back for dinner at Rita's for a while. But I do plan to order for take-out from time to time. Or maybe I will call ahead and order in advance before going in. The food is worth the effort.

COUNCIL

The revised element has been reviewed by the Planning Commission and City Council is required to approve it before Oct. 15 or risk the city losing its ability to enforce some zoning laws.

Also on the agenda for the Oct. 11 meeting is approval of Downtown Santa Monica (DTSM) Inc.'s fiscal year 2022-23 budget and work plan. The organization, which works with the City to manage services and operations downtown, has recently undergone staffing and leadership changes including the hiring of a new CEO, Andrew Thomas. The downtown area has also been a recent focal point of concern among some residents regarding issues related to crime and homelessness.

The new budget includes funding to hire a "dedicated full time Outreach and Mental Health Coordinator to engage with people experiencing homelessness" to address the issue and assuage concerns. The work plan also outlines DTSM's intention to work with the Santa Monica Police Department to implement a security camera monitoring program on the Third Street Promenade.

In addition, council will also be asked to approve an agreement to permit DTSM to install and operate a temporary ice-skating rink on City-owned land south of 5th street and Arizona Avenue for the winter season.

The council will also be hearing recommendations from City staff to authorize temporary use of private outdoor spaces for COVID-19 testing and vaccination as well as allow flexibility in permitting alcoholic beverage sales through temporary zoning ordinances. They will also consider making permanent several Interim Zoning Ordinances put in place during the pandemic to relax land use regulations.

The City Council meeting begins at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday Oct. 11. Visit https://www.smgov.net/departments/clerk/agendas.aspx for more information.

your feet out there but it makes it very easy to also do some fundraising and make an impact with your dollars."

She said that type of money makes it possible for the food bank to operate and feed the most people possible. $20,724 has been raised so far.

"We take that money and we buy food by the truckload," she said. "When you buy food by the truckload you're getting a much better price… that enables us to have the full range of nutritious food and really make sure that we're giving people good, solid, healthy food."

WSFB services communities all across LA's westside including Santa Monica as well as West Hollywood, Venice, Inglewood and Culver City.

"I think there's somewhat of a misconception that there isn't any need on the Westside, that everyone that lives on the Westside has lots of money but the truth is there's quite a bit of need," she said. "Not only are there the people that clean the homes and do the landscaping who may need access to a food pantry close to work, but there are also neighborhoods where people are really just struggling to pay rent… and that doesn't leave a lot left behind to buy food."

"We really find that our food acts as homelessness prevention," she added. "Because if we can help a family pay for food and we can provide them really good nutritious food on a regular basis, then whatever limited income they do have they can use to stay housed and meet their other basic needs."

This year is Riutrot's 19th Hunger Walk but her first as CEO, a position she took on in May of this year after having worked with WSFB since 2004.

"It's especially meaningful for me because getting the job at the Food Bank 18 years ago was the thing that really helped my family get out of poverty and become secure – food secure, housing secure, financially secure, secure period," she said. "So it's really meaningful for me to be able to give back and know that this event is helping other mothers and families like mine that just needed a little bit of help to get through a transitional difficult time."

The Hunger Walk is scheduled for Saturday Oct. 16 and will start at Ocean View Park, 2701 Barnard Way. Registration and check-in begins at 12 p.m. followed by live entertainment, activities, games and an awards ceremony. The walk itself begins at 2pm and a Beach Bash After-party is planned for afterwards and requires a ticket purchase. JIMMY

"My mom and dad were very middle class, my dad had a small pest control business, he didn't make a lot of money and there were four kids," she said. "So my dad didn't have thousands of dollars for skin grafting."

She said members of the community stepped up and multiple fundraisers were organized to cover her brother's medical expenses. Articles in the Evening Outlook from that year highlighted several of these events, which drew several celebrities including boxing legend Sugar Ray Robinson.

Local churches, scout troops and other groups fundraised as well through efforts including car washes and garage sales.

"It was just such a hometown feeling," Debra Cooley said. "Jim was the little boy who got burnt on a school campout and people just embraced that."

With the help of community support, he was successfully treated and released from the hospital, but his sister said it was not an easy road for him after that. He suffered through several more traumatic incidents including the suicide of their father. Debra Cooley said he never really talked to anyone about everything he had been through and eventually began pushing family and friends away and became homeless. However, in the last few years she said she and her siblings had reconnected with him.

"We really realized that Jim was just trying to survive and fighting the trauma and he just needed help, so my sister Donna and my brother Rich and I, we just rallied around him," she said. "We decided it didn't matter what was happening in our personal lives or our jobs – we were just going to help as much as we could."

The siblings saw Jimmy through multiple stays in the hospital for COPD and spent quality time with him before he passed away this September. The family now lives in Las Vegas, but Debra Cooley said Santa Monica maintained a special place in her brother's heart.

"He loved Santa Monica and the community loved Jimmy," she said. "Even though he suffered being burned and the other things that happened to him in his life, he still loved life and appreciated the blessings of having his life and he still tried to be funny and kind to the people around him."

She said it's important to her to share his story with the people of Santa Monica to let them know what happened to that little boy who was burned years ago.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 10)

Your cosmic birthday boon is a clear sense of what you need and the powerful vibrations to draw it in. You're able to get completely honest with yourself and figure out what's holding you back and what's helping you live your best life. More highlights: an excellent trade, a financial win and a level-up in matters of the heart. Sagittarius and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 4, 3, 33, 21 and 16.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Once again, the fastest way to get where you want to go will be the slow way. It's really no coincidence that it keeps happen like this. The truth of the matter is, rushing around helps no one.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Some things get better with use. Jeans become more comfortable with wear; the fit improves. Shoes that have been kicked around soften in all the right places, and hearts are the same.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). This is one chapter of your story. It's not the start or the finish; it's not the main meat of the action; it's just a connecting bit. Think of these days as setup and necessary exposition.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Whether a thing is a distraction or part of the main action has little to do with the nature of the thing itself and everything to do with your purpose. When you're aligned well, it's easy to tell what fits and what's superfluous.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). When you say, "no worries," you're directing the other person not to worry, not giving a true accounting of your own thought process, which may contain as many or as few worries as you feel like taking on -- your business entirely.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You can't find out who someone is in an hour, a day or even a lifetime. Take your time with relationships, with gentle invitations through which you'll get to know a person in a variety of situations over a long period of time.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You're moving the pieces around, trying to find the fit, sometimes getting a match and a click and sometimes not. Either way, the puzzle is coming together. The only time it's not is when you're not working on it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). When someone consistently does something that rubs you the wrong way but you don't say anything about it because you fear being seen as petty or weak, take this as a sign pointing to where you need to erect a boundary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Someone may think you've changed, and that's because they're observant. You've been working on a change, and now that it's well underway, you're likely to get a reaction from those who will need to adjust.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Be patient as you push forward through the many tones of this day. You'll experience moments of boredom, irritation, interest, excitement and more. You will move yourself great distances, one mile at a time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Maybe you know how you feel love, but you don't and can never really know how another person feels love. You'll be attentive, trying to read the signals that help you stay connected.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). One reason to set a boundary with a person is because it helps you keep your bearings in the situation. Another reason to set a boundary is because it reveals the character and/or maturity level of the other person.

Enrollment in a plan may be limited to certain times of the year unless you qualify for a special election/enrollment period or you are in your Medicare Initial Election Period. Not all plans offer all benefits mentioned. This ad is not from the government. It's from eHealth, an insurance agency selling plans from many insurance companies. For accommodations of persons with special needs at workshops, call 1-866-909-3627 (TTY/TDD: 1-866-660-4288). A licensed insurance agent will be present with information and applications. CHM Insurance Services, West LA Baby Boomer Insurance Services, Clear Financial Insurance Services, AGA, Avanti Insurance Solutions, Inc., and Paul Davis Insurance Services represent various Medicare Advantage (MA) and Prescription Drug Plans (PDPs) with Medicare contracts. Workshops are provided by the entities noted and are not affiliated with eHealth.
