Give thanks and to charity this holiday season

SCOTT SNOWDEN
SMDP Staff Writer

e thanks and to charity this holiday seasonThat the Thanksgiving weekend now incorporates seasonal spending opportunities, like Black Friday and Cyber Monday, is arguably an evitable and unavoidable step in the evolution of our capitalist culture. And if you're absolutely, positively hellbent on parting with some hard-earned this holiday, here's a refreshing alternative: give it to a worthy organization or charity instead.

Yes indeed, and while the occasion shouldn't really need a name, it has one.

And while it should realistically be known as Guilt Tuesday, it is in fact called Giving Tuesday and there are a number of local institutions that would be extremely grateful if you were able to donate a little, instead of taking out a second mortgage to pay for that 85-inch, 8K, QLED smart TV that you don't need. Not really.

For instance, while you're at home, on the sofa, cuddled up with your own beloved pet, maybe take a few minutes to make a donation to help out all the other little cats, dogs and other unwanted animals who don't have a home yet.

The Santa Monica Animal Shelter Foundation is in constant need of our support as they typically get about 500 intakes every year and they can come from a number of different sources, from rescues off of the city streets to returns because a pet can no longer be cared for.

Elizabeth Noble, Chair, Santa Monica Animal Shelter Foundation says, "We've had to step in more than ever the past couple months to purchase food and supplies, cover the cost of spay/neuter and vet care and we are still trying to complete the new turfed dog space, we need to add seating, sun coverage and enriching activities for the dogs."

The shelter recently completed an extension for the dog kennels and visiting area, but they're already looking to the next much-needed improvement project, which is renovating the cat and kitten ISO room and early estimates bring the cost over $50,000.

"We've also started a new program, Sponsor a Pet at the Santa Monica Animal Shelter," says Noble. "Most of the available pets are listed on our sponsor page [smasf.org/sponsor] with their bios and this is also a

Music excellence elemental during group anniversary celebration

THOMAS LEFFLER
SMDP Staff Writer

Any great music ensemble is the sum of its parts, the elements that concoct a compelling compound on the stage. One local group has expanded upon these elements, incorporating a wide array of instruments and influences throughout its two decades of excellence.

Elemental Music in Santa Monica is celebrating its milestone 20th season for programming in 2023-24, crafting curated after-school ensembles for elementary, middle and high school students. Over 3,000 students have participated in the nonprofit program that emphasizes both learning and community building throughout formative years, with multiple alumni eventually returning to teach classes as professional musicians and educators.

Beginning as part of the Maestro Foundation nonprofit, the program was encouraged to forge its own path, backed by community support to become a separate entity. Elemental's independence evolved under Executive Director Josephine Moerschel, who was originally a viola teacher before heading up the program in 2009. Moerschel began with around 25 students in the group's premier class, Elemental Strings, and now works with upwards of 70 students each year, creating two levels of orchestra in the Strings program.

"One of the great things of playing a stringed instrument is that you get to play with other kids right away," Moerschel said of her early experience with Elemental. "That

City Attorney and Rent Control Board making an effort to curb record high evictions

ANTOINETTE DAMICO
SMDP Intern

The Santa Monica Rent Control Board is looking for new ideas to address a growing problem with evictions caused by a combination of factors including expired pandemic protections, the economic fallout of multiple labor strikes and increasing inflation.

While the Board has its own attorney's, it does not have the ability to make new laws for the City and in an effort to strengthen Santa Monica's existing Tenant Protection Ordinance, the Board asked for the City Attorney to brainstorm ideas at their Nov. 9 meeting.

Representing the City Attorney's Office Consumer Protection Unit, Chief Deputy City Attorney Romy Ganschow and Deputy City Attorney Denise McGranahan presented a detailed plan to curb evictions with new additions to local rules.

Specifically created to target the causes of evictions in a post-pandemic world, the proposals aim to address a variety of evictions, including evictions due to small rental debts and unpermitted work, but also expand the standards for permanent relocation fees and buyout ordinances.

The attorney's said some landlords have manipulated tenants into creating their own cause for eviction through the permit process for work done in a unit.

"The landlord is the only one who can pull a permit in the city. And we have seen cases – and we have one right now – where the sense of camaraderie and friendship is a valuable one, and so I was delighted to be included in that original group of teachers."

The Elemental Strings season for grades 3-5 consists of learning how to play in an orchestra, with a final unit switching up to focus on playing chamber music, a smaller section which Moerschel notes gives more "independence and autonomy" to the young student experience. The director says that it's important for the classroom time to build a shared love of music, which requires engaging piece selection.

"I think one of the things that we are most proud of ... is that we work really hard to pick exciting, age and level-appropriate repertoire that students can be challenged by, but also master within a fixed amount of time," Moerschel said. "So there's a real sense of accomplishment for students as they go through the course of their study."

With the string group's success, Moerschel began hearing from band and choir families that wanted similar opportunities, necessitating an expansion of services. Elemental Music now includes Elemental Band for wind and percussion students, Elemental Choir, Elemental Guitar, the Academy Philharmonic for middle school students and a "prelude program" for beginners in violin, viola and cello. More advanced pupils can now take part in the Chamber Music Institute, giving grades 6-12 a shot at small ensembles like trios, quartets and instrument-specific ensembles.

Class expansion required the right teachers, including Elemental alumni and several Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District teachers. SMMUSD teachers Erin Wells, Jessi Spike Gravelle and Jason Aiello teach the Academy Philharmonic, Elemental Choir and Elemental Strings, respectively, with other coaches from SMMUSD also lending their voices. Having alumni return to the program to aid Moerschel gives the director a "very satisfying feeling."

"It's such a privilege to get to watch these students grow up," she said. "We are fortunate enough now to be able to stay with students for a very long time ... we have a real sense of longevity with an investment with these families and getting to watch (students) grow up is such a special, special gift for all of us."

In addition to its regular slate of concerts, the 20th anniversary will be celebrated at Barnum Hall on March 9, 2024, with a feature of all of the ensemble programs focused on the "shared experience of music making." The Elemental strings and band will combine to make a full orchestra, while a collaboration with Ballet Folkorico Flor De Mayo brings dancers to the stage. For more information on the group, visit elementalmusic.org.

landlord said, 'You need to pull a permit to do this, but we're not helping you.' And the whole reason for doing that is to get rid of the tenant. So we want to prevent those types of evictions," said McGranahan.

The most interesting proposal is their request to add "housing status" as a protected status under the Santa Monica Housing Discrimination Code, hoping to deter evictions if the tenant has either just left the streets, or could return post-eviction. According to the City Attorney's office "housing status" qualifies as "currently or formerly experiencing homelessness, currently or formerly living in transitional, temporary, or shelter housing, or lacking a residential rental housing history."

"Housing status is critical to add as a protected class because people who are unhoused or were formerly unhoused or don't have rental history or don't … live in transitional or temporary shelters. They don't have the track record that landlords require," said McGranahan.

Most of these proposals are modeled not only to target eviction, but also as homelessness prevention efforts. By limiting evictions for non-payment of rent less than one-month's rent, and making "housing status" a protected stance, the City Attorney's office is looking to tackle the most pressing issues facing the city.

"I can't think of a more better time that we need something like this, with so many people experiencing homelessness right now, with the number of evictions that are taking place, it's going to be really hard for the people that have been evicted to regain housing and get their feet back on solid ground," said Vice Chair Ericka Lesley.

The presentation received positive feedback from the board and the overall consensus was for more joint efforts between the City and Rent Control Board.

"I think we've always wished that this agency could have an active relationship – especially when it comes to issues of tenant protections, tenant harassment, and interaction and recommendations – to the city council... We really do appreciate the opportunity to partner, maybe at an even deeper level… We invite you to come back early and often," said Chair Anastasia Foster.

fantastic gift. You just click the donate button on our website and then in the Note section when you check out write the name of the animal you wish to sponsor. The donation will help with veterinary care, medicine, food, toys, whatever they need to help to keep them healthy and happy while they wait for their forever home. Sponsoring an animal is another way to help even if you are not able to adopt a pet at this time," Noble says.

Anyone can contribute and all donations are very gratefully received. The best way to offer assistance is to make a monetary donation at smasf.org to help cover the cost of veterinary care, surgeries and additional medical needs as they arise.

But with all of those little hungry mouths to feed, the shelter also needs kitten food and you can help, even if it's just a little bit, by shopping their wishlist on chewy.com.

Another option is the Santa Monica Pier, a non-profit organization, which invites you to become a vital part of its story and join its efforts to raise $10,000 as part of this Giving Tuesday.

"The Santa Monica Pier experience is founded upon memories," says Santa Monica Pier Corporation Executive Director Jim Harris.

Harris added, "The memories of those who enjoyed it before us, and the memories that are still being created today. Please help us to continue creating those memories."

Harris says that this is the very first time the Pier has organized a Giving Tuesday campaign and it's through donations from people who love the Pier and have enjoyed memorable experiences that it's able to continue providing its "I can't believe it's free" programming such as the Pier 360 Beach Festival, the Locals' Nights and cultural programs including the popular Dia de los Muertos Celebration.

Anyone interested in offering a little support can visit santamonicapier.org/support for more information.

Thanksgiving Thank You Notes

The Santa Monica community has a lot to be thankful for during this holiday season, and shared what they are thankful for with the readers of the Daily Press. The Daily Press staff wishes you and your family a healthy and happy Thanksgiving.

"I am thankful for the progress we've made as a city in 2023, it has been a year of tremendous recovery. I could not be prouder or more appreciative of the time, talent, expertise, and heart our city staff and community leaders have poured into recapturing and restoring the things that make Santa Monica so special. We are well positioned for a fantastic 2024."

-David White, Santa Monica City Manager

"I'm thankful for the community and so many passionate residents within our community. I'm thankful for all the volunteer groups in the city that help those out in the city every day of the year. And of course, I'm thankful for my family and their compassion in letting me follow my dreams to help everyone in Santa Monica thrive."

-Phil Brock, Santa Monica City Councilmember

"I am thankful to the voters of Santa Monica that have given us an opportunity to make this a better city. When our commitment to solving problems is greater than the problems we face, there is hope!"

-Oscar de la Torre, Santa Monica City Councilmember

"I am thankful for our one-of-a-kind communities we serve. I am grateful for the opportunity to serve as the Superintendent for the Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District. I truly believe we have the best educational partners, including our highly qualified and dedicated teachers, administrators and staff, involved and supportive parents, and members of our Santa Monica and Malibu communities who support our work, student success and who truly care about our mission and goals. Thank you all. Our students are wonderful and our future looks bright! I wish you and your loved ones a wonderful Thanksgiving."

-Dr. Antonio Shelton, Superintendent, Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District

"I am so fortunate to have a wonderful family, fantastic friends, and incredible work colleagues, and for that I am endlessly thankful. I am also thankful for our very walkable, enjoyable and eclectic hometown of Santa Monica. And, of course, the Pier - my longtime "home away from home" which always fills me with inspiration, enjoyment, and good will. For that I am forever grateful."

-Jim Harris, Santa Monica Pier Corporation Executive Director

"This is a time when I look back and reflect on the many accomplishments of SMMUSD and there were many. Thank you to all the SMMUSD Family! We wouldn't have accomplished them without you. Most importantly, I am thankful for good health, peace, and love for all."

-Maria Leon-Vazquez, President, Board of Education, Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District

"I am thankful for a community that cares and provides opportunity, access and experiences to all ages and stages, from our beautiful beaches to the historic Pier, DTSM activities, cultural institutions and programming, beautiful hotels and street festivities. There's something for everyone and it brings us together, uniting us as a community and cultural hub while at the same time giving back to our city and continuing its legacy."

-Michelle Edgar, Santa Monica Arts Commissioner

"I'm extremely grateful for having a supportive system of family and friends that are always there for me and by my side no matter what the circumstance is."

-Shiraz Benisty, Junior, Santa Monica High School

"I'm thankful to live and work in a community with amazing friends and with a community that supports the arts!"

-Dan Morales, Universal Music Group CIO and Santa Monica resident

"I am filled with gratitude for the continued, unwavering dedication of our school administrators, teachers, staff, parents, community members, and school board members. Working together helps make our district a great place to teach and a great place for our students to learn."

-Dr. Stacy Williamson, Director of Assessment, Research, and Evaluation, Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District

"I am still thankful that I do not live in Texas, for my two rescue kittens and my partner's sobriety. But most of all, not having to be on the 405 Wednesday evening!"

-James Walton, Studio Account Executive, Design Within Reach

"I am thankful for just getting to live in this beautiful city of Santa Monica! I am also thankful for being able to just drive down to the Palisades Park and watch the sunset!"

-Jacob Rose, Loyola Marymount University student and Santa Monica resident

"I am thankful for the entire Grant Community's spirit of collaboration and dedication to the well-being and education of our students. Over the last five years, the Gecko Nation has shown how positivity, kindness, and teamwork can make big change possible. Happy Thanksgiving to the entire community!"

-Christian Fuhrer, Principal, Grant Elementary School

"As my family celebrates our first Thanksgiving in the area, I'm especially thankful for the warm welcome from the community. I'm grateful for the collaborative spirit of giving back to lift up others."

-Hodge Patterson, CEO, Santa Monica Family YMCA

"I am thankful for the opportunity to serve in such an inspiring community of students, staff, and families."

-Tedd Wakeman, Principal, Webster Elementary School

"I'm thankful and lucky to live and work by the beach every day in a cavity where you can meet visitors from all over the world."

-Jeffrey Jarow, President of Santa Monica Sister City Association and Executive Board Member, Santa Monica Pier Corporation

"I'm thankful for my cross country team. We run miles and miles on end with each other every day, and they push me to do better. They make up who I am and I wouldn't be the same without them."

-Lucas Yarmand, Junior, Santa Monica High School

"During this time of gratitude and reflection, I acknowledge the legacy of the Tongva and Chumash peoples. May we celebrate diversity and foster unity during this season. Durante este tiempo de gratitud y reflexión, reconozco el legado de los pueblos Tongva y Chumash. Que celebremos la diversidad y fomentemos la unidad durante esta temporada."

-Alicia Mignano, Member, Board of Education, Santa Monica-Malibu Unified School District

"I'm grateful for my education, and the fact that I'm able to learn every day and have the privilege of having so many great teachers and resources around me."

-Aili Forster, Junior, Santa Monica High School

"I've lived in Santa Monica for over two years, and I love the community of people, the diversity from all walks of life, and the best selection of foods you can find anywhere in LA! There's also the best smashburger I've ever had by Heavy Handed! I'm thankful for being close to my family, who have all moved out from the East Coast with me, I'm thankful for the weather, I'm thankful to be healthy, and I'm thankful to live in such a wonderful community of Santa Monica!"

-Brian Hires, Santa Monica resident

"I am thankful for the privilege to lead as Principal at Lincoln Middle School, where everyday is an opportunity to inspire and empower this amazing learning community."

-Jose Cuevas, Principal, Lincoln Middle School

"On behalf of the staff of Will Rogers Learning Community, we are thankful for our students, families and community. With gratitude, we are thankful for the support and diverse contributions and perspectives we each bring to our thriving school community."

Ordinance Number 2764 (CCS)
(City Council Series)

AN INTERIM ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDING THE TEXT OF THE ZONING ORDINANCE TO REPLACE THE TERM "MEDICAL MARIJUANA DISPENSARY" WITH "MEDICINAL CANNABIS RETAILER", TO REMOVE CERTAIN REQUIREMENTS FOR MEDICINAL CANNABIS RETAILERS FOR CONSISTENCY WITH STATE LAW, AND TO PERMIT MEDICINAL CANNABIS RETAILERS TO DELIVER, CULTIVATE, AND SELL ADULT-USE CANNABIS OR ADULT-USE CANNABIS PRODUCTS TO PERSONS 21 YEARS OF AGE AND OVER

The following is a summary of Ordinance Number 2764 (CCS) prepared by the Office of the City Attorney:

The Interim Zoning Ordinance amends the text of Santa Monica Municipal Code Sections 9.31.185 and 9.51.030 to replace the term "Medical Marijuana Dispensary" with "Medicinal Cannabis Retailer", to remove certain requirements for Medicinal Cannabis Retailers for consistency with State law, and to permit Medicinal Cannabis Retailers to deliver, cultivate, and sell adult-use cannabis or adult-use cannabis products to persons 21 Years of Age and Over. It also makes other minor updates to ensure consistency with other code provisions of the Santa Monica Municipal Code.

The Ordinance will take effect thirty days after its adoption.

(City Council Series)

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SANTA MONICA REPLACING THE TEXT OF SANTA MONICA MUNICIPAL CODE SECTION 7.04.800 IN ITS ENTIRETY AND RENAMING THE SECTION TO "DEDICATION, EASEMENTS AND IMPROVEMENTS OF PUBLIC RIGHT-OF-WAY"

The following is a summary of Ordinance Number 2768 (CCS) prepared by the Office of the City Attorney:

Ordinance Number 2768 (CCS) ("the Ordinance") amends Santa Monica Municipal Code section 7.04.800 in its entirety and renames that section to "Dedication, Easements and Improvements of Public Right-of-Way."

The purpose of this change is to update the City's existing right-of-way code to reflect the City's current standards, as determined by the City Engineer. These changes provide for the orderly acquisition and improvement of the public right-of-way for the benefit of public health, safety, and welfare, and also provide proper circulation access for right-of-way users by preventing congestion and other hazards caused by impacts resulting from the development of land permitted in the applicable zones. The provisions relating to right-of-way acquisition and off-site improvements are deemed necessary by the City Engineer and must be provided by the private property developer or private property owner at no cost to the City.

KODÁLY, DIEGO, FRIDA AND FISHBONE

NIGHT AT THE OPERA: LA Opera's "FRIDO & DIEGO" comes to LA next week.

HIGHLY RECOMMENDED:

"FRIDA & DIEGO," LA Opera – Fresh on the heels of excellent stagings of chestnuts "The Barber of Seville'' and "Don Giovanni," LA Opera gives us more to be thankful for, a new production devoted to our favorite fun couple. Perhaps because of their proximity to LA, and our large Latin population, they have held a special place in our art hearts. Also, Hollywood loves a chaotic tale of love and hate, from a pair of mismatched geniuses. A Day of the Dead ghost story from Grammy Award-winning composer Gabriela Lena Frank and Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Nilo Cruz, resident Conductor Lina González-Granados commands a cast packed with international talent. I can't wait to see it, but holiday travel means I won't be able to give personal comment before it leaves. But I wouldn't miss this one for anything. Sun 2 p.m., next Thurs 7:30 p.m., Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, LA $89-274.

THE HOT CLUB OF LOS ANGELES – Looking for something different? But really good? And on a Monday? EVERY Monday? – "Hot Club's brand of virtuoso, Django-style 1930s gypsy swing jazz is found nowhere else and even if it were, it couldn't possibly be this good. These guys are masters, individually and collectively. You will find it hard to stop smiling all night." Mon 9 p.m., Cinema Bar, Culver City, no cover.

RECOMMENDED:

Ends today! - "THE STONES AND BRIAN JONES" – I usually don't check theater schedules but this sounds pretty good. A lot of times something of limited interest, no matter how good it is, will play only one week, but this is its second (and, alas, last) week, so, some people found out about it. Why didn't you tell me?! Stones co-founder and early leader Jones was a fascinating character responsible for much of the band's early and middle success, and musical innovation. But he plunged deep into substance abuse and was asked to leave the band, and died not long after, of drowning in his estate swimming pool, under very questionable circumstances. Much has been written about this, and I'm curious what this film has to say but alas I will be eating turkey in Tempe. If you saw it, please drop me a note. Thurs 1 p.m., 3:10, 5:20, 7:30 p.m., Monica Film Center, Santa Monica, $16.

PARLIAMENT FUNKADELIC featuring GEORGE CLINTON, FISHBONE – It don't get much funkier than this, and 40+ years after I saw them destroy their first club in LA, this cements Fis nhbone's place in the funk firmament. Fri 8 p.m., Novo Theater, LA, $50-80.

RICK HOLSTROM BAND with STEVE BERLIN – This trio has been packing the house and tearing it up every time they hit McCabe's, and no wonder. They may not have star name recognition, but the stars recognize them. Holmstrom was band director for 15 years for the genuinely legendary Mavis Staples, who has had Santa Monica drummer par excellence Steve Mugalian on the skins every time I've seen her. Mugalian can not only play any/every style of music, but play it expertly, and that's rare. Every time I hear a live band that catches my ear, I expect to see him there as I get closer to the stage. He has played on albums by Dave Alvin, Johnny Dyer, Rod Piazza, Lucinda Williams, James Harman, Pinetop Perkins, San Pedro Slim. The trio is rounded out

OpenAI brings back Sam Altman as CEO just days after his firing unleashed chaos

MATT O'BRIEN
AP Technology Writer

The ousted leader of ChatGPT maker OpenAI will return to the company that fired him just days ago, concluding a short but chaotic power struggle that shocked the tech industry and underscored the conflicts around how to safely build artificial intelligence.

The San Francisco-based company said late Tuesday that it "reached an agreement in principle" for co-founder Sam Altman to return as CEO under a different board of directors.

The board will be led by former Salesforce co-CEO Bret Taylor, who chaired Twitter's board before Elon Musk took over the platform last year. The other members will be former U.S. Treasury Secretary Larry Summers and Quora CEO Adam D'Angelo.

OpenAI's previous board, which included D'Angelo, had refused to give specific reasons for firing Altman, leading to a weekend of internal conflict at the company and growing outside pressure from the startup's investors.

The turmoil also accentuated the differences between Altman — who's become the face of generative AI's rapid commercialization since ChatGPT's arrival a year ago — and board members who have expressed deep reservations about the safety risks posed by AI as it gets more advanced.

"The OpenAI episode shows how fragile the AI ecosystem is right now, including addressing AI's risks," said Johann Laux, an expert at the Oxford Internet Institute focusing on human oversight of artificial intelligence.

Before the board was replaced, venture capitalist Vinod Khosla, a vocal Altman supporter whose firm is an OpenAI investor, wrote in an opinion column at The Information that board members had set back the "tremendous benefits" of AI by misapplying their "religion of 'effective altruism.'"

Some of OpenAI's board members over the years have had ties to effective altruism, the philanthropic social movement that prioritizes donating to projects that will have the greatest impact on the largest number of people, including humans in the future.

While many effective altruists believe AI could offer powerful benefits, they also advocate for mitigating the technology's potential risks.

Helping to drive Altman's return and the installation of a new board was Microsoft, which has invested billions of dollars in OpenAI and has rights to its existing technology.

After Altman's dismissal, the software giant quickly moved to hire him, as well as another OpenAI co-founder and former president, Greg Brockman, who quit in protest after Altman's removal. That emboldened a threat to resign by hundreds of OpenAI employees, who signed a letter calling for the board's resignation and Altman's return.

One of the four board members who participated in Altman's ouster, OpenAI co-founder and chief scientist Ilya Sutskever, later expressed regret and joined the call for the board's resignation.

While promising to welcome OpenAI's fleeing workforce, Microsoft CEO Satya Nadella also made clear in a series of interviews Monday that he was open to the possibility of Altman returning to OpenAI as long as the startup's governance problems were solved.

"We are encouraged by the changes to the OpenAI board," Nadella posted on X late Tuesday. "We believe this is a first essential step on a path to more stable, well-informed and effective governance."

In his own post, Altman said that with the new board and with Satya's support, he was "looking forward to returning to OpenAI and building on our strong partnership" with Microsoft.

Gone from the OpenAI board are its only two women: tech entrepreneur Tasha McCauley and Helen Toner, a policy expert at Georgetown's Center for Security and Emerging Technology, both of whom have expressed concerns about AI safety risks.

"And now, we all get some sleep," Toner posted on X after the announcement.

The leadership drama offers a glimpse into how big tech companies are taking the lead in governing AI and its risks, while governments scramble to catch up. The European Union is working to finalize the world's first comprehensive AI rules.

In the absence of regulations, "companies decide how a technology is rolled out," Laux said.

"Regulation and corporate governance sound very technocratic, but in the end, it's humans making decisions," he said, explaining that's why it matters so much who's on a company board or at a regulatory body.

Co-founded by Altman as a nonprofit with a mission to safely build AI that outperforms humans and benefits humanity, OpenAI later became a for-profit business — but one still run by its nonprofit board of directors.

This was not OpenAI's first experience with executive turmoil. Past examples including a 2018 falling out between board co-chairs Altman and Musk that led to Musk's exit, and a later exodus of top leaders who started the competitor Anthropic.

It's not clear yet if the board's structure will change with its new members.

Under the current structure, all profit beyond a certain cap is supposed to go back to its mission of helping humanity. The board is also tasked with deciding when AI systems have become so advanced that they are better than humans "at most economically valuable work." At that point, Microsoft's intellectual property licenses no longer apply.

"We are collaborating to figure out the details," OpenAI posted on social media. "Thank you so much for your patience through this."

Nadella said Brockman, who was OpenAI's board chairman until Altman's firing, also will have a key role to play in ensuring the group "continues to thrive and build on its mission."

As for OpenAI's short-lived interim CEO Emmett Shear, the second temporary leader in the days since Altman's ouster, he posted on X that he was "deeply pleased by this result" after about 72 "very intense hours of work."

"Coming into OpenAI, I wasn't sure what the right path would be," wrote Shear, the former head of Twitch. "This was the pathway that maximized safety alongside doing right by all stakeholders involved. I'm glad to have been a part of the solution."

The Associated Press and OpenAI have a licensing and technology agreement allowing OpenAI access to part of the AP's text archives.

Associated Press writers Kelvin Chan in London and Thalia Beaty in New York contributed to this report.

City of Santa Monica
Ordinance Number 2763 (CCS)
(City Council Series)

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SANTA MONICA AMENDING SANTA MONICA MUNICIPAL SECTIONS 2.24.110 And 2.24.220(g) To Delegate Authority And Adjust As-Needed Services Agreement Thresholds Based On Changes To The California Construction Index

The following is a summary of Ordinance Number 2763 (CCS) prepared by the Office of the City Attorney:

The City of Santa Monica's adopted Master Services Agreement (MSA) solicitation process has aided staff in expediting the work of roughly $16.1 million of small to medium sized capital improvement projects since inception in September of 2018. Through its use, staff identified further improvements which can be realized through changes to Santa Monica Municipal Code Sections 2.24.110 and 2.24.220(g). The first change allows the Director of Public Works to delegate the authority to issue task orders to defined designee. This change accelerates the commencement of small, relatively simple public works projects. The second change addresses ongoing construction cost escalation by having the task order and MSA thresholds, previously established in 2018, adjust automatically every year to the current California Construction Cost Index. The last change transitions references from Master Services Agreements to As-Needed Services Agreements .

The Ordinance takes effect 30 days after adoption.

The full text of the above Ordinance is available upon request from the office of the City Clerk, located at 1685 Main Street, Room 102, Santa Monica. Phone: (310) 458-8211.

The following is a summary of Ordinance Number 2765 (CCS) prepared by the Office of the City Attorney:

The Ordinance amends Section 6.203.010 of Santa Monica Municipal Code to allow a medicinal cannabis retailer that has been issued a medicinal cannabis permit pursuant to Chapter 6.203 of the Santa Monica Municipal Code prior to October 10, 2023, to deliver, cultivate, or sell adult-use cannabis or adult-use cannabis products, as licensed and regulated by State law to persons 21 years of age and over. The authority to sell adult-use cannabis products is limited to each annual business license term and is subject to Santa Monica Municipal Code Section 9.31.185 and any other requirements the City may adopt by ordinance, or administrative regulations or conditions in accordance with Santa Monica Municipal Code Section 6.200.040, including, but not limited to, any requirements related to social equity or community benefits.

The Ordinance will take effect thirty days after its adoption.

by bass man Gregory Boaz, and this night their special sit-in is the great sax man from Los Lobos (formerly with The Blasters), Steve Berlin. Sounds like a potent mix. Sun 8 p.m McCabe's, $28.

TOLEDO DIAMOND – Unique, riveting, first class act. There's nothing like it, it is high performance art and great decadent fun. Degeneracy is rarely so well disciplined. Toledo may have his trademark ciggy, but it's the band that really smokes! Sun 9:30 p.m., Harvelle's, Santa Monica, $12.

KODÁLY, DVOŘÁK, KHATCHATURIAN, MARTINŮ – OK, not Mozart or Beethoven, maybe you aren't familiar with some of these composers, but this is an all-star lineup of genius nonetheless, small group chamber music, mostly modern and adventurous, 19th-20th centuries, Armenian, Hungarian and two Czechs please. Optimism and joy, melancholy and grief, rhapsodic dialogues based on Caucasian folk tunes, a serenade that weaves modernist harmonies with Hungarian folk dances to create "a fairy world never dreamed of before," and poetic miniatures inspired by English choral music, filled with inventive textures and explosions of bold, pulse-racing sound. And Dvořák's String Quintet, written during his time in Iowa in 1893, which marries Bohemian style with music of the Iroquois and African American peoples. That's quite a trip for 20 bucks. Tues 8 p.m., Walt Disney Concert Hall, LA, $20-64.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 23)

It's palpable, this feeling you were born to motivate and inspire. You'll be grateful for past hardship because it enables you to understand and connect with people in a special way. You'll use your experience to elevate -- spirits, businesses, families, teams and more. More highlights: a wonderful trip, vows of love and a fun new hobby. Virgo and Cancer adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 6, 33, 2, 28 and 40.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You are most fulfilled when putting something into the world that wasn't there before. Inspiration is not about an exotic location or an exciting experience. The right conditions for creativity will involve a simple, repetitive task.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You're knowledgeable, connected and willing to help. However, you're also sensitive to the egos around you, some of which will require plenty of attention and care before they are ready to trust and hear you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). It's not as though you can let go of baggage once and it's done. We weave our way through life, making attachments, then releasing from them and making new ones as we continue to shape this ever-evolving basket of our existence.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Real power doesn't need to flex. You show your position by being easygoing. You project an aura of having things under control and people are drawn to the casual grace of your leadership.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Little do you know that you are someone's muse. Someone is inspired by you, or by a longing for your attention and company. You know the feeling, as you too spin emotions into creations.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You may think you want to make an impression on someone, but what's really happening is more remarkable. The reactions of others turn out to be irrelevant in the end. It's who you become when you strive to be and do more that matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Pitch your ideas. The better you get at pitching, the more likely you'll be to make a deal. The more deals you make, the better positioned you'll be to help people you love and love people you help.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Because you're strong, and you run with the similarly gifted, there are big personalities all around you. Feeling secure and confident as you do today, you will find a way to flip all interactions in your favor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Even though you could get by doing much less, that's not your style. For you, having more comes with the responsibility to give more. Your natural luminescence is bright, and you'll let it shine.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You don't need anyone to tell you what you've done right or wrong. You have a feeling about it and you're willing to honestly examine your own actions. If there's something to call out, you'll be the caller and the one who steps up too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You'll work best with people whose definition of success matches up with your own. If you suspect this is not the case, a lighthearted conversation could set things right. Everything gets easier when you find common ground.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You've strong powers of insight. The questions people ask you will reveal more about them than your answer will reveal about you. And if you pose the asker's same question back to them, you'll really learn fast what they're about.
