The Austin Regional Symposium is for individuals affected by Marfan, LDS, and VEDS and their families. Come learn about these conditions from medical experts in the Austin area. Topics to be covered include cardiac issues, aortic and vascular surgery, genetic testing, family planning and pregnancy, skeletal issues, physical activity, and more.

When: Saturday, April 13, 8:00 am - 3:00 pm Central
Where: Dell Medical School, Health Learning Building,
Auditorium 1.111, 1501 Red River St, Austin

In addition, there will be a Creating Connections luncheon so attendees can network with others with the same condition from the surrounding areas. This is a great opportunity to meet people like you in our community.

*Medical students receive free registration. Contact Eileen for a code to register.
