ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

As the YALD team would like to express our gratitude towards God the almighty for his presence in accompany us from the preparation stage, during and at the completion of our campaign program. We would also like to thank the Young People's Ministries of Discipleship Ministries for availing the funds to raise the campaign during this time of Covid-19 crisis. Acknowledgements also go to all young leaders, members of YALD and all who took the time to think, love, pray and act for/in the African Community during this campaign exercise. Special thanks goes to Rev Chris Wilterdink, Rev Dr Mike Ratliff, Armindo, Rev Collins E Ako, country directors, Orphanages that opened their doors to us as well as the Universities impacted in our communities. While many individuals and organizations provided support and assistance, we would like to offer special thanks to Young People's Ministries team and its Evaluation and Studies Section, which made substantial efforts in organizing and supporting our project. Appreciation also goes to National government authorities and in different Township for facilitating our visits and actions, members of YALD in-country, Team and the Advisory Group whose advice has proved invaluable. Particular thanks are due to Professor and Pastor Lombo, Mr. Prosper Chidemo, Mr. A Mapoissa and Rev Collins Ako who, in addition to their active participation in the YALD Advisory Group, provided invaluable support in organizing this awareness campaign of preventive measures to stop the spread of Covid-19 and to Mrs. Rufaro Rufu, Pastor Cesar Akoka and Mrs. Bonne Omba in preparing meetings, coming up with procedures of validation and collating feedback on the initial draft report from international level – a relatively rare phenomenon in such exercises. Finally, we add our sincere thanks to the survivors in the communities and national responders we spoke and shared to who willingly agreed to help maintain the preventive measures for better survival of individual and the community, console those with loss, trauma, courage and – most importantly – their hopes for the future. It is thanks to this support that YALD teams felt we were able to achieve so much in relatively little time. At the same time, we accept responsibilities for any errors, omissions or misunderstandings in this re

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1.1 Introduction

This report summarizes the Awareness Campaign on Preventive Measures to Stop the Spread of the Covid-19 virus which made a landfall in Africa from February 2020. This is the first part in a series of the pilot programs to be conducted by YALD in the crisis management as part of our major humanitarian, psychological, physical and mental assistance as a way of providing a message of hope. As a Christian based organization we hope this endeavor as part of many future initiatives.

Several meetings were conducted by YALD international team through social media platforms with representatives in member states most affected during April to May 2020. Information was gathered through a document review project. During the analysis of the project the team focused on objectives to achieve in nine most affected countries and where YALD is represented in different parts of the cities.

Undertaking such campaign in a complex and critical moment in these countries will invariably be perceived as blessing for young people, students stuck in Universities, children in the orphanages and old people most vulnerable. YALD team's objective was to raise Awareness Campaign on Preventive Measures to Stop the Spread of the CORONAVIRUS Pandemic.

1.2 Summary of Key Findings

YALD, like other development organizations, is best suited to capturing learning around how young African leaders have been working together and assessing the collective outcomes of their activities in their respective churches and communities. While it was necessary for YALD team to develop a good understanding of young people perception on Transformational development in the community in response of the crisis.

Evidence gathered, including project reviews, with some of the first steps in the community, were sent to the office of young people's ministries of the United Methodist church. After consultation with the office, the international YALD office was granted $15000 to cover the campaign program in nine countries listed above. And these funds have been largely an International response to preventive measures, led by YALD national members of international organizations.

Based on discussions the projects funds would cover purchase of food, hands washing buckets, sanitizers, face-masks and social media campaign, in Universities, orphanages, local churches, public transport bus stations, markets, hospital and television. That is to suggest the response was perfect in the impacted communities; however, the assistance was not as timely as it should have been, geographic coverage was not always consistent with needs and commitments made by national YALD members due to limited resources. YALD overall awareness campaign was that the response has gone well and appreciated everywhere we stepped.

Looking forward, three issues stand out as requiring particular focus moving into the next phase of YALD programs, namely YALD member members empowerment in entrepreneurship (Agriculture, commercial and Environment), community consultation, Covid-19 Risk Reduction.

This is in addition to improvements in YALD structures and practices that could facilitate a more effective response in the community as it transitions to recovery from Covid-19 crisis. YALD also identified one potential gap in community which is severe psychosocial stress in communities who have become acutely aware just how vulnerable they became due to Covid crisis and young people who resumed schooling.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1.2.1. Consultation and Capacity Building

YALD international office called for a zoom meeting with all country directors to inform about them the available funds from young people's ministries of the united Methodist church for the awareness campaign in nine most affected countries. Later all the members of selected countries were invited through zoom meeting for a strategy on how they would carry out the campaign in respect of the timeline and the objectives. This was a learning process which helped country directors and country members to move with confidence with the campaign in the communities. This is a first-time campaign done by YALD and is evidence of maturity within young African leaders. As evidenced by the ability to manage the project through monitoring and evaluation. Africa and the rest of the world had never faced a crisis of this magnitude in history and particularly the intense in planning and execution of this exercise in a short time frame. This includes YALD international members, since much of the response was (and continues to be) carried out by the national members.

1.2.2. Crisis Risk caused by Covid-19

The crisis in Africa was not just the Covid-19 As noted above, Africa had not experienced a crisis of this scale in living memory so it is not surprising that preparedness was weak. While communities were warned, continued lack of preparedness which is the result of vulnerability both mentally and physically. In this time, majority of young people lost their jobs, loved ones, parents, friends and important connections and opportunity, facts which are found everywhere.

The pandemic of Coronavirus has left behind frightened survivors acutely aware of their own vulnerability. Agencies implementing psychosocial activities report that, whereas the most frequent problem they were dealing with until May-June was shock, this has now evolved into significant anxiety about the prospect of continuous pandemic or another tragedy.

While YALD in communities confirm that beneficiaries appreciate the awareness campaign aid they have received, they are at the same time very clear that their priority is to return to self-sufficiency. Many potentially useful efforts and initiatives are currently underway to promote African Young Leaders within the church and the community, but there are challenges of startup resources.

1.2.3. Coordination

YALD project Coordination involved international office, YALD country members, state members, local community leaders, local churches leaders and Administrative management of Universities and orphanages and markets to facilitate the Awareness Campaign operations. Based on interviews of both beneficiaries and members along with a review of minutes, guidelines and tools, coordination has been relatively good at the continental level.

INTRODUCTION

Context and Background

The current pandemic is defining cultural and political moment for today's generation of youth. Many are leading their communities response to COVID-19. Indeed, young people are often at the front lines of responses in times of conflict and crisis. From feeding the poor and marginalized to using dance to manage psychosocial stress and trauma. Young people are implementing conflict-sensitive and innovative solutions to an unprecedented crisis.

At the same time, many young people are still excluded from civic, economic, and political decision-making processes, despite making up to 70% of the population of conflict-affected areas.

The pandemic will likely further reduce young people's access to many basic services and opportunities, such as healthcare, source livelihoods, education, and more. Compounding the structural and psychological "violence of exclusion" many youths already experience in conflict-affected contexts. Continued exclusion will hinder youth from having a bigger impact in supporting resilience and recovery from the current pandemic; in the worst cases, it may cause some youth to "turn to violent underworlds that offer alternative sources of status, recognition, and social cohesion."

As societies seek to build a new post-pandemic normal, governments face a stark choice: revert to structures that perpetuate the violence of exclusion against youth, or amplify young people's ability to improve trust between people and institutions, help marginalized communities, and prevent violence.

With the support of over 11,000 young people, search co-led advocacy that led to the awareness campaign.

Resolution 2250 on YPS (UNSCR 2250) in 2015. In West Africa and the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Search has also played a significant role in mobilizing young leaders who helped contain and respond to Ebola virus outbreaks by bridging the trust gap between government and local communities. Drawing from this expertise, this paper highlights the current and potential roles of youth during the pandemic, and provides recommendations on amplifying the positive contributions of youth in mitigating and recovering from the crisis.

COVID-19 Protection and Prevention Needs Longstanding exclusionary structures limit young people's impact as changemakers. In 2015, less than 2% of all parliamentary seats in the world were held by people under 30, while youth participation in electoral politics was nearly a third lower than the general voting population. This exclusion is felt even more acutely among youth of racial, religious, or ethnic minority backgrounds in their countries. Lockdown restrictions to combat COVID-19 may also hinder the ability of young activists from mobilizing peace movements.

As job losses due to the pandemic are expected to hit these populations particularly hard, unequal access to employment and livelihoods opportunities can exacerbate feelings of social and political injustice among young people.

The compounded effects of conflict, lifestyle disruptions, and physical isolation on young people's mental health can also be damaging, and in some cases may result in unhealthy long-term coping mechanisms involving violent attitudes and behaviors.

Because additional waves of the virus are possible, the effects of these vulnerabilities may be long lasting, even intergenerational.

The increasing use of information and communications technology (ICT) platforms during lockdown creates openings for false information, exposure to violent extremist messaging, or censorship. Though they are important tools for maintaining social contact and accessing important services such as education, these platforms can also create risks for young people, who are often the most frequent users of ICT.

Key Opportunities: Youth in Crisis Response and Peacebuilding Across the world, we are witnessing young people respond to the pandemic in innovative and awareness campaign ways. Young people can often operate in spaces where governments or the international community cannot, making them vital partners.

Ensuring that official health guidelines are followed and accurate community assessments are conducted is of utmost importance to combatting a disease like COVID-19. Yet, in many cases, communities often do not trust government experts and are often far more trusting of their peer networks.

INTRODUCTION

Funding

Based on discussions, with key informants from YALD and board of young people ministries an international agency of Umc Young People's Ministries, after observations and an analysis funding Partners concluded to fund the Awareness Campaign with an amount of $15,000 for nine countries listed above. Nevertheless, well-founded concerns exist amongst many international agencies about the availability of funds for ongoing needs and for recovery in future of young people. At the time of yald reflections, the bulk of the campaign funding was scheduled for one time and the project to terminate at the end of July 2020.

Some additional funding had been made available from country directors by their local contribution from and other donors were planning to make more available (local governments) but funding were quite limited.

Selection of countries and Distribution of funds

Process Selection was planned through a comprehensive roadmap of most affected countries which are yald member state. This roadmap should include key sequenced steps like identification of country directors and their relationship with the united Methodist in their respective communities and sign an approval faith agreement including the changes in the budget with local expenses availed by yald international office.

The funds will need to be used in each country selected and according to local context, but should at minimum include: As a first step, the meeting with yald country directors and their team leaders to identify strategic places to raise the awareness including a public place (market, bus station and so), Vulnerable people (orphanages, and remote areas) and Educational Institutions (Universities and schools). As second step, the team-work would create a collaboration with church leaders in order to guarantee the actions under yald in partnership with umc church and elaborate all requirements in order to have access in identified areas with the community leaders. As third step, buying the considered needs for the campaign and finally have the awareness done.

The funding is used strategically to support achievement of objectives relative to the awareness campaign priorities.

Project objectives and outcome

Yald collected data of the present which had a learning outcomes and systems building within country director's collaborations and with their team as well.

Objective

Organize a zoom conference meeting with countries directors and advisors of YALD of 20 different countries. The action was to inform them of the available funding for the awareness campaign to be implemented in selected countries. With a positive outcome through exchanges of ideas in order to have a good work done in these selected countries. The second zoom included only concerned country directors and there was a learning procedure of Development of disciplinary values love-action-reflecting-payer and Training of Leaders on different ways of carrying out the campaign to comply with instructions; to operate in the communities, the behavior towards beneficiaries and the good use of funding including the marketing tools with both logo yald and young people ministries.

YALD DRC REPORT

The covid-19 situation in DRC is increasing every day. Due to the very weak strategies of testing the population. However, the government has put efforts in fighting this pandemic. The first case of the coronavirus was discovered in Kinshasa the capital city of DRC in month of March 2020, withing the same week more than 10 cases were discovered as well in the same city at the airport. This unexpected situation brought an emergency state in the whole country, no personal travel except merchandises. The situation led to termination of work contacts, school, universities and most popular activities such religious, markets, sport places.

Due to massive population of over 11Millions in the city it is critical to test everyone due to the limited resources with the government. Now the country is counting more than 10000 cases and still uncertain due to none respect of preventive measures.

Yald is implemented in 8 provinces and 90 percent of YALD members are United Methodist Young Leaders and the rest are none umc members from other religious movement and civil society organizations:

1. Kinshasa
2. Central Congo
3. Kolwezi
4. Lubumbashi
5. Kasai oriental
6. Lomami
7. Kasai central
8. Kindu-Maniema

Yald has been able to implement a leadership committee in each province listed above.

With regards to covid-19

Pre-Campaign in the UCKIN University

We had a pre-campaign in the Christian University of Kinshasa, where yald has the office, here we were able to donate some drinks, washing hand bucket, face mask and sanitizers, where we met with foreigners' students from Cameroun and Central Africa with their appreciation to become members.

Yald has raised an awareness campaign of preventive measures to stop the propagation of the virus in Africa and funded by Young people Ministries of the United Methodist Church under the leadership of Chris Witherdink, and in DRC

The choice was Kinshasa the most affected city in DRC by the covid-19 with almost 95 percent of 11thousands cases.

Public campaign in the Sola Market

Public Campaign in the market of Sola which is located in Ngaliema commune, Ozone Mbiza Area, where yald raised the campaign to tell sellers and those who were buying to keep the preventive measures because the disease is real.

We donated face-mask, washing hands buckets and stands and sanitizers, See the pictures.

Awareness campaign in INBTP and UCKIN Institution

YALD raised the campaign in two different Universities where students were stuck in the campus due to long distance of their home places in foreigner countries or cities from a very long distance.

We went to UCKIN, Université Chretienne de Kinshasa where we met with students in campus and offered to them face-mask, sanitizers, washing hands bucket and some foods. We also met with the management committee of this higher education institution. this is where we ended the first series of awareness campaigns. it is in this university where there is the office of the president of YALD and head office. it is in this university where we took the first step of raising awareness with students confined to homes. We received the opportunity to train the students of this university in community development by organizing exchange workshops and conferences in partnership with the management committee of the university and YALD.

INBTP is an institution that trains engineers in construction and sustainable development. Here we visited the young girls confined to the home, for the reason that they do not have homes in the city and some of them are foreigners from neighboring countries of the DRC, Congo-Brazzaville, Central African Republic and Gabon, there are a total of 15 girls including 5 from Brazzaville, 2 from Gabon, 3 from the Republic of Central Africa and three from the city of Bandundu, approximately 200 kilometers from Kinshasa, the capital. Being an international organization, we thought of these young girls and by raising awareness of preventive measures against the coronavirus pandemic, we shared with them a food rice, corn, oil, hand washing bucket, sanitizers, masks, soaps and a small envelope for primary needs such as the purchase of hygienic items. it was with emotion that the Academic Secretary accompanied by the Administrative Secretary gave the opportunity to YALD to multiply conferences on personal and community transformational development with students after confinement and these conferences and workshops will be supported by the management committee in partnership with YALD.

Awareness Campaign in the Coeur d'une Mere Orphanage

We have been able to reach out to an orphanage of 50 children from age of 1 year to 14 in Bandal commune, GB area, and we donated food, face-mask, washing hand bucket and sanitizers. the visit focused on the campaign to raise awareness of private measures against the Coronavirus. These children who had nothing to eat but found thanks to God through the support of the young people ministry for two months' food.

Awareness Campaign in YMCA-YWCA Medical Center

We then went to a hospital which treats covid-19 and Drepanocyte children where we donated a fridge to protect blood, food for children, sanitizers, washing hand bucket and face-mask located in the remote area of Kinshasa in Kinsenso, we visited a hospital of a member of YALD, medical center YMCA, this center deals with anemic children and other services, the center has an internal orphanage of 50 children and 100 children who just comes to eat and returns to their home. we thus organize this descent with food, and other tools of preventive measures, we gave the porridge to these 150 children with bread and

Impacts of the Actions in the Community

Stories of the effectiveness of community engagement efforts

The project impacted in all area we have been able to visit, at the first place which was the public market, the action was more than positive, where every person in the market would say you are the first organization to bring us face mask and washing hands, at university and orphanages the actions were powerful and effective. YALD had an opportunity to have partnership with the two universities and the local community leaders to supporting us with other community programs.

Lessons learned as young leaders in the UMC

Young Methodist leaders as part of yald leadership and members, were able to achieve the objectives and meet the needs of different categories of people in the community during the very hard time in the community. We learned that love can go beyond our beloved for the need of another brother or sister around our community. And also understand that young people can bring transformative change in the African community and the world in general.

Reflections on how this project affected discipleship and connected with new people, who are not currently members of the UMC

Through this project yald was able to register a big number of new members, of whom the church will be beneficiaries and through these opportunities umc young leaders are given chance to impact the communities, impacts which will promote umc values as well as making disciples as based biblical organization. We got students as new members, the market administrators and many sells women, including many of young people addicted of drug in the remote areas.

Notes on relationships that developed at the Central Conference Level, Annual Conference Level, District Level, or Local Church Level of the UMC

Yald has been able to develop relationship with all levels in the umc, and the actions honored the church leaders as well The main objective of this project on Awareness Campaign on Preventive Measures to Stop the Spread of the CORONAVIRUS Pandemic is to tell our friends, beloved ones, fathers, mothers and everyone that the coronavirus is real and it kills, let us protect ourselves in order to protect others.

Conclusion and Recommendations

It was not easy to meet these objectives due to limited resources, and limited human resources to carry out the campaign in other remote area.

We are recommending to yald to organize more of these actions to connect young people in the communities. Yald would need to organize several trainings in self-support and generate incomes.

Next step of the awareness campaign

YALD DRC continues with the Awareness campaign of preventive measures to stop the propagation of covid-19 in the rest of the cities in which yald is implemented until the end of August

YALD ZIMBABWE REPORT

We did awareness campaign and preventions measures of COVID-19 through teaching people on how to avoid this pandemic COVID19 disease which has affected many people's lives. Now, during this crisis, we have no time to sit and watch millions of Africans die because they are not informed or they are not in possession of a masks or liquid soaps to wash hands every day. Instead we felt we should participate by putting love in action.

Being trained to be an ordained pastor within the UMC, this was a good opportunity for me to practice what I have learned and still learning at school (Africa University) since Church and social transformation has to be our life's style said pastor Cesar. As we all know that this pandemic (COVID-19) has caused economic crisis all over the world so there are some people who are actually facing serious challenges to get information needed in order to prevent this pandemic.

The aim was to reach vulnerable people who may not be aware on what to do in order to avoid this deadly diseases (COVID19) visiting an orphanage to donate food and hygiene packs needed to fight the spread of COVID-19 visiting a mission school to donate food and hygiene packs needed to fight the spread of COVID-19

Impact of actions in the community

Donations to the orphanage will make it possible for over 30 children at the orphanage to protect themselves against COVID-19 while having enough nutritional food. The donations at the mission will help congregates including youth from the missions and villages to worship in a safe environment as they are able to prevent the spread of COVID-19.

Conclusion and Recommendations

Difficulties

The COVID-19 pandemic made it difficult for YALD to get into the communities hence limiting the number of people that YALD could reach out to. In order to ensure social distancing, less YALD members were engaged for the activities.

There is scope to help more people in need during this COVID-19 pandemic. More resources need to be mobilized in order to reach out to more people. There is need to register YALD in Zimbabwe in order to regularize its work.

Phase 1: Awareness of Local population

This was done on Sunday 21st June 2020 where we gathered around forty (40) people of with local authority of BUSIGARI Cell in CYANZARWE Sector RUBAVU District in western province of RWANDA.

YALD Team has started by recalling those peoples the world health organization (WHO) and Government recommendation for fighting against the spread of COVID-19 include washing hands regularly, social distancing, and to wear face masque. After that YALD donate the following: Face masks to 30 people where everyone has received 2 masks, Buckets and their stands and Liquid soap

These donation (Liquid soap, Buckets and their stands) remained at BUSIGARI Cell office and will facilitate people in washing their hands while arrived at their office of cell

Phase 2: Donation to UMC Churches in Gisenyi District

This was done after the meeting with YALD members referring to the situation of universities where all students went to their homes due to COVID-19 and considering that Churches are preparing to reopen in few days we preferred to donate to UMC Churches this donation reserved to international and local students stranded in campuses

Therefore, on 27 June 2020 after explain to attended Pastors the measures of fight against the spread of COVID -19 YALD has donate the following sanitary martials to churches: Buckets and their stands, Liquid soap and Hands sanitizer.

This Donation will be used in churches by church members during church services in order avoid the spread of COVID 19.

Phase 3: Visiting orphans in UMC/ Kibungo District

This was done on Saturday 11 july 2020 where YALD Team have visited orphans of Remera and Rwinkwavu churches in Kibungo district /UMC Rwanda provisional conference. After introducing to them the main measures to fight against the spread of COVID -19 YALD have donated to them food and hygienic items as follow: Cornflour, Beans, Cooking oil, Bar Soap.

Impact of actions in the community

Stories of effectiveness of community engagement efforts

The program/awareness impacted positively in all three (3) phases as I have said above ,in phase I where YALD/RWANDA met local population with their Leaders in that meeting we create a relationship with those Local authorities and we inspired youth in that place towards community activities .The same as the remaining phases where we worked in two (2) district of United Methodist church where we donated Food and hygienic materials in these two phases we inspired people especially youth we get known in different side of RWANDA .

Lesson learned as young leaders in the UMC

Young leaders in UMC Rwanda provisional conference especially in two visited districts (GISENYI AND KIBUNGO) learned the following from YALD:

Togetherness: this was declared by Youth in Kibungo District where they are going to look for small contribution so that themselves, they will continue in supporting the most vulnerable people in their church.

YALD RWANDA REPORT

Reflection on how this project affected discipleship and Connected with new people who are not currently member of UMC

Due to the majority of YALD Rwanda are UMC members, some of the visited population was interested to know our worship place therefore by the reopening of worship place we will get some of them. Since 2015 Rwanda is pausing a national policy of child “deinstitutionalization” where orphanage will gradually have closed due to research shows that orphanages cannot provide care to children to develop their fully potentials reason why the visited orphans lives in families therefore, they will tell people grace God through the received donation

Notes on relationship that developed at the central conference level, Annual conference level, District level and local church level of UMC

As I have said the part of this program we worked in two district of UMC Rwanda provisional conference where we supported in needs of churches in this period of corona virus directly YALD Rwanda created a strong relationship at annual conference level, at two district level and at local church level (example of Remera and Rwinkwavu)

Conclusion and Recommendations

Challenges

In his policy of fighting against the spread of corona virus during the period of our awareness campaign on COVID-19 the government of Rwanda Did not allow anyone to gather many peoples, even churches were closed therefore our purpose of reaching to many people as possible was not achieved

Recommendation: Due to the process of looking for license or registration as Organization in Rwanda is expensive therefore YALD main office should help us in both advice and financial. The many people are still facing the challenges caused by this pandemic and we have not reached everywhere due to limited fund, in case of other fund we are ready to continue the awareness.

Impact of Actions in the community

Stories of the effectiveness of community engagement efforts

We are glad to see most of the communities especially those who are living in town were able to understand what is going about pandemic diseases but on other villages especially at Ilula some of the families believe that there is no corona virus which results most of the people to continue on the usual works. But another thing we realized each shop has bucket and liquid soap for washing hands which give us positive picture.

It creates awareness among people on covid 19 on its causes, transmit ion, and preventive measures. The engagement of the community on fighting against covid 19 paved a way towards minimizing the effects of the pandemic to the community through education on awareness and materials support during this pandemic era.

Lessons learned as young leaders in the UMC

The lessons we learned as young leaders is that; most of the people from villages are not aware about this pandemic disease, so it was hard time we experienced during our trip to explain to the people, but the good thing on two primary schools we visited they instructed to all students to come with masks and sanitizers.

Another lesson we experienced is new culture, environment and new people, at IOP most of them were aware about corona virus.

As young leaders we have the huge tasks of ensuring the well-being of the society more especially the needy of individually in hard situation like covid 19 pandemic our support is really important.

Solidarity is necessity for human's life prosperity.

As young leaders our role towards is to change the communities with positive ideas and make the world better place is very crucial and it's not something to be neglected, we have ability, faith and spirit of bring changes

Reflections on how this project affected discipleship and connected with new people, who are not currently members of the UMC

In real sense through this project we got connected with various people from various universities and from various denominations further more I like most we served the community with Muslim Yald members which made each one of us to feel the holly sprit is working on us in different way.

Through this project we got to learned various experiences, games, by allow ideas and suggestions from other young people in order to make everything to move. This means we can do the transformation of the world with other people without base on the youth from UMC.

We had great time to interact with many people especially youths and children we shared our perspectives and views on the pandemic and life in general.

Conclusion and Recommendations

Every moment was hard to explain to the people about covid-19 as you know very well that our president announced to close the national laboratory for testing covid-19 and other special hospitals prepared for victims so everyone takes it easily.

It take long time to get the reply of our application when we are asking for the visitation, because their office want to know our roles and status in the community to get trust with our works, but I am glad several time we use the word we are scholars from all universities from dare salaam was sound good to their mind.

YALD IVORY COAST REPORT

Recommendation

Our recommendation is to continue to working together faithfully find out the solution for our country to get legal documents for registration. In Côte d'Ivoire, despite the government's efforts to fight COVID-19, the pandemic is still gaining ground, and many are still disputing the reality of this disease. Conscious of the fact that the ultimate solution to reduce evil is collective commitment, YALD Côte d'Ivoire thanks to the financial support of the Young People's Ministries has launched in Abidjan, an awareness campaign on respect and application barrier measures in the municipalities of Abobo and Koumassi on the theme: LA COVID-19 is not an illusion.

ABOBO / ORPHANAGE CENTER CANAAN - Abobo Akeikoi

In this vulnerable place we Show solidarity with orphans by educating them on the barrier measures and the importance of respecting them and we also brought donations to relieve them and support them in stopping the spread of covid-19. We raised the awareness with children and supervisors of the center on the coronavirus, its symptoms, the behavior to be had at school, the measures to be respected to avoid it, etc. we trained them on the different stages of hand washing And gave Donations.

Donation in kind of hand washing bucket, gel estimated at...

Composition: face mask, Soap gel 1l, Hydroalcoholic gel, Concentrated tomato, Rice, Oil 1l, Milk powder, sugar, Hand wash bucket, Pasta, and Milo.

KOUMASSI - Camping area

YALD ivory coast team Showed solidarity with families with low monthly income from the Methodist Church and there we gave Donation followed by awareness raising in families food kits and health kits were given to Methodist families.

BETHANIE by Koumassi Prodomo

Support families and distributed muffler kits to neighborhood residents in the camp area. We shared sanitizers and masks on the streets of the camp area.

ABOBO / UMC City of Hope of Abobo-Gare

Yald team Sensitized young people on COVID-19 in order to educate them and mobilize them to adopt responsible behaviors we also shared with them on how they are exposed as much as the elderly. There we Communicated fair and true information on the pandemic so that they are better equipped to raise awareness among their members and their loved ones. Influence their conception of this disease, their attitude and their habits. We created a Panel of Training Exchanges with 24 youth leaders from churches and civil society.

We gave a donations of health kits to each person in charge of these organizations and to the guests. Hydroalcoholic gels, Muffle Soap gel in order to be a development actor.

We also donated tools for preventive measures to umc Pastors at Abobo-Gare and guest speakers

Present the importance of respecting preventive measures in train station and Remind people that the disease is real;

We did a public awareness plus distribution of health kits including face masks, sanitizers in the streets of the neighborhood

3 hand gel soaps given to shops and encourage people to be tested voluntarily in case of signs and symptoms;

Over the three stages, we carried out five different actions in favor of the targeted people. In total, these are: 310 mufflers 304 hydroalcoholic gels and 42 know gels that we have distributed. And more than 400 people who were sensitized and received a donation from the YALD to protect themselves against the coronavirus.

Impact of Actions in the Community

Stories of the effectiveness of community engagement efforts

At the Center Canaan Orphanage in Abobo-Akeikoi, we worked especially with the children. We were worried they weren't following, but they were kind and very wise. They took the training and were able to memorize and quote the barrier measures. Also, they were able to apply the 10 steps of hand washing in a practical exercise. This orphanage since the outbreak of the crisis has received no subsidy or donated health kits. We were well received and our passage was a relief for them. because children lacked washable mufflers to get to school.

As for mass awareness in the streets of Abobo, we were at times overrun by young people, children, adults, who each wanted to obtain kits. But we were able to calm the crowd and satisfy everyone. For these populations, who for the most part do not believe in the existence of the disease, buying a muffler or hydroalcoholic gel is not a priority especially since they are people with low monthly income or without income for d' other.

In Koumassi, in families, in the market and in the streets, the populations greatly appreciated and saluted our action. For those who had doubts about the existence and manifestation of the disease, they were able to have clear answers and benefit from kits to ensure their protection.

While the challenges were unique to each place, our teams were able to convey the message which is: COVID-19 IS NOT A LURE. As a reminder that this disease is real and that we need to adopt new behaviors to stop its spread.

Lessons learned as young leaders in the UMC

The greatest happiness is to be a source of blessing for others.

As young leaders, we have all the potential required to help and grow our communities.

We have a big role to play, a special place to occupy, and we must occupy it and play that role.

Support from partners increases the capacity of youth organizations to act and have impact.

A good commitment leads communities to take ownership of their well-being and their health.

Different approach strategies are needed to reach different populations (their needs and their living environment must be taken into account).

Reflections on how this project affected discipleship and connected with new people, who are not currently members of the UMC

It was an opportunity to share our faith and our love, to recall the love of God for them, and to assure them of the grace of God available for them. To love is also to give, to share with others, hence these distributed gifts.

In view of the numerous information circulating in the media, the populations are frightened and fear for their lives. It was necessary to restore their confidence and encourage them to trust in God.

Notes on relationships that developed at the Central Conference Level, Annual Conference Level, District Level, or Local Church Level of the UMC

Very good relations have developed between the beneficiary local churches and us. We have obtained facilities to work easily.

Conclusion and Recommendations

Everything went on well as planned.

YALD CAMEROUN REPORT

Our hypothesis is that most organizations have not put much attention on this area since it has not recorded many cases of Covid-19 compared to other regions. However, we (YALD), saw the need for the sensitization in order to prevent any future spread of the virus as a result of ignorance of basic information like respecting hygiene and sanitary rules against this deadly virus. We felt it was our responsibility to make them understand that the fact that they have not been hit hard by the virus does not mean it cannot happen to them in the future

Visit to the philanthropic orphanage

Molyko is a very busy place filled with lots of students and different business men and women. It has a motor park with a road that leads to one of the biggest markets in this area. The frenzy of activities in this motor park and the big crowd it attracts is a potential threat to the spread of the virus. It was also an easy target for my team since gathering people for the sensitization campaign was easy and reaching out to many people was guaranteed. We are glad to confirm that our objective was achieved.

Main campaign activities

Educating the taxi drivers about personal measures to keep safe from contracting the virus with emphasis on social distancing. Demonstrating recommended ways of proper hand wash using soap and water. Demonstrating how to put on the mask and correct the common mistakes people do when using facemasks Handing out facemasks, Sanitizers and a hand washing bucket with detergent soap to serve the motor park and we extended the same to the surrounding vendors and interested passersby

The Grace of God Philanthropic Orphanage and a Rehabilitation Center for the Blind.

What influenced the choice of these locations is the need to also reach out to people who might be confined in one place. These includes, but not limited to, those confined due to the crisis or not.

We desired to reach out to marginalized groups with special need in our society. A place where we could extend a hand of fellow and remind ourselves about the love for one another that Jesus Christ taught us. A place where as we share our stories, we draw strength from each other as we remind ourselves that we complete each other despite our differences in ability or circumstance. We aspired to reach out to people through material support so that they will understand that even in a time like this, when the entire world is in chaos because of the deadly virus, there are people who hold them dearly at heart. Needless to mention, we are all called to be our brother's keeper in all times.

Main campaign activities

We opened with a brief presentation on COVID-19, detailing how the virus is contracted, spread and how to protect ourselves and our loved ones from falling victim

We shared briefly about the objectives of YALD and how we use the platform to spread the ministry of God. We Donated food stuff and toiletries (as bags of rice, cartons of tomatoes, vegetable oil, Maggi cube, nuts, sanitary pad, toilet papers, soap etc.) to the rehabilitation center and the children's home as material support to the institution as well as means to support sustainable living while staying at home. We handed over face masks, handwashing bucket and sanitizer and we gave demonstration on proper use of facemasks and handwashing.

care and think about them especially in a period like this when the world is in fear and need. They were happy knowing that their condition is not seen as a source of mockery and shame.

Impact of Actions in the Community

Stories of the effectiveness of community engagement efforts

The whole campaign was yet another platform to demonstrate the need for active youth involvement in responding to social needs. The unity demonstrated by the team members was a reminder of how much can be achieved when we are all willing to participate, to support one another and to be selfless in our work through Christ.

Lessons learned as young leaders in the UMC

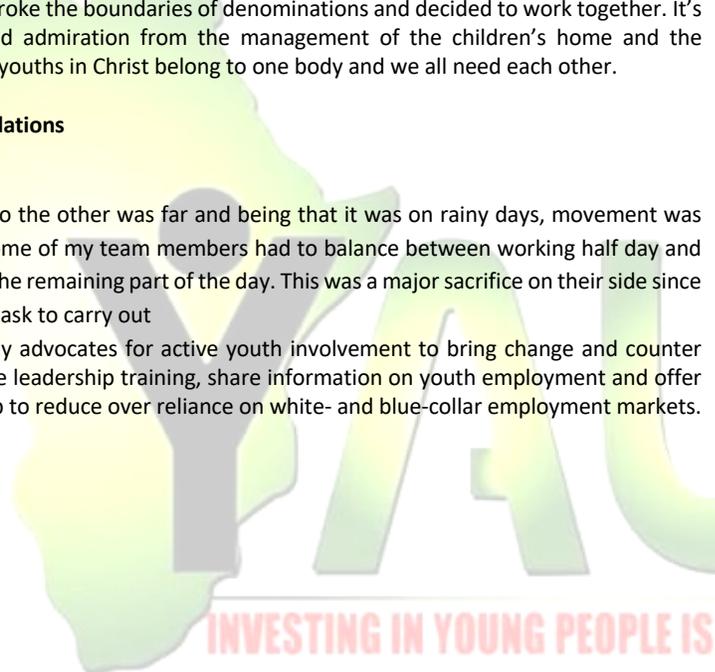

Regardless of our denominations, we are all called to be disciples of God. This was a clear lesson for all of us in the group as we broke the boundaries of denominations and decided to work together. It's a positive stand that earned admiration from the management of the children's home and the rehabilitation center. We as youths in Christ belong to one body and we all need each other.

Conclusion and Recommendations

Difficulties

The distance from one site to the other was far and being that it was on rainy days, movement was really difficult and messy. Some of my team members had to balance between working half day and joining us in the process for the remaining part of the day. This was a major sacrifice on their side since each member had a special task to carry out

In conclusion, YALD generally advocates for active youth involvement to bring change and counter social injustices. We organize leadership training, share information on youth employment and offer training on entrepreneurship to reduce over reliance on white- and blue-collar employment markets.

YALD SIERRA LEONE REPORT

The YALD Awareness Sensitization Campaign in Sierra Leone was a success story. Its essence was not only timely, it was also considered one that helped narrowing the gaps that could endanger many lives in the midst of the raging Covid-19 pandemic. The Government of Sierra Leone has done all in its power to combat and extinguish the virus. There are however hard-to-reach areas that the Government can only reach in a matter of time, and since the raving virus knows no bound, the unreached areas qualified as disaster prone areas by every indication. It is in such yet-to-reach areas that the YALD initiative made its presence felt in a caring, loving, and life-saving way. The YALD committee of ten (10) in Sierra Leone on behalf of YALD Africa, successfully embarked on this exercise. They visited two (2) schools – a primary and a secondary school (junior and senior) – each responding with huge reception and enthusiasm. They also visited two homes for the vulnerable young. A juvenile home for criminals (minors) and a rehabilitation home for the mentally challenged youth. Generally, the campaign was staged in Freetown, the capital of Sierra Leone. Freetown happens to be the hardest hit by the Corona virus.

The Sensitization Campaign with the Schools

Not long ago, the Government of Sierra Leone lifted the ban it slammed on the operations of schools. The decision of the reopening of schools was only limited to only public exam classes as the number of covid-19 confirmed cases was still on the increase. Considering the risk in reopening, government with its limited resource was charged with protecting every pupil returning to school. The effectiveness of such protection process unarguably requires all hands-on deck, government and none-governmental institutions combine. YALD falls under the none-governmental and it therefore took to sharing masks, Veronica buckets, toiletries, hand wash, hand sanitizers and words of caution and hope to two United Methodist Schools – primary and secondary schools.

The Albert Academy,

One of the schools visited, is situate at the central part of the city. It is one of the nation's reputable institutions that has provision for both junior and senior categories. YALD's presence was a not only essential but also life-saving.

The Bishop Humper Primary

Was the second school visited. It is located at the far eastern part of Freetown. It is a struggling primary school that was purposely built to help the suffering high-illiterate number in that part of the city. It also stands as a geographically hard to reach area. YALD's presence was one that met with exceeding open hands and doors.

On the whole, the sensitization with the schools, went without hindrance. The pupils were further enlightened about the operations and goals of YALD.

The Sensitization Campaign with The Homes (Juvenile and Rehabilitation)

YALD's visit to the City of Rest Rehabilitation and Government Juvenile homes was a clear mark of its passion to investing in the vulnerable and disadvantaged youth. The City of Rest which is managed by volunteering pastors is situate on the outskirts of Freetown. It houses the young that are mentally challenged. Its facility is large but with little support.

Impact of Actions in the Community

Therefore, our kind gesture of food and toiletry supplies was an all answered prayer. We prayed with them and further shared words of caution, hope and love. God knows hearts were touched – both implementers and inmates combine.

At the Juvenile Home, a mixed bag of rattling sorrow and ignorance, YALD extended a similar gesture

YALD PROGRAMS

Investing in Young People is Transforming the World

YALD SIERRA LEONE REPORT

The visits to the homes also recorded YALD's improvement of its fight against inhumane treatment of the youth that hardly gets to be heard. It further got the youth hopeful and courageous.

Conclusions and Recommendations

In Conclusion, the awareness and sensitization went all well. We went to plan and so far, it was a success story for a first phase. Also, it only took the campaign to let many hear about YALD. It was therefore of essence for an official launch of the organization for a proper understanding, corporation, and subsequent survival.

Currently, the Sierra Leone Committee has established an online communication in keeping up with all its implementing partners. This is to make follow-up on how they fair on. We have also kept in touch to help with the best moral support as we can. We also look forward to promoting the drive and desires of YALD.

Impact of the actions in the community

The project was impactful to the communities. As local leaders shared their joy as they received awareness tips, and items. It was really a great sharing in their pain and concerns.

Impact of Actions in the Community

Stories of the effectiveness of community engagement efforts.

It was a good moment in special time to connect with people from different background and religion. Our engagement with the people was strength, snappy and precised. The communities were receptive to us, and appreciated the gifts we offered to them. We gave them opportunities to air their feelings on our visit to them.

Lessons learned as young leaders in the UMC.

We learned that, people are really suffered and still suffering as a result of the Corona pandemic. People are touched not only when they have much, but little gestures can put smiles on the face of many.

We also learned that; people already knew about UMC.

Personally, I learnt that, team work can make work easier and effective.

Reflections on how this project affected discipleship and connected with new people, who are not currently members of the UMC

This project helped us to meet with Muslims in Gombe. This gave us the opportunity to relates with them and told them that the donations came from the United Methodist church. They were happy. The project also touched the lives of those in need, especially the IDPs and Orphans. The need our love as a Church and people.

YALD Nigeria is made up of members of the UMC Nigeria, only few indicated interests to join YALD outside UMCN. Our membership went across our four conferences. It was this project that brought YALD to lame light. The church leadership is ready to work with us and to support us in subsequent projects.

Conclusions and Recommendations

We had challenges of rainfall on our second trip to IDP camps. Some of the stuffs were soaked in rain. The place was dark and filled up with people.

Recommendation

1. We should do more of these gestures to our communities in Africa. People are really suffering especially in rural areas.

Future perspectives of YALD International

YALD will continue to encourage young people throughout Africa and motivate them to raise the awareness in order to save millions of lives in Africa.

YALD will continue to reflect on the covid-19 crisis in order to come up with entrepreneurial program which would empower young people to self-sustainability in their community in this time in which many have lost their jobs and do not have hope for future.

As Christian organization, we invite all people of good heart and people who love and want to impact in young people to contact us, because young people is the hope for today and tomorrow.

And if you want African to be great, please do not hesitate to step up in supporting this organization which empowers young people throughout the African community.

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMANDATION

Partnerships

Young African leadership Development has no partners until now, we are raising our voice to request from young people ministries office for partnership which can bring more success and transformations in the lives of Young People in Africa.

As we know the united Methodist support several organizations which are ecumenical. YALD is there to transform the community through young people's expertise and experience also with them learning to know new things.

We are glad to working with you in this tragic moment, we appeal to you for support in our project of regenerating income, which will help yald improve the financial strategies to support young leaders with vision and projects. Please find in the annex 3 the planning and project for yald within two year 2020-2021.

YALD participation in the awareness campaign has motivated the population around Africa to be aware of the virus and take necessary measures to limit the propagation in the community, which helped most in these days.

Yald is remaining opened to any remarks and comments which can help us to asset ourselves and grow both professionally and spiritually

Covid-19 Risk Reduction

In Africa, the response to the pandemic is unfolding with various approaches and initiatives to curb the spread of the disease as well as its interconnected socioeconomic impacts. As a result of an often-resourced constrained environment and strong past experiences with the Ebola crises, approaches in few countries have their own specificities and common trends.

Covid-19 Risk Reduction Recommendations

We recommend to young people's ministries in order to limit the risk of the covid-19, the awareness campaign would be continuous especially in the schools and universities.

Methodology

the methodology used was to identify countries that are most affected with covid-19 and from that set a zoom meeting with yald members in these countries to have great information and planning to move with the campaign in the community.

How did we know these young leaders who are country directors?

These are strong united Methodist young leaders who have been working strongly in their church and who are trained young people from young leaders' summit and in different gathering of young people around the world.
